

O Summoner 2141

Chapter 2141: I am A Butterfly

"All of them are already dead!" Psy stated as her slight connection to all the other powerful corrupted dryads and corrupted leshy were destroyed. The only ones left were the ones that were not as strong or failed mutations and even they are getting killed.

Just as the Psy was thinking of her next steps, a blue butterfly suddenly landed on her shoulder. As soon as the blue butterfly landed on her shoulder, 3% of her mana was sapped. The blue butterfly then turned into a streak of light that entered Mariposa's body.

"Your mana is quite delicious. It might be a bit spicy because of the fact that your body is filled with miasma." Mariposa stated with a smile as she released more butterflies from her butterfly kimono.

Different colored butterflies came out of her kimono, and each had different types of abilities. The red butterflies sap the health of the opponent, but it is only fixed at 1% of the target's maximum health. The 1% value is not always absolute as the health sapped will be determined on the area and how long the butterfly was perched on the body of the target. If the red butterfly is able to perch on a good spot for at least 2 seconds, then the 1% maximum health value is guaranteed.

The next colored butterfly is the blue butterfly that saps the mana of the opponent. The blue butterflies could absorb up to 5% of the target's maximum mana if they are perched in a good spot and for a duration of 2 seconds as well. Unlike the red butterfly that only does damage, the blue butterfly can be reabsorbed by Mariposa to regenerate 1% of her maximum mana.

The next colored butterfly is the green butterfly which sap the stamina of the target. The green butterfly could stay perched on the body of the target for however long and eternally sap the stamina of the poor victim. They could sap the stamina eternally, but they are also the easiest to kill as just tapping them will kill them immediately.

Another colored butterfly is the rare white butterfly that Mariposa could not create manually. This white butterfly is just a random pop up when she summons ten butterflies. She has a 20% chance of summoning this white butterfly but the effects it does is enormous.

The white butterfly could steal stats from the opponent at a random occurrence. The white butterfly will steal one random stat point from the opponent and temporarily give it to Mariposa. This effect lasts for about ten minutes as soon as the stolen stat point is given to her. This white butterfly is what made her able to solo powerful dungeons as she could steal stat points from boss monsters as well.

The last and rarest colored butterfly that she could summon is the black butterfly. She can summon a black butterfly with a 0.1% chance for every ten different colored butterflies. The black butterfly is the most powerful of all the colored butterfly because of its powerful effects. It is even called the butterfly of death as it will deal 1% maximum health damage and mark an opponent.

The black butterfly will land on a target's body then explode dealing 1% maximum health damage while leaving a black butterfly mark. This mark is like a stacking time bomb as another effect happens when another black butterfly lands on it. When another black butterfly lands on a marked area, the target will be dealt double the damage but also have their defenses reduced by 2%.

This mark will not fade for at least a day and could be infinitely stacked. It basically means that a black butterfly that landed for at least seven times will definitely kill a target even if they are in maximum health. This is why it is branded as the butterfly of death and is even a terrifying mark in the eastern continent as it is the sigil of a famed information and assassination clan.

"Did you think that your little bugs will be able to defeat me?!" Psy shouted as she released a powerful burst of psychic energy.

The butterflies that she hit by the psychic wave died and exploded but that was not enough to deal with the kaleidoscope that flooded her. (Author notes: A group of butterflies is called a kaleidoscope.) The numerous colored butterflies hit Psy regardless of how she attacked them. She could have released a psychic wave that acted like a barrier but that diminishes the power that it can defend.

Also, Mariposa's other soulbounds easily destroyed such barrier which makes them useless. A lot of colored butterflies attached themselves to the huge body of Psy as she fused with a Mental Elephant. Health, mana, stamina and even stats were sapped from Psy which made her go berserk. Her mental state became erratic which made her do a powerful psychic burst that destroyed all the colored butterflies that landed on her body.

After her psychic burst, Psy noticed the black butterfly patterns on her body. There were noticeably five of them in different and hard to see areas of her entire body. She tried scratching off the mark, but it did not come out as it was engraved to her even her bones. A horrified look on the corrupted dryad could be seen as she knows of an extremely rare insectoid race that can produce such marks.

"You! You're of the Black Butterfly Insectoid species." Psy stated with a horrified look as she saw the beautiful smile that Mariposa had on her face.

"I do not need to answer that because I am a butterfly regardless of color." Mariposa stated with a smile as she used up almost her entire mana to summon thousands of butterflies to swarm against Psy.

"No!" Psy screamed as her entire body was covered in different colored butterflies.

[You have killed a powerful being. You have received experience points.]

"You are quite wrong because I am not a Black Butterfly Insectoid but a Myriad Colors Butterfly Insectoid." Mariposa stated as her species is basically a myth to the Insectoid race.

Chapter 2142: Can We Talk?

"You wish to talk but I am not in the liberty of talking to you." Adrian stated as he summoned the blue, green, and red dragons to attack Eldritch.

"Losers should always listen to the winners." Eldritch stated as he casted a spell that created a barrier around him and destroyed the summoned dragons.

"Did you think that you actually won when we clashed before? I thought that you would have realized back then but it seems that you built yourself up with pride that you do not see the situation." Adrian stated which made Eldritch furrow his eyebrows as the latter thought that he did kill Adrian back then.

"Speak! I only remember you dying from my transformation." Eldritch stated.

"Oh! I did die. You are right about that, but I did not lose." Adrian stated.

"There was no karma reduction when I killed you back then." Eldritch stated.

"Ding... ding...ding! You managed to arrive at the correct answer. I revived back then which you did not know that I had such a skill since no one seen it before. When I revive, the karma deduction does not get credited to the one that killed me because I never truly died. If you managed to kill me after my first revival, then that would be another thing.

Still, I am busy Champion of the Dark Gods. I have no time to play your little games for today and no interest on hearing what you want to say. That nasty god behind you is looking at me like it wants to kill me anyway. So, goodbye!" Adrian stated as he created two portals that collided towards Eldritch.

The god behind Eldritch alarmed him of what was about to happen and made the latter use a powerful spatial disruption spell that destroyed any forms of spatial movement. This also destroyed the third portal that Adrian created that led to Neo Alfheim. This clearly made Adrian very angry as his aura no longer looks like he is joking about. He released his entire Asmodian aura that actually shocked Eldritch for a second.

"Do you not want to know how that pesky fairy managed to revive? I am here because some of the other followers of the dark gods have strayed from my control. I do not want that and the god behind me tells me that you can help me in identifying where they are. If you help me then I can help you with your black fairy problem." Eldritch stated.

"So, it was the followers of the dark gods that helped in her revival. Why should I trust you when you can also be deceiving me?" Adrian stated.

"One reason... I am not trying to kill you." Eldritch stated with his confidence that he could take on Adrian at a fight and arrive on top.

"No trying to kill me? You launched an attack at me earlier when I was trying to get away from here." Adrian stated.

"That was non-lethal and barely qualified as a spell. If I really wanted to kill you then I would have bombarded, you with spells." Eldritch stated as he believed that he is still superior compared to Adrian.

"Uhuh. I might as well hear you out as you were easily killed by Tai. You know, the oni masked player. If he could easily kill you then I am able to do that as well, so you do not scare me one bit." Adrian stated with confidence and that angered Eldritch a bit.

Eldritch has yet to repay Tai for the humiliation that he suffered against him. He did try and derail the activities that Tai did in the eastern continent. He planted some followers of the dark gods there as a way to destroy all the plans that Tai's secret group was doing. Also, the operations that Tai's group in the eastern continent also interested him as they were trying to resurrect gods.

"I can assure you that I can easily destroy you right now. Do not test my patience." Eldritch stated.

"I can also assure you that I have run out of patience. Kanlaon, give our unwanted visitor a little whack on the head." Adrian stated as Kanlaon suddenly swung his tail towards Eldritch. The power of the tail destroyed Eldritch' barrier and knocked him back by one foot. Eldritch is a bit shocked by this as his barrier was incredibly powerful but a mere soulbound was able to destroy it with a tail swing. He did not want to admit it, but it seems that the player in front of him is as powerful as him.

