

O Summoner 1281

Chapter 1281 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights V

"I am the Mountain!" Kabrakan shouted as he plunged his towering shields to the arena which actually shook it for a second which made the Gods of War lift their eyebrows.

The moment that Kabrakan hit the arena, a gigantic wall of encrusted earth suddenly rose up. The giant earth shield held his defenses and is applied in a straight line which will absorb the hit of the Chivalrous Charge that the Fallen Knight's guild officials did.

When the Fallen Knight's officials saw the rising earth shield, the rest of the members that had planned for this to happen casted their spells. The Fallen Knight's guild made in depth research on their opponents and made sure to at least have a general understanding of the skills of the Pantheon guild members.

They might have been caught off guard by the unknown skill that Adrian deployed earlier but they know of Kabrakan's general skills. The Fallen Knight's guild knows of the tank player in the Pantheon guild and that he creates defenses using skills that can split the earth. He was even given the moniker of the Earth Shaking Beast because of the unique skills that he uses.

"Everyone! Use Rock Breaker!" A designated commander of the mage players of the Fallen Knight's guild commanded.

All the mages in their backline started to chant the spell and released it towards the earth wall that Kabrakan created. The earth wall that Kabrakan created is made from deep bedrock applied with his defenses which is why it is very durable but that can also be countered. There exists a spell in the earth element category to destroy rocks.

The Rock Breaker spell can be used to destroy anything that has rocks inside of it. It actually deals 1000% damage to rocks which can also be applied to shields made of rocks but will be useless otherwise. It is mainly a spell used by beginners to gather materials to make bricks. The Gods of War are pleased with the sight of a spell used for gathering materials being used as a deterrent in battle.

The giant earth wall that Kabrakan created started to crumble as numerous mages used that spell to destroy his shield. Seeing that his skill was neglected just like that, Kabrakan became a bit sad as all his buffs were transferred to that earth wall. He needed to redeem himself or else being a tank in their group will be meaningless.

"I will stop the charge. All of you focus on the incoming spell barrages." Kabrakan stated as he used Beastification.

Kabrakan's human features vanished as he became similar looking to a minotaur. All his stats increased because he used the innate skills of the beast men. This is usually the trump card that the beast men use when they are cornered but Kabrakan used it immediately as he knew blocking the Chivalrous Charge of ten knights is not easy.

"Gigantification!" Kabrakan shouted as he suddenly got enveloped by a mysterious power.

He suddenly started to grow bigger until he was actually ten meters tall. It was not only him that became bigger, but his equipment became bigger as well. The Fallen Knight's guild officials did not see Kabrakan becoming bigger as something to be scared off.

The Fallen Knight guild members believe that they will be able to still kill Kabrakan as long as their Chivalrous Charge connects. If they defeat the designated tank of the team, then they will be close to victory.

"Do not falter and charge!" Dame shouted as they approached Kabrakan.

The other Pantheon guild members were not idle as they were defending themselves from the barrage of attacks that are directed towards them. Vayu, Lycan and Solstice were in charge of keeping the assassins at bay. Peridot, Soleil and Creepysoo were in charge of protecting them from magic projectiles and arrows.

Levin Cloud is keeping the team stable with his heals and revitalizations while Adrian is in charge of counterattack. Adrian already summoned Sirius, Kanlaon and Kimat to attack the enemy team but the Fallen Knights guild is prepared to counter them.

Adrian does not know if it was intentional, but the Gods of Light are basically shining which makes Sirius unable to dive into the shadows. The Fallen Knights guild also has an angel player that can manipulate light so that shadows will not be made. For Kanlaon, the Fallen Knights guild made use of their dragonkin players to tank the elemental attacks that he uses.

Kimat is countered by a weird player that carries a gigantic pole which he plunges onto the arena to become a lightning rod. He does not want to admit it, but Adrian is getting jittery just seeing the preparedness of his enemies. All of his guild members looked at him and is horrified because he was smiling.

A chill was felt by Adrian's guild members because they know that smile. They might have forgotten it because they rarely see him when they go against a powerful enemy, but Adrian is a battle junkie. All of them instinctively knew that they need to move or else he might charge inside the enemy lines alone.

Just before Adrian is about to actually teleport inside enemy lines, a loud collision could be heard which snapped him from his trance. He looked at Kabrakan's direction and saw him suddenly becoming smaller with his health bar becoming dangerously low. Kabrakan was also blown away by the sudden collision with the ten knight players using Chivalrous Charge. It is a miracle that he actually survived tanking that hit.

The burden did not stop there because the Fallen Knights guild officials did not stop the Chivalrous Charge as they are still using the skill. Kabrakan was not able to fully stop them, but they could see that the skill strength has been greatly reduced. Still, an impact of ten players will definitely be able to kill anyone should they get hit.

The Fallen Knights guild officials knew of this and turned their direction towards Creepysoo as he was their next target.

Chapter 1282 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights VI

If you ask any of the top guilds or players that follow them about the strength of each, then they will have a general answer for each top guild. For the Fallen Knights Guild, the players will say that they are an esteemed guild of knights that are great in warfare against players. They are also good at synergistic movement when it comes to knight skills because that is what they practice.

They were able to almost kill Kabrakan earlier with their Chivalrous Charge of then knights. Granted that they could actually kill a boss monster of their level with a powerful attack like that, it is actually a miracle that Kabrakan survived. If he did not have a skill that can prevent him from getting instantly killed, then he would have died.

Kabrakan managed to decrease the strength of the Chivalrous Charge, but he was not able to stop it from getting cast. Creepysoo became the next target for the skill because he was the closest and a player that did not have the ability to fly. Others of the Pantheon guild could fly which is why they decided to target him immediately.

Creepysoo noticed this and did not look amused as they saw him as an easy target. He made sure that they will not look down on him as someone easy because he has obtained the Necronomicon and it bound itself to his soul. The floating book that is chained to Creepysoo suddenly opened and a powerful mana burst out of it.

"Wall of Bones!" Creepysoo stated as numerous bones suddenly started to surface on the arena.

The Wall of Bones that he created stretched to a length of more than twenty meters. Each bone was thick as a log and the Chivalrous Charge hit this without stopping. The Fallen Knight's guild officials could see their health decreasing per inch of length they are traversing. The bones were not only sturdy but also sharp to the point that small shrapnel made of bones are bursting in front of them.

The Chivalrous Charge skill might make them immune against crowd control but that does not mean that they are immune to damage. Adrian and his friends were not able to damage the charging enemies at them because they are being aimed at by the remaining forty guild members. The quantity of their enemies really does have great advantage when it comes to this.

"Can you hang on?" Vayu asked Creepysoo as he kept the assassin enemy players from reaching Soleil, Peridot or Levin Cloud.

"I can. I guess it should be me who needs to show off first." Creepysoo stated as he suddenly gripped the Necronomicon.

"My Undead Knights! Come out and serve your prince. Protect me at all costs!" Creepysoo shouted as he finally summoned all five of his undead knights.

Creepysoo's undead knights also underwent drastic changes to their overall appearance. Don Quixote is now wearing black armor with gold linings and the aura that he is bursting out is pure death energy that no longer has the properties of miasma. He also has a two-sided javelin instead of just one while the undead horse looked like it came from the abyss.

The horse that Don Quixote is riding could be described as a King Night Stallion. A powerful horse undead that is said to come from the depths of the abyss. It is said that it has the ability to shroud itself in shadows to make itself invisible when it is dark. It also has the ability to gallop in the air as if it is ground.

