

O Summoner 921

Chapter 921

"Do not get mad yet. You must feel the wrath of the four elements." Peridot stated as her four gems revolved around Nuno and created a triangular prism of light.

"Elemental Cataclysm!" Peridot stated as she sacrificed a legendary tier gemstone to cancel the mana cost of the spell.

The four gems created four magic circles that connected with each other to become a greater magic circle. Each magic circle created an epic tier spell that combined with each other to create a legendary tier spell. The wind magic circle created a tornado that expelled wind blades.

The fire magic circle created a burning inferno on the ground that combined with the earth magic circle's rock spikes. The water magic circle created ice shards that combined with the wind tornado. A combination of opposing elements should have destroyed the magics, but the spell is controlled perfectly.

Due to the great control Peridot exerted for the elements, she managed to balance each element to the extremes. With great control over these elements, even a corrupted god fragment will not be able to defend against it. Nuno could be heard screaming in immense pain once again as the four elements ravaged its body.

While the Elemental Cataclysm spell dealt great damage against the boss monster and catching its attention, Lupa and Hangin are charging their greatest attacks. Hangin danced in the wind and created ten wind tornadoes with water droplets inside of them that act like piercing bullets. Lupa rode the mechanical carabao and started to charge towards the boss monster.

"Wrath of Anitun Tabu!" Hangin shouted as she directed the ten tornadoes to lock in the boss monster.

"Wrath of Dumangan!" Lupa shouted as well as he and the mechanical carabao turned into a large lump of brown energy that shot towards the boss monster.

The Elemental Cataclysm spell ended, and Nuno thought that he could breathe somewhat but ten tornadoes suddenly came crashing down on its body. The ten tornadoes ravaged the path and destroyed the already dying forest. The power of these tornadoes made the ground to split as well.

When the ten tornadoes dispersed, a huge physical force slammed on Nuno's back that sent its whole body down. As soon as Nuno's body came crashing down on the ground, shards of green light came down from the sky and pierced the boss monster's body.

The team continued to attack the boss monster to stop it from getting back up. The battle continued with great synergy as all of them started to get the timing to help each other against the boss monster. Their well-timed attacks and spells made their survivability drastically increase. With Levin Cloud joining the attacking team, they managed to decrease the health of Nuno to 15%.

"Supreme Spiritual Sword: Bathala!" Apolaki stated as his kris that returned to his hands fused with his kampilan once more.

A five-meter-long sword with ancient writings appeared on Apolaki's hands. The Supreme Spiritual Sword: Bathala is too heavy for Apolaki to carry with one hand which is why he used all of his body strength. Just as Nuno is about to get up from being pinned down, Apolaki jumped high into the ground and slashed vertically with the Supreme Spiritual Sword: Bathala.

The giant body that Nuno possessed is cleanly chopped in half by the mystical sword. Nuno could not even release a pained scream as its body is cut in half. The body that is cut in half suddenly turned into a pool of unidentified liquid. The team is about to celebrate their victory when Levin Cloud pointed out something important.

"Do not celebrate just yet. There is no notification that we have killed the dark god fragment." Levin Cloud shouted as the liquid that was formerly Nuno's body suddenly attached itself to Apolaki.

NPC Name: Nuno (Possessing Player Apolaki)

Tier: Mythical

Level: 280

Health: 10%

Mana: 40%

Bufs: Devoured Earth God Spirit Fragment, Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow (Deformed)

[Your party member, Apolaki, has been possessed by the Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow (Deformed).]

[Any individual that comes close to Apolaki will be possessed instead. The same will apply to the individual that gets possessed after Apolaki.]

[The Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow (Deformed) will be killed if player Apolaki also dies.]

[If the player, Apolaki, dies while being possessed by the Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow (Deformed) then he will lose 10 levels.]

[All abilities that the possessed individual can be used by the Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow (Deformed).]

"Apolaki!" Lupa and Hangin shouted as they lost their connection with their patron gods.

The two champions lost their connection and even lost their spirit armor. They are also extremely tired after using their greatest skills that their patron gods bestowed. Only Kabrakan, Levin Cloud and Peridot could move as they have yet to get tired.

Since Kabrakan cannot get close to the possessed Apolaki closely, he commanded his Wilde Soul to attack instead. The only problem with that is the instant defeat of the Wilde Soul caused great backlash on Kabrakan. The sword that Apolaki used dealt great damage to spiritual entities and that includes the Wilde Soul.

Kabrakan returned to his normal form and immediately spat out blood. He needed to quickly recall his Wilde Soul and it created great backlash since it is also part of his own soul. Peridot tried attacking with magic as well, but the sword cut through the magic like paper. As she is about to use an even more powerful spell, the possessed Apolaki suddenly threw a spiritual sword that he conjured out of nowhere towards her.

The spiritual sword pierced Peridot's heart that dispelled all the magic that she is conjuring. It also sent her crashing down from the sky as it was a sudden critical hit. Sudden critical hits stun the damaged individual by three seconds and stops their mana flow.

Levin Cloud saw this and knew that he must attempt to release Apolaki from the possession. They do not want to kill him because he will lose a lot of levels if he dies. The other champions also told them to not kill Apolaki despite the former mouthing to kill him.

Levin Cloud summoned hundred green light fragments and sent it towards Apolaki. Unlike what Levin Cloud thought, Apolaki grinned madly and tanked the whole attack which greatly reduced his health at a rapid pace as a result.