"She was given a Tainted Heart." Eldritch stated as he was already wasting too much time, and he needed to pursue the stragglers from their group.

"What is that?" Adrian asked as he was now interested.

"It is a heart of a dark god called the Empress of Hearts. It gives continuous stream of mana or even miasma depending on what it was filled with. The Black Fairy was given that item in exchange for something that the corrupted dryad had. All you need to do is destroy that heart and you should be able to easily defeat that black fairy. A heart from the Empress of Hearts is weak to direct physical attacks" Eldritch stated as he was indeed running out of time.

"Toss it then." Adrian stated.

"Toss what?" Eldritch asked.

"Toss the thing that can help me track the ones you are following. The fact that they managed to evade means that they are good at hiding. One more thing that you are not good at." Adrian stated as he managed to strike a nerve.

Eldritch did not argue even though he knew that Adrian was taunting him. He just alluded Adrian's rambling to the fact that the latter lost in their fight. He still clearly believes that he was the ultimate winner of their showdown. Adrian believed that it was a tie or undecided as The never really wanted to fight Eldritch back then.

Eldritch tossed a glowing mana crystal that seemed to be covered in some dark and eerie flesh. Adrian immediately activated Memory of the World to see what it will show him. It showed him two cloaked individuals running off to a place hidden by a bog. These two cloaked individuals are then swallowed by the bog and disappeared.

"Here are the coordinates. Have fun." Adrian stated as he wrote the coordinates in the paper and tossed it towards Eldritch.

"I already been to this location before." Eldritch stated.

"Have you been under it?" Adrian stated as a hint before vanishing as he is already late.

"He left just like that when he already got what he wanted." Eldritch stated as he heard something akin to a static noise in the background.

"What do you mean recruit him? That guy is basically our nemesis since he is the Champion of the Twin Gods." Eldritch stated as static noise could be heard again.

"Possibility? What kind of possibility is that? That guy will never join us, and I do not like losers hanging around me. His type of people is what I hate the most." Eldritch stated as the being that was communicating with him no longer spoke.

He now held the coordinates and the real area that he needs to check. He did not think to check under the bog as he believed that it would be all dirt, but it seems there is a hidden area there. To think that the Dark God that suggested to do this strategy turned out to be correct.

"No wonder they say that demons truly grasp this world. Anyways, I should punish those traitors for taking something that should be mine. I should have told him that the heart does not necessarily have to be attached to the black fairy, but he was such a headache to deal with." Eldritch stated as he vanished from his location with a puff of black smoke. Eldritch was not the only one that withheld information as Adrian did not tell Eldritch that there were lots of mana eaters below the bog. He did not say anything about it as he was only asked to tell where they were hiding and not show any concern to Eldritch. He did not want to help but it seems that Eldritch' information was indeed genuine as he saw two hooded figures talking to the Corrupted Dryad Dorn.

"Based on what the fairies have told me, a Grafts cannot absorb power on its own and needs the aid of another fae. Which means that this heart that Eldritch was talking about could possible be with that corrupted elder dryad. He probably knew of this but did not say anything because I gave him attitude. Hope that you do not get what you want though." Adrian thought as he arrived at Neo Alfheim and was greeted by a powerful wave of miasma with the source being the Black Fairy Mavros.

Chapter 2143: A Cursed Land

"I am mostly back to my full power!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she appeared in a more adult form.

The Black Fairy Mavros absorbed all of the miasma that was found on the Forest Swamp Abomination. She knew that monster she created was holding back on giving her energy which is why she took all of it for herself. She inadvertently killed her own powerful creation, but she gained more power in the process.

The Black Fairy Mavros now looked like her adult form with a black dress made of flowing miasma that are like clouds of smoke. Her fairy wings that resembled dark soot as it released this black fairy dust around her. A tiara on top of her head that symbolized that she has already reached fairy royalty status.

The only thing that is not from her original form is the fact that the throne that she sat upon is now floating with her. There was a floating throne that has a cursed bell attached in the middle of the backrest. This was the cursed item hidden in the swamps where she was revived by the Corrupted Elder Dryad Dorn. This is the cursed item that helped her regain her power much faster as it would have at least taken her decades to reach her current one.

"Stop her!" The guild army alliance members shouted as they released spells and ranged attacks at the Black Fairy Mavros.

"Foolish mortals. This land is my Cursed Land!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she released a powerful wave of miasma that twisted the land itself.

The wave of miasma not only stop all the attacks that were about to reach her but also started twisting the land. The lush and beautiful green trees started to twist into unnatural forms filled with miasma. The land that was blessed by natural life energy started to stink of miasma. The area where the Black Fairy Mavros designated her territory has twisted to her own paradise.

[You are now inside of Cursed Land.]

[All beings that are unable to process miasma will gain debuffs.]

[All beings unable to handle miasma will lose 0.001% of their maximum health per second.]

[All beings unable to handle miasma will lose 0.001% of their stats per second.] [All beings unable to handle miasma will lose 0.001% of stamina per second.] [All beings that die in this cursed land will empower the ruler that handles it.]

"Such a refreshing feeling!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated as a powerful fairy spear is suddenly hurled towards her, but she easily defended herself with just a wave of her hand.

The Black Fairy Mavros absorbed more and more cursed energy from the Cursed Bell but also reduced the miasma on it. It was still enough for her to last for about two days, but she knew that she must use it sparingly until she absorbs the world tree. The spear that she defended against was none other than the Misteltein that her sister wielded against her.

"It is so nice to see you again, sister." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she looked at her weakening sister.

"You have sullied our reputation for far too long, sister. I must put an end to it or else you will be the reason why we will be hunted down." The Fairy Queen stated as she once again used her remaining powers to conjure up Misteltein.

The spear filled with powerful life energy is once again aimed at the Black Fairy Mavros. The power of the spear was more than before as the fairy queen used up all of her remaining power reserves to create it. Misteltein flew true and destroyed all the barriers that the Black Fairy Mavros can conjure. It was only when she drew more power from the Cursed Bell that she was able to fully defend herself against the spear.

"You have become pathetic, sister. Also, do not worry because the fairies will not get hunted by others because of me. I will hunt our own kind and remake our species to my own likeness. I shall be the one that transforms into a fairy goddess." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she laughed.

The Black Fairy Mavros then suddenly stopped laughing and created a copy of the Misteltein but made of pure miasma. The look of horror on the Fairy Queen could be seen as her own sister is now breaking taboos and dishonoring every fae legacy. The Black Fairy Mavros shot the Corrupted Misteltein at her sister with the full intent of killing her.

"Protect her majesty!" The Fairy Guards that accompanied the Fairy Queen casted powerful protection magic, but their barriers could be seen failing.

"Stop! All of you! You will die." The Fairy Queen stated as she could see that the fairy guards that came with her were burning their lifeforce to protect her.

"You must survive, your majesty. You are crucial in stopping her." One of the fairy guards stated as she suddenly planted a seed on the ground.

A plant eater suddenly sprouted with great struggle as the ground was filled with miasma. The plant eater ate the Fairy Queen weakly and burrowed to the ground. The fairy eater ran all the way to Neo Alheim in order to send the fairy queen back to safety. As soon as the fairy queen was safe, all the barriers that the fairy guard conjured were destroyed.

The fairy guards looked at each other and smiled as they have done their duty. All of them have already accepted what is to come. With the last barrier breaking, the corrupted Misteltein destroyed all of the fairy guards. The Black Fairy Mavros was not happy that her sister was able to escape but she at least knew where she will be headed.

"Such futile struggle. Their Grafts will be of use anyways. The loyal soldiers that kept her safe will be the ones that rip her apart at the end. Such a fitting way to end my sister." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she used her magic to try and pick up the Grafts left upon the death of the Faekin.