The next of Creepysoo's undead knights is Robin Hoodie. The archer undead that he contracted is now almost mist like in appearance. The only thing that one can see would be his cloak that is now made of smoke. The arrows that Robin Hoodie releases are now coated with pure death energy which can suck the life force out of anyone hit.

After Robin Hoodie is Voodoo Marie who is now looking like a real human. She wore beautiful clothes that outlined her female body perfectly well. The clothes would have been more beautiful if it was vibrant colors, but the colors were dark and mute. She also wore a headdress that is made of cloth which also covered her eyes.

She might not have eyes that could see because her headdress is blocking it, but she could definitely see anything. She could even peer deep into the soul of another as long as she concentrates enough. She is also holding needles and a voodoo doll that is not fashioned into anyone. She exuded a charming motherly aura, but it also has a chilling dangerous air to it as well.

The next undead knight is Mummie and his change is not that drastic. Mummie is still the same height as a ten-year-old boy, but he is now fashioned with a golden headdress that pharaohs wore. He is also wearing some gold jewelry that screams lavish and monarch to anyone that sees him. He is still wrapped in bandages from head to toe.

The latest edition to Creepysoo's undead knight is a Patchwork Zombie that he named Frankie. It is a zombie that was made out of human and monster parts which made it grotesque looking. Creepysoo did get it a suit to wear so that it looks refined despite looking like an abomination created in a lab.

Creepysoo's new patchwork zombie is the biggest of his undead knights as long as Mummie does not transform into his other form. When the undead knight's were summoned, they already knew what they needed to do and that is to buy time for their master. Creepysoo is currently chanting a powerful spell which needs time to activate.

Seeing the ten knight players charging at them, Don Quixote did the same as if accepting the challenge of the enemy knights. Don Quixote was the only one charging at first which made the viewers anxious as it will clearly be killed but nine other spectral undead suddenly appeared from below the arena. The ten spectral undead are now charging at full speed against the enemy cavalry.

Robin Hoodie fired a flurry of arrows towards the charging knight enemies in an attempt to stop them but was blocked by defensive spells cast by the enemy team. Seeing that he cannot affect the charging knights, Robin Hoodie focused on the enemy team on the other side instead. Due to this action, Peridot and Soleil got a lot of breathing room when it comes to blocking projectile.

Mummie is in charge of protecting Creepysoo from attacks from spells if they manage to get past the first line of defense which is Frankie that is standing near him. Frankie's role is basically a meat shield for Creepysoo as he has great defenses and regeneration. A part of Frankie's body could be seen made out of a troll which explains the great vitality.

Voodoo Marie stands near Creepysoo to protect him should assassins come to kill him. She also uses her abilities to punish anyone that lands a hit against Creepysoo. A stray arrow hit him once and the voodoo doll that she was holding on suddenly transformed into the enemy as she stabbed it with great force.

The enemy player immediately lost 25% of her health with that attack but Voodoo Marie also lost 5% of her health which will not regenerate as a sacrifice. She will not be able to heal that health for this battle as that curse, she applies has used her health as payment. The enemy she inflicted will also be applied a curse that will decrease the regeneration of health.

The gods that viewed themselves as clean and pure looked repulsed by the undead. The death gods that came, on the other hand, are ecstatic to see a battle between the living and the dead. The death gods are paying attention to the clash between the living cavalry and the undead cavalry.

When both forces clashed against one another, a powerful force resulted in each of them clashing but the Fallen Knight's order won in the end. Don Quixote suddenly turned to smoke while the undead he summoned turned to dust. Don Quixote was not killed but he reconstituted his body near Creepysoo.

One might think that the Fallen Knights guild now have an advantage because of their numerical superiority but they forgot someone while fighting against the undead knights. Creepysoo, who was diligently chanting his spell, has closed his Necronomicon as he finished the spell.

"Arise from the darkness of the earth and kill my enemies! Summon Undead Dragon!" Creepysoo shouted as a large magic circle suddenly appeared behind him where an undead dragon made entirely of bones came out. He lost all his mana in the process, but he summoned a powerful undead that is said to rival a real dragon.

"Miasma Breath!" Creepysoo commanded as the undead dragon started to release purple smoke from its mouth and blasted it towards the opponents.

Chapter 1283 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights VII

A powerful and gigantic Undead Bone Dragon has been summoned by Creepysoo. Since it was summoned by him using the Necronomicon, the Bone Dragon is at the peak level of 300. It also drained all of his mana as a result of the summon since it is the most powerful spell in the Necronomicon.

[You have summoned an Undead Bone Dragon.]

[Your Undead Bone Dragon has released Dragon Fear.]

[Your Undead Bone Dragon has released Dragon Might.]

[Since you have summoned a being more powerful than yourself, you cannot fully sustain it which is why it will lose 0.5% of its health per second.]

[Since you have summoned a being more powerful than yourself, it will receive twice as much damage from attacks of other players.]

[You have commanded the Undead Bone Dragon to release its Miasma Breath.]

Creepysoo immediately commanded the Undead Bone Dragon to use its breath attack since it will expire in two hundred seconds. As he pushed his limit in summoning a powerful undead that could deal with the problem, he knowingly went with the most powerful spell. The minimum requirement to summon the Undead Bone Dragon is level 300 which he falls short.

Still, the Undead Bone Dragon is a powerful undead that is a definite plus to have for a few seconds. The Undead Bone Dragon opened its skeletal mouth and immediately released a purple and green ray of powerful miasma. It aimed perfectly towards the charging Fallen Knights guild officials.

Seeing that their star players are about to be hit by a powerful blast of energy, the support players immediately casted shield spells to soak as much damage. If they did not do so, then the Fallen Knights guild officials will surely suffer from the damage dealt by taking a dragon breath head on. Numerous shields propped up in front of the Fallen Knights guild official which took the hit of the Undead Bone Dragon's Miasma Breath.

The shields could be seen being shattered with each second the breath attack occurred, but the Fallen Knights guild officials remained unscathed. It was not just the support players that created shields to protect their leaders but also the mages of the guild since dragons are mighty creatures even if they are dead. The Fallen Knights guild officials might be safe but that also meant that the numerous magical barrages also stopped.

The rear unit immediately knew that something is not right as they sensed a chill which made their spines tingle. The enemy guild, Pantheon, did not counterattack using ranged spells to deter them but it was too late as they messed up. One of the strategies that the Fallen Knights guild must always follow is that they must never let the enemy guild become free.

The moment that the Pantheon guild is free from defending against their barrages will become their own undoing. Just as they predicted, Adrian immediately saw the opportunity and sent Solstice, Lycan, Vayu and Soleil to the rear unit of the enemy guild. Four against forty might be quite a tall challenge but the Fallen Knights rear units thought they could manage until they saw a being with horns suddenly appear in front of them.

"It is time to wreak havoc." Adrian stated as he and the other immediately started the chaos on the forty enemies.

"Paradox, Summon Primordial Armament: Scythe." Adrian stated as a scythe materialized beside him which he gripped with such excitement.

"Call of the Night!" Solstice shouted as the whole arena suddenly became covered in darkness. The time of day is suddenly changed to that of night.

When the time of day is changed to night, the gods are shocked with the Gods of Light being appalled. They did not expect that a vampire was actually present in the Pantheon guild as she was wearing a golden covered armor that protected her from the light. They were only able to see her true form when her golden armor receded into her body and revealed a beautiful vampire that wielded two bloody swords.

"Shapeshift." Lycan muttered as he suddenly howled, and his body started to change.