"Hahaha! Hit me with all you got! I will not go alone in the afterlife as I will take this one with me." The possessed Apolaki madly shouted while laughing.

Levin Cloud suddenly stopped his attacks as he knew that he would kill Apolaki at this rate. The dark god's shadow knew their weaknesses and that has been present since the beginning of the war. The Parasitic Mushroom Dark God has used this method to evade capture of the heroes in the olden times.

It knew that individuals that have empathetic hearts will not be able to handle killing their own. There might have been some that gladly sacrificed their companions but that is not usually the case. The Parasitic Mushroom Dark God's Shadow will use Apolaki to escape this seal as it no longer felt the oppression of the seal when it possessed its current host.

"You are no longer Nuno." Levin Cloud stated as he could see the screaming soul of Nuno from the aura emitted by Apolaki. Numerous souls could be seen screaming from behind Apolaki and even his own soul is in that list.

"Kekeke! You are correct. A fragment of a god might have a delicious soul, but it does not have a complete physical body. With the body of this champion, I will be able to become more powerful and get back to my peak condition." The possessed Apolaki stated as his voice is starting to get distorted as a second voice could be heard after every word he speaks.

Levin Cloud did not unsummon the fragments of green light but let it just circle around the possessed Apolaki. This is also one of the reasons why the possessed Apolaki cannot escape from the barrier. Levin Cloud deliberately surrounded the possessed Apolaki so that he will not run off and as he thought of a way to help his team member.

"If you do not let me escape then this poor soul will die along with me. I will be sure to drag his soul to the gates of the underworld." The possessed Apolaki stated but Levin Cloud did not seem concerned.

Due to Levin Cloud's silence, the possessed Apolaki tried just how far the mortals in front of him will go. The possessed Apolaki went near a fragment of green light and pressed his neck against it until the would start to bleed.

"Stop!" The others cried which made the possessed Apolaki smile as he knew that his escape will be close.

"It seems that the mortals in front of me are those with fragile hearts. It will not be long till I escape." The possessed Apolaki muttered.

Chapter 922

Before the possessed Apolaki could threaten the others once more, a hand suddenly touched his shoulder. The hand that touched the possessed Apolaki's shoulder is from Levin Cloud. The possessed Apolaki is confused as the leshy was just ten meters away from him just now.

When the possessed Apolaki looked towards the figure of Levin Cloud standing in the distance, the figure suddenly exploded into leaves. Levin Cloud used his special travelling skill called Soil Shifting to bridge the gap between him and the possessed Apolaki. The figure that is left behind is due to the effect of the skill to leave a dummy.

"Fool! Touching me will only transfer my entity towards your body. A body like yours will be much better than this mortal meatsack!" The possessed Apolaki stated as a blackish substance suddenly latched onto the hand that touched the former's body.

"That is what I expected. Protector of the Forest!" Levin Cloud stated as his body started to shift into a gigantic form.

Leaves started to swirl around Levin Cloud's body as his form started to change into something monstrous looking. His skin started to change into bark while his hair turned into a mixture of dried thorny vines and luscious green leaves.

Levin Cloud's head became a skeletal appearance of a stag while thick horns protruded from the side. His feet turned into bark like hooves while his hands turned into sharp tree branches that had thorns in the inside of his palm. Levin Cloud's body exuded a black aura with a green light outline as his empty socket eyes also had the same glow.

Apolaki, Lupa and Hangin marveled at the real appearance of Levin Cloud as they have never seen a being like that before. All dryads and leshies are sort of unique because their forms represent the energy they harness and the plant that they drew inspiration from. Levin Cloud's form is due to the fact that Yewdrassil is the plant that he gained inspiration from as it is the only plant that has both life and death energy.

When Levin Cloud fully transformed into his true form, his left arm could be seen growing mushroom as the parasitic dark god's shadow attempted to take over his body. This would have been easy if Levin Cloud was still an elf and moderate difficulty if he was a normal leshy. The parasitic dark god's shadow made a grave error in trying to devour the soul of a being that walks between life and death.

The parasitic dark god's shadow did not stop as it will not be able to take another vessel. Rather, it will not be able to jump to another host unless someone touches Levin Cloud. It thought that it had the chance as the mushrooms have already propagated on the leshy's arm.

Levin Cloud looked at his arm that is filled with poisonous mushrooms and noticed that it is also a form of energy. The only thing different is that the energy that the parasitic dark god's shadow takes on is miasma while the energy from Levin Cloud's body is from mana. As the Envoy of the Twin Gods, Levin Cloud is also filled with miasma that comes from death energy.

Energy from the dead is also polluted in some way as it should not be normally present in the mortal plane. Death energy only became apparent due to the God of Death Abaddon agreeing with the covenant with the Undead King.

There is one thing that is true when Adrian and Levin Cloud are in their true form and that is their energy dependence. Their energy dependence consumes a lot from them which is why they can only reveal their true form for a certain period of time. In other words, their body is always hungry for energy and will devour it to sustain their true form.

The miasma on his left arm is then believed by his body as an energy source. The parasitic dark god's shadow that is taking its time devouring Levin Cloud's soul suddenly felt it being pulled by something. Something more powerful than its current self even if it is part of a dark god.

The parasitic dark god's shadow tried resisting the pull, but it could not stop it. It could feel that something akin to a black hole or a bottomless abyss is trying to collect it for energy. Levin Cloud also noticed that the mushrooms on his arms started to reduce in size while some outright became rotten.