The Black Fairy Mavros was about to get the Grafts when a powerful wave of natural energy swept across the area and destroyed the miasma that she controlled for a brief moment. Levin Cloud immediately safeguarded the Grafts of the fallen Faekin and treated them with respect. The Black Fairy Mavros is a bit taken aback because she has never seen a Faekin like Levin Cloud before.

"A Faekin that can control both life and death energy! Who are you?! No, I do not care. I will just make you a puppet that I can control then I will take my time knowing you." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she called upon the pet that she created which is none other than the Fairy Eater that was the Corrupted Elder Dryad Dorn.

"You have done much harm to the land and are judged to be unfit to stay alive." Levin Cloud stated in his serious tone as he was no longer the calm and happy person that he always shows himself to be.

"I can smell your fresh tree bark from a mile away, young leshy. You do not scare me." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she could accurately tell that Levin Cloud was not hundreds of years old.

"I, Mediator of Life and Envoy of the Twin Gods, have judged the Black Fairy Mavros to be a sinner. Your Grafts shall be destroyed after your body is destroyed. You are forever banned to take root again." Levin Cloud stated as his words held power.

A powerful force came out of Levin Cloud's body that sent green vines towards the Black Fairy Mavros. The green vines were not deflected by the miasma barrier that the Black Fairy Mavros erected. The green vines suddenly got absorbed into the Black Fairy Mavros' body but dealt no damage to her.

"YOU! I WILL DESTROY YOU!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she realized what Levin Cloud has done to her.

[You have successfully cast the Natural Life Curse on a valid target.]

[The Natural Life Curse cannot be used again for another month.]

[Those affected by the Natural Life Curse will cease to exist once the Mediator of Life ends their life.]

A curse so powerful that it could also be imposed on gods and goddesses, but the effect will be different to true divinity. The effect on beings that could die are different based on the species, but it guarantees one thing if they are killed by the Mediator of Life. Those that are killed while the Natural Life Curse is applied to them will cease to exist even their souls gets erased which is why the Black Fairy Mavros is both angry and afraid.

"A fitting curse for a being that curses the very precious land that she threads upon." Levin Cloud stated as his eyes glowed in gold and green because it was the Mediator of Life speaking.

Chapter 2144: A Cursed Land II

The curse that Levin Cloud used on the Black Fairy Mavros is incredibly powerful. The Black Fairy Mavros could not dispel the curse that was given to her. This sudden event has damaged the ego of the Black Fairy Mavros as black fairies are said to be masters of curses to the point that they do not get affected by one.

[You have managed to curse a being that is said to be practically immune to curses.]

[You have gained +1 to all of your stats due to achieving such a feat.]

The Black Fairy Mavros was shocked at first as she was affected by a curse. The shock then evolved into disbelief as she tried to dispel the curse that affected her soul. The feelings she had eventually transformed into anger as she spewed numerous profanities towards Levin Cloud. After a few minutes of swearing, she started to laugh in despair as she accepted that she was cursed, and she could never release it on her own.

"I did not know how you did such a thing, young walking stick. It might be due to the fact that you have both natures for a Fae, but you shall remember my humiliation. I shall torture you for centuries because of what you did to me." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she called upon the miasma that she spread across the land.

The Black Fairy Mavros once again created a cursed version of Misteltein or rather at least a fake copy of it. She then released the cursed spear towards Levin Cloud as she knows that even a being like him could not fully control miasma. The power of the miasma in that spear is so potent that it could even kill a god if it strikes their very essence. She clearly heard what Levin Cloud introduced himself as earlier and she knew that using miasma is the only thing she could use to even defeat him.

Levin Cloud felt the powerful thick miasma that is headed towards him and called upon the power of the forest. He was able to summon a little bit of power as he was able to create a tree. The tree grew to about ten meters high and three meters thick to protect Levin Cloud from the cursed spear. If he had been surrounded by natural life energy instead of miasma then he might have been able to create a dense group of trees.

The tree that he created was immediately cut down by the cursed spear but that was enough to buy him time to untangle into vines. He was able to avoid the attack itself, but he would have lost his head if he was a step too late. Levin Cloud thought about summoning the Tree of Life and Death in order to empower his skills and everyone around him, but he felt that would be dangerous.

The Black Fairy Mavros aimed for the young world tree because that is the only thing that she can sense from the world. She is unable to sense the Tree of Life and Death as the latter was new to her and is also masking its existence. In fact, if no one knew that Avalon has the Tree of Life and Death then no one will know that it exists in this world. Levin Cloud could somehow predict that summoning the Tree of Life and Death would increase their troubles instead of alleviating them.

Seeing that her attack was unable to kill Levin Cloud, the Black Fairy Mavros released a magic spell that created twisted vines made from miasma. These vines snaked their way towards Levin Cloud and even chased him as if they were alive. Not only that, but she also called upon the Fairy Eater to capture him as this monster is the perfect way to capture a Fae.

"I need to recover some of the miasma that I used." The Black Fairy Mavros thought as she sat on the floating throne in order to absorb more of the cursed energy that the cursed bell was giving off.

As soon as the Black Fairy Mavros sat on the throne, she was once again bombarded by powerful spells. These spells were from five different mage groups as they were commanded by Peridot to release them simultaneously. These five different elemental group spells would have cancelled each other out when they reached the Black Fairy Mavros which is why she did not bother using five different barriers.

Just as the Black Fairy Mavros let her guard down for a bit because of her arrogance, Peridot suddenly appeared in front of her. Peridot was in the form of mist and hid her presence in the frost elemental spell as mist to make sure to fool even a black fairy. The sudden appearance of Peridot alarmed the Black Fairy Mavros, but she was already too late.

With just a span of a few seconds, Peridot combined all five different elemental spells released by the mage groups and even added one more elemental spell missing to make it six. A magic circle made of chaotic energy locked onto the Black Fairy Mavros and she could not evade. The Black Fairy Mavros hurriedly raised as much barriers as she could in anticipation of what is about to happen as she saw Peridot revert to her draconic form.

"Elemental Catastrophe!" Peridot stated as she easily combined all the elemental spells with the use of her dragon tongue.

A powerful explosion that created a power vacuum hit the Black Fairy Mavros. The barriers that she hurried raised were all shattered as she got flung away with her floating throne. When the smoke finally settled, the Black Fairy Mavros could be seen still floating with the throne, but her arm and half of her wings destroyed. The sudden attack blew away 20% of her entire health and also destroyed a large part of her physical form.

"ARGH! My beautiful self!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she suddenly screamed in agony and anger.

The Black Fairy Mavros lost her mind for a second as the circumstances of her revival could be said to be unstable. She no longer cared about the amount of cursed energy she could pull from the cursed bell as she used most of it to restore her physical form. Upon doing so, the throne that she sat on could be seen to flicker in and out of existence as if it was losing power.

The Black Fairy Mavros looked at Peridot with red eyes as she cursed her with all the hexes that she could use in such a small amount of time. Peridot could be seen to be afflicted by these curses that she herself could not dispel. She even used a gem with holy attributes but the curses a black fairy could use is not normal.

"High Purification!" The voice of Levin Cloud that was deep and ominous was heard as a powerful holy light enveloped Peridot and dispelled all of the curses that was used on her. She even became immune to curses for ten minutes due to the potency of the holy spell that Levin Cloud used.

The Black Fairy Mavros looked at the source of the purification spell and it was none other than Levin Cloud that has already changed to his true form. Levin Cloud plunged his hand into the ground and also forcefully tried to purify the miasma, but he could not cleanse all of it. He was able to make trees around him as a side effect of his purification magic.

There was still miasma seeping from the ground but the trees that Levin Cloud created were able to weaken its effects. The effects of the cursed land were halved which made it tolerable for those that could not easily step foot on it. The players that were nauseous due to the effects of the cursed land could finally easily step on top of it. The other players could not engage the Black Fairy Mavros in melee combat earlier because of the effects of the miasma. "Finally, I can show what I can do." Siegfried stated as he stood next to Levin Cloud.

