

O Summoner 2011

Chapter 2011 Not Living with Mother

"What did you just say?!" The Goddess of Life Demeter stated.

"I am living with brother-in-law as his realm would be the only realm that is safe for me while I take care of the relic. The other gods of wealth are still sealed which means only I can keep the relic safe from the hands of others. Even when uncle left, he was eyeing the relic in my hands which means that he might have some ideas." The God of Wealth Plutus stated.

"I can protect you." The Goddess of Life Demeter stated.

"Not really. You will be in Olympus sometimes and the God of Death Hades rarely leave his realm. Even if he does leave, he has full control and security over there." Adrian commented.

"I appreciate the concern, Mediator Equinox, but my son is safer with me than with Hades." The Goddess of Life Demeter stated.

"I have sister with me there unless her forceful visits with you. I will be safer in that side of the family than the ones that live in a divine realm in a high place where time and space is unraveling." The God of Wealth Plutus stated. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

"How did you know that?" The Goddess of Life Demeter asked in shock as she knew that her son has just revived.

"I am present here and I chat a lot." Adrian stated as he pointed to himself.

"Do not tell me! Hestia did say that there might have been someone that snuck in." The Goddess of Life Demeter stated as she realized something.

"I do not know about that, but we have a way to monitor areas with dense mana. The place where Olympus is currently perched is filled with spatial anomalies. I am actually shocked that the divine realm is not yet flooded with monsters. Divine energy is something that a lot of monsters will go crazy over." Adrian added but he was clearly lying.

"I see." The Goddess of Life Demeter stated as she was now less suspicious of Adrian.

"My statement is final, mother. I will not live with you, but you are welcome to visit Hades since brother-in-law will not prevent you from visiting." The God of Wealth Plutus stated.

"Plutus!" The Goddess of Life Demeter stated as she was now steadily losing energy to make the connection as the energy in the holy relic is starting to wane.

"Bye, mother." The God of Wealth Plutus stated as he used some of his divine energy to blow away the remaining mana that the holy relic has.

"Finally, she is gone. Now that she has been sent away, I should give Piggy Bank the reward for reviving me and also his helper." The God of Wealth Plutus stated as Piggy Bank suddenly started to glow as his stigmata changed.

The stigmata that Piggy Bank had suddenly became engraved in his heart instead and became a new passive skill for him. The passive skill created is a blessing that makes all the money dropped from killing an enemy almost double. He also got the ability to overspend on his merchant related skills which means he can kill monsters as long as he got the money.

[You have gained the Passive Skill: Money Come to Me.]

[You have gained Luck +5.]

"Oh! It might not be much for my troubles, but the burst of Luck is what I need." Adrian stated as the Luck is a great stat to be increased when it comes to battles.

"You will also have my blessing Piggy Bank and know that you can call me when you are in need of a great helper." The God of Wealth Plutus stated as a golden glow seeped into Piggy Bank.

Piggy Bank received the Greatest Blessing of Wealth that can only be given to one person per god. Piggy Bank would have to die or have this blessing erased by the God of Wealth Plutus in order to get rid of it. This blessing is a big leap of faith for both god and the person receiving it as it enables the latter to summon the god for a moment. Piggy Bank has gained the ability to summon a god once a day to aid him.

"Good for you. I hope that both of you would help each other. You are basically becoming a Saint that the God of Wealth Plutus has chosen." Adrian told Piggy Bank.

"I suddenly feel like I have more responsibilities." Piggy Bank stated.

"No need to be alarmed, Piggy Bank. Just do what you are doing and make clean deals. Just because merchants need a lot of money, and our faith is connected to that does not mean you need to get in an unjust way. Wealth might be good when you are alive as it makes life smoother, but you will be judged by your character upon death." The God of Wealth Plutus stated.

"I will as I do not want to be labeled as a merchant that swindles people. I also represent your name which is why I will always be better." Piggy Bank promised.

"That is good. I have nothing else left to say as I believe that I need to go to Hades now. Will you please do the honors, Mediator Equinox?" The God of Wealth Plutus stated.

"I shall do so as I have received confirmation from the God of Death Hades." Adrian stated as he created a portal that led to the death realm Hades.

Adrian opened the portal and a young child suddenly burst out of it. Adrian thought that this child was familiar, and he could clearly see that he bears resemblance to the God of Rebirth Zagreus. Adrian could only wryly smile as he was told that there would be someone to fetch the God of Wealth Plutus.

"Is this the mortal realm? Why is it so dull? Even the Fields of Asphodel are prettier than this place." The small God of Rebirth Zagreus stated.

"It is good to see you as well, God of Rebirth Zagreus." Adrian stated as the small boy is indeed the one that he met earlier.

"It is good to see you as well, Mediator Equinox. Uncle as well but the fat one is new." The God of Rebirth Zagreus stated.

"He is Piggy Bank, and he is the one that helped me the most so treat him with respect." The God of Wealth Plutus stated.

"I see. I guess I should thank him then. When I visit the real mortal realm, I will be sure to visit you to become my guide." The God of Rebirth Zagreus stated as he almost patted Piggy Bank, but Adrian stopped him.

"It is not a wise choice for the God Zagreus to touch a mortal when he just came from the death realm. We do not want to send him to death now, do we? Do not worry as he will likely be transported to Hades when he dies as he is now tied to the God of Wealth Plutus. You can ask him about the mortal realm when he does." Adrian stated.

"You are right! I will make sure that you will get a tour of our castle. I will treat you as an honorable guest. Just make sure to find me when you die." The God of Rebirth Zagreus stated.

"Thank you... I think." Piggy Bank answered.

"Please proceed. The portal will not hold on much longer as it is not good for a world that is dead to the core be exposed to more death energy." Adrian stated as he gestured the gods to enter the portal.

"I was merely excited too much but please create the portal next time in the main world. Let us go now, uncle. Mother seems to be excited to chat with you again. She said that she will tell you all about her newly created petunias." The God of Rebirth Zagreus stated.

"Thank you once again, Piggy Bank and Mediator Equinox. May fortune favor you always." The God of Wealth Plutus stated as he entered the portal before waving goodbye.

The God of Rebirth Zagreus suddenly went close to Adrian to whisper something before entering the portal. Adrian closed the portal as soon as the two gods have entered while something was in his mind. Piggy Bank finally relaxed as the two gods were no longer near him and the pressure has vanished.

"What did the little god say to you? It seems that it is something major." Piggy Bank asked as he saw how Adrian's face dropped slightly.

"It is related to a great headache which is why I need to investigate further. Let us return to Avalon as I need to rest." Adrian stated as he teleported them back to Avalon.

Chapter 2012 The First Primordial To Awaken

Adrian said goodbye to Piggy Bank while the latter thanked him for helping him. Piggy Bank asked if he could help Adrian with the current problem in his mind, but the latter refused. Adrian knew that Piggy Bank would not be able to help him with the next task as it involves gods.

Adrian basically got told that the effects of the breach has now been confirmed. The God of Death Hades has checked Tartarus and saw that the seals on the Titans were now weaker than before. The seals still held the power of the Titans, but they are no longer as bound as before. Even the Hecatoncheires need to be incredibly vigilant of the Titans as they might attack them.

Due to this, the God of Death Hades had to increase his vigilance over at Tartarus and visit it from time to time. The Titans did not look like they were about to break free, but the God of Death Hades felt that they were biding their time. The God of Death Hades has this sneaking suspicion that the Titans were once again waiting for someone to sneak them out.

Adrian wanted to immediately check with the God of Death Hades on the status, but he is also busy. He was given news that the port towns of the world were having some strange occurrences. Adrian knew that such things should be ignored but this is happening to all of the port towns in the central continent. If it was only happening to one or two then he would have ignored it, but it is happening to all.

