

O Summoner 1231

Chapter 1231 Father Of The Deep Ones III

"What do you want? If it is very troublesome then I will dip out. I already have a long list of problems given to me by other gods. Adding another one will be the death of me." Adrian stated as he could see that the Dark God Dagon was waiting for him to speak.

"Marvelous! As expected of a demon. Majority of you are righteous beings that helps those that are in need." The Dark God Dagon stated in great joy which made the whole Secret Lake tremble.

"What do you need? Make sure that you will compensate me for this as I will not be doing it for free." Adrian stated.

"Of course! I may not be at my peak strength because I am currently in a demigod's body, but my scales will be an appropriate reward." The Dark God Dagon stated as he presented Adrian with a quest.

Restriction: Only the one that the Dark God Dagon acknowledges can receive this request. You will be assisted by the Envoy of the Deep in your quest to create the Divine Artifact that represents the Dark God Dagon.

Seeing that no duration is given means that Adrian can put this off after the guild war. He needs to focus on that now because that is his top priority. He also read something interesting in the quest as he will be aided by the Envoy of the Deep.

"You already have an envoy? I thought that you were only released some time ago?" Adrian asked.

"I may have been sealed but I did say that I was already awake a hundred years ago. I made sure to place a test in the village near the secret lake so that I can choose a suitable envoy. You see, my Deep Ones do not have great intellect, but they are faithful people.

Any father would want his children to become their best version and I should lead by example. I used my fleeting authority to conduct a test for anyone that has the prospect of becoming my envoy. I need an envoy to become a proper God of Pandemonium as it increases the chances of this universe accepting me.

You must know of the western gods as their avatars made it easy for them to acclimate to this universe. Having an envoy that can represent me is the same as that. Although, it is only recently that an envoy for me has appeared. His soul is just like yours which is that of a unique signature that beings of Pandemonium call the Cursed Children or Blessed Children." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"I see. I understand that logic because an envoy is like a bridge between a god and this world. It makes sense that you need a bridge in order to be accepted or cross over to the other side. Anyways, can I meet your envoy?" Adrian stated as he really wanted the reward because he saw its options.

Item Name: Scale of the Dark God Dagon

Tier: Transcendent

Type: Material

Effect:

- Increases the effectiveness of mana conductivity of any material it is mixed with by 100%.
- Reduces mana consumption of skills that are of the water and space attribute by 50%

Description: A scale taken from the demigod body that the Dark God Dagon currently inhabits. It has traits of the Dark God of the Deep. Be careful when handling this as it is an item that has the mana of a divine being.

Adrian wanted the scale which is why he accepted the quest immediately when he saw the reward. The water attribute might be useless to him, but the space attribute is a different story. Reducing mana consumption is literally giving Adrian wings should he use it on his armor.

"I have already called upon my envoy, demon child. Please wait for him as he is on his way." The Dark God Dagon stated as Adrian only needed to wait for twenty minutes before a player suddenly appeared inside the domain of a god.

"I am here, God Dagon. What do you need from your envoy?" A male voice stated as he suddenly followed up with a shriek of surprise.

"Calm yourself my child, Altum. He is not here to hurt you." The Dark God Dagon stated but he actually misunderstood why Altum became surprised.

Altum could not believe that he is facing Equinox who he wanted to copy. He did not go the classic route like his friends and played the game at his own way. Although he is not strong like his friends, he managed to land the job class of an envoy which made anyone envious if they learned of it.

"Hi! My name is Equinox. Your name is Altum which is cool. It might be a bit rude, but can you tell me what your level is?" Adrian immediately asked as he did not want to stand in ceremony.

"Thanks! I actually thought long and hard about it. I cannot believe that you are actually right in front of me. My level is currently 95 as I needed to be reborn to become an envoy. I was level 150 something before. Seeing you actually made me a bit embarrassed because you are in the rankings for summoners already." Altum stated.

Chapter 1232 Level Up First

Adrian looked at Altum and he is in humanoid form. Altum is currently not like the Deep Ones that have fish heads, but he does have fins for ears and most of his body is covered in fish scales. He also has fins on his arms with webbed feet and hands. He must be in a more humanoid shape since he needs to adapt to land rather than water.

"Not to burst your bubble or anything but you need to level up first. I will not be able to bring you to high level places to find items to craft a divine tier item. Items that are needed to craft a divine artifact is not going to be below Mythical Tier." Adrian stated honestly as he will not be able to bring Altum in high level areas with his level.

"I know but it is not easy being a Deep One. We get dehydrated in areas where there is not much water around which is why I cannot go to areas with heat despite my element being water. I also have a quest to increase the survivability of the Deep Ones by making us evolve into higher beings but that is easier said than done." Altum stated honestly.

"Why not try hunting in the vast ocean of Nebulon then?" Adrian stated.

"I want to, but the ocean is not necessarily the easiest place to get to. I might die of dehydration before I even get there. There is also the fact that the monsters in the oceans are more powerful than those in land." Altum stated as a slight bit of fear is mixed in with his voice.

"From your weapon, I can see that it is not a conventional one. Your weapon actually tells me that you are more suited in fighting at the seas." Adrian stated as he pointed at the harpoon with a chain attached to Altum.

"Oh! This is the weapon bestowed upon me by the God Dagon. I treasure it like my limb." Altum stated which made the Dark God Dagon smile, but he just looks like a menacing monster hungrily looking at those below.

"No excuses. I need you to go to the oceans and test your mettle there. You might be more suited in hunting in that location than near the Secret Lake. Do I have your permission as well, Dark God Dagon?" Adrian stated.

"I agree with what Equinox stated. You must grow in vast bodies of waters my child and not here. I am still not able to leave this place fully despite being awakened which is why I cannot accompany you. I shall let two of my best children aid you in the open waters." The Dark God Dagon stated as two powerful Deep Ones emerged from the lake to accompany Altum.

"Palm! Springs! It is nice that you two are going to accompany in my journey." Altum stated.

"They will just act as a deterrent for powerful foes that you cannot defeat my child. They will not aid you in battle as fighting style and strength should be learned by yours alone. The Deep is cruel to those that are not strong which is why you must become strong. You are my envoy, and you represent me." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"I understand. I will not let you down!" Altum stated.