"It was really so annoying earlier when I would feel weak just standing there." Ain added.

"At least, my bugs could now withstand the miasma. We really have to thank Levin Cloud for that." Mariposa stated as she also appeared among them.

"How about some of us deal with that annoying vine monster?" Solstice stated as she pointed at the Fairy Eater that is currently circling about and trying to capture Levin Cloud.

"I shall deal with that thing as it seems to be weak to my attacks." Aisha stated.

"You might have weakened the miasma that I spread out but do not think that I cannot increase it. I am the Ruler of this Cursed Land!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she used more of her power to try and increase the miasma.

"I see. So that is how you do that! Cursed World!" A voice that is familiar to the Pantheon guild could be heard as another powerful but not harmful miasma clashed against the miasma of the Black Fairy Mavros.

Chapter 2145: Cursed Land Versus Cursed World

Hexy arrived or rather came in just as the Black Fairy Mavros was about to empower her own cursed land. Another cursed type of energy covered the land, but this one was different compared to the one that the Black Fairy Mavros is using. The cursed energy released from Cursed World is different as it did not damage or debuff the allies that the guild allied army had. It also counteracted the Cursed Land that the Black Fairy Mavros is currently using.

"So, you have revived, my dear niece." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she knew that her niece' revival should be close to her own revival as well because of the curse that she placed.

The Black Fairy Mavros did not think that the niece that she killed back then would be able to counter her, but it seems that Hexy was putting up a fight. Hexy is also pulling from the cursed energy from some of the items in the fairy vault that she picked up. Still, the cursed items that she could use is not as powerful as the Black Fairy Mavros since she has just basically started to train herself.

[Cursed World has been setup by an ally for a duration of one hour.]

[All effects of the Cursed Land will be null as long as Cursed World is in effect.]

The Cursed World that Hexy setup changed the skies to that of night while the moon that rose had a ghoulish look. The Cursed World was still able to nullify the effects of the Cursed land that the Black Fairy Mavros used. This made it possible for the players in their guild that has low resistances to cursed energy. The players that were not focused or could barely fight properly are suddenly returned back to normal. The progression of defeating the remaining Foliage Soldiers shot up as the players could now fight without any worries.

"You may have returned, niece, but you will never defeat me! Cursed Phantasmagoria!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she created clones of herself that have different looks.

Some of the clones looked like they were skeletons, some looked like ghouls, and others looked like ghosts. All of these clones were made of pure miasma that is incredibly dangerous to anyone that touched them. Each of these clones also carried black daggers that symbolized death as they are basically beings created to kill the Black Fairy Mavros' enemies. All of the clones charged towards the players and any player that directly clashed with them turned to dust.

"Do not get touched or passed through by those things unless you want to be cursed and turned to dust!" Hexy stated as she immediately activated her Black Fairy form and transformed.

Hexy created a powerful barrier made of miasma to envelop those that she could protect as even powerful players will get cursed just by a simple touch. A lot of the guild alliance players ran towards Hexy's barrier as they knew that is the only place safe from the roaming phantoms. All of the players scrambled to be inside of the barrier that Hexy maintained as the Black Fairy Mavros is no longer holding back and using up all the cursed energy that she could siphon out of the cursed bell.

One player that is particularly in a robe did not look like he was running away though. He is actually quite curious about the phantoms that were running around cursing players and turning them to dust. The players themselves are still alive but their bodies were turned into particles that could not reconstruct themselves unless the curse is purified. Levin Cloud could be seen chanting something as he is creating a magic circle that could cover the entire battlefield.

"Turn to dust! Worthless lower beings!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she laughed seeing that one of the idiots were not running away from her phantoms.

Seeing a lonesome robed individual walking slowly towards her made her feel like she was not being treated seriously. She sent five phantoms towards this hooded individual to make sure that he turns to dust. She could clearly see that this hooded individual is a human and did not even reek of any cursed energy. One could even say that he is full of life energy as he is practically brimming with it.

"Give me his life force, phantoms!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as the phantoms also steal the life force of the beings they cursed.

"Run away!" The players that were near the hooded individual stated but it seems that their warnings could not be heard. It did not take long for the five phantoms to clash with the hooded individual and turn that being into dust. The players could only lament that they were not heard by their comrade even though it looks like he was having some difficulty. They did not know if he was affected by a status ailment or something which is why he was not moving away.

"Finally! Life force! That man must have been a Fae or blessed by one. The life force that he gave me was so delicious!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated but then she suddenly screamed as the life force that she absorbed suddenly burned her skin.

"What is happening!?" The Black Fairy Mavros thought as she never heard of life force that could burn away miasma. She had to expel the life force that she absorbed and glared at the ashes that was the hooded individual. If she had another chance to kill that man, then she would have done so because she was humiliated.

Just as the Black Fairy Mavros thought that she eliminated the man that humiliated her, the ashes that the man became suddenly swirled into a miasma vortex and reformed. The hooded man was once again revived but he was no longer human but undead. The white glowing skin and red bloodshot eyes with a pale small crown floating on top of him could be seen. "Finally! I thought that life curse on me will never be released. I should thank that stupid looking fairy for that." Creepysoo stated as his battle face locked onto the Black Fairy Mavros. "Phantoms! Kill that dirty undead!" The Black Fairy Mavros pointed as she disliked or rather hated the undead because she was often compared to them since they could also use miasma like her.

Creepysoo laughed as he flipped the pages of his Necronomicon. A magic circle suddenly appeared below his feet and rose to the skies. Voodoo Marie and Mummie could be seen appearing in a silhouette as their bodies fused together. The two powerful undead are suddenly fused together to create an even more powerful undead that actually rivaled Creepysoo in undead Persona ranking.

[You have successfully created the Pharaoh of the Scorned.]

Voodoo Marie and Mummie could no longer be distinguished as their fusion were perfectly performed as if another new being was created. An undead that had the headdress of a pharaoh with golden wings behind her back. She was dressed in the most beautiful golden silk and created little mummy cats that catered to her whim.

"Pharaoh of the Scorned, protect us from the phantoms." Creepysoo commanded as the undead queen actually bowed to his commands.

With a whisk of her mummified bandaged hand, the Pharaoh of the Scorned created numerous mummified cats that hunted down the phantoms. Each of the mummified cats became as large as lions and fiercely captured the phantoms made of pure miasma. The mummified cats did not even disintegrate as they easily caught the phantoms.

The Pharaoh of the Scorned then casted a spell that summoned canopic jars and sealed each of the phantoms that were captured. In the end, all of the phantoms that turned people into dust by cursing them were trapped in the canopic jars. The Pharaoh of the Scorned then created a magic circle that transported these canopic jars to the land of the dead.

"Who are you!?" The Black Fairy Mavros asked sarcastically as she could easily determine who Creepysoo was because she knows of his race since there are only a handful of undead like him.

"Prince of the Undead, ugly fly." Creepysoo stated as he commanded the Pharaoh of the Scorned to attack the Black Fairy Mavros.

"Do you think that your pathetic tricks can stop me?!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she blasted the Pharaoh of the Scorned with a powerful wave of miasma.

The two undead that fused together to create the Pharaoh of the Scorned suddenly split apart which also made Creepysoo take damage. He was the crux of the spell that fused his two undead knights together. If they were suddenly damaged to the point of splitting apart then he will also share some of that damage. The Black Fairy Mavros thought that Creepysoo did something interesting as no undead royalty has fused two powerful undead together like that. Usually, lower undead are fused together to form a more powerful one.

Chapter 2146: The Black Fairy Mavros

Creepysoo showed up with a Life Curse cast on him to see if an undead like him could regain a fresh body. He willingly accepted this experiment as it was a way for him to blend in human society. He even got a skill from it called Living Embodiment which turned him human via a curse. It hampers all of his abilities, but it also protects him from external harm.

