

O Summoner 1311

Chapter 1311 Guild Recruitment II

After Adrian saw the explosive reaction of the Pocket Dimension Home Showrooms, he waited for three hours before announcing that the guild recruitment will start. He made sure that everything is prepared before he spoke. He looked at the numerous lists of participants and arranged them based on level.

"Hopeful Guild Recruits! I am pleased to welcome you to my territory. I know that many of you have prepared for this day which is why I will not say much but good luck.

For those participating in the guild recruitment, please read the directions that I have sent to all of you. I shall meet you there along with my guild members." Adrian announced as his voice reverberated to all of his territory.

Adrian told them to meet outside of Avalon as their number is not small for them to gather in one island. Adrian gathered them below Avalon where the land was unearthed. It took about one hour for all of the hopeful recruits to gather in the area.

All the recruits that did not make it into the cut were all deleted from the list when they did not reach the designated area on time. Although, the players that were decreased only numbered to one percent of the whole list. A lot of players were eager to join Pantheon as the range of levels went from 200 to 15.

As the players waited for the Pantheon guild members to show up, they all talked among themselves. They speculated on what the tests would be while others remained silent as they were nervous. The chattering only stopped when nine figures descended from the sky.

A Daemos with his four wings spread out descended onto the scene as if a God of Destruction going down from the heavens. Adrian looked very menacing and dignified at the same time as he entered in his Netheros form. Levin Cloud, Creepysoo and Lycan descended on Kanlaon's back as they cannot fly.

Kabranken changed to his Wind Breaker Armor which fused his shields and arms to wings so that he can fly. Peridot rode on Moksha that rode on thunderclouds. Vayu freely walked on air as if he is stepping on flat ground. Soleil rode on a miniature version of Regulus while Solstice freely descended as vampires do have the ability to fly.

"Greetings! My name is Equinox, the guild master of the Pantheon guild. We moved all of you here because we cannot do the actual test on Avalon. I will move all of us in a Pocket Dimension which is our guild home. All of you will have temporary passes and will be ejected upon death in the guild house. I shall now start the transport." Adrian stated without even entertaining the questions of the participants.

Adrian opened a large portal that led to the guild house that can only let those that were tagged in the list inside. The portal ate all the participants in one fell swoop as the other guild members followed. Adrian is then the only one left in the area among his guild members but there were other players that were not swept away.

The players that were not swept away were players that were not in the list and was just among the crowd. Adrian asked them what they are there for since they were not on the list of participants. All of them unanimously stated that they want to participate while some were the ones late.

"To those that were late in coming but were on the list, you may now leave. If you really wanted to be in my guild, then you would have come on time. I already gave half a day for all of you to gather. You can participate in the next recruitment drive when you are ready.

To those that were not able to register, I shall let you participate under one condition. Do you all agree?" Adrian asked.

"Can we not also be included in that one condition!?" One of the late comers stated to which Adrian raised his eyebrow.

"If the ones that were unable to register agrees to that demand, then I will let you have another chance." Adrian replied and the unregistered ones agreed.

Adrian took the names of the remaining ones that only numbered in the hundreds. He looked at them and there were only a handful that looked promising. The one that he is surprised the most is that Arsenal and Apolaki were part of the unregistered ones.

"Since all of you were late, I shall give you a preliminary test. You must pass this in order to gain admission to the real tests. Do all of you agree?" Adrian asked and he was met with silence, but they did not move from their position.

"Your silence means that you agree to it as you did not move from your locations. Sirius!" Adrian stated as Sirius came out of his shadows.

Sirius came out of Adrian's shadows in his full size which dwarfed any type of player. He could basically swallow a player whole with his sheer size. Sirius is also emanating a powerful aura that scared off low level players.

"All you need to do is to survive at least for ten seconds against Sirius' onslaught. Those that get reduced to 10% of their health will be eliminated. Did I make myself clear?" Adrian asked as all the players started to use their various buffs and gripped their weapons.

"Start." Adrian said calmly as Sirius suddenly melted into the shadows and create numerous shadow spikes to impale all the players.

Some players were able to dodge while some are immediately eliminated from the test. The next thing that happened is Sirius emerging from the shadows to attack each of the players within a quarter of a second. Sirius did this for the remaining time and a majority of the players are eliminated. The only ones that were actually able to resist the onslaught of attacks were Arsenal and Apolaki.

"It seems that only two of you passed. I am sorry to inform the rest of you, but you failed." Adrian stated as he tagged the two and passed the portal towards the three of them.

Chapter 1312 Guild Recruitment III

"Where were you? What took you so long?" Solstice asked as Adrian was a bit late to arrive when he should be the one facilitating the first trial.

"I needed to fetch some late registrants. I had to test them so that the ones that registered on time would not be mad at me for letting them join." Adrian replied as the group saw Arsenal and Apolaki joining the guild recruitment which shocked them as they were the national representatives.

"How did you land them?" Levin Cloud asked but Adrian only told them that they were the ones that presented themselves.

The others knew that their guild has become famous, but he did not think that they were able to recruit them. In fact, a lot of players in the ranking would have joined if not for the rules that they created. They were especially famous to the rankers that tend to do solo play as the Pantheon guild did not have much restriction to their knowledge.

"Since everyone has gathered here, the first test shall commence. I will send you a layout of how all of you will position yourselves. And yes, this is the guild house of the Pantheon guild. Just like the Pocket Dimension Homes being shown in Avalon, the guild house is also a pocket dimension." Adrian stated as the players are amazed that even the guild house is a pocket dimension.

Adrian arranged the potential recruits in a circular formation with him at the center. The ones closer to him are the players that have higher levels while the ones at the other edge are the low-level ones. All of them went into position and Adrian waited for them to get comfortable before doing the next set of instructions.

"Seeing that all of you are already in place, I will now explain the next step that will determine if you will be eliminated here or not. The task is simple as all you need to do is not get sucked inside the black hole that I will summon for the next ten seconds. Is everyone clear on the instructions?" Adrian stated as he looked at all the participants and they have started their preparations.

When Adrian saw that some players were still lost, he already started the cast as he wants to also test their preparedness. He made sure to have his friends tag the ones that were already preparing the moment he gave the instructions. He could have made the Cube of Paradox do this, but it has yet to awaken as it is still processing the energy that it has received.