"Seeing that both parties agreed. We shall meet again, Dark God Dagon. Let us go!" Adrian stated as he suddenly snapped his fingers to activate Teleportation.

Adrian along with Altum and the two Deep Ones suddenly appeared at the southern part of the central continent. They are free falling in the sky which the others did not expect as they are not used to this feeling. Adrian spread his wings and controlled the gravity affecting all of their bodies which made the descent slow down.

The group safely landed on a cliff where rough waves of the vast ocean near the southern edge of the central continent slams against the rocks. Adrian chose this location because Avalon is not far from here which means he can easily fly to this location to check on Altum's status.

"WOW! I actually got teleported! It was a scary feeling but exhilarating at the same time." Altum stated with great enthusiasm.

"This is the Pale Sea located at the southern part of the central continent. The monsters here are at your level but the waters of Nebulon is not like land where certain monsters are limited in areas. There might be powerful monsters that can kill you suddenly which is why this is perfect training ground for you.

I will give you these Teleportation Scrolls if you need to return to the Secret Lake. I will also tell the Daemos Corps about you so that you three will not be considered as enemies. Any more questions?" Adrian stated.

"Can I register you in my friend list?" Altum asked.

"Sure. That will also make it easier to keep tabs on you. Can you handle it on your own because I am very busy right now? I need to sneak inside the castle located in the sky." Adrian stated with a smile.

"I think you have aided me enough. Even more will make it look like you are spoiling me. I am thankful for the assistance, but I must face my own battles if I want to become stronger." Altum stated as he jumped into the Pale Sea with the two other Deep Ones following him.

When Altum hit the water, Adrian caught a glimpse of him turning into a full Deep One form. It seems that Altum's form really does shift to what he really looks like at the bodies of water. Transformations like that are far scarier to face when they are in their element as their strength is not just doubled but tripled at the very least.

"I got the soul of a captive with Sirius. It is time to visit the Nether Realm once more to give the Goddess of Night Nox a present." Adrian muttered.

Chapter 1233 Goddess Of Night

"Time to visit the Nether Realm." Adrian stated as he turned to his Netheros form.

Adrian then reached out in front of him as if he is physically touching something. A hazy door suddenly appeared in front of Adrian that has the properties of the Nether Mist. Adrian then summoned Sirius and told him to take out Nychta.

Sirius complied and immediately dove below the shadows and even deeper into the Abyss. A few seconds later, Sirius came out of the shadows with a small humanoid shadow being. Nychta cannot create a bigger body because she no longer has aid from the cursed artifact. He then looked at the quest that he has not done in so long.

Quest Name: DRAG HER TO THE ABYSS

Quest Description: The goddess Nox wants you to find her former herald that betrayed her and drag her to the goddess' location. Use whatever means necessary as long as you finish your goal as the former herald is a threat to the world itself.

Quest Difficulty: S

Clear Condition: Find the former herald of the Goddess of Night and drag her to the goddess' location in the Nether Realm. (Incomplete)

Clear Reward: Oblivion Skill Book

Failure: None

Time Limit: None

Nychta looked terrified and even became almost tearful when it saw sunlight. A being made of shadows is actually very grateful to see sunlight which is something that should not happen. Adrian did not care about that though as he dragged Nychta using his hands while Sirius returned to the Soul Chamber.

Nychta suddenly felt something bad about the situation that she is in, but she could not fight back. All of her strength left her body trying to climb back up to the upper levels of the shadow realm. She actually felt suffocated in the Abyss which she was left only for a few minutes, but she actually thought that she was there for years.

"NO!" Nychta tried to struggle but Adrian did not care and dragged her to the entrance to the Nether Realm. Adrian does not have remorse for a being that will casually slaughter any being as he saw the trail of ghosts with grudges that followed Nychta.

[You have arrived in the Nether Realm.]

Adrian arrived with Nychta to the Nether Realm and his form immediately changed to a smaller Netheros True Form. When Nychta saw Adrian's form, she immediately felt all her existence screaming to get away from this being. Despite this, Nychta did not move an inch because Adrian has grasped her using her very soul.

If Adrian chooses so, he could torment Nychta to the utmost degree just by squeezing her soul a little. Adrian dragged Nychta like a doll as he slowly went deeper into the Nether Realm. The candle that the Goddess Nox has given Adrian suddenly came out of his inventory and lit up.

The candle lighting up symbolizes that the Goddess of Night is near the vicinity. Adrian walked a few more minutes and he finally arrived as the candle burned brighter in the area. Before him are two of the most powerful gods in the universe of Pandemonium.

"Champion Equinox, you have finally completed my request. You have done such a wonderful job." The Goddess Nox stated in her ethereal echoing voice that made one feel that they are comforted in a dark room.

"She had something that I also needed in a hurry as she actually held a part of the Sun God Ra." Adrian stated to which the Goddess Nox and the God Abaddon are shocked.

"To think that she held onto a piece of a powerful god. No wonder she managed to keep her sanity and her curse in check. A sun god is not really that much different from me because we are two sides of the same coin." The Goddess Nox stated.

"You should not lower yourself. It is only because it is a piece of the Sun God Ra that made it possible for her to deter the curse." The God Abaddon stated.

"That is all in the past now. The important thing is that my former herald has finally been found. Do you regret your actions, Nychta?" The Goddess Nox asked.

"I will never regret my actions! Old Hag! You were limiting me from greatness! If it was not for you then I would have ascended to godhood by now!" Nychta suddenly shouted in a powerful outburst of anger.

She has never forgiven the Goddess Nox for what she did to her. She just wanted power beyond belief that rivaled the gods, but she was denied that. She did sacrifice a few lives here and there, but she believed that they will be exalted because they were sacrifices for her cause.

"You have not changed. A pity as I would have forgiven you after a thousand years of you reflecting on your mistakes. It seems that my remaining love for you is already wasted because you are beyond redemption." The Goddess Nox stated as she suddenly exploded in anger as well.

The Goddess Nox has been patient with Nychta because she thought that she could still be redeemed. She held some hope but that hope became dust when Nychta was still the same even after a long time. She will need to deliver punishment for the evil being that she has raised.