Any being that destroys his 'human' body would be cursed by the Life Curse that he learned. He was unable to cancel the effects once he activates it which is why he arrived with Hexy in a human flesh suit. He did not expect that the life curse would infuriate the Black Fairy Mavros, but he was thankful that he got out of it. The only problem is that the anger of the enemy is now directed at him when he is weakened due to the sudden splitting of his two undead knights.

"Land Purification!" Levin Cloud stated as he finally finished his spell, and the land was suddenly blessed with Purification. This made the Black Fairy Mavros lose her focus on Creepysoo as she felt her entire area corrupted by miasma being slowly cleansed.

The miasma that was affecting the land was lifted for a moment, but it also returned as the Black Fairy Mavros is still pouring out her miasma. Levin Cloud did not really care if he purified the land because he was aiming for another thing entirely. The players that were cursed and turned to dust were all purified. All the dusted players reverted back to their normal bodies as they looked at the Black Fairy Mavros with anger for what happened to them.

"I should not play with you lesser beings any longer. Rise again and fight for me!" The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she cleared off some of her anger because of what happened with Creepysoo.

The Black Fairy Mavros was overtaken by her anger earlier which made her almost lose. She looked at the Fairy Eater and recalled it to her side like a pet. The Fairy Eater acted as her guard dog that did not leave her side which did not seem strange. Levin Cloud thought so as well since the Black Fairy Mavros is a caster type of enemy and is weak against melee combat.

The Black Fairy Mavros then used the remaining miasma that she could siphon off of the Forest Swamp Abomination to create another wave of Foliage Soldiers. She also made them able to revive after getting hacked. The only way to defeat them was to destroy the entire body via disintegration or by fire. All the other guild alliance members needed to fight against them in order to not get defeated by an army of cursed walking tree parasites.

Just as Levin Cloud is about to tell the next command, he suddenly got a message. He was not the only one that got the message as the other guild leaders and important members of the guild army did as well. All of them looked at each other as if they got a form of understanding and charged towards the Black Fairy Mavros.

"Squirm, you little bugs." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she released a wave of miasma that was countered by Hexy.

Just as the Black Fairy Mavros is about to release another wave of miasma, a black butterfly suddenly appeared in front of her which actually made her tremble. She quickly released a burst of miasma to kill the black butterfly, but she is suddenly surrounded by deadly monster bees. She commanded the fairy eater to deal with the bees as she instantly raised her barrier since a kaleidoscope flooded her way.

The numerous butterflies blocked her vision with their dazzling colors but all of them died upon colliding with the miasma barrier. The Black Fairy Mavros was about to release a powerful curse upon the one that summoned this many butterflies when she heard the cry of her Fairy Eater. She looked at the direction of the Fairy Eater's cry and found it being surrounded by an undead, a fire spirit wielder, a large man with an axe, and a martial sage.

"My Pet!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she released a curse towards Creepysoo, Faust, Siegfried, and Ain.

"Greater Purification!" Levin Cloud stated as a burst of holy energy came from the ground and immediately cleansed the curse from the four.

"Do not look away, ugly fairy." Solstice and Lycan stated as both of them suddenly appeared next to the Black Fairy Mavros.

The Black Fairy Mavros did not even notice the presence of the two beings empowered by the darkness. She thought that she has mastery over darkness since it is often an element when casting magic with miasma. The fact that a vampire and a werewolf suddenly appeared without her quick notice meant that they were masters. The Black Fairy Mavros covered her hands in miasma as she created a circular miasma aura projection via her hands.

She then used these miasma aura projections to defend against the combined assault of Solstice and Frey. The Black Fairy Mavros was able to successfully repel both Solstice and Lycan. She was about to destroy the people attacking her Fairy Eater when sharp vines suddenly burst out from the ground to capture her. She looked at Levin Cloud and found him plunging his hands into the ground as the vines were none other than an extension of the latter's body.

"Burn in the flames of corruption! Flaming Miasma!" The Black Fairy Mavros shouted as she shot her miasma aura projectile towards the vines coming out of the ground.

When the miasma projectile collided with the vines, a powerful dark flame burned the vines until they lost their life force. The stolen life force was given back to the Black Fairy Mavros and restored some of her mana. Levin Cloud had to cut off his hand in order for the flames to not extinguish his life force any further.

The Black Fairy Mavros released a powerful miasma explosion once more towards the location of her attackers. A powerful wave of miasma directly hit the entire location of where Levin Cloud and the others are. Seeing the sign of great destruction, the Black Fairy Mavros turned towards the Fairy Eater and attempted to save her, but six floating stones suddenly circulated around her.

All of the six floating stones suddenly released magic spells of different elements as Peridot followed it up with calling upon the power of the moon. Moon rocks could be seen directly targeting the Black Fairy Mavros in small clutters as Peridot has gained increased efficiency in controlling this special spell. The Black Fairy Mavros could only create a powerful miasma barrier by absorbing more of the cursed energy from the cursed bell.

Hexy used this perfect chance as well and released a wave of miasma to try and destroy the barrier that the Black Fairy Mavros raised. The Black Fairy Mavros laughed at the attempt that Hexy did as she was not as powerful as the former. The Black Fairy Mavros could be seen to be somewhat relieved that the reincarnation of her niece was incredibly weak.

She could clearly remember back then when she was secretly called as a Has Been. When the youngest fairy princess was born and was a black fairy, she already felt her position being threatened. When this black fairy princess exhibited more talent than her when it came to using miasma, she became livid as her niece became the center of attention. Everyone started calling the youngest black fairy princess as the reincarnation of Morgana. Morgana is basically the Black Fairy Asmodian that was the most proficient and powerful when it came to cursed magic and Fae magic. The black fairy princess even showed talents for using miasma in ways that even the Black Fairy Mavros could never do. The mask that the Black Fairy Mavros created to become this upright and benevolent leader of the black fairies started to crumble.

The Black Fairy Mavros planned to wait for at least a thousand more years so that her magic would peak and mature more before taking over the fairy kingdom, but the arrival of the youngest black fairy princess altered her plans. She took a shortcut in gaining power and that is having a deal with a distorted god. In exchange for power, the distorted god was granted access to the hidden realm of the Fae.

The Black Fairy Mavros gained her power, but she did not know that there were powerful safeguards that the world tree could provide. Due to her rashness, she was defeated in battle and had to endure the humiliation of defeat. The Black Fairy Mavros remembering the memories of her own defeat suddenly snapped.

The Black Fairy Mavros suddenly absorbed the cursed energy of the cursed bell until there was only a sliver left. This sliver of cursed energy was the only thing that was making sure that it did not break. The sudden absorption of this cursed energy released a powerful wave of cursed energy that blew away all of those near her.

Chapter 2147: Cursed Bell Fairy

The Black Fairy Mavros is suddenly overshadowed by the cursed energy that the cursed bell emitted as she forcefully used up almost all of it. A silhouette of a monstrous anomaly could even be seen briefly behind her when she absorbed the cursed energy. Her body started to get overcharged with cursed energy as she transformed into another being entirely.

A loud and obnoxious bell sound suddenly reverberated in the area and all the players had to close their ears or else their heads will explode. The sound was incredibly painful to hear that they are receiving damage if they do not prevent their ears from hearing it. The Black Fairy Mavros' energy signature suddenly shifted slightly as she transformed to something more sinister.

[The Cursed Bell Fairy has descended into the battlefield.]

"Such power! What is this!? It is so compatible with my own as if it was a fairy that created that cursed item." The Black Fairy Mavros stated as she was suddenly transformed into another being entirely.

Name: Mavros Glittera

Species: Cursed Bell Fairy

Race: Fairy

Description: An evil fairy that was defeated long ago as she pursued the evil ways of using miasma. She found the Cursed Bell which housed the cursed energy of one of the fairy ancestors forgotten in time. She absorbed the cursed energy of the Cursed Bell and is now overflowing with the power of the Bell Fairy that killed the Black Fairy Morgana.