All the participants could see that Adrian is slowly floating and a small sparkling star could be seen on his palm. He slowly raised this star as it flew ten meters up in the air as he snapped his fingers. The moment Adrian snapped his fingers, the sound of glass being broken echoed in the area and the small star exploded to produce a black hole.

As soon as the black hole was created, a few players already started to get uprooted from the ground as they got sucked in. All those that were sucked in were not spat back out in the guild house as Adrian made sure that they will be thrown out to the outside world. In under three seconds, half of the players were already gone.

Most of the ones that were sent out are players that were low in level but there were some that showed promise. Adrian could see a few familiar faces that firmly planted their feet on the ground which are Ark the Nephilim, Pana the mysterious Dark Elf, Basil the Mother of Dragons, Awraka the Shade, Cairo the Champion of the Sun God and Altum, the Envoy of Dagon.

Adrian did not even need to look at Arsenal and Apolaki as they did not even have any problem with staying on the ground. There were also some players that caught his eye, but he needs to be sure of them as he will increase the intensity when there are only three seconds left.

As soon as the black hole started to slowly get smaller, Adrian increased the sucking force by providing it Primordial Essence and mana. He could now control the intensity of the black hole to a certain extent as it could grow more powerful with being fed with mana and essence. The ones that were having no problem standing on their feet are suddenly fighting for their life to not get sucked inside.

Adrian's rule only stated that they could not get sucked in, but they could get carried off their feet. Some actually floated in mid-air but they were able to stabilize themselves more while floating compared to being stuck on the ground. After the ten seconds ended, the black hole vanished like nothing, and it did not spit out those that were sucked in.

"Congratulations as you have passed the preliminary test that we have concocted. You are now one step in being approved to our guild. For those that were sucked inside the black hole, they were already informed that they have failed.

This is just the first screening which means there will be a last test from me, but we will separate it depending on your job class. Please wait as we organize the names of those that were left." Adrian stated as he gathered with his friends to discuss.

The number of participants left are not many as only a quarter of the two hundred thousand were left. There are now about fifty thousand players left and they were really lucky to pass as Adrian maxed out the sucking force of the black hole at the last second. His friends also evaluated those that they think will be useful as they have their eyes on a few talents.

"Thank you for waiting. For the next test, we will determine your strengths on the job class that you have picked. Those assigned to me will be left while those that are for the others should step aside for the moment. Thank you." Adrian stated.

Chapter 1313 Guild Recruitment IV

Adrian gathered the warriors, mages, and rangers as he is about to start the next test. Unlike the first formation, they have been told to be in any position that they feel like. The arena of the guild house is wide which mean some went to the furthest spot they could be.

Adrian looked at them and smirked as they thought that this would be just like his first test. Those that were more intelligent or thought for themselves have started to cast buffs on themselves. Adrian said that they can position themselves in anyway they like which means the position does not matter.

Adrian already has a list of the targets as he has a list of all the players. In the guild house, he could control a skill to the finest degree. He only noticed this function when they were practicing for the guild war, but it is very useful in cases like these.

"Are all of you in position? Just like the first test, all of you just need to hang on for ten seconds. Unlike the first one, this test will focus on survival. If your health reaches the 10% threshold, then you will be sent to the corner there as there is still a comeback assessment.

This is a test of endurance and strength of will for all of you. Anyone that will pass this test will then move onto screening interview which will be held after all tests have been made. If anyone wants to back out now, then you may raise your hand." Adrian stated as he looked for anyone that wants to quit but there were none among the participants.

"Is everyone ready?" Adrian asked as the participants looked at him with anticipation.

"Asmodian Prowess." Adrian stated.

A powerful force came down from the world as a throne suddenly started to be constructed behind Adrian. When the throne fully materialized, Adrian looked at all of the participants as all of them looked horrified. They knew what that throne is capable of, and they know how powerful it was.

The only reason that the Fallen Knights guild being able to survive the first wave is due to the fact that they armed themselves with armor that has great magical defenses. The participants did not have the luxury to do so but Adrian is not that evil to make them kneel down.

"Do not worry, all of you will not be forced to kneel down as we want to see how you can hold on. Catch our attention. The ten seconds shall start when I sit on the throne." Adrian stated as he sat on the throne.

As soon as Adrian sat on the throne, all the participants immediately felt a heavy pressure that made them want to kneel down on the ground. Adrian might have excluded the automatic kneeling part but that does not mean the dignity of an Asmodian can be easily lowered.

Most of the participants have yet to increase their Persona level which means they are of an inferior species. Against the dignity of an Asmodian, the lower species will definitely feel something within them to show reverence. A lot of participants were forced to kneel because of Adrian's presence.

Adrian also made sure to lessen the effect towards the lower-level players. Adrian made sure to have a criterion for judging as the only players that can pass would be those that can defend themselves for five seconds. If the player could not defend against the damage of Asmodian Prowess by five seconds, then they will be eliminated.

In just three seconds, a lot of people are already eliminated and is sent outside the effects of Asmodian Prowess. When the players that lost went outside the effect of the skill, they could still feel the effects of Asmodian Prowess. It was not such an overwhelming effect compared to those inside the influence, but they still had this nagging feeling to kneel down.

Adrian looked at all the players that are left and increased the power. When the effect of Asmodian Prowess ended, only twenty people are able to survive. Adrian clapped his hands which made the other also clap their hands.

"Congratulations to all of you. All twenty of you will be able to go to the interview section next. For those that were not able to pass the test, we will now present you an alternative so that you will have a chance to pass this test." Adrian stated.

"Can we know what it is?" one of the players that failed asked.

"It is simple. Those that were eliminated by me will be able to pass this test by right of battle." Adrian stated.

"Right of battle?" The failed participants whispered.

"The Right of Battle is simple. You can pick any of us from the founding nine members and battle us. You will be accepted into the guild if you are able to defeat us in battle. The defeat condition is that you can lower our health to 10% just like what happened to you. Please click on the Accept button if you wish to do this." Adrian stated.

Adrian thought that there would be thousands that will go for this chance but there were only a hundred players that took this chance. He did not expect this as he thought that many would try their luck, but it seems people do not want to be slapped in the face that they have no chance to begin with.

"It seems that a lot of you have decided to forgo this chance. I will now ask my other members if they want to give anyone a chance. We did not tell you this but all nine of us can give a chance to others should we find your talent." Adrian stated as he looked at his friends, but they all swayed their head.