"You will be punished by me as I do not want others to dirty their hands on killing a filthy being such as you!" The Goddess Nox stated.

"You think that you can do something to me?! I am still a mortal being which means that you gods cannot harm me unless you have a mortal body as well. I might have been reduced to this pitiful being, but my ingenious mind still remains." Nychta declared.

"You forget, filthy child. You are not in Pandemonium anymore as the Nether Realm exists as a separate place despite being close to Pandemonium. A world where rules of the universe do not matter, and this world will be the perfect place to punish a malignant being like you!" The Goddess Nox stated as she suddenly started to grow in size.

"You might want to avert your eyes, my child. My goddess is very furious and will now show her darkest form. You might be traumatized by what you see." The God of Death Abaddon stated as he suddenly appeared near Adrian to protect him.

The Goddess of Night represents all the aspects of night. Most know of the silent caring side that gives the people the time to rest but there is also a dark side to her. The night can also be treacherous as danger lurks and spreads in the dark. Nightmares also represent the night as they are manifestations of people's darkest dreams during the night.

The Goddess of Night became an enormous being that looked down at Nychta as she suddenly transformed into a form more horrifying than the dark gods. Adrian could not believe what he saw because it was almost indescribable.

[You have been afflicted by Absolute Terror.]

[You have been protected by the God of Death Abaddon.]

Adrian cannot describe the form that the Goddess of Night transformed into, but he could give a general analogy. The most fitting description that Adrian can describe the Goddess Nox' other form is all of mortal kind's nightmare bundled into one. A form so terror inducing that Nychta actually turned into stone when she gazed at the goddess.

She saw the other form of the Goddess of Night with her naked eyes and turned to stone after. The terror was so powerful that she did not even emit a scream when she saw the Goddess Nox. Her whole body malfunctioned on the spot and turned itself to stone in an attempt to save itself.

In the end, even her body performing an act of self defense cannot vest the might of a powerful goddess. Nychta, who turned to stone, suddenly crumbled into ashes which is decimated by nether energy as her body cannot resist it. Anything that the nether energy touches in the nether realm will be decimated into nothing.

"Apologies for such an unsightly display. I am usually not that unrefined, but I got too emotional for a moment." The Goddess Nox stated.

"No worries...haha..." Adrian stated reflexively as he does not want to be on the bad side of the Goddess of Night.

"You have done well, Champion Equinox. Consider my request completed and this is your reward." The Goddess Nox stated as a spell book suddenly floated down towards Adrian.

Chapter 1234 Planning For The Heist

Adrian is extremely happy with the new spell that he learned because it is of Mythical tier. This is his most powerful spell that he can cast by himself. It also has hints of the darkness element which mean it could be powerful against beings that have the light element inside their body.

"Seeing that I have already finished what I have done, I will not excuse myself for now." Adrian stated as he does not want to stay in the area anymore in fear of getting caught up in a more troublesome thing.

"That is for the better, Champion Equinox. My goddess will take some time to calm herself down. Thank you for completing her request." The God of Death Abaddon stated.

Adrian immediately tiptoed away as he reached out into the void once more. A metal door manifested itself which he opened. Adrian stepped foot inside that door and vanished from the Nether Realm as the two gods remained there.

Adrian appeared back into the mortal realm in the previous area that he also entered. He does not know how the door to the Nether Realm works but all he knows is that where he gets in is where he gets out. He looked at the ocean below to see any signs of Altum but there are no signs of him.

"I should go to Avalon first. I only have less than three weeks before the guild war starts. I need to plan accordingly for the next heist or rather getting back what is rightfully theirs." Adrian stated as he teleported back to Avalon.

When Adrian appeared back in Avalon, he immediately rushed towards the observation room after summoning all of his soulbounds out. He wanted them to explore the area while he formulates a plan for the next heist. He already has two of the three vestiges, and he will not stop until he gets all three of them.

"Do not cause trouble guys!" Adrian stated as he vanished.

All of Adrian's soulbounds immediately started to party when their master left them. They can finally go around Avalon once again, but they needed to control their size. Sirius, Kanlaon and Saena transformed into humanoid forms.

Sirius turned into a young adult form that looks almost like Adrian but has a wild aura. His clothes are of high quality that has great fur covering parts of it. He looks extremely dashing which can make any female look at his direction but the wolf ears on top of his head gets greater attention. The wild aura that he emits also makes people unknowingly look at him with desire.

Kanlaon turned into a young teen that has clothes fit for a crown prince in the east. He wears robes for royalty as if he is born for it. Kanlaon also has golden hair that shimmers when light reflects upon it that makes him very ethereal while his six dragon balls still revolve around him like a weapon. He also has this aura that makes anyone look at him with respect which is accentuated by the dragon patterns weaved into it.

Saena's humanoid form is the newest addition to this roster as she can finally transform. Saena is a drop-dead gorgeous beauty that is of a female teen. She wears a feathery dress that has the rainbow motif, but it is not too much. She also has long white hair that has highlights of the rainbow at the tips.

When Adrian's close friends look at Saena then they will say that she looks like a female version of Adrian. She also emits a sparkle whenever she walks as if she is a fairy that descended the heavens. The most notable feature of her humanoid form is that she has small white wings on her back that does not look strong enough to carry her in the air.

Charon, Dodu, Kimat, and Wisteria just transformed to their chibi forms as they have yet to unlock their humanoid transformation. Some of them are clearly jealous of the others especially those that have greater intellect.

"We can finally roam about!" Kanlaon stated as he always wanted to freely look at Avalon in his humanoid form.

"Master should really get rest in his own territory more as we are always out and about. I also want to rest and relax from time to time." Saena stated as she just likes being perched on top of a tree in peace.

"I for one do not like being idle but resting is also a part of training. I will take care of Kimat as Charon already slipped away towards its secret resting place. Make sure to behave even if this is master's territory." Sirius stated as he knows that those younger than him are troublemakers.

Sirius made sure to look after Kimat because he is the most mischievous among them and a certified troublemaker. He only seems well-behaved but that is only when Adrian is present. When Adrian is no longer looking at his general direction, Kimat will immediately become a troublemaker which only Sirius can control.