As soon as the Black Fairy Mavros transformed, another spell is released from the cursed bell as if it was some sort of warning mechanism. The spell released ten magic circles and created pathways to Alfheim. The pathways were direct portals that led to the area just outside the Fae kingdom. The pathways were not the only thing that is created as a powerful spell is also lifted from the Faekin.

A memory that was sealed from all of the Faekin once again resurfaced. It was the events of the death of the Black Fairy Morgana who is said to be the ancestors of all the fairies. All of the Fae, the fairies, leshy, and dryad, have unlocked the sealed memory of the initial downfall of the Faekin. The Black Fairy Morgana created five fairies that held special powers as protectors of their species.

Each of them was fairies that are special and also held the rare abilities that could manifest. The first fairy she created were the Glitter Fairy. This fairy excelled in the art of deception as they could use their special fairy dust to hide from even gods themselves. The current fairy king is a descendant of this special fairy.

The second special fairy is called the Mistle Fairy that could summon the might of the World Tree and turn it into a weapon. The weapon is none other than Misteltein and they represent the fierceness of the World Tree. They have been guards of the World Tree ever since and they are fiercest warriors of the fairy species. The current fairy queen is a descendant of the original

The third special fairy that the Black Fairy Morgana created is the Black Fairy which she mirrored herself. They were created by the Black Fairy Morgana to oversee the increasing miasma of the world as she was able to have a glimpse of the future. The Black Fairy Morgana saw that the future will be riddled with curses and miasma which is why she made them in her likeness as she can harness miasma to be an energy for good.

The fourth special fairy is the Psychic Fairy which has complete mastery over a special magic in the life category which is Mental Magic. This fairy is created by the Black Fairy Morgana because she also saw a future where a lot of people had their minds being broken. She believed that a fairy that could piece together the broken minds of the people would be essential in the days to come.

The fifth and last special are the Bell Fairy which also has a power that is essentially tied to another rare form of life magic. The Bell Fairy is a fairy that has complete mastery over Wave Magic which is related to sound and frequencies. They are beings that could easily manipulate sound and frequencies to their liking. The Black Fairy Morgana created them because she saw a future that is soundless.

The Black Fairy Morgana created these five special fairies to protect all of the fairies and also the future. She was so concerned over the future that she never thought that the present would kill her. She peeked into the future which struck her with the consequences. A wave of causality hit her and transformed her from the Asmodian Fairy to just a normal Black Fairy. She lost most of her powers that she had from her Asmodian bloodline and became a black fairy. She was hailed as the first queen of the fairies as she was their progenitor. Everything was supposed to be perfect as she ensures the future of her race by creating the five special fairies. She did not think that one of her own creations would betray her and kill her in cold blood.

The Bell Fairy coveted power when she was able to tap into the world's frequency as she heard the voices of the gods. It was not just the gods of Pandemonium, but she also heard the voices of the dark gods and distorted gods. The Bell Fairy did not know that this was the start of her corruption as she was noticed by the distorted gods. The distorted gods fed her with bits of their miasma until the mind of the Bell Fairy broke.

The Bell Fairy became the first puppet of the distorted gods to see Alfheim, the Kingdom of the Faekin. The distorted gods also learned that a powerful relic that could birth the Faekin is stored in Alfheim. This is a first for the Distorted Gods as they create their followers by using their own flesh and not through an item. The universe they were from operated in different realities which is why they wanted to get the Heart of the Forest.

The distorted gods wanted to get the Heart of the Forest and study it so that they can create an army of their own by playing the rules of the Pandemonium universe. They used the Bell Fairy as a pawn, and they were close into getting what they wanted. The Bell Fairy proved to be the most powerful pawn as she had complete power over sound and frequency.

The Bell Fairy was able to deliver her creator and guardian of the Heart of the Forest, the Black Fairy Morgana, at death's door. Even the other four fairies could not hope to defeat Bell Fairy as she was empowered by the distorted gods. The Bell Fairy was able to get the Heart of the Forest and was about to deliver it to the distorted gods when the Black Fairy Morgana sacrificed her life to stop her.

Since the distorted gods controlled the Bell Fairy via miasma, the Black Fairy Morgana used all of her remaining power and life force to separate the miasma that the Bell Fairy was infused with. Unfortunately, the Bell Fairy has already bonded with the miasma at a cellular level. The Black Fairy Morgana had to make a choice between the lives of the entire Faekin race or a singular fairy.

Fortunately for her, the Bell Fairy regained her entire sanity momentarily and told the Black Fairy Morgana that it was fine. Seeing that her child made a decision, the Bell Fairy killed herself using her own magic. It should have ended there but the miasma became sentient in her body and the distorted gods controlled her directly.

"You have lost, Asmodian." The dead Bell Fairy stated as voices of different distorted gods could be heard as they started to create a rift in space to deliver the Heart of the Forest to them.

"No!" The Black Fairy Morgana could only use her remaining life force to create the prison as the distorted gods were starting to taint the Heart of the Forest.

The Black Fairy Morgana fused a branch of the world tree and orichalcum together to create a powerful item that could seal and absorb the miasma that tainted the Heart of the Forest. This is how the Cursed Bell is created as it became an item that housed the Heart of the Forest and also purified the miasma that tainted it.

"We will not forget this!" The voices of the distorted gods stated as the body of the bell fairy was also absorbed by the Cursed Bell because it was filled with miasma.

The Black Fairy Morgana knew that the distorted gods would remember which is why she casted a spell that affected all those that knew of the Heart of the Forest. She used a powerful spell that sealed the memories of any being which included even the gods. This spell was not light as she shattered her soul as a result of this powerful spell that defied even divinity.

In the end, the Black Fairy Morgana erased all records of the Cursed Bell and the Heart of the Forest. She even sent the Cursed Bell in one of the cursed regions of Alfheim in order to strengthen its ability to absorb miasma. The Heart of the Forest was incredibly tainted by miasma, and it would take thousands of years for it to be purified. She died with a smile as she knew that she did everything to defend the Faekin that she loved so much.

Chapter 2148: Cursed Bell Fairy II

[The sealed memory of the Black Fairy Queen Morgana has been lifted.]

[All of the Faekin have received their forgotten memories.]

The sudden freezing of the fairies in battle was due to them suddenly getting back their memories. This also means that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros have unlocked this memory as well because it is a hidden memory in all of the fairies. This memory is not affected by their revival as it is basically a curse embedded in their souls.

The memory of the Cursed Bell housing the most important item for all the Faekin is also received by the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros was about to reach out to the cursed bell when she suddenly froze. In fact, it was not just the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros that froze but the world itself as well. Adrian appeared via a crack in the dimension which was created by Kenos.

Adrian was already there earlier, and he also stopped time when he arrived. He knew that the enemy would definitely target him and become more cautious if he immediately showed himself which is why he opted for a more subtle approach. He messaged all of the guild leaders and important guild personnel of what they needed to do.

He told them that they should force the Black Fairy Mavros to absorb all of the cursed energy that the Cursed Bell had. Adrian could easily determine that the Heart of the Forest is not being released from the seal of the Cursed Bell because it has weakened a bit. The Heart of the Forest might have been purified by now via the Cursed Bell, but its purifier also became its -container.

The Cursed Bell outgrew the power of the Heart of the Forest and became its vault. Adrian and the other might be able to destroy the Cursed Bell but he also knew that there might be some repercussions of doing so. Levin Cloud told him about the Cursed Bell as it might be container holding the Heart of the Forest while Adrian told the others that the Fairy Beast might hold the weakness of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros is still worrying about the Fairy Beast despite transforming into a more powerful version of herself. She became erratic and unfocused when the Fairy Beast was isolated and attacked by the others. This solidified Adrian's theory of the 'heart' that Eldritch spoke of being inside of the Fairy Beast.

"After all, she already tried to escape via that method, and it worked. Why will she not do the same as before?" Adrian thought as he bided time.