There were some people that caught their eye in the ones that failed but they lost interest when they did not apply for the second chance. Some that have caught their eye has already agreed to get the second chance which they could agree with. They would rather focus their energy on those that want this position than those that easily gave up.

"If that is the case then, we will schedule the hundred people that wanted to get the second chance. You do not need to tell us who you want to fight as it would be more likely to win if we do not know who we will be up against. For those that participated, we thank you for your time. I have already sent you a consolation gift for giving your time and effort." Adrian stated as he sent out all those that failed.

The consolation gift that Adrian gave those that failed is a rare tier Teleportation Scroll. He gave this gift as a reward for their effort but also a message to those that have great instinct. The hidden message for the Teleportation Scroll is that the Pantheon guild could easily procure an item such as this.

He wants the others that were disheartened to gather enough courage to try again. Adrian also attached a message to the gift notification that they can try again when the recruitment opens once more. He wants to keep the door open for possibilities as there could be people that can get a fortuitous encounter.

"Since my tests have been finished, let us move on to the support and healer tests. The twenty that passed my test will be subject to the screening interview now." Adrian stated as he let Levin Cloud and Peridot gather on the stage.

"All healers and support players! Please gather to me as we will now start the test." Levin Cloud stated as he looked at Peridot.

Levin Cloud made sure to be strict on the criteria for passing his test. He did not care if the healer or support player has great or powerful healing spells. He wants to see how they assess the situation via a simulation. The healers and support players were assessed on how they react to the overall party being damaged and when they will cast.

The healers and support players are going against each other via commanding clay soldiers. The clay soldiers will execute a chain of commands and the players will need to react. They will be judged on how they perform and there will be bonus points for those that win against their matchups.

The last test was held by Solstice and Lycan as they wanted something like an information gathering squad. They tested the scouts on how they could gather information and their ability to sneak. Solstice and Lycan faced the scouts, and they will pass the test as long as they could get at least one hit or make them go below 60% health.

The tests lasted for half a day which made the screening interview get pushed back to the next day. The second chance battle is also pushed due to this.

Chapter 1314 Guild Recruitment V

The initial provisional members have been chosen and all twenty that Adrian got passed. From Levin Cloud and Peridot's side, three healers and five support players are chosen. Solstice and Lycan picked ten from the scouts.

All one hundred-second chance takers picked their respective opponents from the nine. The one hundred participants did not win in their battles, but they were given provisional status as well. Just taking the chance to fight even a losing battle is admirable to the nine founding members of Pantheon.

"All one hundred thirty-eight of you will be provisional members for our guild. In order for any of you to become a permanent member, you must contribute to the guild so that it will flourish. We have unlocked all the guild quests which means you can pick any of them to finish.

The thirty-eight members that passed all the test will have a higher chance of becoming a permanent member. The one hundred provisional players that are left will need to work twice as hard as we gave you guys a chance. I know that might be too much but please know that we are also giving you a chance.

I may be the guild master but the one that will be handling you guys will be Solstice as she will manage the new talents. If you are to succeed on a guild quest that has great difficulty, then that will increase your chances of becoming a permanent member. There are other ways to prove yourselves as well if you are not great in battles.

As you know, our guild is in a land of great herbs which means we can produce high quality potions. If you are more production focused, then you can contribute using that, but you must still be decent in battle. As you know, we are not that great in numbers compared to other guilds which is why we will focus on quality.

Provisionary members will not get the full buffs compared to permanent members which is why I hope all of you will strive to become the best. With all that said, I am excited to work with you guys. May the future be bright for all of us." Adrian stated as he accepted the provisional members.

The moment the provisional members are accepted, a series of notification filled their screens. When they saw the buffs listed just by being a member of the guild, they shuddered because this is not something a normal guild could have. This made them more diligent to become a permanent member.

[You have become a Provisionary Member of the Pantheon Guild.]

[You will now be qualified to get all the guild buffs given to the Pantheon Guild members.]

[Provisionary Members will only get 50% effectiveness of the buffs.]

[You have gained the boost from the Asmodian Leader guild buff. You will gain 3% increase in stats and 15% more experience points.]

[You have gained the boost from the Favored of the Twin Gods guild buff. All damage will be increased by 10% (20% when in a party with three or more guild members) and an increased 15% in any regeneration or healing skills done by the user.]

[You have gained the boost from the Daemos Leader guild buff. You have a 1% chance of being briefly teleported to another dimension when being dealt with damage that could kill you.]

[Your guild leader is the Champion of the Twin Gods. You will have increase mastery in mastering Life and Death spells or abilities.]

The provisional members could not believe that such buffs are present to the Pantheon Guild. The buffs given to the members are dependent on the guild leader which is why it is often the guild leader being the most powerful. Guild buffs are dependent on the status of the guild leader which is why Adrian has many because he has a unique status.

A normal guild leader will often have one or two buffs active, but Adrian has four. In fact, Adrian would pick two more as he has six guild buffs but only four could be active. If they increase the guild level, then Adrian could apply more guild buffs that can strengthen the guild.

=====

Guild Name: Pantheon

Guild Level: 2

Guild Experience: 56% / 100%

Guild Leader: Equinox

Guild Buffs Active:

1. Asmodian Leader
2. Favored of the Twin Gods
3. Daemos Leader

4. Champion of the Twin Gods (Guild Buff version)

=====

"Now that pleasantries are done, we shall now give you the Guild Token which will be your key to the guild house. Please feel free to use the guild house to your advantage as we have a blacksmith workshop and an alchemist workshop available here as well. I shall also give you a congratulatory gift which is a perk of joining the guild." Adrian stated as he gave the token to each of the provisional members.

Adrian's congratulatory gift is an Epic Tier Emergency Exit Teleportation Scroll that could be used to exit a dungeon forcibly and an Epic Tier Teleportation Scroll that could teleport them halfway across the world. The provisional guild members could not believe that they are being handed an extremely rare item in a nonchalant manner.

When they opened the guild shop, they also saw the rare tier teleportation scrolls being present there as exchange items. There were also rewards every thirty days which is an Epic Tier Teleportation which caught their attention. The members that were not well off trembled as they could easily sell the item in their hand as it was tradeable for gold.