"No! How can this be!" The parasitic dark god's shadow thought as it prevented this bottomless abyss from absorbing it.

"What is happening?" Levin Cloud thought as even he does not know what is happening. He only knew that he could fortify his soul with his true form which will make the possession slower. He also thought of immediately cutting off his arm when it got possessed but something in him hungered.

"If this is how it will play out then I will devour your soul at the core!" The parasitic dark god's shadow stated as it no longer prevented itself from being pulled.

A black mass could be seen travelling from Levin Cloud's left arm towards his chest. This is the travel path of the parasitic dark god's shadow as it wanted to absorb Levin Cloud's core. What it did not know is that would be the greatest mistake of its pathetic life.

Even if the parasitic dark god's shadow is a fragment of a dark god that devoured a fragment of a god, it took heavy damage from spirit weapons and holy magic. It weakened to the point that it can only rival a demigod's soul. It is still strong but not as strong as before which is why it made a mistake when possessing an Envoy that had been a vessel of a goddess.

When the parasitic dark god's shadow reached Levin Cloud's soul core, a fearsome beast that is ten times scarier in appearance of his true form is present. This fearsome leshy smiled as it suddenly manifested branches to pierce the parasitic dark god's shadow.

When the parasitic dark god's shadow reached Levin Cloud's soul core, a fearsome beast that is ten times scarier in appearance of his true form is present. This fearsome leshy smiled as it suddenly manifested branches to pierce the parasitic dark god's shadow.

The fearsome leshy could be seen having a humongous body that dwarfed the parasitic dark god's shadow. It looked like a rabbit is in front of a tiger as the latter saw the former as nothing but prey. For the first time, the parasitic dark god's shadow felt great despair and fear which should not be possible for a fragment of a god.

The fearsome leshy opened its mouth wide and inside it is a dark abyss that is only pure darkness. When the parasitic dark god's shadow saw this, it instinctively knew that it needed to run away, but it could not. It is already pierced with countless branches and can no longer move its body.

The fearsome leshy's head grew closer and closer to the parasitic dark god's shadow while the latter trembled in great fear and disbelief. It did not expect that the prey that he possessed would actually be the real predator.

"Monster!" The parasitic dark god's shadow stated one last time as it was swallowed whole by the fearsome leshy. The fearsome leshy could be seen having a happy mood as it looked like it enjoyed the meal that arrived before it.

[You have swallowed a piece of a god.]

[The parasitic dark god's shadow has been defeated.]

[Your soul will need quite a bit of time refining this energy.]

[You will not be able to use Protector of the Forest for one whole month.]

[Devotion is increased by 100.]

"What just happened?" Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly reverted to his humanoid appearance.

Just as Levin Cloud is about to ask another question to himself, he suddenly felt something stuck in his throat. He did not know what it is, but he wanted it to get out of his body as soon as possible. He started to do puking movements until Peridot came running to him and started hitting his back.

After one powerful slap on the back, Levin Cloud finally threw up the thing stuck on his throat. It is none other than the earthen pot that Nuno swallowed before it became a huge monstrosity. All of them suddenly widened their eyes upon seeing a large thing that is the size of a person's head come out of a normal size mouth.

"That is why I keep telling you to stop eating everything that you see." Peridot shouted at Levin Cloud since he did like to eat.

"I like to eat but I am not such a glutton that I will eat a clay pot." Levin Cloud replied.

"Did we win?" Apolaki asked weakly as his backlash also started to kick in.

"I think we did. I did not know what happened, but it seems that I ate the enemy." Levin Cloud stated with a smile, but Peridot started hitting him in the back once again.

"Spit it out! You might get diarrhea even though this is a game." Peridot stated.

"Stop hitting me! You will kill me at this rate." Levin Cloud stated which made the others laugh.

The team did not get any drops aside from the earthen pot, but they did receive tons of experience points that leveled them up from ranges of two to four levels. Apolaki wanted to ask how Levin Cloud devoured a god fragment, but he is far too tired to do that, and the latter seemed to not know the reason as well.

The three champions from Mahar Lika fainted as soon as they knew that the battle is over. A few minutes later, several figures suddenly showed up in front of them. These figures are none other than the other champions of Mahar Lika. They thought that they will arrive expecting a battle, but the corrupted god fragment is no longer there.

When the other champions of Mahar Lika noticed the condition of the Apolaki, Lupa, and Hangin, they immediately rushed towards them and sent them to the healing temple. It seems that they knew that the three used their spirit armors which will endanger their lives if not treated immediately. The other three were escorted back to the Carabao Clan settlement.

The earthen pot is taken by Kabrakan as this is the item that he needed. He hid it inside his inventory first and will ask the Carabao Clan if the thing inside the clay pot is the Soil of the Wilde.

The three of them waited for Apolaki to return before confronting the chief of the Carabao Clan, Kala. It seems that the chief is also absent right now as they accompanied the injured champions to the healing temple. Levin Cloud, Kabrakan, and Peridot welcomed the hospitality that the Carabao Clan offered instead as they were served with fruits.

A while later, Chief Kala could be seen walking with a rather weak looking Apolaki. The other two champions, Lupa and Hangin, could be seen being carried using a stretcher. It seems that the two still needed care, but they are now safe from death as they were carried to the healing temple in record time.

"Since the four of you are here now, I would like to thank all of you for agreeing with my request." Bao stated as he suddenly appeared before them.

[The Quest Slay the Corrupted God Fragment has been completed.]