Lycan's body started to grow twice his size as he is suddenly covered in fur. His human face morphed to that of a wolf as he became a fully morphed werewolf. His armor receded into his body, but he was still wearing it but just fused with his fur. The gods are shocked because they thought that werewolves no longer lived in the main world.

To the gods of Pandemonium, the vampires and werewolves are relics of the past since they were hunted down by the angels. They are beings of darkness that was descended from an Asmodian named Erebus who was treated as the God of Absolute Darkness. Erebus was killed during the great war and most of his children also sacrificed themselves to fight the dark gods, but it seems that some managed to survive.

The only ones that know that vampires and werewolves still exist are the gods of light and those that socialize with them. Gods cannot see everything in the world as they can only view areas where they have followers. They are not like the twin gods that has a relic that could see any area of the world but even that could be shrouded.

The gods of light did not want the other gods to know that vampires and werewolves still exist because they bear the blood of Erebus. Bearing the blood of someone treated as a god means that they have an increased chance of becoming one as well. Some gods are elated that there could possibly be a successor to the seat of God of Darkness.

The reason why monsters become stronger during the night is due to the fact that there is no active god of darkness. The ones that are currently taking over the duty of overlooking the night are the Gods of Light, but they are not doing a good job. The gods were also looking forward to the Nephilim that could control light and darkness as a potential god candidate but having an Erebian is more promising.

The gods look forward to the vampire and werewolf duo and even wants to curry favor towards them should they ascend to godhood. It is not just Solstice and Lycan that took the attention of the gods because Vayu and Soleil are also in their sights. The ones that are paying attention to them are the Wind Gods and Fire Gods.

In fact, one of the gods is even enthusiastic about Vayu because he uses the storm attribute which is a rare form of the wind element. He also has the skill called Storm God's Descent: Susanoo which he used in front of the Storm God Susanoo himself.

The Storm God Susanoo eyed Vayu and even warned the other wind gods to stay away from him because he belongs to him now. One of the Fire Goddess is also looking at Soleil as she is reminded of herself when she looks at her, but she did not openly show interest like Susanoo. She made sure to take a metal note and contact her once this scuffle is over.

The Fallen Knights guild rear unit is suddenly bombarded by their enemies infiltrating the back line. This will normally be impossible in a normal guild war setting but the Pantheon guild has a Daemos. A being that could warp the fabric of time and space itself.

If Adrian was not kept busy, then he could immediately send an army to the rear area. They knew of this because they have seen clips of Adrian creating a portal to send the united army of Valor, Evergreen and Infernum to the front line. He is the one that they are really watching out for.

"This fight is a good as over. I thought this would be a good show, but it was just a let-down." One of the gods stated as he leaned back from his seat.

"You do not know what might happen in war. When you think that you will win, something from somewhere will bring you down to the ground." Another god added.

"Assist the rear unit!" Dame commanded as they turned towards the rear unit of their guild to attack the five that suddenly appeared there. They would have easily done so if not for the sudden intrusion of the Undead Bone Dragon. The Undead Bone Dragon had a few seconds left and blocked the charging knight players as they dug to its bone body.

"God Save the Queen!" Mord shouted the phrase which made two of the players in rear unit cast spells that sacrificed their lives.

"Heavenly Lock!" A mage player of the light attribute shouted as her whole body turned into particles of light that formed chains and bound Adrian.

[You have been affected by the Heavenly Lock.]

[You cannot resist it as it bypassed all your resistances.]

[You will be stunned for ten seconds.]

Chapter 1284 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights VIII

Adrian is afflicted by a crowd control spell that stuns the player for ten seconds. He is not getting damaged, but the spell basically bypassed his resistances and even his status ailment or crowd control nullification. It is a powerful spell, but it also sacrificed the user of the spell due to its powerful binding.

"Arcane Shift!" Another mage player from the rear unit of the Fallen Knights guild shouted as his body lost all mana and started to turn into particles of light.

Adrian did not know who the target of that spell was, but he knows that it was not him. He could feel the shifting of space around him because the spell is basically like Blink but forcefully uses the mana of the user. Since the mage user is not proficient or able to use Arcane magic, they had to sacrifice their health should they want to force something as powerful as space.

"Aerial Guillotine!" A voice familiar to Adrian is heard from behind him.

Adrian suddenly felt a piercing pain in his chest due to a lance impaling his chest. The lance came from none other than Dame as she suddenly appeared behind Adrian. It is not that Adrian could not believe it, but he did not expect to be caught so easily.

Adrian knew that he blundered by suddenly appearing in front of the enemy. He expected that they have some sort of way to trap him, but he did not expect them to use skills that sacrifice their life to achieve it. He thought that they would use it as a last resort, but it seems they used it the moment they saw him.

"This was your plan all along. I am impressed." Adrian stated as his body started to turn into particles of light.

"You are the most troublesome fighter in your guild after all." Dame stated but it was not just Adrian that was pierced with a weapon.

Levin Cloud is also pierced with a lance just like Adrian, but the former was pierced by Mord. It seems that they were both targets of the enemy's plan as they would be the people that can change the flow of the fight. Adrian is a hard hitter that have many area of effect spells while Levin Cloud could revive the dead as long as he is alive.

The two are indeed the most powerful among the guild as one is the strongest sweeper and the other is the best support player. Dame used the skill called Aerial Guillotine which is a combination skill she has with her Minoan Griffin mount. It is a powerful skill that has a chance to instantly kill a player, but it also has a high damage multiplier.

The Aerial Guillotine could also be increased in damage if the user sacrifices their health which Dame did. She even sacrificed some of the health that her Minoan Griffin mount had which increased the damage of the skill even further. She even managed to break the three elemental shields that are affecting Adrian.

Mord, on the other hand, used the skill called Guillotine which has the same effect as Aerial Guillotine but lower in damage. He was only able to kill Levin Cloud because he was lucky that he activated the critical strike blow that the skill had. The damage he dealt was doubled and penetrated Levin Cloud's defenses.

The plan that they dubbed as 'God Save the Queen' is a plan crafted to kill the Equinox and Levin Cloud. They knew that they need to lock Equinox for at least five seconds to kill him while they could just kill Levin Cloud by surprise. They would make the guild officials kill the two by suddenly transporting them.

It was a well thought out plan that required at most five sacrifices, but they are glad they managed with just two. It seems that luck was on their side when they executed the mission. The morale of the Fallen Knights guild could be seen increasing because of their success.

The Fallen Knights guild cheered as they were able to kill the guild leader and vice guild leader of the enemy team. They might have sacrificed their two most powerful mage players, but it was worth it because they dealt with the strongest players they know. They expected that the other members of the Pantheon guild will lose morale, but they are shocked that they continued on with their assault.

"Dame, what is happening?" One of the guild officials asked as they regrouped with her.

"I thought that they would lose their will to win this round, but it seems that they want to keep fighting." Another guild member added.

"You thought that we will lose morale just because you killed those two? It seems that you underestimate us more than we thought. Glacial Wind!" Peridot stated as she mixed her water and wind gem to create numerous small but sharp ice shards.

"Kill her next!" Dame shouted as five assassin players jumped Peridot, but Kabrakan suddenly lunged towards her and blocked all five assassins. His health could see become back to full as Levin Cloud healed him back to full before he died.

"To think that he accurately predicted that they would target him in some way. He just did not expect that they would be able to kill him." Kabrakan stated.

"That is why we have to seize the chance before those two come back." Peridot stated as she released the Glacial Wind which sent the small ice shards towards all the enemies. She created numerous bruises and cuts that made the enemy draw blood. Solstice could be seen becoming more powerful as the blood of others are drawn.