The rest of the day was used for the provisional members to mingle with each other. Some even dived into dungeons straight away in order to get acquainted with each other. Some even started to do guild quests in order to become permanent members.

The hearts of the provisional members are moved because they are not players that liked to be controlled all the time. The Pantheon Guild is what they thought it was and it is a free guild. You should still do things for the guild, but they will not restrict anything you do as long as it does not affect the guild's reputation.

====

Adrian left the affairs of the guild to her sister since he will be busy. She will be assisted by the others which is why he is not worried one bit, but he is a bit sorry for the guild members as her sister is quite strict. At least, she promised to train them to a degree where they can be useful in a fight. It seems she awakened a teaching passion when she taught Ark.

"Now that the guild affairs are finished, I need to focus onto my next problem." Adrian muttered as he went to the Merchant Guild to see Piggy Bank.

Adrian is holding his first auction in his territory in five days which is why he is a bit nervous. He made sure to create a special room in the Merchant Guild that is a pocket dimension. He made a pocket dimension auction hall in the Merchant Guild of Avalon.

All establishments could gain this special benefit as well, but they must pay for the creation of the pocket dimension. It was not cheap as well because the merchant guild has to pay a hundred thousand gold coins for the large size of an auction hall. It was money well spent though as it is a very secure room where no one could exit unless given permission by the merchant guild branch head.

In fact, Piggy Bank told Adrian that the other merchant guild branches and even the main headquarters want to avail this as well, but he told them it was not possible at the moment. It would be possible for Adrian to create a pocket dimension, but he needs a specific Legendary Tier stone called the Space Fragment to create one outside of Avalon.

"Equinox! You have come! The showrooms have become a hit. A lot of players are inquiring on how to buy one!" Piggy Bank stated.

"I can also see its popularity because the contribution points to the territory have been increasing at a fast rate. A lot of players are already residents of Avalon because of it. It is such a shame that the number of Pocket Dimension Homes are limited. There will be more in the future as the territory land increases but that will only be achieved by six months as per forecast." Adrian stated.

"You do not have to worry about that because homes are a luxury after all. You are not just offering a house but a separate space entirely! The fact that the size of the Pocket Dimension Home could increase with the territory level means a lot!

You are basically selling them another world! That is the fantasy of any other gamer in the world! Even the other players that already bought some houses in other territories are mourning their bad luck." Piggy Bank stated in excitement as the two finalized the deal.

Chapter 1315 Avalon Auction I

The auction being held in Avalon has spread far and wide which made players buzz with anticipation. A lot of territories owned by players have hosted auctions, but this is the first time for the territory owned by Equinox. Just by his fame, Adrian gathered the attention of the world.

Adrian also let Piggy Bank leak that the auction will have Teleportation Scrolls as items to be sold. He made sure to have a Mass Teleportation Scroll be a highlight so that guilds will fight for it. Adrian used three days making the Legendary tier Mass Teleportation Scroll so that he could gather great attention.

Unlike the other territories owned by other players that have restriction, Adrian let anyone be able to go to his territory. Any race is welcomed which means he could gain something from this auction. In fact, a lot of other races that are hated by human led settlements have come early to also put things for auction.

The floating islands became the envy and awe of others as they saw the sight of it. The large Tree of Life and Death located at the middle island named Alpha also garnered the most attention. The auction is not just for players because NPCs are also participating since it was told to all surrounding nations.

The merchant guild grandmaster even attended in person as he wanted to see the Pocket Dimension Auction Hall. The merchant guild grandmaster is surprised by the auction hall as it did not adhere to the rules of the outside world. The VIP rooms that the auction hall has could be described as mini pocket dimensions.

The security is top notch that guards are almost unnecessary. In fact, the security of Avalon is so high that the merchant guild only hired a few escorts since the Daemos are very alert. The other races that live in Avalon also revere Adrian as he is the Champion of the Twin Gods. He is their proxy on the mortal plane which is why they dare not to desecrate his territory.

The merchant guild is located at the island of Gamma since Pann does not want his babies to be disturbed by merchants. Most of the businesses is located at Gamma Island as the island of Alpha is a restricted zone only available to the members of the Church of the Twin Gods.

Since an event is being held in Avalon, Adrian told the guards to be very alert as there might be followers of gods with bad intentions. All the Daemos Corps that are not fixing rifts are stationed in Avalon along with the paladins of the Church of the Twin Gods. Adrian also left his soulbounds in all corners of the territory to guard them.

Saena could be seen circling on top of the Tree of Life and Death as she did her duty as the guardian. It also meant to warn anyone that she will attack any being that dares to enter the main island. Teleportation circles are available in each island that can directly transport you to another island which is why any excuse of being lost is unacceptable.

The provisional guild members are also tasked with guarding Avalon, but they are also being monitored by Adrian. He told the demons tasked as observers to report to him immediately if they do something suspicious. Adrian even tasked Sirius to send them directly to the Shadow Realm should they do something unruly.

"The number of guests far exceeded my expectation! Princes from other countries even went here to join the auction. This is the biggest player auction that I have hosted!" Piggy Bank stated as he did not expect such a reception.

"Just make sure that everything goes according to plan. We must make sure to show them the specialty of this territory. Each of the races under me presented something to be auctioned which they made for this auction. You could say that all of Avalon has poured their heart out for this auction." Adrian stated and Piggy Bank nodded his head.

====

"We cannot risk going there, Mistress Mikaela. The demons are being very vigilant. The seven already declared the demons the enemies of all our kind. They will surely attack us on sight." One of the angels stated.

"We will be safe as long as all of you behave and show no sign of using light elemental magic. The scouts said that the chosen Nephilim is there in Avalon." Mikaela stated.

"Can we not say that we were not welcomed?" another angel aid possessing a human stated.

"We must see for ourselves what level the demons are. You do not win in war if you are blind to the power of your enemy. It is fortunate that this body I am possessing is of royal blood. We can just go inside without a problem because we have an invitation." Mikaela stated as she wanted to get information of the territory of Avalon.

The angels could not even use their mastery of light to peer inside Avalon because of the aura covering the territory. The Tree of Life and Death is obscuring the territory from the prying eyes of any magic or artifact. A lot of territories have tried but all they see is a blurry silhouette and some have been warned by the demons as they were caught peeping.