"I will take Dodu then as I like its squishy body plus it does not demand much." Kanlaon stated as he picked up Dodu to which the latter jumped to his arms. Dodu jiggled its body to inform Kanlaon that it likes him a lot.

"I will take little Wisteria then. It will be a girl's day!" Saena stated as the cute Wisteria slowly drifted towards Saena and scrunched her face to the former's tummy.

All the soulbounds went and looked around the territory to enjoy themselves. Charon, on the other hand, appeared near the altar for the God of Death Abaddon. He then looked for his favorite spot there and snuggled in comfortably.

All the players that pray towards the altar could see a small, hooded ghost sleeping next to it. This situation is one of the most talked about phenomenon in Avalon as people know that undead do not sleep. They know that this small, hooded ghost is definitely and undead, but they are wondering why it is sleeping.

One of the most famous quotes of the undead is that they do not sleep or tire but there is actually one that is sleeping. Other players even reported it to some of the elders, but they were all told to not disturb it as it was resting. In the end, the sight of a small, hooded ghost sleeping near the altar of the God of Death became something of a small event to stimulate the minds of those that pass through.

Adrian is currently at the observation room to see the traffic of the Silver City. The Daemos might not be able to get close to the Silver City because it is being guarded by a legion of angels, but they can still monitor them. Although, monitoring is not perfect because all demon eyes that try to get near will get blinded by the dazzling light that is emitted by the Silver City.

"Is there really no way for me to sneak inside the Silver City?" Adrian thought as he actually saw a video of the Silver City in the forums.

In the video that Adrian saw, he saw a tall tower called the Tower of Babylon. In the middle of that giant spire is a sun disk that looks like what the statue of the Sun God Ra holds. That Sun Disk the most out of place decoration that is there since the motifs of angels are usually winged architecture.

The only bad thing is that the middle of that spire is heavily guarded by ten angels. The Sun Disk seem to be an item that blesses the angels in the Silver City or that is what the players that did a video on it has stated. Adrian does not know if there are other security measures in place as a godly artifact like that will not be left with just ten guards.

What Adrian does not know is the fact that the Seraphim Mikhail is too confident that nothing in the Silver City will be out of his sight. The ten guards near the Sun Disk are actually just decorative guards that have been told to guard the artifact despite Mikhail having sight of all things inside the Silver City.

Adrian then looked at the other mirror that he is also observing. He is observing the settlement of the angels that actually abandoned the Goddess of Light. They were not turned into devils because they currently possess human bodies unlike the angels in the Silver City.

They are the angels that wanted to live a quiet and peaceful life and have found joy in living with other beings. They are angels that resonated so much with their host bodies that their souls have actually merged with the soul of the human that they have inhabited. If one questions them they are more human than angel as they can feel compassion and other strong emotions that the Goddess of Light does not want angels to feel.

Chapter 1235 The Trio

"We finally reached level 150 after all that grinding!" Basil stated as they are teleported at the town proper of Avalon.

"We would not have suffered if you were careful enough." Pana stated as he has this haggard look on his face from dealing with the traps that Basil activates.

"It is not my fault that Pyro has become so big after his evolution. He is actually very heavy because he has not yet grown his wings. I wonder when will he grow his wings though? Maybe his next evolution?" Basil wondered.

"Calm down everyone. The important thing is that we finished the quest. If it was not for Pyro, then the quest would have been more dangerous." Ark stated he came in between the two before they fight again.

Although they work well together, Pana and Basil like to bicker with each other because their playstyles are not the same. Basil is hot-headed and likes to rush at the enemy with her full power while Pana is the calculative type of player. It is up to Ark to be the bridge between the two as they all started their journey in Pandemonium together.

Ark is a patient person and the glue that holds the three together, but they all get along quite well. It is just in their nature to let out their frustrations using their mouths after the quest. They never take the insults to heart as that is just their way of venting out stress.

"Anyways, thanks for accompanying me into the dungeon. I managed to clear my job class change requirement thanks to you guys." Basil stated as she is only one step away from getting the hidden class that she unlocked.

When Pyro reached level 100 and evolved to a Molten Spike Dragon, the Goddess Tiamat gave Basil an oracle that she was her chosen one. Basil already knew that Pyro was special, but she did not think that he was that special. She already had doubts that Pyro is not a normal fire lizard because he grew at a fast rate.

The most notable difference that Pyro had from fire lizards is the fact that he could breathe fire while others just spit flaming mucus. She also unlocked fire magic when Pyro learned Flame Breath as her soul resonated with his. She was finally convinced that Pyro was indeed a dragon when it evolved looking like a raptor.

She also knows that Pyro will keep growing because he is still in the juvenile stage according to the status board. Should Pyro become an adult then he will definitely become a large dragon with wings as there are already bumps on his back. The only thing Basil needs to unlock the job class called Mother of Dragons is to have another dragon as a soulbound but that is not easy.

She cannot use dragons like drakes as they are lesser dragons but will need to tame elemental or pure-blooded dragons. The only known summoner to have a pure-blooded dragon summon is the Demon Equinox. A dragon is a very powerful creature which is why she waits for the time that Pyro becomes an adult.

"Since both of you have stopped bickering, we should submit the quest to Pann. The firebird egg that we got on the way was much easier compared to defeating a dungeon boss." Ark stated but there is something weighing on his mind.

Ark is a bit jealous of the two because one has a unique class while the other is on the quest to become one. Pana has already changed to the unique job class that he got from an item from the Genesis Village. His current job class is called Quagmire which is an archer that can attach traps into their arrows.

It is also a job class that gives the Trap Specialist passive skill which makes traps become useless in front of the possessor. The only shortcoming of this job class is that they use a short bow which means they cannot snipe enemies from afar. Nevertheless, this ranger job class has great mobility in short range and mid-range combat.

"If this keeps up then they will surpass me. I must at least get a special class that can equal them." Ark thought to himself as his job class is Magic Knight which is an advancement of the warrior class.