"Curse of Hemorrhage!" Creepysoo added as he released a thin red gas that afflicted all the enemy team.

[You have been applied with the Curse of Hemorrhage.].

[Your health regeneration will decrease by half for ten seconds.]

[You will receive excessive bleeding from the Bleed status ailment.]

"Finally, something to pull from instead of my own blood! Bloody Queen!" Solstice stated as she can now be effective in combat and used one of her most powerful abilities.

Solstice's shadow dress started to become dyed with red as the blood of her enemies gathered towards her like mist. Lycan is also helping her by afflicting Bleed towards all their enemies despite him not being able to kill them. The defenses of the enemy team are top notch but all that means is they need to hit them harder.

"We should start as well, daughter." Vayu stated as he eyed the other guild officials of the Fallen Knights guild.

"Yes, Papa. If the big brothers return, then they would likely slaughter them all." Soleil replied as she and her father immediately knew that they have to go all out now.

"Storm Avatar!" Vayu stated as his body that was still visibly humanoid suddenly started to get filled to the brim with wind elemental energy.

"Solar Avatar!" Soleil stated as her body started to gather all the fire elemental energy in the area.

Vayu suddenly transformed from a human looking player to a humanoid being made of wind and lightning. He still kept the outline of his human form, but he is no longer human as he transformed into a full elemental. His elemental body is bursting with wind and lightning that he did not even have a truly physical form.

Soleil, on the other hand, has transformed into a small female child that could be mistaken for being burned but she became fire incarnate. She looked like she was a human sun because her whole body is radiating heat that could easily melt metal. Even the arrow that was about to hit her suddenly turned to ashes before it reached her.

The three, Solstice, Vayu and Soleil, started their rampage since they have transformed themselves. Solstice created powerful sword waves with just a flick of her sword as the Blood Aura she collected is enough to create them indefinitely. She would launch these blood sword waves to the rear unit that is clumped.

She is pressuring the rear unit with just Lycan's help. Vayu and Soleil used their newly acquired forms and tormented the eight Fallen Knights guild officials as they released torrents of elemental magic without care for chant or mana. They were so powerful that the mounts of the knights died from the spells released by them since the rear unit cannot fully support them.

Dame tried to rescue the rear unit but charging towards Solstice to kill her, but she was suddenly held down by bandages. She commanded her Minoan Griffin to release a flurry of wind blades to release them and they did.

"You are not going anywhere. You still have business with me." Creepysoo stated as a lance is suddenly launched at him which Frankie managed to block with his body.

"Go, Guild Master! I shall face this one!" Mord stated as he knew that only he can hold Creepysoo alone.

Chapter 1285 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights IX

"Thank you, Mord." Dame shouted as she told her mount to charge forward to Solstice.

The Minoan Griffin immediately covered itself with razor winds that not only increased its speed but also a protective armor against stray attacks. Dame arrived near Solstice' side quickly because of this which cut the latter's offensive short.

Unlike what happened with Adrian earlier, Dame was not able to even land a hit against Solstice. She would have been able to, but Solstice was not held by a powerful crowd control spell. Seeing the challenge presented to her, Solstice smiled widely because she thinks it is boring going against a group that only knows how to defend.

"Let me see if you can at least entertain me. Until my brother resurrects anyway." Solstice stated as she suddenly turned to red mist and appeared beside Dame.

Dame's reaction is not quick, but her mount's is which is why she managed to avoid the slicing attack that Solstice did. Solstice is impressed with the quick reactions of the mount as it prioritized the safety of its owner. The Minoan Griffin is able to read the shift in the air current which is why it could react to Solstice' sudden appearance.

"What do you mean, your brother's revival? He is already dead and all of you will soon be as well." Dame stated as she rushed with her lance towards Solstice.

Solstice smiled as she parried the attack that Dame did with ease and even laughed a bit. Solstice wanted to tell her that she is wrong that the two are dead already but seeing her reaction when they revive would be more entertaining.

"Could you do what you did to him earlier again? Then again, you would have used that to restrain that undead boy if it was possible." Solstice stated as she knows that their next target is Creepysoo since he could revive his allies back to undead for a short duration.

Dame suddenly felt that something is amiss and why her opponent is asking her if they could do the strategy again. She then felt something off because their enemies are not even losing morale despite their guild leader and vice guild leader dying. Just as she is about to say that something, the location where Equinox and Levin Cloud died suddenly erupted in pillars of light.

"Took quite a while to revive as expected." Adrian stated as his whole body is reconstructed.

"To think there would be a timer before we could revive again." Levin Cloud muttered as they could just instantly revive whenever they died before, but it seems that the skill is given a timer when in PVP.

"Impossible!" Dame shouted as she almost let go of her lance. Even the other Fallen Knights guild members could not believe their eyes because the two that they sacrificed much for to kill just revived back to full health.

"They been blessed by Yewdrassil. A very strange occurrence." One of the gods muttered as the only one who could grant sudden resurrection would be the Tree of Life and Death, Yewdrassil. The gods could not believe that they were able to get its blessing where even past envoys and champions related to the Twin Gods never received.

The Tree of Life and Death, Yewdrassil, is a very special existence even to the gods because they know that it came even before creation started. It is basically an entity that existed before even time and space was conceptualized. Even gods know to fear it because of the immense power that it has stored in its body.

"I guess, it is on my part for being caught in their trap. I would have been able to dodge but someone interfered." Adrian stated as he looked towards the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

Adrian was about to use Enhanced Blink to dodge the spell aimed towards him, but he suddenly felt that the space was unstable. The instability was minute, but he sensed it because of a small sparkling light in front of him. The Gods of War did not make a fuss about it which means that someone from their group hid it from the others.

The Twin Gods noticed it, but they should not inform or ask Adrian about it as they might disqualify his group should they speak with him. Adrian just let it be and thought that he could tank the hit, but he was wrong. He died due to a powerful attack but that also mean he is incredibly angry not at the Fallen Knights guild but with the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

Adrian accepted his death, but he did not expect that his best friend was also a target. When both of them died, they turned into spirit form and was only able to revive after a minute. In their spirit form, they could actually talk to each other and was also able to converse with the Twin Gods. Adrian reassured them that they do not need to intervene because they will make sure to have their revenge.

"Peridot, buy us as much time as you can." Adrian stated as he suddenly teleported towards Levin Cloud's location.

Adrian did not summon his soulbounds because what he is attempting to do must be done with all his power intact. If he summoned any soulbound then they would drain some power from Adrian that might make the spell disperse. Levin Cloud looked at Adrian and nodded as he also knew what they need to do next.

"Since both of you said so." Peridot stated as she clearly wanted to not expose her skills here, but she could feel that the two are incredibly angry for some reason.

Peridot then raised her hand as all of her gemstones fused together into an orb that resembled a miniature earth globe. Her clothes started to lengthen as her body became elongated and her body started to turn serpentine as she changed to her true form which is that of a Ryujin.

Chapter 1286 The Pantheon VS Fallen Knights X

Peridot turned to her true form which is that of a Ryujin which delighted the Goddess Tiamat as she was watching from the sidelines as well. She decided to watch because her children are going to be fighting and she wanted to see the exceptional one which is Peridot.

Peridot's serpentine form looks completely different compared to before because she actually underwent evolution. She still has the serpentine dragon look but she now looks divine compared to her previous look. Her scales are pinkish in color that made it look like they are made with pearls while her hair that flowed freely looked like silver strings.