It was not just the angels that are thinking of surveying Avalon. All the territories that want to conquer other territories are even thinking of allying themselves if they see how powerful Avalon is. This auction is not just a normal auction as this is also way for other lords to assess their strength.

A lot of eyes are also in Avalon as the auction is also broadcasted as the Pantheon guild members wanted to increase the territory's reputation. It is also a way to broadcast to players that are unable to go to Avalon what the territory has to offer. Adrian wanted to increase the trade happening in Avalon and he is starting this revolution.

Chapter 1316 Avalon Auction II

All the players and NPCs that attended the auction have found their places in the auction hall. It took quite a while to have them seated because the auction hall is not the usual. The VIPs are directly teleported to their rooms via a key which is handled by two members of the merchant guild that has different key codes.

The two members of the merchant guild are not informed of their assignments until a few minutes the auction starts. This is to ensure that no one could plan an assassination or hurt the VIP if they wanted revenge. The two employees are also not allowed to talk to each other as one would accompany the VIP in the VIP room.

The amount of security details in this auction hall surprised the attendees as it is extremely well thought. Adrian actually thought of this measure as the lord of the territory since he will get tax from the things sold on this auction. He wanted everything to be perfect since this would be a defining moment for his territory.

"Welcome ladies and gentlemen! We are glad to inform you that the auction will now start. This auction is held on the Merchant Guild Avalon Branch. As you can see, the security here is no joke which means any attempt to steal or cause trouble will only spell trouble for you.

Should someone become rowdy then we will hand you to the Daemos Corps for your unfit behavior. Anyways, if you are here just to enjoy and spend money on great things then we are pleased to inform you that the items today will blow your mind. I shall be your host today for the auction. Without further ado, let us start!" The announcer stated as the first three items are floated in.

Unlike the other branches that rolled the items using a cart, the items are in a case that has a platform made from the Float Stone. It is a special stone that can create levitating platforms and this stone could be mined from Delta Island. The merchant guild purchased all of them when Piggy Bank saw its potential uses.

The first three items are pushed in the center of the platform as the assistants took off their cloths. Three different herbs could be seen being presented in a pot. Each of these herbs are actually Epic Tier Herbs that have great properties which made all the alchemist or any sub job-related profession that uses herb salivate.

Item Name: Sleeping Mandrake Herb (Life Variant)

Tier: Epic

Type: Herb / Consumable

Effect:

- Increases the potency of healing potions by 50% and increases the duration of healing by 50%
- If eaten raw, the user will be able to regenerate a limb that has been cut in under an hour.

Description: A special herb that can only be cultivated using secret methods. It has a counterpart that can cause destruction with its cry when it awakens. This herb will never cry even if it awakens as it is filled with life energy.

Item Name: Sleeping Mandrake Herb (Death Variant)

Tier: Epic

Type: Herb / Consumable

Effect:

- Increases the potency of damage dealing potions or status ailment potions by 50% and increases their duration by 50%.
- If eaten raw, the user will have an upset stomach for a day and might even puke blood due to the stomach being ruptured.

Description: A special herb that can only be cultivated using secret methods. It has a counterpart that can cause a blissful song when it cries. This herb will cry if it awakens. Its cry is so loud and ear shattering that one needs to always cover their ears to save themselves from the agony. It could even cry itself to death as it can wither for exerting too much energy.

Item Name: Balance Herb

Tier: Epic

Type: Herb / Consumable

Effect:

- Increases the chance of all ingredients in the potion combining together by 50%.
- If consumed, it can stabilize the rampaging energies of the user's body by a certain extent.

Description: A special herb that can only be cultivated using secret methods. It is said to be an incredibly difficult herb to cultivate as it can wither with mishandling. It is very sensitive which is why it is also called the Sensitive Herb.

The three herbs that are presented to them is not something that ordinary alchemist can procure because these are rare herbs that does not circulate the market often. It is also incredibly difficult to cultivate that it is said that it can only be found in the wild. A lot of attempts trying to cultivate them ended in failures and loss of resources.

The Sleeping Mandrake Herb (Life Variant) looks like a small plant child made of green wood lying peacefully on the soil of the plant. It looked like an angel sleeping without a care in the world around it. Sleeping Mandrake Herb (Death Variant) is different compared to its counterpart as its body is brown in color with spots of discoloration as if it is rotting.

The sleeping position is also the same as its other variant, but the face of the herb looked as if it is in constant pain and would wake up with just the slightest tug. The Balance Herb has a unique shape that looks like a scale. It looks like if a balance scale turned into a plant, but it also has a sickly appearance which is why it earned its other name of Sensitive Herb.

"We have here for you three herbs that are only available to Avalon courtesy of our locals that takes care of them. The three of these herbs are sold in a set which means all of you will bet for three in one go. Do not worry because we have five sets of these herbs lined up for our dear customers.

We shall now start the auction. The starting price is one hundred gold with an increment of fifty gold. Let us start the auction!" The announcer stated.

Chapter 1317 Avalon Auction III

All the herbs were immediately sold as a set for a price range of 300 to 400 gold coins. The amount it was auctioned off for is already quite expensive as the initial forecast was only 200 gold coins. The announcer is very pleased with these as the herbs that was sold is considered rare which inflated the price.

"The next items will now be shown to all of you are one of the products of the engravers in the territory. An item that should be something that any person capable of handling magic items will fight for. Please bring them out." The announcer stated as he gestured for the assistants to push ten cloth items.

The cloth items were not as big as the previous cases of the herbs, but they could feel some magic emanating from them. The thing being concealed by the cloth pulses a weak magical signature that replicated the elements. The magic related professions in the crowd became more excited as the build-up increases.

The assistants took off the cloths which revealed Rune Stones carved with intricate elemental glyphs. Each Rune Stone contains a series of glyphs that glowed in the colors respective of their elements. The magic related professions marveled as they could not believe that someone actually sold Rune Stones in this auction as they were only found in ruins.

"It seems that all of you are amazed that there are ten Rune Stones for auction in our auction. Let me tell you in advance that we did not plunder an ancient ruin, but these ones were made here in Avalon." The announcer stated which put the crowd in a frenzy.

A Rune Stone is something that should not be replicable with the magical technology known in this era, but Avalon actually has it. The craft to create a rune stone is said to be forgotten in time since the empire that created it back then crumbled because of a rampaging demon. This is not true though as much of that story was just hearsay without any evidence.