"The Shadow Unit is really effective in getting news and arranging them. I should really give them some sort of bonus or maybe go to the Shadow Realm to get some materials for them." Adrian thought as a powerful wave of energy similar to divine energy but different suddenly washed over his entire body.

"This is Primordial Energy!" Adrian muttered as his gaze pointed to the location where the origin of the wave of energy was from.

The port towns in each city were already having such a difficult time because most of the seafood that they get are either dead upon washing up shore or incredibly destroyed by other predatory sea creatures. Even the waters near the shore were no longer safe to fish as the predatory sea monsters have come to them. The lords or kingdoms have dispatched people to drive away the sea monsters as this is a crisis on their end.

The sea route is one of the most important routes for trade since mass air travel is only possible in the Gnome Kingdom. The use of airships is mostly for royalty or the main army if they are not affiliated with the Gnome Kingdom. The cost of operating airships is not cheap as well and mostly smaller ones are used for transportation. The small airships can only carry fifty people at max capacity which is why it is not used for the transportation of goods.

10:33 n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

Just as the players above water were thinking of why the sea monsters were attacking up close to the shore, the players that have practically lived in the oceans and seas of the main world know why. The entire ocean world is now at war which is not broadcasted to much of the player base since only a few players have acquired aquatic races since they are not yet unlocked.

The only aquatic race that is unlocked are the beast kin water species, but they often live near land. They can swim in the deep oceans and seas, but the Selvaggian water species that lives on water itself is still sealed. It seems that there are special rituals or ways to become a Shark Selvaggian for example and it is not by creating one in the main interface.

Thanks to Kabrakan unlocking the Selvaggian Race, the underwater world of the main world has finally been started to be explored. The exploration has only been started as only 5% of the oceans and seas have been mapped but it was a good start. This mapping would have continued if the races that purely lived in the oceans and seas did not start their war for conquest.

The players knew that the oceans and seas of the main world are all controlled by different races. The races that they know of are the merman race, the Naga race, the Whale Beast Kins, and the Scyllas. All of them are known for controlling parts of the seas and oceans. In fact, sailors would often throw some treasure chest in the middle of the ocean or sea routes as offerings in order to let them pass.

Unbeknownst to the players and even to the ones that mostly play in the oceans and seas, the merman race suddenly started their conquest of all the oceans and seas. The other ocean and sea kingdoms were shocked to the sudden invasion of the merman race that they did not have ample preparations. Smaller sea and ocean races were subdued by the might of the merman race which made them occupy 30% of the world's oceans and seas.

The current battle that was happening in the ocean right now is the fight between the Merman race and the Naga race. They were fighting in the Green Garland Reef when the powers of their clash finally awakened the sleeping monster in that location. A Primordial Beast that is said to be as large as the ocean itself and could swallow the seas if it wants to.

[The Leviathan, Primordial Beast of the Sea, has fully awoken from its slumber and destroyed its seal.]

As soon as all the voice of the world announced the coming of a powerful beast, a burst of energy swept across the central continent and other continents that were near. The energy of The Leviathan was so powerful that it almost woke up some of the sleeping ocean primordial beasts. The fight between the Merman Race and the Naga Race has completely destroyed the seal of The Leviathan.

The Merman Race and the Naga Race knew of the legends regarding the location they were fighting at. It was the Green Garland Reef where it is said that a powerful sea beast was sealed by the gods in order for the seas to be calm. They did not know that this very legend is indeed real for they have now unsealed the powerful sea beast.

The Leviathan was indeed a Primordial Beast as it is said to be one of the first creations of the Creator. It is said to have been created with two other Primordial Beasts that represent other aspects of the world. The Leviathan is said to have been created to rule the seas which is why it has a large serpentine body. Unlike its serpentine appearance, The Leviathan has scales that of a fish rather than that of a dragon which differentiates them from each other.

They often thought of The Leviathan as a serpentine dragon, but they are wrong because it was created before the dragons. Unlike the serpentine dragons, The Leviathan does not have arms or any appendages at all. It was the same size as the reef it was sealed in, and that reef spanned at least 100 miles.

Upon seeing The Leviathan, the Merman Race and the Naga Race that were at war has started to flee for their lives. They did not care who won as the primordial beast before them is a monster that could destroy a vast kingdom within a day if it wished to. The two warring races thought that The Leviathan would start an indiscriminate massacre, but they were wrong. A powerful will suddenly enveloped all of them which made them halt in their swimming.

"The Mother of the Seas has awakened and all of you fled instead of bowing down to me? If all of you wish to keep your lives, then bow down to the Ruler of the Seas." A clear feminine voice that is filled with prestige and terror echoed in the minds of the two races that were escaping.

The Leviathan called itself the Mother of the Seas when it never had a motherly nature like that in the first place. The Merman Race and Naga Race were unsure why she called herself the Mother of the Seas when they know that title is reserved for a goddess that all water races choose to never utter the name. Seeing that no one was bowing to her, The Leviathan casually swiped the tip of her tail and erased 20% of the armies of both races.

"We greet the Mother of the Seas!" The Naga Race was the first to bow as they looked at The Leviathan with respect as their serpentine qualities made them share some sort of connection.

"We give honor to the Mother of the Seas!" The Merman Race followed up as the dead glare from The Leviathan made them all bow down.

Chapter 2013 The Leviathan I

[The Leviathan, Primordial Beast of the Sea, has fully awoken from its slumber and destroyed its seal.]

[Due to the rampaging power of The Leviathan, the seas that are under its domain has become turbulent.]

[The Leviathan has taken control of 10% of the world's waters.]

Adrian could feel the primordial energy that The Leviathan was emitting as if it was a great pulsating battery. It was a different kind of primordial energy, but it is still the same energy that Adrian is emitting. Adrian could feel the power of that primordial energy and it has now reached the same power level as that of a greater god. He then tried to peer into the source of the primordial energy because he can feel another kind of energy that is also familiar with him.

"I should be able to temporarily tap into that energy pulse to check for a moment. The range is so far from the origin which would make it almost unnoticeable when I do it." Adrian thought to himself as he sent small pulses of primordial energy towards the direction of The Leviathan.

Adrian was able to send his primordial energy and silently reach The Leviathan where another energy could be felt. This energy was incredibly familiar with Adrian as if it is also part of his body. He recognizes this energy because it is the same energy signature that the Chaos Shard is emitting. Adrian thought the Leviathan would not be able to sense his energy pulses, but he was wrong.

It must have been due to the Leviathan just being unsealed but it seems that she is more sensitive right now. She was able to sense the probing primordial energy that Adrian was emitting. She felt offended that someone lesser than her was probing into her which is why she sent a burst of primordial energy to Adrian. He was not able to easily sense the dangerous energy pulse sent his way as a warning and suffered the consequences.

Adrian suddenly spats out blood as his body received a powerful burst of primordial energy that it shook his entire core. If he did not have primordial energy in his body from the beginning, then

Adrian would have died like a balloon popping. It is fortunate that the distance was massive and that he has a sturdy body when it comes to energies.

Adrian was not even able to defend against the attack, but he clearly knew it was a warning. Still, the energy attack was made by a greater god level being. Any low Persona being would end up dead if they were not at the level of an Arch Demon. Adrian felt that vicious and slimy primordial energy wave, but it also carried hints of saltiness as if he was suddenly hit by a tidal wave of sea water.

"What happened to you?" Ascalor stated as he went to find Adrian when he sensed that he was in Avalon.

"I got a pleasant surprise from sneaking a peek. Are you here to collect me on what we will do with the Primordial Beast?" Adrian asked Ascalor.