He wanted to wield magic and a sword which is why he chose the magic knight class, and he excels at it. The only problem is that he is getting overshadowed by his friends in fights. In the end, he decided to use mainly defensive magic. He mastered defensive magic to a high degree that he has not yet died or even his two friends.

They are a unique party that has yet to die as they carefully planned everything thanks to Pana. They managed to overcome almost any difficult situation thanks to Basil and Pyro. They have never been strayed too far from Avalon as well because there are a lot of dungeons near the place with varying levels.

The three finally agreed to submit their quest item to Pann when the two finished bickering. Basil is even more excited as Pann is her mentor for Beast Rearing. She is learning the ropes of nurturing beasts from Pann as she will tame dragons once she becomes the Mother of Dragons.

When the three arrived at Pann's abode, he was talking to a young teenager with golden hair that is wearing a grand robe. In the hand of that young teen is a cute oval looking plasma monster that has a cute face. They are shocked because Pann is actually talking while smiling which he never does as his personality trait is grouchy.

"Hi, Master Pann! We got the firebird egg that you wanted." Basil stated as she was the one that got the mission from Pann anyways.

"Ah! You finally arrived. I thought it would take all of you another week to get a simple bird egg." Pann stated but his eyes lingered towards Kanlaon who looked at Basil with interest.

Chapter 1236 The Mother Of Dragons I

"It seems that NPC is looking at you quite intently." Ark stated as he noticed that Kanlaon was looking at Basil as if he is intrigued by her.

"It must be because of my girlish charms that even NPCs get charmed by me." Basil stated as she strikes a cute pose.

"More like horrified by you." Pana interjected with a slight chuckle.

"You smell almost like a dragon but not at the same time. You are not yet in that state yet, but you are almost there." Kanlaon stated.

Pann is a bit shocked with what Kanlaon stated as he did not say anything about Basil. He knew that Basil is trying to become a summoner with the job class of Mother of Dragons. It is a special class that can only have dragons as soulbounds to his knowledge.

Basil is shocked by what she heard because even she did not tell her friends that she is slowly transforming into a dragon the closer she gets to the job class of Mother of Dragons. She then looked at Kanlaon to determine what type of NPC he was but all she got was nothing. She could feel that the young teen that she is looking at is not a normal NPC because Pyro is actually scared of him.

"Master, who are they?" Basil asked Pann.

"It seems that this is the first time that you have seen the brat's soulbounds in humanoid forms. Take a guess on who their master is." Pann stated.

"Master, that young boy that you are taking to is more powerful than a dragon king in terms of bloodline. If we actually fight, then I will just become dead meat without even retaliating." Pyro stated via their soul link as he is afraid of Kanlaon.

Pana then noticed the six rotating orbs of different colors around Kanlaon. He already put some clues together as who the young teen boy could be. Pyro is terrified of him while the young teen boy is carrying a monster that looks like a slime which is not a monster that could be seen normally.

"If the monster that he is carrying is a slime then the master of this soulbound would be none other than the lord of this territory. He should be Kanlaon, and he is the soulbound of Lord Equinox." Pana stated as that is the moniker that normal dark elves give Adrian as they do not always refer to him as a champion.

"As expected of the careful one in your group. He already has an accurate guess. You are correct as these two are indeed the brat's soulbounds." Pann stated.

When Pann said that statement, all three of them thought that they are pretty lucky as they actually met a famous soulbound. In fact, Kanlaon is more powerful than them combined currently as they have yet to encounter the second awakening in stats.

"Anyways, these kids are just wandering about as their master is off doing something else. Tell me, disciple...what is your next quest requirement to become the Mother of Dragons?" Pann asked as he is also helping Basil with her quest line since he is also interested in such a job class. Even Pann does not know of that job class because none has appeared to his knowledge.

"I actually need to contract another dragon." Basil stated which made Pann squint.

"Another dragon is a difficult thing to do because you are not asking for lesser dragons, right? What you really need is a dragon that has intelligence and not like lesser dragons that are driven by instinct." Pann muttered.

Pann has a lot of monsters that he has raised and are off an about in other dimensions, but he does not have a dragon. Dragons are proud creatures that do not obey anyone unless there are special circumstances like Kanlaon that was hatched by Adrian. Even now, there is no wild mature dragon that has been reportedly tamed.

"If even you cannot help me with that then how can I become the Mother of Dragons?" Basil stated as she suddenly deflated.

"Stop whispering in my ear old hag." Kanlaon suddenly stated in an irritated tone which caught the attention of the people near them.

"Apologies, a certain old hag has been whispering in my ear when I met her." Kanlaon stated as he does not want to cause trouble.

When they are about to question who this old hag was, a beam of light suddenly hit Pyro's body. Pyro suddenly got released from Basil's control as he no longer cowered behind her. Pyro then actually spoke human language which he cannot do as of yet since he is still a juvenile.

"Disrespectful child, I kept telling you to help my favored child, yet you do not want to even hear me out." A female voice stated from Pyro's mouth.

"Is Pyro actually a girl? Last time that I checked it was a 'he'." Basil stated in shock.

"Pyro is not a girl as it is still a male dragon. The one using his body is that of a female goddess that you should be very familiar with as she is the Goddess of Dragons that birthed all the progenitor of dragons. The Goddess Tiamat that should not be casually possessing people under the guidance of the Twin Gods." Pann stated.

"I already gotten permission from Gaea about my trespass plus I am also qualified as a Goddess of Life because I am the one that birthed the dragons. Anyways, I do not have enough time to possess this young one's body. Basil, my chosen child, the solution to your dilemma is with that disrespectful child right there." The Goddess Tiamat stated as her possession suddenly got cut off as Pyro became extremely fatigued.

"She left before even explaining what she meant by those words." Ark interjected but they are actually agreeing with him.

"Can we know what she means by that, Kanlaon?" Pann asked.

"You need a dragon to turn her into the Mother of Dragons right? My master has a dragon egg which is what that old hag has been whispering to me." Kanlaon stated.

Chapter 1237 The Mother Of Dragons II

When Kanlaon revealed that his master has a dragon egg, all of them dropped their jaws but the three players actually could believe it. If anyone has a dragon egg hanging by their inventory, then it will probably be him. Ark, who is a big fan of Equinox, became even more amazed by his idol's strength as a dragon egg can only be taken if a dragon is defeated or if one is extremely lucky.