She also has a beautiful orb on her forehead which the gemstones that fused into a globe entered. When the globe entered the orb present in her forehead, all the elements around her shuddered as four different colored clouds surrounded her. A red, blue, green, and gray cloud surrounded Peridot and each of these clouds represented an element that she could control.

"Torrential Rain!" Peridot stated as the blue cloud suddenly expanded in the battlefield and sent forth gusts of strong wind and rain. It also clouded the vision of those in the area which obscured their vision towards Adrian and Levin Cloud, but she did not stop there.

"Blazing Heat Wave!" Peridot stated once again as the red cloud that surrounded her expanded and sent blasts of condensed heat energy towards her enemies. The assassins that were trying to kill her could not resist the intense heat near Peridot and released their invisibility. Kabrakan used this chance and pummeled the assassins to death.

"Tempest Winds!" Peridot added as her gray cloud expanded and sent out fierce howling winds that released wind blades and knocked back any that did not have firm ground. Some of the arrows and spells that relied on trajectory are lost as well.

"Terrestrial Quake!" Peridot stated as the green cloud suddenly seeped into the ground and created powerful tremors that shook the entire arena. The tremors did not only affect her enemies but also her allies as well but it affected her enemies greater. The mounts of the knights could not stand properly which made them subject to the onslaught of Vayu and Soleil who was facing them.

"Amazing! To think a Fairy Dragon would once again be born into the world!" The Goddess Tiamat stated as that is what Peridot evolved into when she changed form.

Fairy Dragons is not really like the Faekin, but they were named as such because they have the rare ability to harness the power of nature. They are rare species of dragons that have the potential to be a guardian of nature or calamities which earned them the name Fairy Dragon. This is due to the fact that the faekin are often depicted as guardian of nature or calamities depending on their mood.

The main symbol for the Fairy Dragon is a special crystal embedded in their body called the Draconic Moonstone. It is a special orb that has a beautiful appearance of the moon when moonlight shines upon it. The Fairy Dragons is also blessed with the ability to heal and dispel curses which is why they are described close to being divine due to this special trait.

"Stop her!" One of the rear units of the Fallen Knights guild stated but they could not actually do anything to Peridot.

The spells that Peridot uses might not be very powerful to immediately kill her enemies, but they are very disruptive in nature. Each of the spells she used is making sure that the enemy team does not have a way to fight back or counterattack. The rear unit is having difficulty defending against her spells even though they have elemental mages in their groups.

"I cannot stop the rain." A Hydromancer from the Fallen Knights guild stated.

"I can only minimize the heat that is affecting us, but I cannot cancel it." A Pyromancer from the Fallen Knights guild stated.

"I managed to decrease the shaking of the earth, but it is only temporary." A Geomancer from the Fallen Knights guild stated.

"I blocked the wind blades, but it is not a permanent solution." An Aeromancer from the Fallen Knights guild stated.

It is only natural that they cannot counter the powerful area of effect spells that Peridot is conjuring because she is using her mana to maintain it. With her perfect control of the elemental spells, only someone that has greater elemental affinity than her could cancel it. The best that her opponents could do is lessen the effects of her spells have on them.

The Fallen Knights guild that has high morale that thought that they will win suddenly started to feel hopelessness. Their guild master is currently fighting a vampire player while their vice guild master is unable to kill the undead prince. They thought that they have the upper hand because they killed the enemy guild's guild leader and vice guild leader, but they are entirely mistaken for thinking so.

The enemy guild leader and vice guild leader revived while the enemy team suddenly transformed into more powerful versions of themselves. The continuous buffs and heals that they are using will not last much longer because the mana that their support players have is starting to dwindle at a fast rate by the numerous damage they are soaking up.

Just when the Fallen Knights guild thought that they just needed to endure until the enemy guild loses mana or stamina, they are reminded of the fact that Equinox and Levin Cloud are still alive. The two suddenly vanished of their radar when Peridot suddenly transformed into her full dragon form.

"Everyone! Be careful of Equinox and Levin Cloud!" Dame shouted as even she lost track of them because of her fight with Solstice.

"You should pay attention to the enemy in front of you." Solstice stated as she poured a lot of her Blood Essence into the attack. As soon as Dame shouted her warning, a powerful white and black energy could be seen exploding from behind Peridot.

Chapter 1287 Victory And A Warning I

Mord could not even scratch Creepysoo despite telling his team members that he will deal with the undead prince. A cavalry knight versus a mage would not be difficult as the former could easily cross the distance and reach the latter but that is not the case for Mord. The undead knights that are guarding Creepysoo made him unable to even land a single attack.

The undead knights filled each of their roles to the point that Mord is already full of curses. If not for this job class called Cursed Knight that has high tolerance against curses, then he would have died already. Due to his high resistance to curses, he only takes about a quarter of the damage from them which is why he can still fight.

When he is far, the undead knight archer Robin Hoodie would shoot multiple arrows at him. If he is too close, then the defensive tank called Mummie will deter him from even getting close. Should he get close, Voodoo Marie would target him and change her doll to his image then stab it.

If he goes out of range of Voodoo Marie's attack, then he would be on the defensive against Don Quixote. If by some miracle that he arrives near Creepysoo then the meat wall called Frankie would soak the attack. He has no chance of even getting a hit because an undead that has great regeneration is soaking all of his damage.

Mord knew that going against a player chosen to represent their country in the Pandelympics is not easy, but he did not expect it to be this difficult. He believed that he could get to his level as he defeated his country's representative once during a match in the arena. Just when he is about to try and launch an all-out attack, he suddenly felt two powerful bursts of energy.

"What is that?" Mord thought to himself.

====

"We must work together to defeat them!" One of the guild officials of the Fallen Knights guild stated as she blocked the fireball that was launched at her.

"Easy for you to say!" Another stated as he tried to resist the effects of the tornado that was launched in his general direction.

The eight guild officials that are said to be the cream of the crop for the Fallen Knights guild could not even hold a candle against the two elemental players. Vayu is running around in circles with them while Soleil makes sure to blast them with pure fire power. The eight thought that they would have the upper hand, but they thought wrong.

What the eight guild officials are glad about though is the fact that they are not receiving fatal damages. The buffs and heals that their team in the rear unit is still ongoing despite the interruptions. If the buffs and heals were to cease, then it would be no doubt that they will immediately lose.

"Escape in the shape of an octagon and those that are able should help the rear unit!" One of the guild officials from the Fallen Knights guild stated as all eight of them suddenly split up into eight sections.

All eight of them dispersed and thought that Vayu and Soleil will not be able to stop all eight of them at once, but they severely underestimated what an elemental could do. Vayu swung his katana and created a wind arc that pushed all those that collide with it to the center. Soleil created a blazing arc that could turn anyone into a flaming corpse should they passed through it.

Vayu and Soleil made an encirclement using their mastery over the elements to make sure that the eight do not interrupt the others. They might not be expending mana when using spells of their element, but their stamina is getting drained at large rates when they use large powerful attacks like these. The mounts of the guild officials sensed the danger from crossing the encirclement and proceeded to return to the middle.

"We are back just as where we were." A guild official complained but all eight of them suddenly felt incredible pressure from the direction where the dragon player of the enemy team was.

=====

The rear unit of the enemy team is currently focused on defending themselves against the immense crowd control spells that Peridot did, but they are also protecting themselves from the predator around them. Lycan did not stop attacking the rear unit of the Fallen Knights guild as he was the only one left to deal with the since Solstice is going against Dame.

Lycan made sure to only injure them with cuts from his claws as he knows that he might die should he charge bravely to the front. He made use of his incredible speed and reflexes to dodge spells and attacks. There are currently only thirty players left in the rear unit of the Fallen Knights guild due to his and Solstice's rampage.