"It seems that you already know a bit about them. Come with me as the fears of the expanding world has finally been realized." Ascalor stated as Adrian came with him.

Meanwhile, the entire player base of Pandemonium has gone fully ballistic. The sudden world message only meant one thing and that another powerful being has been unsealed. Still, the majority of the player base do not know of the Primordial Beasts as they are not that in depth when it comes to lore. This made all those lore-based player channels get a burst of views when they start discussing about the Primordial Beasts.

All of the players started to scramble on any information related to the Primordial Beasts and it was easy to find unlike some hidden gods or races. The Primordial Beasts were often worshipped but most of them were feared for their capability of vast destruction. They are often depicted as powerful monsters that can destroy an entire kingdom within a day.

There are even a lot more literature and depictions of them as they were often used as monsters for the depictions of battle with gods. In the Church of the Sea, the Leviathan is even depicted as a ferocious sea monster that the God of Sea Poseidon keeps battling with. It is said that they often battle on who the true ruler of the seas is, and that the Leviathan would always be the one turning fin to run. nô/vel/b//in dot c//om

It is not just the Leviathan that the players found depictions of as numerous Primordial Beasts can be seen on records of each church related to a god or goddess in Pandemonium. It is even said that the number of Primordial Beasts is equal to the number of gods or goddesses in Pandemonium. The players knew that the Leviathan was just the first and they learned an interesting fact about the Primordial Beasts.

"Primordial Beasts are unlike normal divine beasts that die permanently when they are killed. Primordial Beasts would respawn even if their entire body disintegrated. They are the literal force of nature in the world which is why they are treated like natural deities. If that is the case, then how can we truly defeat the Primordial Beasts?" Adrian read as he was handed a scroll by Elder Koronn.

"When they revive, they lose all memories of their previous lives and enter a new one. The Primordial Beasts were just sealed this time which means they still have the memories they possessed when they were sealed thousands of years ago." Elder Bronx stated.

"That makes them even more dangerous! They possess the intelligence of the ancients that even we have lost." Adrian stated as even the records of the Daemos are not complete.

"That is the reason why the world sealed them as they were birth from it with the essence of the Creator. They were actually quite a great force against the invading evil gods as they can revive but that also meant that they can be taken control of. There were some Primordial Beasts that accepted the power of the evil gods which made them break their connection with the world.

The Primordial Beasts that can revive are those that are created by the world and if they end their connection with it then they can truly be killed. In fact, it is said that there are a hundred thousand Primordial Beasts when the world was created but most of them truly died because they got tempted by the powers of the evil god." Elder Ascalor stated.

"Then are all Primordial Beasts influenced by evil gods killed?" Adrian asked.

"That is something that we do not know as we have no record of that. It is safe to assume that there are still Wicked Primordial Beasts as we call them that are still alive." Elder Koronn stated as Adrian has one in mind that is chewing the roots of a certain world tree.

"So, we will not deal with the Leviathan then? It is a being of nature which means that there is nothing unnatural about it." Adrian stated but the looks of all the elders could be seen not agreeing with his statement.

"This is the predicament because look at this." Elder Ascalor stated as a demon eye suddenly projected something like a holographic image of the Leviathan.

Adrian could only have his jaw drop because the holographic image showed the Leviathan as an incredibly large sea serpent that its entire body spanned the entire reef. The merman race and the naga race that are in the holographic image could be akin to ants compared to it. Adrian also noticed that the body of the Leviathan was emitting a strange energy that is slowly tearing down the fabric of reality.

"Is that really happening?!" Adrian asked and all the three Daemos Elders could only sigh.

"We do not know why but the Leviathan is emitting a specific energy signature that is destroying the dimensional barrier. Fortunately for us, Primordial Beasts cannot leave their domains but the bad this is that the destruction of the dimensional barrier would be faster in that area." Elder Koronn stated.

"We will have no choice but to subjugate the Leviathan." Elder Bronx stated.

"Even if we kill it, it will just revive once again to do the same damage." Adrian stated.

"Not necessarily." Elder Ascalor stated.

"Please enlighten me." Adrian added.

"Primordial Beasts do revive but it will take time which can range from a month to even decades. Each of their revival is also a different slate which means that the next incarnation of the Leviathan will not be same one." Elder Ascalor stated to which the other elders agreed.

"What happens if its next incarnation is the same?" Adrian asked.

"That is easy. We will kill it continuously until we are sure that it will no longer affect the fabric of reality." Elder Koronn stated as if it was easy killing a Greater God level Primordial Beast.

Chapter 2014 The Leviathan II

"Tell your rulers to bow down to me or face the threat of extinction." The Leviathan stated as she released a powerful aura that restricted both races.

"We will do well as messengers." The generals of the two races stated as they left to look like they will inform their rulers of the words of their kingdoms.

"You have five days to give me a reply or face the destruction of your kingdoms." The Leviathan stated as a warning as she sent powerful killing intent to the two races which made them scramble.

"You know that they will not keep their word." A god blending with the water stated.

The god blending with the water was none other than the God Loki or at least a clone of him. The God Loki then looked at the strange crystal that he embedded at one of the scales of the Leviathan. It was emitting a strange powerful energy that is neither creation nor death despite its small size. This was the Chaos Shard Fragment used to unseal the Primordial Beast of the Sea Leviathan.

"Do not worry, beloved. They will know how to kneel as you have given me power to free me from the restrictions of the world. I can move away from my domain easily as the other Primordial Beasts." The Leviathan stated.

"You are not my wife even if you share the same body as her. She was gone as she died back then. You are merely a husk that share the same characteristics as her." The God Loki stated as he did not like how the Leviathan addressed him as his beloved.

The first incarnation of the Leviathan was able to be free compared to the next incarnations which is why she often went and transformed to a humanoid body. She took on the name of Angrboda and freely went around the world to see its beauty. She was still created by the Creator which meant that she was powerful in her own right.

Angrboda met the God Loki on her journey to the north part of Pangea where the Aesir Gods lived back then. She was charmed by the God Loki, but she was not fully honest of who she was. Angrboda thought that she would not be able to conceive children as she was a Primordial Beast that took on humanoid form. This was her miscalculation as she became pregnant with the children of the God Loki.

What Angrboda did not know is that the God Loki was heavily tied to fate because that is the fate of the Gods of Mischief. The power to somewhat warp reality would make them heavily tied to fate itself. In the end, the God Loki learned that Angrboda was actually the Primordial Beast Leviathan, but he did not care in the end. The love that the God Loki had for Angrboda erased the lie that she has told him. nô/vel/b//in dot c//om

Fate is a little bit cruel though as Angrboda gave birth to three children related to the fate of the Aesir Gods. Angrboda gave birth to two Primordial Beasts and a goddess, but it also left her incredibly weak. Giving birth to three powerful beings weakened Angrboda but she managed to live. She lived but fate is cruel as the children she bore made the Aesir gods cower in fear.

Fate is a little bit cruel though as Angrboda gave birth to three children related to the fate of the Aesir Gods. Angrboda gave birth to two Primordial Beasts and a goddess, but it also left her incredibly weak. Giving birth to three powerful beings weakened Angrboda but she managed to live. She lived but fate is cruel as the children she bore made the Aesir gods cower in fear.

All three of her children were given a fate that they will devour the world which made the Aesir gods fear them. They chained the first born despite his initial good nature which made him incredibly angered by the gods. This was none other than Fenris who is called the Wolf that Will Devour the World and he was born as a Primordial Beast.

The middle child, Jormungand also called the World Serpent, was cast and sealed into the waters of the world. It is said that this made Jormungand unable to leave the waters of the world as this became his domain. He was the one that inherited most of the powers from the original form of his mother, the Leviathan.