[You have received a random Mythical Skill book chest.]

"We are glad to be of service for the land." Apolaki answered with a bow which made the other three follow suit.

"I almost forgot! Chief Kala, we got an earthen pot when we defeated Nuno. How do we open it to obtain the Soil of the Wilde?" Kabrakan asked as he took out the earthen pot.

"Open it? My boy, you are mistaken. That earthen pot could not be open because that is the Soil of the Wilde that you have been searching for." Chief Kala stated which greatly shocked Kabrakan to the point that he almost dropped the earthen pot.

Chapter 924

"Open it? My boy, you are mistaken. That earthen pot could not be open because that is the Soil of the Wilde that you have been searching for." Chief Kala stated which greatly shocked Kabrakan to the point that he almost dropped the earthen pot.

"This earthen pot is the Soil of the Wilde?!" Kabrakan exclaimed in surprise as he did not expect the quest item is in a form like that. He expected it to be real soil that is grainy in texture or like those used in plant pots.

Kabrakan did not expect it because when he inspected the earthen pot, all that popped up is the information that it is his quest item. He thought that the container is just holding the Soil of the Wilde and did not expect that he already got it the moment it dropped. He even made a clown of himself trying to open the sealed jar.

Quest Item Name: Soil of the Wilde

Tier: Mythical

Type: Fragment of a Divine Item

Effect: unknown

Description: The Soil of the Wilde that is an integral part of the Will of the Wilde. It is a representation of the soil that all life steps upon birth. It is currently in the form of an earthen pot due to being sealed. It is unknown what it can do at this incomplete form, but it exudes an aura that makes the soil great for farming.

"I will take it back with me then." Kabrakan stated which made Apolaki interject.

"If you do that then the Carabao Clan will no longer be able to have abundant harvests anymore." Apolaki exclaimed.

"That is fine, Champion Apolaki. The Carabao Clan has been burdened of keeping a divine item in our place. We are not strong enough to protect it which is why we need to give it to the one chosen by the Will of the Wilde. We have done our duty of safekeeping it for centuries and it is now time for it to be returned to the chosen one." Chief Kala stated.

"Are you fine with this Bao?" Apolaki asked the god fragment of Dumangan.

"The Carabao Clan has spoken. With the disappearance of the corrupted god fragment, The God, Dumangan, will be able to restore life back to the soil. It only became detrimental to life around when the corrupted god fragment was sapping all life force in the area." Bao stated.

"If that is only the case then I can help with that." Levin Cloud stated as he proceeded to go outside.

The others followed suit and they saw Levin Cloud become a humanoid version of a wonderous tree elf hybrid. He had the horns that a Leshy has but kept the beautiful appearance of an elf. His robes also transformed into something akin to vines and leaves. He looked like what the popular pop culture of what a druid should look like.

"I did not think that this skill would be handy. I received it but is not able to use in battle. Hymn of the Soil!" Levin Cloud stated as he touched the soil with his two hands.

Skill Name: Hymn of the Soil (Envoy of the Twin Gods Version)

Tier: Mythical

Type: Area of Effect (Cannot be used for combat)

Effect: The area selected will become revitalized using the power of the Envoy of the Twin Gods. Absorb the death energy spread in the area in order to release the life energy within. It can also do the reverse process.

Cooldown: 3 months

Cast Time: 10 minutes

Mana Cost: None

As soon as Levin Cloud touched the soil with his hands, the miasma that crept up inside of it started to gather to him. In fact, it is not just miasma as little elemental sprites could be seen that has the appearance of black mischievous ghosts. All of the people in the settlement saw this and gathered in wonder.

This is the first time that the people of Mahar Lika are given the right to see the appearance of elementals. The small mischievous death elemental sprites gathered towards Levin Cloud. They circled around him and poked his face to tease him.

"Thank you for your service. You can now move to another area that needs your protection." Levin Cloud stated as the small mischievous death elemental sprites showed a genuine smile.

The small mischievous death elemental sprites waved goodbye to the people of Mahar Lika as they have done their job. The miasma that accumulated for years has already been absorbed by Levin Cloud. If the death elemental sprites were not present in Mahar Lika, then the third island would have been tainted by miasma already. It only takes about three years for an island of this size to be fully taken over.

As soon as the death elemental sprites left, vibrant green sprites suddenly swirled around Levin Cloud as they appeared one by one. The vibrant green sprites are none other than life elemental sprites. They have the appearance of cute chubby humanoid flowers.

"It is time for you to show what you are capable of my little friends." Levin Cloud stated as the life elemental sprites responded cheerily and with enthusiasm.

"OH MY GOD! They are so cute!" Peridot exclaimed as she involuntarily wanted to catch one, but Kabrakan stopped her from doing so. She might scare the life elemental sprites which would impede with whatever Levin Cloud is attempting.

The life elemental sprites swirled with the wind and started to sing a song. The song is clear and refreshing to the ears that all that heard it would describe it as the season of Spring coming to life. Even the small kids in the settlement started to hum the song that is being sung by the life elemental sprites.

The life energy in the soil started to bud once more as the song of the life elemental sprites revitalized it. The song ended after five minutes, and the area could be seen to have been transformed. The heavy atmosphere that was present is no longer there but a clear and refreshing wind brushed past everyone.

The life elemental sprites cheered when they are successful with the task entrusted to them. They waved at the people as they turned into particles of vibrant green light. The smiles on the elemental sprites and the people of the settlement could be seen everywhere.