Adrian's patience finally came to fruition as the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros indeed absorbed almost everything that the Cursed Bell had. He did not expect the Black Fairy Mavros to turn into the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros, but the artifact is still purified. If Levin Cloud or Hexy were the ones that purified it, then they might have also suffered the same curse that is affecting the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros.

With time completely frozen, Adrian grabbed the Cursed Bell and hid it inside the dimension that he was hiding in. When he touched the Cursed Bell, he could feel the negative energy present in it, but it was not as dangerous as before. In fact, Adrian tried to steal the Cursed Bell earlier, but the wall of miasma prevented him from handling it. Since it is still considered as a live item, he cannot insert it into his inventory.

He could only devise a plan to weaken the miasma covering the cursed bell until he could steal it himself. He could even see the devious face of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros looking at the cursed bell in greed. She learned that the Heart of the Forest is inside of the Cursed Bell just like the other fairies. She was attempting to absorb it in order to hold her power more permanently.

If the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros really did absorb the Heart of the Forest, she would become the most powerful fairy in existence. She would have a power on par with an Asmodian Fairy but that would also result in the extinction of Fae kind. If the Heart of the Forest is destroyed then no new fairy, leshy, or dryad could be born into this world. All of them will only revive via their Grafts and if even those are destroyed then they will cease to exist.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros thought of this evil plot to make sure that the Faekin will bow down to her. She thought that her right to rule has already arrived as she also became a more powerful existence. When time flowed once more, the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros is dumbfounded because the cursed bell that was just behind her was no more. The throne that came with the cursed bell crumbled as there was no longer any source of power to make it stable.

"No! NO! NO!!!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as the entire area is suddenly bombarded with a powerful reverberation of her voice.

Sound itself made the world vibrate as the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros lost her marbles. She was unable to control the strength of her new body and released a powerful attack that even decimated some of her foliage soldiers. Some of the players even died as a result of her power attack as she released a sonic boom in all directions. She deleted at least 10% of the players that are currently battling with her army, but she also destroyed 20% of hers.

[The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros is in a state of exhaustion for five seconds.]

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros suddenly became exhausted as she released a powerful blast of sound that used up 30% of her entire mana. Even her cursed energy reserves dropped quite a bit because she used up a lot of it as well. The players that were able to recover immediately managed to release attacks to damage the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros, but they were not decisive hits.

The only one that could be said to have dealt some damage is Silent Ghost. He was able to release a sniper shot and aimed it for the head, but it landed on the shoulder of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. The bullet that was about to hit the head of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros suddenly curved as if there was an invisible field that protected her head from long ranged attacks. This might be due to the power of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros to influence frequency, but she must have done it unconsciously or else she would have made the bullet miss.

With just one second left, a kunoichi suddenly came out of the shadow of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. Awraka came up from behind her and plunged her clawed finger on the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros' back. A sharp stinging sensation could be felt by the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros as a different kind of pain is felt. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros opened her eyes wide and knew what the weapon that pierced her is made of.

"True Iron!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as she released a powerful sound wave via a shout as she aimed to kill Awraka.

Awraka could not evade the attack immediately which is why she used the Shadow Substitution skill. She will pay 10% of her health to shift to one of her shadow markers. She left behind a shadow copy of herself that was disintegrated into nothingness. If the shout did hit Awraka then she would have died immediately.

"To think that they were still alive and kept the tradition. Who is your mentor, fairy hunter?!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros stated towards Awraka with a glare, but the latter was not a fairy hunter.

Awraka did not even bother to answer as she was given a new set of instructions. She immediately ran towards the area where the Fairy Eater was. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros panicked as she could feel the one, she called Fairy Hunter trying to kill her lifeline. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros knew that she would not make it in time if she were to fly as a bullet grazed her cheek.

"Insolent! If I cannot kill all of you by myself then I shall make sure that my pet will!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros stated as she suddenly pierced her own heart and took it out of her body.

The image of a beating black heart could be seen as the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros chanted some sort of ominous spell. The Fairy Eater that looked like a monster plant cactus suddenly started to grow two additional heads and became covered in numerous mouths. Each of the mouths that it grew could release powerful sound waves in a condensed manner.

Chapter 2149: Arrival of the Fairy King

"You will kill no one, Mavros." The Fairy King stated as he appeared with the army from the Fairy Kingdom along with some dryads and leshys.

"To think that you were still alive. What are you going to do? Blast me with that pathetic sparkle of yours?" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros stated.

"Let me show you what my sparkle can do. I have been waiting for this moment ever since you betrayed us." The Fairy King stated as he released his wings.

The Fairy King's wings could be said to be as majestic and large as it could be. It is said that male fairy wings are larger and more beautiful because they often use it as a way to attract female fairies.

The Fairy King is no exception, and he is actually voted as the most beautiful among the fairies even though he wants his wife to win that title.

The Fairy king's large wings suddenly exploded in fairy dust and became bigger because of it. The wings that were already two meters in length each suddenly became five meters. The wings of the Fairy King extended because of the fairy dust that he has produced. You could even see his wings shine in the colors of the rainbow as it refracted all kinds of light.

"I am blinded! Hahaha! Do you want me to say that?" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros stated as she mocked the Fairy King but that was not the last action that the latter did.

The Fairy King released an abnormal amount of fairy dust that the entire battlefield was shimmering in it. The Fairy King's fairy dust buffed all of his allies with movement speed bonus of up to 30% while he debilitated the speed of his enemies by 20%. This was not the end because the fairy dust that is scattered and looked harmless suddenly started to gather in large quantities.

The fairy dust did not gather because of the wind or coincidence but rather the control of the Fairy King. A wave of fairy dust that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros mocked to be just glittery sand suddenly gathered in mass. The large quantity of fairy dust was actually so huge that the Fairy King created an entire ocean amount of it. Some can even be seen still scattered in the ground as the Fairy King has no use for it now.

"Let us see if I cannot kill you, you old hag!" The Fairy King stated as he controlled the large masses of fairy dust and turned it into a large fairy dust tidal wave that slammed towards the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros screamed loudly to create a powerful burst of sound that formed a barrier around her, but the transformed fairy eater is not like her. The mutated fairy eater tried to do the same thing that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros did, but it was swallowed up by the fairy dust tidal wave. The mutated fairy eater wailed as its numerous mouths now became a problem as fairy dust filled its body as soon as it got buried in it.

"Sonic Curse!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as she released a curse below her that created a powerful burst of noise that destroyed the energy that made the Fairy King control the fairy dust. The sound wave destroyed the mana temporarily and made the mutated fairy eater be able to move as it no longer is getting crushed by the fairy dust.

"You should never look away from me as I am not as weak as before." The Fairy King stated coldly as his serious and killing aura was so frigid that his beautiful appearance could no longer be seen.

The Fairy King created numerous fairy dust needles and launched it towards the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros wanted to save the mutated fairy eater, but she needed to defend herself. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros used more of her own cursed energy to create a sturdy barrier that altered sound and frequency. The fairy dust needles that hit the barrier would veer off course and would get redirected back at the Fairy King.

The sudden misdirection of the fairy dust needles would have dealt damage to the Fairy King, but he did not lose control over them. All the misdirected fairy dust needles were launched at the mutated fairy beast instead. The scream of pain from multiple voices could be heard from the mutated fair beast as it turned into a pin cushion as it bled from the fairy dust needles that hit it. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros could be seen worrying at the sight of the mutated fairy beast getting hurt.

"Universal Threat." Adrian stated with a clear voice as he suddenly appeared behind the mutated fairy beast.

With a clean swipe of his scythe, Adrian was able to decapitate one of the heads of the mutated fairy beast. A burst of blood could be seen from the decapitated head, but it soon healed. Still, Adrian was able to get a glimpse of the thing that he needed to verify as he saw a black beating heart inside of the mutated fairy eater for a sliver of a second before the blood came shooting through.