The last of the siblings, the Goddess of Death Hel, was stationed at Helheim but it was more of a banishment from the God King Odin. She was banished to rule over Helheim which is a different death realm compared to Valhalla where the God King Odin rules over. In Helheim, it is the location that those who die a dishonorable death are forced to tread through the icy lands where no fire can live which is the opposite of Valhalla where heroes reside when they die.

The Aesir Gods feared the three children of Loki so much that they fulfilled the prophecy themselves by having the three become filled with resentment. The three plotted and was able to induce a minor Ragnarok where they summoned the Fire Giant Surtr to Asgard. The Fire Giant Surtr was able to destroy the initial kingdom of Asgard that the God King Odin created.

The resentment of the three became fuel for the cries of the Aesir Gods but they had miscalculated something. The Fire Giant Surtr tried to kill their father, but their mother protected him despite her already weak body. The flaming sword of the Fire Giant Surtr killed Angrboda which made her three children reverse what they had done. The Fire Giant Surtr was sent back to his realm, but the death and destruction has already been done.

The God Loki cried for the first time as his beloved wife died protecting him. Angrboda told him that she will come back to life, but she will more likely be a stranger to him which was true. It took a hundred years for the Leviathan to revive but she already lost everything she has done in her past life. Even her maternal care for her children vanished which is also why the God Loki, and his children no longer speak with each other as they were disappointed with their father for not protecting their mother and them.

Chapter 2015 The Leviathan III

"Why? I now have the memories of all the past incarnations of me because of the Chaos Shard Fragment embedded in my body. Maybe... you prefer something like this?" The Leviathan stated as she suddenly transformed to the humanoid appearance resembling Angrboda.

"Do not even dare to use that form beast! My wife might have died but that does not mean that you have the right to desecrate her memory. I can kill you and get back the fragment if I wanted to. You are merely a part of the deal as your domain borders in the specific dimensional frequency to that of Asgard." The God Loki stated as his killing intent was so powerful that the Leviathan had to stop playing with him.

The domain of the Leviathan does indeed have the same dimensional frequency to that of Asgard. This might be due to the fact that Asgard itself was perched right on top of the very body of water that is the domain of the Leviathan. The Chaos Shard Fragment is merely a tool that is used to bring forth Asgard to the mortal realm without expending too much energy in doing so.

"I shall do my part as you have done yours. Once I become free of my tether to this domain like my first incarnation, I will be able to freely rule the seas while the other primordial beasts still sleep." The Leviathan stated as it returned back to its sea serpent form.

"When do we attack?" Adrian asked as he knew that they need to deal with the Leviathan as quick as possible due to the fact that it is tearing out the fabric of reality. n/o/vel/b//in dot c//om

"We will attack two days from now with Elder Bronx as the leader. We might not have a lot of Daemos attacking but we might be able to defeat it as long as we are careful." Elder Ascalor stated.

"All we need is an army, right? I can get us one and the only payment for that would be the possibility of transferring them to the location. We can easily do that since mass teleportation is like our specialty." Adrian stated as he immediately posted an announcement in the bulletin board.

Territory Lord Announcement:

"I, Equinox, will create a point of connection towards the area where the Primordial Beast Leviathan has spawned. Any players that would want to have a direct path towards the location will be free of charge on the first transfer. Succeeding transfers will be charged with one bronze coin per player. This is to ensure the safety of the world by defeating the Leviathan. "

Special Note: The Leviathan is a World Boss that respawns so this will not be the first time it will appear. The Teleportation Circle will be completed in two days upon posting this announcement.

Adrian posted the announcement, and it became a powerful message that had all manners of people have gotten. A lot of the players in Avalon started their preparations because this meant that they could challenge the world boss as long as they can get teleported to its location. Numerous streams are already covering the Leviathan and a lot of guilds are already preparing to subjugate it.

Even though the Primordial Beast Leviathan has just revived, the top guilds of the world have started to plan their subjugation of it. Some guilds that are incredibly rich are even on the way towards it using their airships. The guilds that are on the way are none other than Valor and Infernum. Even if they are friendly with each other, it does not mean that there is no competition amongst them.

What the players did not know is that the Leviathan can respawn which they learned from Adrian's post. This actually made the players even more excited in subjugating the Leviathan. If a world boss like it can respawn then the rewards for its first subjugation would be incredibly generous. This is already a common thing to the virtual gaming community as there might even be a ranking.

Adrian's announcement made the traffic towards Avalon incredibly long as lots of players that want to have a free transport to the area of the Leviathan are now swarming in. He already expected this which is why he is smiling as the number of players entering his territory will increase and thus increase all expenditures in there. Adrian knew that he cannot compete with large guilds when it comes to monetary power, but it does not mean he has no way of boosting his economy.

"After all, knowledge is power, and I am only utilizing that to further my goals." Adrian muttered to himself as the Daemos Elders looked at him weirdly because he was smiling by himself.

"Let us start creating the gate as the brat's announcement has stirred quite a commotion. Who will teleport to the location of the Leviathan to create a marker?" Elder Ascalor stated.

"Since the Equinox is incredibly pumped up then we shall give him the honors. Make sure that the marker is not near the Leviathan or its domain as it could lead to instant death once it is reachable by the primordial beast." Elder Bronx stated.

"Off you go then." Elder Koronn stated as he gestured Adrian to leave.

"I did not even have a say if I wanted to do it." Adrian grumbled.

"You are the youngest of us Arch Demons. Of course, you should do the grunt work. Feel free to boss us around if you become a Noblesse. Hehe!" Elder Ascalor stated.

Adrian had no choice but to comply as he cannot overpower the Three Elders as of now. The time that he becomes strong enough to face them equally will be the time he can easily say no to them. Since it was his idea to call upon an army, he just easily agreed as he will also lead his guild to defeat the Primordial Beast Leviathan as well because something is urging him to defeat it.

Chapter 2016 The Dark Gamers' Plan

"I arrived at the coordinates which is about ten kilometers away from the Leviathan. Even though I am ten kilometers away, I can feel its primordial energy it is releasing, and it is like a powerful torrent." Adrian muttered as he made sure to hide his primordial energy in fear that it might attract the attention of the Leviathan.

Adrian also made sure to become invisible by turning into a spirit as he noticed the number of players gathering in the area. He could see that there are players that have arrived to subjugate the Leviathan. He tried to see if they were from a guild that he knows of, but they were not. A lot of them were incredibly powerful as well but they were not known faces to him.

"They may be unranked players." Adrian thought to himself as he made sure to make himself even more undetectable as he sensed that there was a Spirit Summoner in the mix of people.

He was able to notice the spirit summoner because some greater elementals suddenly came to him. He was able to scare them off using his nether energy as it is a fearsome energy that elementals are scared off. The only downside to this is that the spirit summoner suddenly learned that there was a spiritual entity possessing death energy in the vicinity. This made the spirit summoner incredibly happy as it seems she was looking for one.

Death Elementals are incredibly rare as their counterpart Life Elementals are as well. It might be somewhat faint, but Adrian could feel that the spirit summoner was someone that is contracted with a Life Elemental. She might not be able to control it, but she might be able to summon it momentarily to assist her in battle.

"Now that we are all here! Let us move before all of the other famed guilds come. We must at least subjugate a part of the Leviathan first. We wasted precious resources for this which is why we must get back the cost of materials." A powerful man that has luscious golden hair stated but his presence made Adrian's eye's squint.

"A Champion. To think they are led by a player that is crowned champion by a god and it is even an energy that I am familiar with." Adrian thought as he knew who the god the player was serving but he also listened in on the conversation because he said that they should get a 'part' of the Leviathan instead of entirely subjugating it.