The sick Carabao Clan members started to feel a little better and is now on the road to recovery since the soil has recovered. The Carabao Clan ties their health to the soil that they are settled upon which is why they got sick when the soil got sick as well.

Since the Carabao Clan had tied themselves to the soil of the third island, their lives are also bound to it which means they will die with soil that they till with their lives. The ones who turned to Mahar Lika were a generation of Carabao Beastkins that have yet to be tied to a land which is why they were able to escape.

"That was beautiful. As expected of the Envoy of the Twin Gods, I can feel that the earth is already starting to be revitalized. It might not be fully healed but the fact that you managed to kick start the process is already a miracle. The fifty years that should be waited has become five years and we are able to plant as well." Bao stated as he bowed towards Levin Cloud.

Levin Cloud bowed in response as his form returned to his elf like appearance. It seems that the appearance earlier is some kind of divine appearance for ceremonies involving the Twin Gods. Even Peridot or Kabrakan did not know that Levin Cloud had that form. Only the elders of the Twin Gods know of Levin Cloud's Envoy Priest Form as they have records that the past envoys are given a holy garment.

"It is normal for the Envoy of the Dark Gods to help those that have been damaged by the dark gods. All life is equal before them be it animate or inanimate." Levin Cloud stated.

"I guess this is goodbye then." Apolaki stated as he knew that the three of them will now leave as they have gained what they needed.

"Yes. It has been a great time meeting you. You are far more skilled than what was shown in the Pandelympics." Kabrakan stated but he already brought out a sheet of paper for an autograph.

"Do you guys need an escort to the area where you can go outside of the could formation?" Apolaki asked but a sudden rumble is heard from the outside.

"What was that?!" Chief Kala exclaimed as this is the first time, he heard of a sound like that.

"That should be our way out." Levin Cloud stated as the formation started to form a dark void. The figure of a demon could be seen appearing a while later.

Chapter 925

Before Levin Cloud, Kabrakan and Solstice entered the hidden islands, Levin Cloud already messaged Adrian in the real world about their quest. He once again messaged him when they were tasked with killing a corrupted god fragment.

Levin Cloud wanted an insurance that they can at least mitigate the damage if they were to fail the first attempt. Adrian responded that he will now head to their location since his best friend asked him to. If he was completely confident, then Levin Cloud would not have asked Adrian that.

Levin Cloud and Adrian were banking on the fact that they could kill the corrupted god fragment using their synchro skill. It is the most powerful spell in their arsenal, and they already witnessed its capabilities once against a dark god.

Adrian proceeded to teleport to the southern part of the eastern continent where he is welcomed. He also tried to look for the old hermit that gave the gourd to Kabrakan, but he is unable to locate the said individual. He asked around the beach area, but all the people replied that they do not know who he was describing.

Due to this, Adrian had to fly to the cloud formation and enter it a few times. He had the same experience as the three did when they entered it. Unlike the other three, Adrian already started to closely examine the cloud formation if he could find a trace of a magic circle or arrays.

It took him one hour of continuously traversing the cloud formation just to get a hint of the array that created it. Upon feeling the array, Adrian immediately memorized the sensation of the array. Upon memorizing the sensation, Adrian directed it towards his eyes so that he can see the array.

This would have been dangerous for a normal being as foreign mana often disrupts or poisons the mana of individuals if they are not great at handling it. Due to a demon's natural physiology, they are more resilient to mana which is why they can easily inhale it like air. The guidance of the mana did not take a short time like what other people might think.

It took Adrian one hour of redirecting it to his eyes because of the complexity and the small amount that he could detect. When he can already feel that the mana has settled perfectly in his eyes, he activated his Evil Eyes. As soon as Adrian opened his eyes, he could see the wide array that is placed on the very space.

Unlike magic circles, arrays are vastly different. Magic circles are two-dimensional representation of magic and is much quicker to release. Arrays are different because it is a three-dimensional magical writing that utilizes a vast area. It can also gather mana from the surroundings in order to continuously operate without the aid of the caster.

"The problem is that arrays are like three-dimensional puzzles that changes at a given time. It is not constant like magic circles which means timing is also part of the calculation." Adrian stated as he started to fly around the area.

Adrian had to teleport every 40 minutes back to the southern part of the eastern continent to check with words that he does not know. Even some of the runes used in the array are not familiar to the eastern continent. He might even think that the runes used in the hidden islands is much older than he thought.

Adrian managed to solve part of the array in under two hours, but he is sure that it will not be enough to enter the hidden islands. He then tried something out of the box that will definitely break all the rules of magic.

"If I cannot solve it with pure brain power then I will push through using pure power." Adrian stated as he suddenly casted Vortex.

Adrian cast his legendary skill Vortex and even enhanced it with all the primordial energy in his reserves. The black hole devoured everything and even the clouds that is drawn by the array. Adrian thought that parts of the array will be drawn as well but he is mistaken. Only the clouds were sucked inside the black hole, but the array stayed resilient.

He did see that the array somewhat shook when no more clouds were in the area. Adrian also discovered an interesting fact upon doing so. The clouds are acting as illusions for the eyes as well, but the most important part is the clouds change upon being drawn by the array.

Clouds usually dissipate after a few hours, but the clouds drawn by the array somehow become stable. The clouds are turned into a special state where it is flickering between solid and liquid. This makes the cloud stay in permanent shape and add to the wall of clouds.