"I will now show all of you each of the Rune Stones." The announcer stated.

Item Name: Blazing Shield Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will create a barrier of pure fire energy around the user. The greater the mana poured into it, the greater the power of the fire barrier to protect the user against attacks.

- Only a total of 10,000 Mana can be used continuously or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent fire itself. It emanates a hot aura that warms up the owner.

Item Name: Scorching Shot Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will make the user release a fireball in the direction where the user wants to that deals 100% of the user's magic damage (increases up to 500%). The greater the mana poured into it, the greater the power of the fireball and size.

- The fireball created can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent fire itself. It emanates a burning aura that makes the user feel the heat of the sun even in a cold winter night.

Item Name: Aqua Shield Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will create a barrier of pure water energy around the user that also slightly heals the user's life. The greater the mana poured into it, the greater the power of the water barrier to protect the user against attacks.
- The water shield created can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent cool flowing and healing water.

Item Name: Wild Torrent Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will create a powerful blast of water in a line that deals 100% of the user's magic damage (increases up to 500%). The greater the mana poured into it, the greater the power of the water blast that the user generates.
- The water blast created can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent powerful raging water that sweeps those foolish enough to jump into its waters.

Item Name: Pit Master Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to burrow onto the ground and create a hole without much effort. The greater the mana poured into it, the greater the distance excavated by the user.
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.
- The user can also store the excavated dirt and return it to the location prior to using the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the still earth that caves in and provides shelter to those that need it.

Item Name: Stone Shard Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to create stone shards on the location that they picked. The stone shard deals 100% of the user's magic damage (Increases to 200% but can create a total of three for maximum mana output).
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the harsh and sharp stones that erupt when the ground is angry.

Item Name: Wind Sphere Barrier Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to create a powerful wind barrier in the shape of a sphere that can deflect long range attacks and spells.
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the revolving wind across the world that gives protection from any forms of harm.

Item Name: Tornado Rune Stone

Tier: Epic

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to create a tornado in the designated location. The bigger the tornado, the more mana needed in its output and the larger the size. This deals 200% of the user's magic damage (increases up to 700%).
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 10,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the raging winds that destroy everything in its wake.

Item Name: Sparkling Light Rune Stone

Tier: Rare

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to illuminate the area that they are in. It can also be used to create a powerful blast of light to blind those around the user.
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 1,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone. This Rune Stone needs to recharge for fifteen minutes after using the burst of light.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the gentle light that gives clarity to those stumbling in the dark. It seems to generate a gentle light that calms the user's soul.

Item Name: Dark Veil Rune Stone

Tier: Rare

Type: Rune Stone

Durability: 100%

Effect:

- Pouring mana into this Rune Stone will allow the user to create a veil of shadows that swallows the user and turns them invisible for one to ten minutes.
- The Runes Stone can only hold a maximum input of 1,000 Mana or else it will decrease the durability of the Rune Stone. This stone needs to recharge for fifteen minutes after using the maximum duration of the invisibility.

Description: A Rune Stone created using the forgotten knowledge of the past. It is made using materials that represent the mischievous darkness lurking around. It seems to fade in and out of existence should one look at it closely.

Chapter 1318 Avalon Auction IV

"We can see that the everyone is excited but all of you might be wary that these are fake. I, myself, might not be a great magician but I will try my best to show you that these rune stones are true." The announcer stated as he picked the Blazing Shield Rune Stone and inserted mana into it.

A flaming shield suddenly appeared in front of the announcer that surprised the crowd. They did not expect that the rune stoen was that great. The fact that the spell immediately activated when he just inserted some mana into it meant that it is of the highest quality.

The empty mana stones used to create them has the best sensitivity. A rune stone's quality can be divided into Poor, Mediocre, Average and High Quality. The fact that a small amount of mana can create such a reaction meant that the materials used are excellent.

The Rune Stones became a hot topic as these are manufactured ones. Rune Stones are not known to be manufactured but now the people know that it can be done in Avalon. The fact that Epic Tier Rune Stones appeared here meant that it will not take long for legendary Rune Stones to appear.

Adrian surveyed the reaction of the crowd and could see that they are already losing their minds. He expected this when he added the Rune Stones as auction items. The Daemonio are really good at engraving like they said, and they only needed resources. Fortunately for them, the Daemos have lots of miscellaneous things that can be given to those in need.

"Since everyone is raring to get their bets on, I shall now reveal the price of the first Rune Stone which is the Blazing Shield Rune Stone. This stone will have a starting price of five hundred gold coins with an increment of fifty gold coins. You may now start your bids." The announcer stated as the bidding war started.

Rune Stones have great uses that is not just defensive measures so that the magician can protect themselves if they cannot chant. Rune Stones can also be embedded into weapons and armor to give them extra abilities. One can even say that a Rune Stone could be a hidden weapon to catch the enemies by surprise.

The ones that are eyeing the runestones are the gnomes because they build magitech golems that can be piloted. They want to have these Rune Stones in order to put in the magitech suits that they have made. The gnome kingdom delegation that came to Avalon via airship knew that they have to get the Rune Stones at all costs.

They want to get the Rune Stones in order to test if it can be used for their magitech golems. Should the gnomes accomplish this feat then they will definitely come to Avalon to custom order more Rune Stones. Adrian did not plan this as he only wanted to tell the world that his territory could produce rune stones.

"Going once... going twice... Sold to the Gnome Kingdome Delegation for 1,050 gold!" The announcer stated as the last one to give a bid was them.

"The next rune stone would be the Scorching Shot Rune Stone. I shall demonstrate this one first." The announcer stated as he inserted mana into the rune stone and created a stable fire ball in front of him.

The crowd could be seen very eager to possess this as this will be a new form of attack. Any type of magician will crave this rune stone for its attacking purposes. They could instantly cast a spell with just applying mana into the rune stone which is way better than chanting.

"The Scorching Shot Rune Stone will have a starting price of 600 gold coins with an increment of 50 gold coins. You may now start your bids." The announcer stated as the crowd went wild as they started to outbid each other. The loud voices of the rowdy crowd engulfed the auction hall as the voices of people drowned each other.

Just as the crowd below the VIP rooms are about to get rowdy, Adrian snapped his fingers and the gravity in the auction hall suddenly increased. He did not increase it to a terrifying degree but just enough to make sure that the people will not be able to move. All eyes suddenly landed on him as he returned the gravity back to normal.