Adrian made sure to mark the location as the Daemos Elders wanted and he sent them the coordinates via the Demon Eyes in the area. As soon as he finished this, he followed the group of unknown players, and he became sure that the player earlier is the Champion of Thor. The aura coming off from him is the same as that of the Thunder God that Adrian fought.

The energy from the Champion of Thor is not the only thing that Adrian sensed because the energy of the Leviathan became stronger as they were now just two kilometers away. He can clearly sense the odd energy that is making Adrian's body scream to get it. He actually accidentally leaked some of his primordial energy which made the Leviathan aware of his existence.

The area that Adrian was in is suddenly enveloped in thick bloodlust, but he made sure to avoid it by hiding in a pocket dimension. The players that were in his vicinity were not lucky enough though as they felt the impact of the powerful bloodlust of the Leviathan. All of them could not bear it and were suddenly kneeling on the ground except for the Champion of Thor. Fortunately for them, the bloodlust stopped when the Leviathan was no longer able to detect Adrian.

"What just happened?!" the Champion of Thor asked the spirit summoner beside him.

"It is the World Boss. I think it has sensed our presence." The Spirit Summoner replied as she was the most sensitive of them all. One could even see that she was still having a difficult time standing up as her legs practically gave up when she was subjected to the bloodlust.

"That was just its bloodlust, and we already look like a pitiful crew. How powerful is it?" The Champion of Thor asked.

"The elementals that I used to scout do not even want to get near it. If I were to say the power level needed to defeat it, then it might take a thousand players equivalent to you. Even the Demon will not be able to defeat this World Boss on his own as it is specifically a Guild Alliance level boss monster.

From what the elementals fed me, the Leviathan has three areas raised above water. The head, the middle body and the tail are all exposed which means that these three areas are the only ones we can damage. Unless we are of an aquatic race, the three areas are the only thing that we can rely on. We can only confirm if these parts also have different health bars as my elementals are not able to verify that part." The Spirit Summoner stated.

"We shall aim for the tail then as that is the part nearest the shore, right?" The Champion of Thor asked.

"Yes, the tail is the part of the Leviathan closest to the shore." The Spirit Summoner replied as all of the unknown players were now able to recover from the sudden shock of powerful bloodlust.

"We must hurry in destroying the tail to get the drops that we need. I have recruited a lot of fellow Dark Gamers for this which is why we must get those prized scales. It might be the way to unlock the coveted Mythical Tier items." The Champion of Thor stated which made Adrian raise his brows with their conversation.

Upon learning the information from the spirit summoner, Adrian immediately deployed Sirius to check on the 'tail' part of the Leviathan. He is also a bit shocked that the players here were Dark Gamers as they rarely come out. They are often doing their business secretly or in the shadows as they do not like to be recognized by other people. They are powerful players that only play the game for profit and not for fame.

"Speaking of the Demon, make sure to tell me immediately if you sensed him. I was tasked by my patron god to kill him when I see him. I will be generously rewarded if I am able to do that." The Champion of Thor stated.

"I will but are you sure?" The Spirit Summoner stated with an expression that is hard to decipher.

"Do you think that I am incapable of killing him? I am a Pure Barbarian King unlike a Summoner. He might be powerful because of his soulbounds but the Demon itself is not able to contend with me one-on-one. You do know that I can easily kill him with my abilities." The Champion of Thor stated confidently.

"Yes. I am just thinking that we could be wiped out if you suddenly jump out to fight him. You are our main damage dealer after all, and the other guilds will arrive here in two days. The spies that we have planted in each top guild have told us that the main attack force have already left their guild bases." The Spirits Summoner stated.

"Do not worry as some of my henchmen have told me that the Demon will not move right now. He is creating a teleportation array to this location which will take days. Even if they are demons, a stable teleportation array will not be easily done." The Champion of Thor stated.

"Reporting!" A scout suddenly stated as he returned from surveying the battlefield they are nearing.

"Tell me the status of the tail." The Champion of Thor stated.

"We have seen some players that started attacking it. Their group is small which is why the advance team has already initiated the PK. We will be able to clear them out in ten minutes or by the time the main team arrives." The scout stated.

"Good. Make sure to also set up the perimeter as planned. We must not be seen by other players while we get the drops from destroying the tail." The Champion of Thor stated.

"Affirmative." The scout stated as he vanished in a puff of smoke.

"Still, if the Demon suddenly arrives... do not attack immediately. We have already created a way to imprison him and defeat him." The Spirit Summoner stated. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

"Do not worry. I became the head of a large crew of Dark Gamers because I use my brain." The Champion of Thor stated as they proceeded to enter the five-hundred-meter mark from where the tail of the Leviathan is.

"I have returned, master. It is as they say. The tail of the Leviathan is currently attacking any land dwellers in its range." Sirius reported.

Chapter 2017 Playing the Trickster

Adrian chose to still observe after what Sirius has reported to him. He wanted to see the Dark Gamers in action, but he did not expect that they were incredibly brutal when it comes to claiming areas. He saw how the players that wanted to check the Leviathan. There were some normal players that were able to combat some of the forces of the Dark Gamers, but they ultimately fell when the main force arrived.

"Tch! They did not even drop any rare item from dying." One of the Dark Gamers stated as the players that they killed were not PK players like them.

"They probably are goody two shoes that play this game earnestly and have never killed another player." Another Dark Gamer stated.

"Everyone! Do not focus on that. We must get the drop from the tail today or else the other top guilds will arrive." The Champion of Thor stated as he was the one that commands the entire Dark Gamers present.

"Yes, boss!" The Dark Gamers stated as they responded with enthusiasm.

The Dark Gamers started to bare their fangs on the tail and Adrian did not expect that the tail had its own health bar. He thought that the Leviathan would only have one health bar, but this might be due to its large body. The Leviathan might be type of boss monster that will have another health bar that will appear when all three of its body parts are broken.

"Incoming attack from the tail!" One of the Dark Gamer scouts shouted as the tail that was not moving as much suddenly did a sweeping motion to all the beings in the shore.

The Champion of Thor took out his weapon and it was none other than a holy relic that is a large hammer. Adrian did not expect that it would be the champion that holds the holy relic of a powerful god. The God of Thunder Thor is a High God and a prince of the gods in Asgard. Gods will not give their holy relics to anyone unless they are trustworthy or a follower that will grant all of their patron's request.

The Champion of Thor is suddenly filled with great power which made his already bulging muscles grow bigger and look like it was steel. With a swing of his large hammer relic, the Champion of Thor was able to stop the tail of the Leviathan, but their strength is evenly matched. The Dark Gamers did not become idle as they saw that their leader was glaring at them to move.

"Blizza use Frozen Embrace!" The Spirit Summoner shouted as Adrian changed his view to her and she has already summoned an Ice Elemental.

The Ice Elemental looked like a frozen lady in a winter dress and it casted a spell that created icy hands in the air. The icy hands grabbed at the base of the tail and created frozen hands that is also anchored to a frozen sea. The pressure that the Champion of Thor is feeling lessened thanks to the Spirit Summoner.

"They are very capable that it is scary. Is this the power of money?" Adrian muttered as he could see the coordination of the Dark Gamers.

Adrian suddenly smiled mischievously as he will make sure that every one of them will suffer. The Shadow Unit actually told him that he has a bounty on his head for anyone that kills him. The kill does not matter if it is arena or PK, but the Dark Gamers have a bounty for Adrian's death. He did not know who the source of this bounty was, but he will not be merciful to the Dark Gamers that took it.

"Let us see what happens when a sudden bloodlust wave comes." Adrian muttered with a grin as he sent pulses of primordial energy to probe the Leviathan.