Adrian tried to traverse the area where he deleted the clouds, but he felt something crash upon his body when he moved after ten meters. The surroundings suddenly bent as he noticed that he is being led to the area where he just walked into. Since the area the clouds have covered is a far stretch, one would think that they walked back because they got lost but that is not the case.

The ones who enter the cloud formation are subjected to a spell that messes with their sense of direction. This will also lead them to walk back to the direction they went but they will think that they went in a straight line. Even Adrian's status nullification is completely bypassed by the array.

"This is basically impossible. I am not even turned back after one kilometer but only after ten meters. It not only messes with the sense of direction but also the sense of reality." Adrian muttered but the whole array formation suddenly shook.

Adrian then heard a piercing shrill cry in the distance as the array suddenly became haywire for a few seconds. Adrian immediately knew what he needed to do and took this chance as an opportunity. When the shrill cry echoed, the array became muddled and a way inside is shown momentarily.

"Time Stop!" Adrian stated as he snapped his fingers, and the world suddenly came to a pause.

Adrian made use of the ten seconds that he can muster to traverse the sudden pathway that appeared before him. He poured more mana into his wings to make it stronger as he wanted to enter the hidden islands before the array becomes stable. Within ten seconds, Adrian managed to traverse half of the distance, but the array started to become stable once more.

The clouds that opened a path started to close from behind as Adrian desperately attempted to enter the hidden islands. The stabilization of the array came at a faster pace than Adrian has expected because the clouds were closing in on him. The distance between him and the clouds were just one foot, and it is still becoming shorter.

"Almost there!" Adrian shouted but he probably jinxed it as he got swallowed by the clouds.

"Should I escort you to the easiest exit way?" Apolaki asked.

"No need. We already have our transport service coming to us. We might lose sight of each other if we do not wait for him." Levin Cloud stated which confused the other two as well.

"Who are you waiting for?" Apolaki asked.

As if on cue, the clouds above suddenly swirled and descended on the ground. A dark void also spawned in the area where the clouds landed as a hand reached out from it. The warriors surrounded the dark void as they do not know if the thing coming out is hostile or not.

"That was a trip." Adrian suddenly stated as he came out of the dark void.

Adrian came out of the dark void, and it also disappeared when all of his body is out of it. He is shocked upon seeing numerous hostile forces pointing their weapons at him. He looked at Levin Cloud and wondered what is happening.

"I thought that the people here are welcoming?" Adrian asked.

"They are but they will surely be hostile if a freaking demon looking person comes out of a dark void of nothingness. I thought I told you to look for the old hermit." Levin Cloud stated.

"The hermit is gone like the wind. I had to improvise. Did you know that part of the array covering the hidden islands has one thousand formations? That is only a part of it. The scale of this array formation is very scary that it might fry my brain if I tried to really solve it.

Anyways, I found my way here thanks to the death elemental sprites that passed through the barrier. I solidified this location thanks to the life elemental sprites. Let me tell you that being lost inside an array full of clouds is not a satisfying experience. I almost puked and lost my mind that all I saw was clouds." Adrian stated.

"Equinox!" Apolaki exclaimed as he knows the demon in front of him.

The demon player, Equinox, is famous for being a player that is of the Daemos Race. His race is much more famous than other unique races because of the magic that they can use. The fact that a player is a race that can manipulate time and space is every attention catching. He is also a summoner that has rare summons.

"Oh! A celebrity." Adrian stated as he recognizes Apolaki as he also took note of him during the Pandelympics.

"You took your time." Levin Cloud grumbled.

"You should have seen where I was trapped. I lost all cooldowns of my greatest skills. Anyways, we should be going now as there are still two more items." Adrian stated as he could see that the item Kabrakan is carrying sort of resonated with his energy wavelength.

"Thank you once again for helping us." Kabrakan stated.

"It is our pleasure as you have helped us as well. The people of Mahar Lika will always welcome you when you visit us again." Bao stated but then redirected his sight towards Adrian.

"How were you able to enter the formation without divine items, Champion of the Twin Gods?" Bao asked Adrian.

"The array formation shook for a split second. I managed to wiggle my way inside the barrier because of it." Adrian replied truthfully.

"I see. Thank you for giving us a clue. There might be another being that managed to get inside the hidden islands. We will need to be alert for the time being. Next time, please enter through the right path as there is a possibility of you tearing the array formation if you do not use the proper gates." Bao stated as he looked at some warriors. The warriors bowed and started to investigate if any other being managed to get inside the hidden islands.

"Noted as I will not do it again. We shall now be on our way as we will be quite busy." Adrian stated as he activated Dimensional Teleportation to open a rift in space and time. The four of them disappeared as they entered the rift.

"Were you not going to hold him down? He managed to enter without a divine item." Apolaki asked Bao now that they are no longer there.

"If he could traverse the hidden islands without the use of a divine item then even, I will not be able to hold him down. He also has the power of the Twin Gods with him which is why I acted as kind as possible. Thankfully, he was a demon that guards the realm which is why he is trustworthy." Bao stated.

The rift opened in the southern part of the eastern continent where no other people living. Upon seeing that no other people are nearby, they started planning the next thing that they needed to do.

"What are the details of the quest?" Adrian asked as he wanted to know where they at. Kabrakan explained the details of the things that they have done. He started with the documents they read to the fortune teller.

"I think we should go with the mermaid clan next." Kabrakan stated as they were debating where they should go next.

"We are already in the eastern continent and the mermaid kingdom is already just east of here. Our only problem is the fact that we need to enter the water. Can Kanlaon protect us underwater?" Levin Cloud asked.