The de facto leader of the rear unit is a vanguard player that carries a sword and shield. It seems that he is in charge of the defense and offense of the rear unit as he has great visual acuity. He is actually a great leader that is calm and could assess the situation quickly. He could also keep tabs on Lycan which is why the latter could not kill more enemies.

Lycan thought that he would have no chance to kill off the rear unit commander since he is getting locked on, but he suddenly saw an opportunity. The leader of the rear unit suddenly lost focus on him because of the sudden burst of powerful energy that came from Adrian and Levin Cloud's direction.

"Night Hunter!" Lycan muttered to himself as he suddenly burst of incredible power and speed. He then severed the head of the leader of the rear unit while the rest were still in confusion on what happened to the one commanding them.

=====

What Adrian needed was not a simple distraction from Peridot but a major one where they would be forgotten. Peridot not only created immense spells that obscured vision, but she also shrouded Equinox and Levin Cloud from the gaze of their opponents.

"Let us start then." Adrian stated as he collected pure death energy in his two hands.

"Let us hope that we do this correctly." Levin Cloud stated as he gathered pure life energy in his two hands.

When both of them started the energy that they gathered did not have any distinct signature because it was miniscule. Both of them are chanting simultaneously but it seems that they were in harmony as if they are singing. The chant for their Synchro spell would be heard by others as if it was a song because the chants are derived from the Song of Life and the Song of Death.

The Twin Gods already knew what their champion and envoy are up to because they could sense the change in the life and death energy in the surroundings. The Twin Gods already expected that their champion and envoy could use their signature spell that made them be feared by all the gods. A spell that can turn even a god to dust should they get hit with it.

Adrian and Levin Cloud could then feel the sudden burst of energy that they collected as it suddenly multiplied by ten. The pebble like energy suddenly grew until it became the size of a basketball. It did not stop there as it exploded to a more powerful size that already dwarfed the two.

The gods that were watching trembled at the sight of the synchro skill because they know what that is. All of them that were calculating on whether their respective champions could go against the Envoy of the Twin Gods and the Champion of the Twin Gods started to believe it was impossible.

The fact that the two knows the spell Void Demolition is scary in a sense because the Twin Gods actually entrusted it to them. What the gods do not know is the fact that the two was only able to receive the skill because the Twin Gods descended on their bodies and embedded the skill on their soul when they used it against the Silver Banshee.

The Twin Gods are greatly impressed with their chosen envoy and champion because they were talented enough to recreate the spell despite it being of lower quality. The skill might not be able to kill a god, but they will not feel that the damage is like getting hit by a truck.

The two intense energies that the two released suddenly shrunk back down to the size of a pebble but the whole area trembled as the two energies were busting at the seams. When the two are satisfied with what they accomplished, they looked at each other and slammed the two energies towards each other.

"Void Demolition!" Adrian and Levin Cloud stated as the two intense energies fused into one.

Chapter 1288 Victory And A Warning II

"Void Demolition!" Adrian and Levin Cloud stated as the two intense energies fused into one.

A powerful beam of cosmic energy is sent straight towards the eight guild officials of the Fallen Knights guild. The eight guild officials knew that they cannot easily block the attack from pure instinct. One would think that an ordinary black and white beam combined would be easy to dodge and have no power, but their mounts are a different story.

A knight and his mount are basically connected at the heart and if their mount fears something then that means something should be feared. The mounts saw the beam and their first instinct is to run away or even dig a hole where they could escape but the mounts could not move. It was the feeling of absolute certainty that they would die as even the commands of their knights fell on deaf ears.

Since the mounts are not listening to what they are saying, the Fallen Knights Guild officials used their powerful defensive skills that can negate damage for a certain duration. They activated the skills in an attempt to block the hit, but their mana suddenly became drained. They looked at the source of the one draining their mana and could see Creepysoo gathering the mana of the living around him.

They could see their vice guild leader Mord and his mount crawling as he tried to stand up. They thought that their vice guild master can take care of Creepysoo but it seems that the prince of the undead is not someone could stand up against. Creepysoo did not cast Essence Drain by chance as he was already told to do it should Adrian and Levin Cloud use their synchro skill.

Without the stable mana they could use, the eight guild officials of the Fallen Knights guild got swallowed by the powerful beam of black and white light that Adrian and Levin Cloud conjured. The beam did not stop there as it went straight towards the rear unit.

All the remaining members of the rear unit of the Fallen Knights guild saw what happened to their guild leaders with their mouths agape. As if by instinct, they conjured all the defensive spells that they could in order to protect themselves from the spell, but they all became worthless at the power of pure cosmic energy.

Just like its name, the spell demolished everything in its path and left it with nothing but the void. Dame, who was still fighting Solstice, saw this scene in sheer horror as all of her guild members died by being swallowed by the beam of light. The beam of light did not just stop there as it actually went straight to the barrier protecting the Holy Sanctum Arena.

The Void Demolition beam clashed with the barrier of the Holy Sanctum Arena and made it tremble before creating a hole towards it. The beam created by the skill did not stop with puncturing the barrier as it went straight to the location where Adrian and Levin Cloud intended it to hit. The beam of light went straight to where the gods of light are seated.

The gods of light feared that death ray, but they dared not to move because the Goddess Luminaria did not move an inch from the overly decorated chair, she was sitting in. If they move from their location, then they would get scolded by her. They would rather face the skill done by the lower beings than be dealt with by the Goddess Luminaria.

The Goddess Luminaria did not look amused by the sight of vermin attempting to harm her. She immediately created a powerful beam of light on her own to counteract the Void Demolition. She could be seen easily blocking the spell, but she was actually using 30% of her powers as a goddess to block the attack from lower beings.

She was also on her toes because she knew that she would get harmed if she did not block it correctly. Seeing that she has all eyes on her, she did not show that she was actually having a hard time and took out her staff. With her staff, she created a more powerful beam that cancelled out the Void Demolition skill.

The Goddess Luminaria knew that the skill was actually intended to hit her as the eyes of those she calls vermin are packed with bloodlust against her. Adrian and Levin Cloud did not find her very pleasing because she was the reason why they died earlier. She snickered at the thought that those vermin will actually harm her.

"I must teach these vermin a lesson." The Goddess Luminaria thought as she casted a more potent beam of light in an attempt to kill Adrian and Levin Cloud.

"That is as far as you go." The Goddess Nemesis stated as she took out her sword and cut the beam of light that the Goddess Luminaria created as if it was nothing.

The sudden cancellation of her attack that was filled with her mana made the Goddess Luminaria cough a small amount of blood. She glared at the Goddess Nemesis for suddenly attacking her with her Godly Jurisdiction. The fact that all the mana that the Goddess Luminaria spent on her spell went coming back to her and dealing damage did not sit well with the angry goddess.

The Goddess Nemesis stared back at the Goddess Luminaria in a passive and stoic face. The Goddess Luminaria wanted to say something, but she could feel the presence of the Goddess Nemesis go bigger. The Goddess Luminaria knew that she was found out and this was her punishment for messing with the fight just now.

The Goddess Luminaria can only sit back down on her overly decorated seat and wait for the match to be over. Seeing that the other team only has one person left, this match is already as good as finished. She would raise her concern after the match and make sure that those two lower beings be punished.

Dame saw everything that happened and fell limp as even her mount fell limp. It was not just her that fell limp because every player felt the powerful force that washed through them when the Goddess Luminaria was serious. All of them except for Adrian kneeled due to the sheer might of a goddess but it was erased when the Goddess Nemesis made her move.