Adrian made sure to make these pulses be somewhat powerful and irritating as the Leviathan is extremely sensitive right now. He immediately hid in the pocket dimension as soon as he sent the pulses of primordial energy. After a few seconds, a powerful pressure due to bloodlust bathe the entire area. The Dark Gamers that were attacking suddenly dropped to the ground as their body became extremely heavy.

[The Leviathan has used the skill Tidal Wave.]

The Leviathan's tail might not be able to use skills, but it does not mean that the Leviathan is not aware of someone attacking it. In fact, other than the dark gamers, there are already some guilds and even NPCs that started attacking parts of the Leviathan's body. The notification was sent early but the Tidal Wave only arrived after five minutes.

"Take cover!" The Champion of Thor shouted as he suddenly rose to the sky and lightning is harnessed by the hammer holy relic.

"Thunder Smash!" The Champion of Thor shouted as he not only attacked the tail but also created a shockwave that clashed with the tidal wave. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

"Undine!" The Spirit Summoner shouted as she made sure to clench her teeth even though the bloodlust was still affecting her.

The tidal wave was stopped for a second and weakened but it still hit the shores. The Spirit Summoner was able to summon a Greater Elemental which helped weaken the tidal wave which made all the dark gamers safe. As soon as the tidal wave passed, the bloodlust that the Leviathan was emitting has passed as well but the other players attacking other parts were the ones attacked next.

The Leviathan was looking for the puny being that dared to taunt it with pulses of primordial energy. Adrian did not only make the lives of the Dark Gamers difficult but other players attacking the Leviathan. He is lucky that they do not know that it was him that made their lives difficult. The players just thought that the sudden bloodlust pressure is just one of its attack patterns.

"That taunt is not effective. I was not even able to kill one of them but attacking would make my location known." Adrian thought as he is surrounded by Dark Gamers.

Unless Adrian has a way to escape fully, he is just walking to his demise as they did say that they have countermeasures against him. Adrian might be confident, but he is not confident to the point that he will overestimate himself. He checked the surroundings once again and is sure that the entire area is sealed off. As soon as he shows himself, the dark gamers might jump to kill him instead of the tail.

"Paradox, prepare the Instant Teleportation spell. How long until it is completed?" Adrian stated.

"It would take five minutes to create the spell for your use, master." Paradox reported as Adrian observed as the dark gamers started attacking once again.

The Champion of Thor is thankful that the pressure from the bloodlust has passed but he is now wary of his surroundings. The sudden bloodlust is unexpected as they already experienced it earlier when they were not attacking the Leviathan's tail. The scouts also reported that the Leviathan has never emitted bloodlust from its earlier patters when other players were attacking it. The battle sense of the Champion of Thor immediately knew that there might be another being snooping around and making it difficult for them.

"Thunder Boom!" The Champion of Thor shouted as a powerful burst of sound was emitted from the holy relic that stretched out in the entire area.

"No response. Am I just being sensitive because this is a different enemy and the time pressure?" The Champion of Thor thought as he made sure to do that attack to sweep the area to see if any invisible player was able to enter their barricaded area.

"Blessing of the Earth Elemental!" The Spirit Summoner shouted as she gave a blessing to all the dark gamers that enchanted their attacks with earth elemental mana.

"Greater Blessing of the Wind Elemental!" The Spirit Summoner followed up by buffing the Champion of Thor.

"Proceed with the attacks! We must get the materials to get paid!" The Champion of Thor shouted as the attacks continued once again.

The Leviathan's tail did simple attacks as if it was swatting flies, but the outer scales could be seen slowly getting chipped. The interesting part is that the chipped scales did not turn into particles of light but became dropped items. A dedicated team for looting the area quickly swiped the fallen scales and escaped the area of danger.

"They are incredibly coordinated even when it comes to looting. Whoever trained them must be incredible but it such a shame that I will ruin everything for them." Adrian muttered as he got the message from Paradox that the spell is now ready.

"I will give them a present. Vortex!" Adrian stated as a small star appeared before he used blink to get to the center of the formation.

"Hello! I hope all of you like my present." Adrian stated as he suddenly appeared while all of the dark gamers were focused on attacking the tail.

Chapter 2018 Planning the Raid on the Leviathan

Adrian appeared and immediately vanished upon saying his one liner. The only thing that is left would be the small star that floated a bit before suddenly exploding. The explosion of the star created a black hole that absorbed all of the dark gamers in the area which made the battle chaotic.

The Champion of Thor was not caught by the black hole as he was able to anchor himself to the ground, but the important spirit summoner cannot be seen the same. The spirit summoner is the one responsible for holding back the tail of the Leviathan and she was no longer in the battle. She was absorbed by the black hole along with her summoned elementals as they were the closest one.

"Demon! You will pay for this!" The Champion of Thor shouted as he was smacked by the tail of the Leviathan straight towards the black hole.

The dark gamers were in such a mess that they were almost wiped out when they came out of the black hole. The dark gamers that served as support like mages, archers, and priests were almost wiped out. Only those that have life saving skills were able to survive the massacre that the Leviathan's tail has done.

The dark gamers were no longer to continue their operation and left with nothing but crumbs. They were all directly hit by the Leviathan's tail as soon as they were spat out by the black hole. Some low health and low defense players died with a full power swing of the tail. The Champion of Thor had no choice but to order all of them to retreat since they were basically dying slowly.

"I shall have my revenge, demon!" The Champion of Thor stated as he angrily looked at the poor loots that they got.

"Maybe we can still attack more! The tail has yet to fully heal, and we can still attack." The spirit summoner stated as she survived but most of her elementals already died.

"It is no use. The top guilds have hastened their approach as they learned that there were players attacking the parts of the Leviathan. We can no longer stay here anymore as we would clash with them. Bump up the kill order on the Demon! I want him killed at least five times. We shall attack the tail once again when the top guilds fail. Make sure to tell all of our planted men to create a mistake." The Champion of Thor shouted as he commanded all of the dark gamers to retreat and recuperate.

"I shall personally hunt you down for this, Demon!" The Champion of Thor thought as he retreated with the other dark gamers.

"They all retreated!? They are so boring. I thought that they will at least tough it out and get their deserved drops. I guess that is it for me messing with them. This is just partial revenge for the problems that you have given me." Adrian muttered as he has gotten instances of players suddenly attacking him which is why he tends to use Glamour whenever he goes out of his territory.

"We have finished the installation, but the magic circle will still take a day to stabilize. The teleportation magic circle might be able to send at most fifty at the same time for now. Should we start operating them?" Elder Ascalor stated as he looked a bit tired.

"Are you still not fully recovered?" Adrian asked as he knew that Elder Ascalor was weakened to a great extent.

"My body is fine, but my energy is just in a lethargic state. This happens to all beings that live long as there would come a time they will go to sleep. Even us demons are subjected to this lethargic sleep, but we are not sleeping because the world is connected to our energies. We can just need to tough it out and I need to not go in the field for now." Elder Ascalor stated but the reactions of the other elders made Adrian think otherwise.

"Will he be truly fine? You do not need anything? You do know that we have a tree that is both the life and death element in the middle of this territory. If a leaf from its tree of life side is all you need then I can make that happen." Adrian stated.

"I am fine. I just need to stabilize myself for at least a year so make sure to not get favors from me. I will miss the days when I can mess with you." Elder Ascalor stated with a joking face.

Adrian thought that Elder Ascalor's mischievousness lessened as he no longer gets summoned with a portal in his feet but that was not the case. It is not because he became mature, but it is due to his own energy being unstable. Adrian is worried but it is the biological nature of long-lived beings to experience this. If only they could sleep comfortably without worry, then he might recover quickly.