"Dear guests! I know that the items might be something that your really want but please maintain being civil. You are able to shout against each other, but physical fights are forbidden in the auction hall. Please remember that there are other people with you in this room and any unwanted behavior could lead to harm." Adrian stated while releasing the aura of an Asmodian.

Seeing the lord of the territory stop them, the rowdy individuals started to calm down as they returned back to their seats. They do not want to get blacklisted in Avalon which is now considered a treasure trove of rare herbs and rune stones. The bidding returned back to normal, but the shouts of people could still be heard in the auction hall.

"Going once... going twice... Sold to the Gnome Kingdom Delegation for 1,500 gold!" The announcer stated as the last one to give a bid was them.

Just as Adrian expected, attack type runes are more expensive compared to defensive runes but that is only for runes that have common elements. Each of the elemental defensive rune stones are auctioned off at 500 gold coins while the offensive rune stones are sold at a starting price of 600 gold coins.

The Aqua Shield Rune Stone was sold for 1100 gold coins to the Gnome Kingdom Delegation. The Gnome Kingdom Delegation also got the Wild Torrent Rune Stone for 1650 gold coins. For the Pit Master Rune Stone, it was won by a player that is an expert miner for 1200 gold coins. The people did not think that the Pit Master Rune Stone should be that expensive, but they did not think that it was actually bought for cheap.

They would soon learn at a later date that the Pit Master Rune Stone was the perfect rune stone to mine for precious materials while keeping the user safe. It was also the best rune stone for those that want to preserve the ores or minerals in their perfect condition because of its functionality.

The Stone Shard Rune Stone was sold again to the Gnome Kingdom Delegation for 1800 gold coins. The price for this one was bigger because the size and quantity of the stone shards are almost on par with a legendary skill. Some people even aired their sentiments that the Gnome Kingdom Delegation is buying out the rune stones.

The Wind Sphere Barrier Rune Stone did not go to the Gnome Kingdom Delegation as it was bought by an Aeromorph Beastman player that has the appearance of an owl. The Wind Sphere Barrier Rune Stone was bought for a staggering 1,300 gold coins. The owl beast man also bought the Tornado Rune Stone for a price of 2,000 gold coins as the Gnome Kingdom Delegation really wanted this rune stone since it can summon a tornado which is a powerful force of nature.

"We now move to the Sparkling Light Rune Stone. For this rune stone, the starting price would be 1,000 gold coins with an increment of 50 gold coins per bid." The announcer stated which made the crowd gossip since this rune stone was only rare tier.

"It seems that the guests are not convinced why this rune stone is that expensive. I will demonstrate it myself." Adrian stated as he could see that no one was bidding for the stone.

Adrian then held the master control of the auction hall and cut off the lights. The only thing that they can see giving light would be the Sparkling Light Rune Stone. Adrian then supplied a small amount of mana in the rune stone, and it created a light that illuminated the room to a passable degree.

"It seems that all of you are not yet convinced with the demonstration then let me tell you that I only put a mana value of 1 into this rune stone. Another amazing fact is that this rune stone can store the mana for at least one hour." Adrian stated which made the people awe struck.

"I will now put 10 mana into this rune stone." Adrian stated and he did just that.

The moment Adrian inserted additional mana into the rune stone, the whole room became clear as day. The whole room became illuminated as if the sun was shining inside it. The most amazing fact is that the light did not seem blinding even if they stared into the rune stone. In fact, the Sparkling Light Rune Stone and the Dark Veil Rune Stone were the most expensive of all the rune stones to create.

Chapter 1319 Avalon Auction V

The sudden realization hit all of the people in the auction when Adrian only said 10 Mana. The sudden silence that the room has been hit suddenly turned into ravaging bids. The bids came one after the other as if a raging tide swept across the room. Piggy Bank, who saw this shuddered in delight and in awe of Adrian, is in total amazement of Adrian's tactic in getting the heart of the buyers.

It did not take long for the bids to go into the 2500 gold range. The bids slowly crept up until the buyer has finally been decided. The other bidders gave up as they could just commission such a thing from the Avalon territory, but they would be getting it at a later date.

"Going once... going twice... Sold to the Dwarven Kingdom Delegation for 3,150 gold coins!" The announcer stated as the last one to give a bid was them.

The announcer could not believe that he was able to sell such a thing at such a price. He thanked the gods that such a price was set because he will get a commission based on the price of his sales. He fought tooth and claw against other announcers for his prestigious spot.

The Dwarven Kingdom Delegation fought hard for this rune stone because they like to mine in tunnels that are underground. Although dwarves can slightly see in the dark, that does not mean they can totally see in the dark. The Sparkling Light Rune Stone would be the most beneficial thing that they can use to minimize attacks from monsters and illuminate the tunnels.

"For the next rune stone which is the Dark Veil Rune Stone. For this rune stone, the starting price would be 1,000 gold coins with an increment of 50 gold coins per bid. I will now demonstrate the effects of the rune stone." The announcer stated as he inserted mana into the rune stone.

A cloak of darkness suddenly swallowed the announcer and he vanished from his spot. The eyes, ears and smell of the people were deceived as he suddenly vanished from his spot. The announcer returned to becoming visible after three seconds with the rune stone in his hand. The rune stone is great, but it was not as popular as the Sparkling Light Rune Stone.

"Going once... going twice... Sold to the Anonymous Bidder number 10 for 2,000 gold coins!" The announcer stated as the last one to give a bid was them.

The players were naturally envious of the player that got the winning bid, but they did not see the value in that stone. They did not see the value at that time, but it was actually a great rune stone that managed to protect and let another Explorer player rise into stardom. That story was into the far future though.

The auction continued as some products for other countries were also presented as they wanted to sell their products. Some products were a great hit while some only got moderate attention. The announcer then started to present the next item that are a signature of Avalon.

"Although this bidding part is reserved for only citizens of Avalon, the guests from other countries can just enjoy the show. As the Merchant Guild, we presented six showrooms to all the people for the past few days. These are called Pocket Dimension Homes.

A special space where one could change even the scenery and it can also expand. This is only available to citizens of this territory though which some of our bidders have been waiting for. This bid will be available to all citizens of Avalon.