"If Lord Equinox actually has a dragon egg, then maybe master can bridge that gap for me?" Basil stated with puppy dog eyes towards Pann.

"I am afraid that he will not give that up willingly without compensation. I can call him to talk to you but what can you offer him in exchange for such a priceless egg?" Pann stated.

"He is right as a dragon egg can fetch someone at least six figures in cash. Dragons are a powerhouse species after all. If that dragon egg is of an advance element, then that will be even more expensive. Do you have something like that?" Pann stated.

"Not really but I can reach get a contract that says that I will pay him compensation like installments." Basil stated as she tends to avoid high priced goods as her parents are herpetologists which do not earn much to have a lavish lifestyle.

"I actually do not need money, but I do need something in return." A voice from behind the three stated as they could see a demon with four wings behind them. This demon had a dark aura of death lingering with him as well as the feeling of wanting to revere him.

"It seems that you crawled out of that place to see what was happening, young brat." Pann stated.

"A powerful torrent of divine energy that did not come from the Tree of Life and Death or the Twin Gods rushed in my territory. As the lord, I should check it because it might be an attack from another faction." Adrian stated.

The three players can only stare at Adrian with their jaws dropped. If one saw them then they will be described as being frozen in place. They did not expect that they will meet the territory lord and a famous player at this point in time. They thought that they need to give a great contribution to Avalon for that to happen.

"Are you guys, okay?" Adrian asked as he could see the three suddenly becoming silent.

"They are fine. They just did not expect that you will suddenly appear before them which probably gave them a spook. Even I barely detected you which means you are getting good at manipulating space." Pann stated.

"If that was the case then I apologize for that." Adrian stated.

"Anyways, what do you mean by you just needing something in return for the dragon egg?" Pann asked.

"It is not them that I need something from but the Goddess Tiamat herself. Kanlaon, contact her and let me talk with her." Adrian stated.

"But that was the old hag that kept whispering in my ear to leave master when I evolved. You said that I should just block her in my head." Kanlaon rebuked as he does not like the Goddess Tiamat for telling him to leave Adrian.

"Well, I am going to need her in my plans to infiltrate a certain city." Adrian stated to which Kanlaon can only agree.

Adrian thought of having the dragons aid him in creating a diversion for him to enter the Silver City. He would need the power of a Dragon King at the very least for this plan to succeed which is why he needs the Goddess Tiamat. Adrian will use what the angels love to collect against them.

Adrian planned to use a light dragon orb as bait to lure the angels away from the Silver City. If he cannot lure all of them out, then at least most of them should not be a problem. Angels like to steal items that contain the light element, and a light dragon orb is the perfect bait to lure them out.

If he can lure out Mikhail, then he will be able to steal or rather reclaim the last vestige. He has two weeks left before the guild war and the angels only grow stronger as time passes. He wants to get the Sun Disk before the angels become too much to handle.

"Is it true? Will you really give me the egg?" Basil asked as she finally snapped from her shock.

"If the Goddess Tiamat agrees to my demands that is." Adrian stated as a pillar of light suddenly descended towards Kanlaon.

Kanlaon's body started to morph into his draconic form as Dodu jumped towards Pann. Kanlaon's large draconic form almost filled the skies of Avalon's main island. Kanlaon then used all of the six dragon orbs to create something like a hologram that showed a female human that has ridiculously large dragon horns that coils to her waist.

"I have been listening, Champion Equinox. What do you need in exchange for the dragon egg? Although, you should just give it up freely since all dragons are my children, but I will humor you." The beautiful horned female stated who is clearly the Goddess Tiamat.

"Well, I own the egg so tough luck. My request is quite simple and that is to give me command of a Dragon King and its underling for one whole day. That should be doable for a dragon egg, is it not?" Adrian stated.

"What do you intend to command them for? Will you raze a city to ashes?" The Goddess Tiamat asked.

"I will have them fight angels." Adrian replied to which the Goddess Tiamat could be seen almost bursting out of anger because some dragons might die in the process.

"Why should my proud children sacrifice my life for you in exchange for an egg? I could just have them give up one egg to her instead of sending them to war!" The Goddess Tiamat stated in a rather high tone as her anger is starting to build up.

Chapter 1238 The Mother Of Dragons III

Adrian did not get carried by the anger of a goddess because he knows why she is that desperate. The only reason why a job class called the Mother of Dragons being created is due to one fact. The dragons are not hatching or are not getting fertile.

Dragons are already a race that are difficult to lay eggs as it is said that only one hatches every century. Some eggs do not even hatch and just turn into stone from the passage of time. This is the reason why the proud dragon race shuts away from their territories as they will not be able to handle other races if they antagonize them.

"Do you really need me to say why that is the case? I bet you already know that a longer a dragon does not hatch then the smaller their chances of not hatching ever. You need an emissary to help you hatch them hence the Mother of Dragons." Adrian stated in a confident manner.

Adrian was already listening in on their conversation when Kanlaon suddenly told him that she is in front of a strange girl that smell like a dragon but is not a dragon. Adrian was also informed that the female voice bugging Kanlaon has returned and is telling him to give his master's dragon egg to that girl.

When Adrian said his piece, the Goddess Tiamat suddenly fell silent because what Adrian said was true. The dragons have become weaker, and they need her presence to make them more powerful once more. Adrian does not want to make this difficult for the Goddess Tiamat as she is somewhat a subordinate of the Goddess Gaea which is why she can descend here in Avalon.

"You should also want vengeance against the angels." Adrian suddenly stated to get the Goddess Tiamat's attention.

"Why is that?" The Goddess Tiamat asked.

"The angels are the reason why the Dragon of Revelation suddenly got unsealed. Their machinations are the reason why younger dragons cannot be hatched. The Dragon of Revelation needed much energy to momentarily surface but dragon eggs need that energy as well to hatch. If I am not wrong, then the dragon eggs that should have hatched all turned into stone." Adrian stated but some of what he said are just rough guesses that actually turned to be correct.