"Kanlaon is not really that powerful right now." Adrian stated as he summoned Kanlaon who is yet to be level 100. Kanlaon have yet to regain his power as Adrian has yet to fully level him up.

"Well...there goes one of our chances in staying protected underwater." Levin Cloud stated.

"Why does Kanlaon feel powerful? I almost instinctively bowed down to him." Peridot stated.

"He evolved into a Genesis Dragon that is said to be the ancestor of all elemental dragons." Adrian revealed which made Peridot bulge her eyes as she could not believe it.

Even the Ryujin revere the Genesis Dragon for their beauty and power as they are what Ryujin's aspire to be. Ryujin might be able to manipulate the elements but they themselves are not made up of the elements that they manipulate. You can say that Ryujins are dragons that have great mastery of manipulating the elements but not making them with the use of their innate mana.

"Anyways, how are you going to be able to breathe underwater?" Adrian asked Kabrakan and Levin Cloud as they are not really beings that can do activities in the depths of the ocean or sea.

"I have a solution. We just need to get mermaid scales." Peridot answered as she already snapped out of her shock. She managed to easily get back to reality that this was Adrian she is talking about. She engraves it in her mind that it is not impossible for her friend to create a Genesis Dragon.

"Mermaid Scales? Where are we going to find that?" Kabrakan asked.

"Easy. We are going to hunt a mermaid." Peridot replied but the three of them looked at her with great scrutiny.

"If we attack a member of the mermaid clan then we are basically announcing that we are their enemies. Mermaids are not like what they are presented in movies or series that we watch on television. They are fierce warriors that also eat the flesh of other people. They also like to hold a grudge against those that attack them." Kabrakan stated.

"Not to mention, they are notorious for loving to drown land dwellers. It seems that they like to torture those that cannot breathe underwater. They are psychopaths that enjoy the sight of asphyxiation." Adrian added as he already knows the basic tendencies of the mermaid clan from the elders.

"We can just buy the mermaid scales, but they are pricey." Peridot stated as he looked at Kabrakan.

Kabrakan noticed that Peridot looked at him, but he told her that he no longer has any funds. The fortune teller ate up all the extra money that he could use. She could only sigh as she knew what Kabrakan is thinking.

"We can actually obtain something that is similar to a mermaid's scale but with a timer. I think a reward is given to those that can give a master chef fresh fish. It is called the Breath of the Ocean. It is an item that lets the user breath underwater for five hours." Adrian stated as he read something like that in the forums and he also started to look for the post.

"What kind of chef can give casual items that let you be able to breathe underwater?" Levin Cloud asked.

"A master chef that has the Alchemy King as the prized customer." Adrian replied as he found the post.

The quest is located in the eastern continent as well, but the location of the restaurant is in Kunlun. The thing that they need to give the master chef is a fresh fish that is not damaged in anyway. It must be fresh and still a bit lively when it is brought to Kunlun.

"It seems that the number of pills that one can get depends on the type of fish that we deliver. If that is the case, then we should give them the Rainbow Trout." Peridot stated but Adrian looked at her with admonition.

"A Rainbow Trout is a legendary tier fish that cannot be found unless a rainbow is in the horizon. Even if there is a rainbow, there is still a small chance that it is available in the waters." Adrian replied as he read something like that in the bestiary of the Ryujins.

"If it only a rainbow then I am here. For the search, we have you and me for underwater while the two of them will catch it when it jumps. We must make sure that we catch it before it transforms into an Imoogi. Well, an imoogi is still a delicacy here but a Rainbow Trout rarely transform into them." Peridot stated.

"Isn't an Imoogi a lesser dragon? She is already expecting too much of us. Let us just get a Great Finned Tuna instead. We will never find a Rainbow Trout that transforms into an Imoogi anyway." Adrian stated with certainty, but he did not know that he jinxed it.

A few moments later, the three guys are currently holding down a monster that is in the verge of transforming into a great sea serpent. It was none other than a Rainbow Trout that wanted to climb a waterfall located near a cliff on the sea.

"I did not mean for this to happen!" Adrian stated as it was his luck stat that started all this fiasco.

[Your luck stat as affected the probabilities of rare species appearing.]

[The double rainbow increased this probability even more.]

As soon as the two notifications appeared before them, a rainbow trout jumped out of the sea and started to climb the waterfall.

Chapter 927

Kabrakan is the one pinning down the Imoogi that was a Rainbow Trout. His face could be seen being red as the tail fin of the Imoogi hit him a bunch of times. Thankfully, Kanlaon managed to shock the Imoogi and they killed it by extracting its soul with the combined effort of Adrian and Levin Cloud.

Peridot used water and wind magic combined to keep the Imoogi fresh as a dying sea lesser dragon will go bad after a few hours. They needed to transport the thing to Kunlun in order to get the reward, but the difficult thing is that they should not put it in the inventory.

It seems that the Master Chef does not want fish or seafood that is stored inside the inventory as it changes the taste. The group transported the Imoogi using Sirius and Moksha running side by side. There were stares from the citizens of the eastern continent, but they did not dare to steal because they realized that a Ryujin is with them riding a Qilin.

"This place is so cool. There are numerous martial artists and even Immortals that ride on flying swords. No wonder the ones that chose the Martial Artist job path wanted to go to the eastern continent." Levin Cloud stated as this is his first time in Kunlun.