The price for a Pocket Dimension Home is one thousand gold coin with an increment of ten gold per bid. It seems some of our patrons are worried. Do not be because we are implementing a strict rule that only one can be purchased per person.

The lord of this territory generously told us that he would be auctioning off 5,000 Pocket Dimension Homes. This will be a simultaneous bidding of 5,000 units. The time limit is one minute for bids before closing. The largest bid for that pocket dimension home would receive it after a minute. You may now start." The announcer stated as all beings in Avalon started to bid for their life.

Adrian did not think that all of the Pocket Dimension Homes would be sold easily but he underestimated a player's fantasy. The moment he showcased the showroom, a lot of people started to grind for gold coins. All 5,000 units immediately got a starting bid and the fierce competition ended in one minute.

Adrian also knew how many participants got into the bidding and he was astounded that it was a number of fifty thousand. He really underestimated real estate even if it is for an online game. He suddenly felt a bit bad for those that did not get one which is why he told Piggy Bank the news.

"Patrons that are citizens of Avalon! The territory lord saw your enthusiasm to own a Pocket Dimension Home which is why he is willing to give out the remaining 3,000 units for auction. Same rules and price stands. Please start." The announcer stated which burned the passion of those that really wanted one.

The effect was so powerful that some starting bids immediately went for 2,000 gold coins right off the bat. The fierce battle for a special home in Avalon started and it either resulted in cheers or drowning in the tears of sorrow. After the auction for the Pocket Dimension Homes, another round of items was sold.

"We have finally entered the last phase of our auction. For the last three items, each of them will be shown individually as these are the most prestigious items presented in our auction. All three were given by residents of Avalon but only two of the were created here. The last one could still be mentioned as created but I will leave that to your discretion." The announcer stated as the first item was presented.

Chapter 1320 Avalon Auction VI

The first item was rolled into the center of the stage and its cloth immediately revealed. The item was none other than a potion that looked so elegant in a bottle. The potion was also teeming with a vibrant green color that represented the liveliness of nature itself.

"The first prestigious item of this auction is none other than a potion called the Elixir of Life. It was made by a certain alchemist and is given to us for auction. We will now show you the effects through visualization magic." The announcer stated as a screen made of magic popped up for each participant.

Item Name: Elixir of Life

Item Tier: Mythical

Item Type: Potion / Consumable

Effect:

- Using the whole bottle (or depending on the damage) could restore a living being back to life as long as there is a body, and the time of death did not exceed for ten seconds.
- It can heal any types of diseases.
- It can cleanse any type of curse or hexes.
- It restores the user's health and mana back to their peak.
- It can increase the life span of the user by 5 years.
- Just a drop of this can regrow missing limbs depending on the damage.

Description: A miracle potion created by pure chance and a bit of mastery by an unknown alchemist and her apprentice. It is very potent when it comes to life energy because of the materials used. It is said that this very potion can ward off death and its aspect.

Adrian already knew who created the potion because he was the one that was asked for the materials. The creator of the potion is none other than the resident alchemist Jianna. She asked Adrian for leaves of the Tree of Life and its bark. She also asked for a few bottles of water from the Fountain of Life.

Adrian already knew that she would use it to create a powerful potion, but he did not expect it to have a result. What surprised him more is the fact that Levin Cloud assisted in making the potion which might have affected the chances of it succeeding. The only thing he does not know is the reason for them in hiding their names.

The VIPs that participated haphazardly suddenly got their interest piqued. All the VIPs are either powerful people or nobilities of other territories. The fact that they could see a potion that could save you from death itself makes them hunger for it even more. It also increases the lifespan of the one who consumes it.

One would say that the name Elixir of Life would make it sound arrogant, but this potion deserves its name. As long as one has this potion and is on death's door, they could drink it and live for five more years. This is an item that any being that has a finite life would want but it is also an item that those that rage in the battlefield want.

"It is not an exaggeration for me to say that this potion is a cure all. The starting bid will be 10, 000 gold coins with an increment of a thousand gold coins each bid." The announcer stated.

As soon as the announcer stated the price, all light from the VIP rooms got lit as all of them placed a bid. The VIPs were not shy to truly flex their wealth as the price immediately skyrocketed to 20, 000 gold coins. Just as Adrian thought that even if Pandemonium is a virtual game, the most important thing for people is still life.

"Going once... going twice... Sold to the honorable guest in VIP Room Number 1 for 30, 000 gold coins." The announcer stated as the battle for the bid finished.

A large amount of money was spent in getting this Elixir of Life. Some might say that it is useless to players but that is not true. It is useful to players as gifts for NPCs that are afflicted with curses or dying. Some NPCs that are powerful but struck with a major impediment could be saved using this potion as they could use it as well. It can be a powerful tool for players to get a life favor from powerful NPCs.

"It seems my best friend would be eating lavishly for a while." Adrian thought as Levin Cloud would definitely gain some of the money from the bid.

The next item is then rolled out to the center of the stage. Its cloth was taken off and a pretty spherical gemstone is revealed. This gemstone contained four different colors that swirl with each other in a coherent fashion. It was an Elemental Stone which is familiar to the crowd, but it is not an ordinary one.

Item Name: Quad Elemental Stone

Item Tier: Mythical

Item Type: Refined Ore / Alchemy Material / Weapon Material

Effect:

- Increases Water Elemental Magic damage by 200% and decreases mana cost by 30%. Doubled if this item is used as a core for an elemental wand.
- Increases Fire Elemental Magic damage by 200% and decreases mana cost by 30%. Doubled if this item is used as a core for an elemental wand.
- Increases Earth Elemental Magic damage by 200% and decreases mana cost by 30%. Doubled if this item is used as a core for an elemental wand.
- Increases Wind Elemental Magic damage by 200% and decreases mana cost by 30%. Doubled if this item is used as a core for an elemental wand.
- Aids in the increase of mastery regarding the four elemental spells of water, wind, fire and earth.

Description: A refined ore that was created by unknown means by an unknown craftsman. It exudes the power of the four basic elements and helps the bearer gain mastery over them. It can be used on its raw form but more powerful when used as a core or conduit for a weapon.

"The second prestigious item of this auction is none other than a magic stone called the Quad Elemental Stone. We will now show you the effects through visualization magic." The announcer stated as a screen made of magic popped up for each participant.