"You should get this coupon that I got from somewhere. It is a good place to sleep even if it is only for a day." Adrian stated as he gave a coupon from the Church of Sleep to Elder Ascalor.

"A coupon for a sleeping chamber? You have very weird acquaintances, brat." Elder Ascalor stated but he made sure to get the coupons.

"Why do you even need sleep? You will get nothing done if you sleep. Imagine the number of research topics that I will not be able to do if I sleep." Elder Koronn stated proudly but all of them just looked at him as if he lost his mind.

"Anyways, the Leviathan is large to cover until the shores. Its head is on the middle of the sea while parts of its body are being attacked by other people right now. Will we teleport to the area of the head?" Adrian asked.

"We could but the Leviathan is a primordial beast that represents the seas. The parts that it is showing are the parts of its body that can be called as shields. In order to truly kill it, all parts must be destroyed at first." Elder Bronx stated.

"So, those three parts sticking out is not because it is careless. This would make subjugating it more difficult since we need to destroy all parts of it first. I do not think we would have enough even if we go together." Adrian stated.

"Well, only the three of us will be going. Ascalor will be on house duty since he cannot participate in combat." Elder Bronx stated which meant that they would have lesser efficiency.

"What if we pull the Leviathan out of the sea? Is it possible to displace such a large being?" Adrian asked.

"It would be possible if the Leviathan does not resist. Remember that we are still Arch Demons that are not as powerful as Noblesse. If we were Noblesse, then such a thing would be a walk in the park." Elder Koronn stated. n/o/vel/b//in dot c//om

"Why not have Old Man Pann help us?" Adrian asked.

"If the old man moves then those gods eyeing your territory will move as well. Ascalor is not enough to defend this place and I do not want to get back to the Paradox Planes." Elder Koronn stated.

"My life was much easier when the gods could not descend." Adrian mumbled as he cursed the fact that players released unknown dangers that destroyed the integrity of the dimensional barrier.

"Well, your life will be much easier if Ascalor can become a Noblesse. Lethargy is one sign that he is close to that as it is the way of our bodies to cope up with the energy needed to expend to become one." Elder Bronx stated.

"My chances would have been larger if I was not weakened. The chances of that happening are now close to null because of what happened to me. I am starting to get scared that we might be overrun by the gods at this rate." Elder Ascalor stated.

Upon hearing Elder Ascalor's words, even the other elders and Adrian started to become gloomy. The rate at which they can protect the realm is starting to shrink as they are not the top of the food chain. They can only rely on Old Man Pann for protection due to the presence of the gods. Adrian's prestige as the Champion of the Twin Gods helps as well but that is only for gods afraid of them.

"So, my initial plan of getting an army of players would be the next best thing then. The only problem would be the way to fight in water as that is not possible for most of the people." Adrian stated as he needed to change the topic.

"You have a friend that is a fish monster. Why not ask him as I believe that he is a being that could help with that." Elder Ascalor stated.

Chapter 2019 Worship the Deep

Adrian suddenly remembered that he did have someone like Altum and that he still has a mission to make the Dark God Dagon a holy relic. He has not talked much about this with Altum as there are barely any players in the guild that can swim in open water without losing their breath. The only ones that can do so are Adrian, Kabrakan, Peridot, and Altum. Adrian has a protective layer when he enters spaces that are unnatural, and he does not need air to breathe.

Kabrakan can change his armor to suit the seas which is why he was the one that helped Altum the most. Peridot is a dragon which makes her easily traverse the sea as her dragon species is tied to water more due to being close to the moon. Altum is a given since he is a Deep One and the Champion of Dagon. Adrian wanted to search the oceans and seas which is why he tasked Kabrakan and Peridot to help Altum level up when they are free.

"I can talk to their god directly, but I will also inform him. Please start the operation of the teleportation circles for now. Destroying the tail will be priority for now and we will work our way up if necessary. We can destroy the Leviathan itself when all parts of its shielded body get broken." Adrian stated as he vanished from the meeting area and left the elders to do the initial plan.

Adrian already messaged Altum and told him to meet up at the place where the Dark God Dagon is currently staying at. Adrian appeared at the area, and one could see that it is raining which meant that the Dark God Dagon has put up a barrier. Adrian could already know why the Dark God Dagon has set up a barrier as greater gods can manifest into the world. He is sure that The Dark God Dagon has received a few visitations from them.

[The Dark God Dagon has invited you to his divine domain.]

Adrian suddenly felt the space twist and mist rise from under him. When he regained his vision, Adrian is now in front of the Dark God Dagon with Altum on his side. The presence of the Dark God Altum is the same as a greater god due to Adrian feeling the pressure. He looked closely and saw that the Dark God Dagon is somewhat injured, but he was recovering.

"I can already see what happened and why the barrier is happening. Do you need any help from us?" Adrian asked as he has yet to complete the holy relic mission that he was given, and the Dark God Dagon might be sealed once again.

"I am fine, champion... no...I think it should now be Mediator Equinox. I have been in the main world ever since I have been revived. I am much stronger than a greater god that descends. They may attack me in a group, but they can never seal me since I already transformed part of this place as my divine domain." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"Sorry about that. The number of things that I needed to do has increased and looking for the things needed made it more difficult. I did get good news from Altum that he managed to get an item that represents the role of a father. The only thing that is needed is an item that represents the deep." Adrian stated.

Adrian learned from Altum that he was able to secure the item that represented the father by getting a piece of the Father of Fresh Waters Oceanus. The item was given when Altum and Kabrakan helped the whale kingdom. It was actually considered a heritage item, but it was given to them when Kabrakan pleaded for it after helping save the whale princess from death.

"Do not worry about it, mediator. I know that you are a very busy person as you always made sure to support my champion. Giving my faith and trust to you is a something that I gave willingly for I believe in you. For the last item, I believe that you will be able to get it when you kill the Leviathan. The Leviathan is a primordial beast that often became known as the Terror of the Deep. Its heart will prove to be something that can be used for my holy relic." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"If that is the case, then I would like to ask for your help." Adrian stated.

"My help?" The Dark God Dagon stated as he looked at Altum.

"The guild master... I mean Mediator Equinox needs our aid to give a way for land dwellers to move in water as if they are standing on it. If there is a way for them to move in water undeterred then that would also be beneficial." Altum stated.

"Is that the only thing that you need? It is much easier than I have thought." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"You have a way?! I would love to know as it would be incredibly helpful since we now need to kill the Leviathan." Adrian pleaded.

"You do not need to plead, Mediator Equinox. All you need is for me to accept the prayers of the land dwellers, but they must submit an offering. Favors from gods are not something that can be easily gained after all." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"Please tell us what to do as it would greatly help not only the others but also us as well." Altum stated.

"All you need to do my champion is to create a totem in my shape where the land dwellers can pray to me. I would also like to have a totem of me in the Church of the Twin Gods as well if it is not too much to ask." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"The totem near the shore is doable but the totem in the Church of the Twin Gods to represent you as a god under them would take some time. I would need to go with a vote when it comes to the addition of your totem to the Church of the Twin Gods. You would also need to give a Covenant that you will surrender to the Twin Gods." Adrian stated.

"I can do that right now. I, the God Dagon, shall give my allegiance and loyalty to the protector of this universe! I shall serve the Twin Gods with all of my being until the day I turn to nothing." The Dark God Dagon stated as the skies darkened, and a powerful divine energy swept the entire world.

[The Dark God Dagon has pledged his allegiance to the Twin Gods.]

[The Council of Life and Death will convene in an hour in order to see if they can approve of the decision.]