When the Goddess Tiamat heard Adrian's statements, she erupted into anger because her precious dragons did not hatch because of the Dragon of Revelation. Dragons need a special kind of energy to hatch which they call the Arcana. This is the purest form of mana that is chaotic in nature but helpful for dragons.

When the Dragon of Revelation was unsealed, the first thing it did was suck as much of this Arcana in the atmosphere. Since the Arcana thinned, the dragon eggs that are supposed to hatch a few years later suddenly slowly turned to stone. Some eggs were protected but was basically kept on life support.

Only the touch of the Goddess Tiamat will be able to restore these eggs back to health. She begged the Twin Gods to give her access to Genesis in order to find a suitable host for her. A perfect host for her can only be female and that she was nurtured with her energy from the start. She managed to obtain that when she met Basil, but the latter must complete the metamorphosis by herself.

The Goddess Tiamat could be seen pondering but Adrian could feel that she will definitely agree. Adrian knows that a person like her will want justice for the 'children' that she spoke of. Adrian just wants them to be borrow for a day but that will also make dragons be an enemy to the angels.

"I shall agree to your terms, Champion Equinox. I shall send word to one of my children and that child will speak to you about the terms. In exchange for the dragon egg that you hold, you will have authority over a dragon king and those below them for one day." The Goddess Tiamat stated as the very existence of the dragons' rests on Basil's hands.

[You have entered a Covenant with the Goddess Tiamat.]

[Should one break the pact then they will be dealt with great punishment.]

Two notifications appeared before Adrian as a dragon tattoo suddenly appeared on Adrian's palm. The dragon tattoo is none other than the symbol that he made an agreement with the Goddess Tiamat. It also serves as the crest that symbols that his authority was given by the Goddess Tiamat herself.

"As per our agreement, I shall give this Lightning Dragon Egg to Basil which means my end of the covenant has been finished." Adrian stated as he took out the dragon egg from his inventory and gave it to Basil.

The Goddess Tiamat looked at the Lightning Dragon Egg and could see that it is still full of vitality. The dragon egg is not hatching because Adrian did not have an intention of hatching it because he already has Kanlaon. He intended to sell it to the highest bidder later but using it as a bargaining chip against a goddess is also priceless.

Plus, Basil is Pann's disciple and that means that she is involuntary a citizen of Adrian's territory. He is just giving his own citizen a reward that can make them stronger. In the end, Adrian thought that everything will benefit him in the long run which is why he does not feel bitter parting with a dragon egg.

"Thank you very much. I will make sure to repay your grace. I know, I shall pledge my allegiance to Avalon forever!" Basil announced to which the Goddess Tiamat frowned a bit, but she must not become like the Goddess of Light Luminaria that holds her creations by the neck. She wants all her children to exercise free will as that is how powerful dragons become kings. She also does not mind that Basil wants to stay in Avalon as keeping close ties with the Twin Gods is also a good choice.

Chapter 1239 The Mother Of Dragons IV

"Uhhh...can I ask how I am going to hatch this dragon egg?" Basil asked as there was no instruction on how to hatch an egg of a lightning dragon.

"You could just put it in the old man's hatchery, and it will hatch easily." Adrian stated but Pann suddenly interjected.

"Sorry but you made that hatchery unable to be full of energy from hatching this guy." Pann stated as he pointed towards Kanlaon.

Pann explained that Kanlaon absorbed almost all the energy that his special hatchery had when Kanlaon hatched. It would take at least ten more years to get the equal amount of energy to hatch another dragon. The hatchery needs to wait at least two more years to be able to safely hatch the lightning dragon egg.

"You did not think that I slaved you away for no reason at all, right? My hatchery is a very prized possession that any beast master would beg on their knees to hatch their eggs on. It even has a special formation to unlock a hidden trait that will not show easily.

Kanlaon managed to get that special trait unlocked because of my hatchery. Granted that it was his bloodline that enabled him to get the Essence Devourer trait, but my hatchery still played the part. The Essence Devourer trait is what made him able to control the dragon orbs that he eats." Pann stated.

"How will I hatch Shock then?" Basil stated as she already named the lightning dragon before it even hatched.

"What else is needed to hatch a lightning dragon? Lightning is needed of course as you just need to charge it with enough lightning before putting it in my hatchery. The fierce energy of the lightning will be enough to fill it with the needed Arcana that my hatchery is missing.

A lot of lightning will be needed though and only one place in this world fits that. The Tesla Mountain Range that is considered a danger zone should be a good place to consider." Pann stated.

"You do know that is a place where they could get killed with a sneeze from a monster right?" Adrian stated.

"It is not like you can create a lightning field in this area because this place is always blessed with good weather thanks to that tree." Pann stated as he pointed at the Tree of Life and Death.

"Actually, we can direct the lightning here, but I will need your help old man." Adrian stated as he explained the plan to hatch the dragon egg.

Adrian wants Pann to open a dimensional door that gives access to the Tesla Mountain Range. The dimensional door will then act as a channel for the lightning in the Tesla Mountain Range to hit the dragon egg. With enough energy absorbed from the lightning, the dragon egg will hatch without any problems.

"You do know that lightning cannot be controlled easily, brat!" Pann stated as he rubbed Adrian's head harshly.

"You do know that I have soulbound that can control lightning right? I also have a Genesis Dragon that can somewhat control the advance elements." Adrian stated as he broke free from Pann's grasps.

"It might actually work but you will need to contain the lightning in the area. I will already be stabilizing the dimensional door which is why you will need to do that by yourself." Pann stated.

"Did you forget that I am a scribe?" Adrian stated with confidence as he started to create a magic circle on the ground to where they will summon the lightning.

The three player Ark, Basil, and Pana can only look at Adrian while he was drawing intricate lines and symbols. They could also see the cube that can be seen floating near Adrian to also draw the magic circle with him. The Cube of Paradox has finally been able to share complete memory with Adrian and can now aid him in magic circle creation.

It took Adrian about an hour to draw the complete magic circle which already emitted sparks. All those that can see the magic circle can even feel that they will be electrocuted should they touch it carelessly. Adrian called upon Sirius that was taking care of Kimat and they arrived ten minutes before the magic circle was completed.