"It seems that we are not yet a match for a goddess." Adrian thought as he looked at the Goddess Nemesis because she easily cut off the Goddess Luminaria's attack despite it not being at her full power.

Adrian walked towards Dame's location and took out his scythe. He did not even let her say the words to surrender and just beheaded her with one swipe. The hopelessness and sheer shock could be seen in her face as she died. She turned into particles of light and the mediator announced the winners of the guild war.

"The winner of the Challenge is Pantheon! They will now receive the compensation promised to the winner. The opposing team did not surrender their territory but have given resources equivalent to it. Congratulations to Pantheon once again!" The mediator announced as the Fallen Knights guild were all sent back to the mortal realm.

"The matter with those people from the lower realm has yet to be finished." The Goddess Luminaria stated which made all the gods focus their attention on her.

"The matter should be settled, little goddess. My champion has already won the challenge despite some hiccups on the road." The Goddess Gaea stated in a calm tone.

"Settled! Your champion and envoy dared to attack me! All of you have seen it! I demand to the Goddess of Justice that they should be punished!" The Goddess Luminaria stated as she pointed towards Adrian and Levin Cloud.

"What do you have to say about her allegation?" The Goddess Nemesis asked Adrian and Levin Cloud.

"First of all, it was not our fault that the barrier was fragile that it would actually be punctured by a spell done by those of the mortal realm." Adrian stated in a calm but playful tone to look innocent but the gazes of the gods of war were not pleasant to bear.

"Second, she could have just moved away if she was about to get hit. I mean why stand there and act like a victim when she could have just stood up and walked a few steps away." Adrian added.

"If you feel offended by our action then I am very sorry you felt offended. Maybe our aim was off because you are like a blinding light that is difficult to open our eyes onto." Adrian added again in his playful innocent tone that sent the Goddess Luminaria into a fit of rage.

To those that heard Adrian, they might think that he is apologizing. To those with attentive ears, they can actually piece his words together as a mockery of the Goddess Luminaria. Some of the gods and goddesses actually started to laugh. Adrian even made the stoic Goddess Nemesis chuckle before she returned to her bland expression.

Chapter 1289 Victory And A Warning III

"I have heard their side, Luminaria. I believe that they do not have any malice when they said that the barrier did not hold. If you are to be angry at someone then you should be angry at the god of war that maintained the barrier. Why was the barrier so frail that the powers of those of the mortal realm pierced through it?" The Goddess Nemesis stated as she faced the Goddess Luminaria.

The Goddess Luminaria knows why the barrier was fragile, but it was not fragile enough to be easily destroyed by players. The power behind Void Demolition is indeed powerful for a barrier that has been depowered. The Goddess Luminaria knows that she is the reason why the barrier is not at its full power.

She made sure that the god of war assigned to the barrier would lower its potency so that she could meddle in the affairs of those that were fighting. She already knew that the one fighting were the Champion of the Twin Gods and the Envoy of the Twin Gods. She bribed the god of war to lower the potency of the barrier to make her plan much easier.

What she did not expect is that the plan that she thought up would bite her. She did not expect that the Goddess Nemesis will be present in her full self. She thought that it would just be an aspect of her or a subordinate. The Goddess Luminaria made sure that she will not be stopped by just the presence of the Goddess Nemesis.

"Do you wish to pursue your meaningless ramble, Luminaria?" The Goddess Nemesis asked which made the Goddess Luminaria become severely angry at the former.

The Goddess Luminaria looked at the Goddess Nemesis with contempt because she did not even bother calling her with the goddess title. The Goddess Luminaria wanted to rebuke her, but she was older than her and more respected. She can also defeat her should they fight because she is not in her domain.

The Goddess of Justice and Vengeance does not have a celestial domain because she herself is the domain. She can set up a domain wherever she likes and even encroach upon the celestial domains of other gods when she punishes them. This is what makes the Goddess of Justice and Vengeance unique and what also makes other gods fear her.

"I will not forget this, lowly vermin!" The Goddess Luminaria stated in fury, but Adrian suddenly antagonized her.

"That is also what an angel said when I plucked her wings. She was actually sobbing and begging me to stop when I did that." Adrian stated in an underhanded and dark tone.

The Goddess Luminaria suddenly burst out in anger as the surrounding around her suddenly exploded in light. The staff that she carried suddenly created hundreds of magic circles that will launch Light Rays at Adrian. The other gods saw this and are shocked because the Goddess Luminaria did not even bother with basic etiquette.

The Goddess Luminaria is a guest and should act like a guest. The fact that she was antagonized with just a few words meant that she already came here with malicious intentions in mind. She did not even care to show respect to the Gods of War and just outright became hostile in their own domain.

"Stand down sparkling bitch or I will cut you down. I have been patient with you, but you are starting to act up without even giving us some face." The God Ares stated as he pulled out his sword.

The other gods of war also pulled out their weapons as they also felt that they have been shamed by the Goddess Luminaria's action. If a host cannot control their guests, then that would mean the hosts have failed to be even decent.

"Damn, your mouth could basically start the destruction of the universe. Were you like...the snake from the story of creation that has been reborn as a human or something?" Levin Cloud whispered to Adrian as his best friend's words basically made the venue become hot.

"Tell me! Should I be amused that these lowly vermin continue to disrespect me? They even dared to lay their hands on my precious children!" The Goddess Luminaria stated as some gods sympathized with her. Some gods did create some beings and they would definitely curse the mortal that will wipe them out of existence, but she was just being too dramatic.

"If you wanted to be respected then you should be respectful to the other party first. I have been curt enough to call you 'goddess' but you call us 'lowly vermin'. I do not know why you demand respect when you do not even have an ounce on your overly sparkling body." Adrian stated as he can no longer tolerate being looked down upon.

The Goddess Gaea is basically being a hype woman and nodding with Adrian is saying. The God Abaddon and the Goddess Nox are also nodding their heads to what Adrian said. Baron Samedi and Maman Brigitte are basically cheering Adrian on with paraphernalia that has a chibi face of Adrian on it.

"A being from the mortal realm has more class than you. If you stand down now, then I shall be courteous with you and not press this matter further. This should be the same for you, Champion Equinox. Stop antagonizing her so that she can calm her rage." The God Ares stated.

"I will only stop once that lowly vermin apologizes and kneels before me for the sin that he has committed." The Goddess Luminaria shouted.

"Why should I apologize when I have done nothing wrong? Do you wish to weigh my conscience in the scale of the Goddess Nemesis so that we can prove who has sinned between the two of us? I shall offer all of the divinity that I have collected in my body. What do you say?" Adrian taunted the Goddess Luminaria.

The scale that Adrian is talking about would be the one that the Goddess Nemesis holds on to her right hand. The Goddess Nemesis often calls her right hand as the Hands of Justice because she carries the Scales of Justice on that hand. Her left hand is called the Hand of Retribution because she carries the Sword of Retribution with that hand.

Adrian challenging the Goddess Luminaria into what they call as the Test of Justice is a very confident and bold move. The only ones that dare to say that are ones that know that they are innocent for what they are being accused of doing. When the Goddess Luminaria heard Adrian mentioning the scales, she immediately tensed up because the other gods will know the farce that she has kicked in.

She thought that she planned it perfectly, but she did not know that someone more of a schemer is on the other side. The divinity that Adrian might carry may be small in amount, but divinity is not something that can be easily acquired. The Goddess Luminaria knew that she cannot take the bet because she will be on the losing end.