The Dark God Dagon seemed somewhat weakened as he used some of his divine energy as a sacrifice for his covenant. Even though he has yet to be approved by the other gods of life and death, he made sure that his resolve is certain. The first world message was given to all of the world while the second notification is only for Adrian to see. Nôv(el)B\jnn

"Please start doing the totem near the shore. The number of believers would also help the God Dagon recover some of the divine energy that he expended for the covenant. I will be busy for a moment as the Gods of Life and Death have started to cast a vote and I need to oversee." Adrian stated.

"I shall do my best, guild master!" Altum stated as he did a salute before ripping a teleportation scroll to Avalon since he has already told that a magic circle has already been set up.

"I await the favorable news, Mediator Equinox." The God Dagon stated as he saw Adrian vanish from the area.

"What is the meaning of this, Mediator Equinox!? Why is a dark god begging to be a part of our group." One of the gods of life shouted as soon as Adrian appeared in front of them.

"Sit down!" Adrian stated as he emitted a powerful pressure that had the power of the God of Death Abaddon since he was summoned as the Mediator of Death.

The rowdy group of gods of life and death suddenly became silent as they did not expect that the new mediator has such a personality. They thought that they could order Adrian around as he is someone that is newly appointed. Levin Cloud soon followed and the gods of life that became quiet started to become talkative once again.

It seems that the gods and goddesses of life have already talked a lot with Levin Cloud. Adrian could see that they were talking to him with minimum respect, but they do not treat him with utmost respect that he should be given. They were basically treating Levin Cloud like someone under them as they complained about the current situation.

Chapter 2020 Council of the Gods of Life and Death

"I will leave my right to vote and speak to the other mediator, Equinox." Levin Cloud stated as he could no longer take the relentless barrage of the gods of life.

"Thank you, Levin Cloud. Let us proceed to the urgent matter at hand since we are already wasting time just speaking. Let us proceed to voting the matter at hand. The God Dagon wants to join the ranks of the gods of life and death." Adrian stated.

Adrian already made sure to give his best friend the needed details and Levin Cloud made his situation known. It seems that the gods of life are incredibly exhausting to talk to. Levin Cloud is not really one to easily deal with beings with strong characters as he is calmer and more collected. Although, his calmness is sometimes used by others in the wrong way, and they think that he is a pushover.

"Objection! He is not a god related to life or death!" One of the gods of life stated as some of them commented as well.

"I think it is good to remind all of you that the God Dagon is the Father of the Deep Ones. He is a god that has created a legitimate species in this world hence he has the capability of a god of life. He is eligible to join the ranks and he is more useful compared to those of you that are here." Adrian stated which enraged some of the gods of life.

"What do you mean! We are more useful than a dark god!" One of the gods of life stated.

"What I meant to say is that he can actually defend the mortal realm since he has a body already tied there. Unlike all of you that has yet to choose a champion or an envoy, the God Dagon is much more useful to matters relating the mortal realm. He made sure that the area he is in is lush with life and I am sure that all of you can sense that. Am I wrong?" Adrian stated.

Adrian is a bit mad at the gods and goddesses of life because they are incredibly lazy compared to the gods of death. They rarely make any appearance or miracles happen even if a lot of people pray to them. They only take action when a being they created or fancied is in trouble which they would let Levin Cloud do the action needed. Levin Cloud could not refuse their demands since he is the mediator of life.

The gods of life thought that they could control Levin Cloud, but they did not know that he was also calculating what he needs to have them under him. Levin Cloud has accomplished some tasks given by the gods of life. The rewards for this are a pact of obedience that Levin Cloud can use when the time comes. He made sure that this is the case since they will basically fuse different worlds that needs the help of the gods of life and death.

Only a few gods of death have reached out to Adrian because they know of the consequences. The gods of death must know the laws of death in absolute which is why they are strict and disciplined even if some of them do not look like it. The gods of death know to read between the lines and even the fine line. They will not ask for Adrian's help unless they are in such a difficult situation.

"Since this is a council formed with the gods of life and death, I shall ask the gods of death on where they stand." Adrian stated before the other gods of life could say anything anymore.

"The gods of death are fully backing whatever decision the Mediator of Death needs. All of us have already agreed to this as it is the Mediator that knows more of what is happening in the mortal realm." The God of Death Hades stated as he also made sure to attend the council.

Adrian did not expect that all of the gods of death would side with him as he knows that some are afraid of him. Nether energy is an energy that even the gods of death are wary about, but they actually support Adrian fully because they have seen his exemplary work in Limbo. The gods of death favor a good work ethic more than a potential fear that might never come true.

"All of you actually bowed down to a being that is not even a god!" One of the unruly gods of life shouted which he then noticed that he was too blunt, but other unruly or lazy gods of life are in agreement.

"Well, if all of you were good at your job then the Twin Gods might have given you the positions instead of pushing it onto me. Dealing with all of you is a problem and a headache for me." Adrian stated in a blunt way that made the gods of death laugh.

The gods of death actually laughed at what Adrian said because they partly know that it is true. The gods of death may be competent in their roles, but they know that there are issues in their death realms. They do not have the capacity to become the mediator which is why the God of Death

Abaddon did not appoint any of them. The gods of death are already busy with their own troubles unlike the gods of life that have become somewhat lazy.

Not all of the gods of life have become lazy as there are ones that are diligent, but they are a minority. The number of beings being born is actually lower compared to those that are dying by the day which is why Levin Cloud called some of the gods of life lazy. Adrian is not the one that called them lazy, but it was his best friend when he asked about the status of the gods of life.

"Anyways, we must go for the vote as we are wasting time already and I am busy. I already have the half number of votes as the gods of death are in favor of my decision to add the God Dagon. What do the gods of life vote for?" Adrian stated.

"We reject!" The unruly gods of life stated.

"We accept." The diligent gods of life headed by the Goddess of Life Freyja stated.

Adrian smiled upon seeing the vote of the other gods of life as the unruly ones suddenly glared at the group that the Goddess of Life Freyja headed. The group that the Goddess Freyja leads are not only the Vanir gods as there were other gods and goddesses of life as well. There are also some gods of life that opted to not vote but Adrian did not care about them.

"We have the majority vote which means that the God Dagon will join the ranks of the Gods of Life." Adrian stated.

"We object!" The unruly gods of life shouted.

"You cannot object as the voting is already put to a close. Unlike some of you, the gods of death need to return to their duties that they do wonderfully if I may add." Adrian stated.

"A direct seat to the council is something that we will not wholeheartedly agree! If you continue to do this then we will abandon our jobs!" One of the unruly gods of life shouted.

"Is that so? You actually dare to say that in front of the mediator? Do you wish to spend some time in Tartarus because that can be arranged." Adrian stated as his nether energy suddenly peaked in the area which made all of the gods uncomfortable. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

"Maybe we can accept the God Dagon when he is fully accepted by the world. He is yet to be instated as a God of Pandemonium since he is still labeled as a dark god." The Goddess Freyja stated as she wanted to find a way out for the unruly gods of life that suddenly felt threatened.

"I can at least agree to that arrangement. Since he is already a candidate, a small totem can be arranged in the Church of the Twin Gods. Does anyone have a problem with that?" Adrian stated but no gods actually dared to rebuke him.

"Since we already have a concession, the God Dagon will join the ranks of the gods of life upon being recognized by the world. Thank you for your time." Adrian stated as he ended the council with most of the votes in his favor.

The gods of life and death left as well as they no longer want to remain in the same space as Adrian. The area where the council is held is a divine space where Adrian and Levin Cloud's authority is absolute which is why all the gods can do is speak. The fact that it only took a small amount of time is quite a shock since it usually takes days to even have majority of the gods agree.