Adrian then told Basil to place the egg on the middle of the magic circle. She placed the dragon egg at the center just below where Kimat was standing on. Pann also prepared himself as he transformed to his true form as the stabilizing a door being hit by a chaotic element such as lightning will not be easy. Since the lightning is also getting harnessed from the Tesla Mountain Range then he ought to be even more careful.

"Ready when you are old man. Just open the gate to be as wide as the magic circle or slightly smaller than it." Adrian stated as Pann took out his ocarina and played a hymn.

As Pann was playing the hymn, a rift in space opened on top of Kimat. The other side of the rift is a place where lightning rained from the sky. Kimat did as he was told and acted as a lightning rod for the lightning to come through.

"Kanlaon, the dragon orb." Adrian commanded as he could see that the lightning is being attracted to Kimat's direction.

The Wind Dragon Orb then floated on top of Kimat as it is the first one that absorbed the energy of the lightning. The dragon orb then dispersed the energy towards the magic circle which glowed in powerful light. All the energy being absorbed by the magic circle is directed towards the dragon egg on the center of it.

Kimat called upon the lightning while Kanlaon refined the lightning with the help of the magic circle. The refined energy of the lightning is then fed to the dragon egg that could be seen being overcharged by the power being channeled to it. Pann has to admit but the brat that was running to him for clues back then is all grown up.

Chapter 1240 The Mother Of Dragons V

All the energy of the lightning is channeled towards the lightning dragon egg. The channeling of lightning is not only beneficial for the lightning dragon egg but also for Kimat and Kanlaon. There are small changes happening to Kimat's body as his body could be seen having purer or more refined lightning sparks.

Kanlaon, on the other hand, is still the same but his wind dragon orb is slowly changing as well. The dragon ball that contained the power of the wind is slowly getting refined by the lightning. The image inside the wind dragon orb changed from swirling winds to a swirling storm.

[Kanlaon's Wind Dragon Orb has been upgraded due to the continuous onslaught of lightning.]

[Kanlaon's Wind Dragon Orb has transformed into the Tempest Dragon Orb.]

[All wind attribute spells will now have hints of lighting element mixed in them.]

[All wind attribute spells will have a chance of causing paralyzing enemies.]

Adrian did not expect that this whole debacle will also benefit him immediately. He also now has an idea in upgrading the remaining two of the four basic elemental dragon orbs. He already has the Frost Dragon Orb and now the Tempest Dragon Orb.

All he needs to upgrade are the Earth Dragon Orb and the Flame Dragon Orb to their more advance elements. Although there are only two left, the way to upgrade them is not easy. To upgrade the wind dragon orb, Adrian needed lightning from a danger zone which means he might need to do so for the remaining two.

He took note of this when he learns of danger zones teeming with earth and fire energy, but he must focus on the task at hand. Adrian is maintaining the magic circle with his mana as the lightning dragon egg might be damaged if he does not regulate the energy being pumped into it. Still, Adrian got the hang of it after the first twenty minutes.

In the end, Pann became tired, and Adrian said that the feeding of energy should be enough. The dormant lightning dragon egg has started to glow with sparks running through the scaled shell. Adrian could also feel the lightning dragon egg has become hyperactive and craves more energy.

"Quickly! Place it in the hatchery as it might hatch prematurely." Adrian stated as it will now be up to Basil to hatch the lightning dragon egg. She was already helped until this part, but the rest should be up to her.

Basil nodded and immediately ran towards the lightning dragon egg. When she picked up the lightning dragon egg, a shock ran through her body as the lightning element passed through her. She lost a chunk of her health but Saena, who followed after Sirius and Kimat, healed her back to full. Saena also cured her paralysis as she does not want anyone to suffer when she is the divine beast of her master's territory.

Basil still felt the crawling sparks, but she slowly built resistances just like the time that she tried hatching Pyro. Adrian saw Basil's soul slowly being tempered with each step she took. He can already tell that her body is not human because humans might be great adapters, but they are not that quick to adapt.

Basil's resistance to the lightning element skyrocket with each step she took which is heaven defying. A summoner that has great resistances to elements is basically a tank. The greatest weakness of a summoner is their body because all their summons will return should the summoner also die.

Basil will basically become a walking elemental tank should she get all six attribute dragons. Adrian actually wondered what the Mother of Dragons job class perks was but he can already see it. He predicts that Basil will become a definite powerhouse should she be able to get all six elemental dragons.

Basil brought the lightning dragon egg to the hatchery, and it immediately absorbed all the Arcana that was collected in it. The lightning dragon egg has become greedy for food when it tasted the lightning from the Tesla Mountain Range. It did not leave a trace of Arcana in the hatchery which did not please Pann but he is willing to take a loss for his disciple.

"I will make sure to work her to the bone in restoring my hatchery energy." Pann muttered to himself which only Adrian heard.

Adrian then looked at Basil as he suddenly felt sorry for her future endeavor. The things that Pann needs are not easy to get as Adrian even died a few times just to get them. He even died once just for fertilizer that can make the feeds of Pann's monsters be of high quality.

A loud crack suddenly spread out in the ranch that sounded like lightning coming down from the sky. Another crack sounded and it felt like the sky rumbled with a thunderstorm rolling in. The final crack happened, and lightning actually fell down from the sky which landed on the lightning dragon egg.

As if the sky is baptizing the birth of a lightning dragon, the skies above Avalon rumbled as a small cry of a dragon is heard. A small lightning dragon with an odd form suddenly appeared in the hatchery with Basil being the one it imprinted. She immediately sealed the lightning dragon, and it did not resist.

With the lightning dragon being her second soulbound, Basil is the very first player to have two dragons sealed. As soon as she sealed the lightning dragon, the roars of powerful beasts echoed in the world with all of the inhabitants hearing it. The roars came from none other than the Dragon Kings, Elder Dragons and Ancient Dragons.

The roar of all the powerful peak beings in the world made all weak monsters scurry back to their homes. To others, it might seem that the dragons have gone berserk, but they are actually cheering because the birth of the Mother of Dragons is finally starting. As the dragons roared, Basil suddenly became encased in a dragon egg.