"To think that a mere demon will challenge me to a Test of Justice when I am the benevolent Goddess of Light? I applaud your humor as you have made me laugh. I shall view this small exchange of ours as a mere lighthearted teasing. You must be severely frustrated that my children defeated you or something.

I have been quite rude to the Gods of War as well. I promise that I will not do it again in your domain. I shall now be off since my followers need me." The Goddess Luminaria state as she cancelled all her spells and vanished from the area.

"She escaped." Levin Cloud stated.

"She did." The others agreed as Adrian is not easy to fight in a battle of wits.

In fact, Adrian is the undisputed debater in their school and would often win debates for the school. Even his own sister is afraid to debate him when the topic is not about business. In a war of words, Adrian does not get aggressive despite the other party mocking him. He always remains levelheaded which would often make his opponents commit mistakes or run away from debating him.

"She did not take the bait. I really wanted to see her get punished. She is quite sly." Adrian stated as all his friends looked at him with judging expressions. The faces of the others basically say the phrase, "That is coming from you?!". They could not believe that those words came out of Adrian's mouth.

"You should be careful with your mouth, Champion Equinox. A sharp tongue can do you more harm than good." The Goddess Nemesis stated as she arrived near Adrian's group.

"She started it. I just finished the battle ad basically slapped her in the face. You should punish her if I were you." Adrian stated without fear.

Chapter 1290 Most Popular Video

"Strange." The Goddess Nemesis stated.

"What is strange?" Adrian asked.

"You are correct, but I have this odd compelling reason to smack you in the face. The Goddess Nemesis stated.

"That is not a new feeling because that is what people feel when they know the other person is correct but does not want to accept it. Been there and done that. It is much better to accept reality." Solstice stated as she perfectly knows that feeling because Adrian is his brother.

"You have taken my interest, Champion Equinox. Do you wish to become my champion instead?" The Goddess Nemesis stated but the Goddess Gaea and God Abaddon exploded in their aura. The Twin Gods are telling the Goddess Nemesis to not push her luck.

"It seems that your sponsors are very protective of you. Should you change your mind, come and find me." The Goddess Nemesis stated as she returned back to her duties.

The Pantheon guild members celebrated their victory as they won. Although they felt that they did not do much, but this fight is needed to be just that. This challenge was supposed to send a message to all the other guilds that are eyeing them as hawks. All of them rested after the fight as they needed the rest since they did their best.

When the Pantheon guild were resting, the whole fight of the guild war has been edited and streamed. The number of likes and views of the video skyrocketed to the billion in just under one day. It was the most streamed video in all time because the fight was not boring since the action of each player are powerful.

The broadcasting station even made sure to have videos that have the perspective of each Pantheon guild member. Each of their videos got millions of views in under a day because players would want to see the performance of the Pantheon guild members that are veiled in secret. This was the first published video that showcased what each of the Pantheon guild member can do.

The one with the most views are Equinox, Vayu and Solstice but their view count is close to each other but is split among the types of players. Equinox has the most because he is a summoner that is also a demon. Many players are curious about the Daemos and what they could do as Arcane magic is not something that normal mages can do.

Vayu has the next most viewed video along with Solstice because they are warrior type players. A vast majority of the player base are warrior players since a lot of people have this fantasy of wielding a sword. There is a reason why a lot of main characters are often seen wielding swords or warriors.

The broadcasting station could see the incredible rise of number of views. They never expected that they will actually have such success, but they already knew deep down that the numbers will be large. Some of the workers of the broadcasting station are actually fans of some of the members of the Pantheon guild which is why they knew this would explode.

The workers doing the editing of the video knew that they are in for roller coaster ride, and they were. Some of them even decided that the raw video was already perfect enough that it did not need to be edited. They actually became enamored with watching the fight as it was packed with action. The most shocking thing for them is the sudden death of Equinox and Levin Cloud.

"Do you think that they died for a good show?" One of the editors asked.

"Maybe, if nothing happened to them then it will not be this exciting." Another editor replied.

The editors did not know that the Goddess Luminaria did something to them and just attributed it to good acting. This made the editors think that the Pantheon guild really knows how to create content that other people will want to watch.

The broadcasting station also posted clips where it is the most replayed and that clip would be the appearance of Void Demolition. This synchro skill that was powerful enough to delete groups of people without even losing strength became the envy of many. It is such a powerful skill that made people scared to ever face it.

This is the reason why Adrian made sure to showcase this skill. If they just beat the other guild by their normal skills, then they will still win but they will not instill fear on the hearts of their enemies. In order to instill fear, one needs something that can be a symbol of that fear and that would be the Void Demolition skill.

If a guild would want to fight against Adrian's guild, then their first question would be, 'Do we have a way to defend against that skill?'. Should they be at loss to counter the Void Demolition skill then they will never even try and challenge them. There will still be sneaky people that will try and encroach the territory of Avalon, but they will always second guess themselves when issuing a challenge to the Avalon guild.

"What should we do about the footage on the latter part?" One of the editors asked as they also got the footage where the Goddess Luminaria went berserk and tried to kill the Pantheon guild.

The editors cut off the part where the Goddess Luminaria counterattacked because that is not part of the contract. The broadcasting company can only deal with footage that is about the challenge with the Fallen Knights guild. Should they broadcast the part of the Goddess Luminaria then they might infringe on the copyrights of the Pantheon guild.

"We are still waiting for the signal for that, but the director is already on it. Make sure to also edit it because that is gold content. The fact that Equinox taunted a goddess is not something that could be described as normal. A normal player challenging a goddess would make the headlines and will definitely blow up.

"I have never seen the director skipping with joy when he wrote a contract. He went to the residence of the Pantheon guild leader. To think the Demon was actually someone from our country! I really wanted to go with the director, but he already took Producer Martha and some of her crew. I am very jealous!" The editor stated.

=====

The director of the broadcasting station went to Adrian's house and is actually shocked that the Pantheon guild leader was living life. The director then became a bit stumped because people with this life tend to also spill over in virtual reality. He knows of news that certain company heirs create powerful guilds in Pandemonium and use their parents' money in creating it.

"How should I talk with them?" the director asked Martha, who is Marlon's mother.

"Just be normal. Also, you will be talking with his sister as he is out with my son at an amusement park." Martha stated.

The director of the broadcasting station already knew that he is in for a ride. He is a bit prepared for this interaction as he brought the company lawyer to give him more favorable options. The director of the broadcasting station thought that his lawyer would give him more leverage but even his lawyer was stumped when against Mina.

The only thing that the director is happy about is that they could release the confrontation with the Goddess Luminaria. The director already became elated with just a yes on that video because he can smell money when he sees good content. Just as the director of the broadcasting station predicted, the video about the confrontation with the Goddess Luminaria exploded more than the actual guild war.

The responses in the video were all hot because they could not believe that a player dared to confront a goddess like that. This video was the most viewed as it overtook any other video that any guild released. It was met with mixed reviews of people praising him or people bashing him.

The ones bashing Adrian are none other than the angel players as he disrespected the Goddess Luminaria who is their creator goddess. The ones that are praising Adrian are the players that have experienced the angel's tyranny firsthand.

There are also people that outright say that they are envious because there is also a part of the video where the Goddess Nemesis asked Adrian to be her champion. The players witnessed how powerful the Goddess Nemesis is when she easily cancelled the spell that the Goddess Luminaria used.

It is also that day where there were lots of players that prayed for devotion to the Goddess of Justice and Vengeance. The Goddess of Justice and Vengeance only had one temple and it was at the top of a mountain. There is even video evidence of a lot of players lining up to the mountain that the way has been filled with them up to the bottom.