"I was able to see it." Adrian stated as he vanished from the battlefield once again.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros released a concentrated wave of sound towards the location that Adrian was in previously, but he was already gone. The moment Adrian decapitated the head and confirmed what he needed to know; he was already pulled back in the pocket dimension created by Kenos. He also combined his Time Stop with this even if it strained his man because he wanted to remain elusive.

"Argh! Where are you, sneaky demon?!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as the Fairy King launched another round of fairy dust needles towards her.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros and Fairy King might be at a stalemate but that only proved to be in the favor of the guild army alliance. They were able to clear out the remaining Foliage Soldiers that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros has created. With each foliage soldier being killed, the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros will use a small amount of cursed energy to revive them. This made the large, cursed energy reserves of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros decrease by a small amount at a time.

The decrease might be small but having this be multiplied by the immense amount of them will result in a large decrease over time. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros could no longer sustain the foliage soldiers as her cursed energy is dwindling and she needs it to deal with the Fairy King and her annoying daughter. Hexy would protect the Fairy King from the powerful curses that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros affected him with. This ensured that the Fairy King will not become weaker over time as curses are immediately repelled at the moment they latch onto his body.

The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros could see that the mutated fairy eater became the target of annoying beings as well. Solstice led the other vanguards to destroy the mutated fairy eater at the behest of Adrian. They were told that they need to destroy that monster in order to truly defeat the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. They also proved that the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros is needlessly worried over it which is different behavior from her usual self.

"Escape from this area!" The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros commanded the mutated fairy eater as she can only revive if that monster is also alive.

The mutated fairy eater that is already decreased to half its health obeyed the command of its master. It suddenly turned into vines as it buried itself into the ground and tried to escape. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros saw this and smiled as the mutated fairy eater escaping meant that she could go all out. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros could see that the Fairy King cannot keep up with the control over the large amounts of fairy dust.

"Even if you did grow stronger, I am still superior." The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros thought but the mutated fairy eater suddenly released a distress call via telepathy.

The vines that were supposed to bury into the ground suddenly stopped halfway. To be more precise, the vines were stopped in time as Adrian had to finally show up. He did think that there was a chance that the mutated fairy eater might escape but he thought that it must not get far away from the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros as she always kept it close. "Never thought that I was actually wrong about it. But... I cannot be correct in everything. Reverse!" Adrian stated as he turned back the time of a living being which such ease that all that saw it were shocked and afraid at the same time.

Chapter 2150: Distorted Heart

Adrian suddenly appeared and reversed the time of a living being. They have seen him do this before, but he only did it to himself. He has never been seen reversing the time of a living entity or enemy. They only saw him stopping the time of an enemy but never reversing its flow. A lot of shocked faces could be seen as they thought that this should not be allowed as its overpowered.

"There we go." Adrian stated as he managed to return the fairy eater back to its last position where its body did not turn into vines.

The Fairy Eater wanted to thrash about but a powerful force was keeping it from moving. The power of time is different compared to psychokinesis as the fabric of time itself is pressing down on you. Adrian also made sure to manipulate the space around the fairy eater to ensure that it will never get released. His mana is dropping significantly though as this feat is incredibly taxing due to the specific nature of it.

"Now, sister." Adrian stated as Solstice suddenly released numerous blood swords at the fairy eater.

About twenty blood swords pierced the fairy eater as it screamed in pain. The Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros tried to stop Adrian and the other, but the Fairy King suddenly swallowed her up with a wave of fairy dust. The fairy king knew that Adrian was doing something to the fairy eater because it might be essential to the defeat of the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros. Seeing her strong reaction, the fairy king decided to do one last power play to try and defeat the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros.

The fairy dust wave crashed towards the Cursed Bell Fairy Mavros endlessly as she was protecting herself from the effects of it. She tried redirecting the fairy dust wave but all of it is being heavily controlled by the fairy king himself. She did not expect that a Glitter Fairy would actually have this kind of power as she knew they were only good at using illusions with their fairy dust.

"Get slashed for me, cutie." Solstice stated as she created blood clones of herself that held each sword.

Each of the blood clones sliced at the fairy eater and destroyed its body. The fairy eater was still alive, but its body is now sliced into different pieces. A strange beating heart could be seen fall down that the sliced parts tried to protect. The numerous sliced mouths of the fairy eater screamed and roared at all the players in an attempt to scare them, but it was useless. The hand of an undead that rose from the ground grasped at the heart.

"Thanks for the retrieval." Adrian stated as Charon was the one that grabbed the Distorted Heart. An item that came from a Distorted Goddess Called the Goddess of Hearts.

"Target for her wrath. This is not new to me though." Adrian stated as he proceeded to use nether energy to purge the beating black heart that he was handed.

"No!" The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as she exploded with anger once more and all of the fairy dust that tried to crush her were scattered or rendered useless.

The fairy king held out as long as he could, but the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros overpowered her. The fact that she could still defend herself and render the attacks of the Fairy King useless is already a testament to her sudden surge of power. She even used her powerful curse to disperse the mana that the fairy king used on the fairy dust. Now the fairy dust scattered about is just sparkly dust flying about and is no longer lethal.

"Demon!" The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as she looked at Adrian with rage.

All the sliced part of the Fairy Eater slipped into the ground and reformed as it was not yet killed. It might have been sliced to numerous pieces but its vitality and will to live is incredibly strong. The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros made her wings vibrate at an incredibly speed and released powerful sonic booms that made the battlefield turn into chaos. Adrian sensed danger coming at him, but he did not know where. The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros suddenly created smaller copies of herself and released them around her. Most of these smaller copies were gathered near Adrian as they released a powerful shout that blasted him away. The small copies of the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros also had the ability to teleport which made them difficult to destroy.

"You shall die, demon!" The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros stated as she was about to release a more concentrated sonic boom towards Adrian.

"No, you do not!" Hexy stated as she gathered miasma and created a flying creature that resembled a bat.

Hexy sent this miasma bat towards the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros, and it head towards her at breakneck speed. The sudden explosion of the miasma bat caught the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros off guard as the curse that she was about to release is dismantled. Adrian managed to recover thanks to Hexy but he is still being plagued by the smaller copies of the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros.

"It seems that you want to die first, niece." The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros stated as her bloodlust is now directed at Hexy.

Thick miasma exploded from the body of the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros. It seems that he was now incredibly determined to wipe away all of the enemies that she has. Since the hidden way of escape for her is now blocked, the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros called upon the sliced fairy eater to her side. Seeing that she could no longer use it as the sliced parts were having difficulty sticking back.

The blood blade that Solstice used contains a special type of blood poison as well. This hindered the regeneration of anything that she cuts, and it also works particularly well with plants. The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros had no choice but to use what she has now. The numerous sliced parts of the fairy eater had mouths on their skin which now bode well for the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros.

"Even sliced up, you are useful to me." The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros stated as she used her own curse magic to forcefully split apart the fairy eater.

The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros split up the already sliced body of the fairy eater into more useful pieces for her. The numerous mouths of the fairy eater became like speakers for the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros as she used them as conduits for her specialty magic. All of the mouths floated around her which mad it eerily creepy as the fairy eater was still alive, but it was mutilated to an extent.

"Taste my wrath! Cursed Opera: Lament!" The Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros shouted as all of the mouths that she now controls also relayed what she spoke in real time.

As soon as the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros shouted the spell name, she suddenly started singing. The singing was not even fantastic as it carried with it the anger and despair that the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros felt. All of the players that though that they would be safe since miasma is no longer intolerable suddenly used their hands to close their ears because they were getting damaged just by hearing the song of the Corrupted Bell Fairy Mavros.

"Make it stop! It is ruining my ears, and I am already undead." Creepysoo stated as the Cursed Opera spell seems to be more effective against him.