"Where is the restaurant of that Master Chef?" Kabrakan asked.

"We are already here." Adrian stated as they entered an alley in the lower district.

The group stopped at a normal looking restaurant in the lower district. Upon going inside, there are people that have numerous strong auras. It seems like this is the correct restaurant from the description in the forums. All the people eating might look normal, but they are indeed masters.

"Is the chef here?" Adrian asked as that was the keyword needed in order to trigger the quest.

"The chef is here!" A chubby looking man replied.

"We are here for." Adrian stated but he suddenly got cut off.

"I know what you are here for. To bring an Imoogi, as expected of the friend of the Vermillion Bird and the Princess of the Ryujin." The Master Chef stated as he went back to the kitchen. The Master Chef handed a bottle to Adrian as he easily lifted the dead Imoogi to cook in the kitchen.

"It seems that we will have a feast in honor of an Imoogi being caught! Wait for the free dish, great patrons." The Master Chef stated as he returned back to the kitchen.

The group sat down as they were told not to get out yet because they will be treated with food. Food can be clearly tasted in Pandemonium which is why majority of the players are gourmet. In fact, a lot of players spend money on food not only because of taste but also the chance of getting a special effect from it.

"Needless to say, we got what we came here for. It is great that the Master Chef is a no-nonsense person. He immediately knew what we came here to do upon entering his place." Adrian stated as he looked at the small ceramic bottle given to him.

Item Name: Breath of the Ocean Pills

Tier: Epic

Type: Consumable

Number held: 10 pills

Effect:

- Ingesting the Breath of the Ocean pill will enable the user to breath underwater for five hours.
- This pill does not reduce the increased stamina spent on traversing the underwater.
- The pill's effect will also vanish upon resurfacing back into the water.
- The pill must only be ingested underwater for it to fully take effect.

Description: Pills made by the Grandmaster Alchemist Lay when he wanted to dive underwater to hide from the numerous requests of the grand sects of the eastern continent. Needless to say, he got at least five hours of rest thanks to the Breath of the Ocean pill.

"Thank you for waiting! This is your free meal for the great catch that you have given to me." The master chef stated as he smiled towards the group.

Each of them is given a bowl of fried rice topped with smoky grilled Imoogi. It looked like one of those famous rice bowls being advertised in popular five-star restaurants. The dish even sparkled as if it is made of gold.

All four of them ate the meal with great vigor as they could not contain themselves. They were already salivating just by looking at it but tasting it was a different experience. If they were in a food animation, then their clothes might have exploded out of thin air due to how delicious the rice bowl was.

After inhaling the rice bowl for five minutes, they finished it with smiles, but it also meant that they wanted more. They looked at each other's bowl but none of them had any leftovers which dismayed everyone.

[You have eaten a Five Star Tier Legendary Meal prepared by a Master Chef.]

[You have gained 1 stat point in Strength because of the remaining power in the cooked Imoogi.]

[Kabrakan has gained 1 stat point in Endurance because of the remaining power in the cooked Imoogi.]

[Levin Cloud has gained 1 stat point in Intelligence because of the remaining power in the cooked Imoogi.]

[Peridot has gained 1 stat point in Intelligence because of the remaining power in the cooked Imoogi.]

The eyes of everyone glowed as they experienced the wonderous power of a master chef. It is also one of the reasons why the chef class is one of the most famous sub job classes as they can give a chance of gaining strength from the cooked monster. Even large guilds are investing heavily on players that choose this occupation because of the great benefit of stat points.

"Maybe I should choose being a chef as a Sub Job Class?" Levin Cloud muttered.

"No." Adrian stated.

"Forget that thought." Kabrakan added.

"You love to eat but you have no passion for cooking so delete that thought in your mind." Peridot stated as the final attack.

"Should we head to the mermaid kingdom next?" Levin Cloud asked Kabrakan.

"We should but we should hitch a ride on a boat. We do not have enough flying mounts to carry all of us. It would also be a problem if we encountered sea monsters while flying. Flying monsters are also a problem if we fly too high in the clouds." Kabrakan replied.

"The only boat that traverses the seas near the eastern continent would be from the Imperial Kingdom of Nihon. It is a country that is part of the eastern continent but is more of an island nation like Mahar Lika. The only difference is that it is not under any of the care of the divine beasts." Peridot stated.

"Why is that?" Kabrakan asked.

"Nihon was founded by a great warrior and demigod with the title of Dragon Slayer. The founder is still alive and is the current queen of the island nation. They are also great at maritime warfare and wielding a sword. The founder is also the reason why the Ryujins do not bother him as she killed five back then when some Ryujin disrespected her master and people." Peridot stated.

"Then you should not head there as it would be a big problem then." Levin Cloud stated as he is worried for Peridot.

"Do not worry as the Ryujins have formed a non-aggression treaty with him. She is also a friend of my master which is why I will be safe there. Those five Ryujins were destined to be killed anyway as they made many atrocities." Peridot stated.

"We will not head to the Imperial Kingdom of Nihon anyway. We will jump out the boat halfway in order to go further east to where the merfolk kingdom is located." Adrian stated.

The group boarded a boat, and they did not pay anything as the captain even bowed to Peridot. The three men now knew how powerful a noble could be as they did not spend a single coin. They looked at Peridot as a great free pass in the eastern continent.

"They only did that because of the state of the bottom part of the boat." Peridot stated as the three of them leaned to see what she was talking about.

"Dragon scales. The lower hull of the boat is covered with dragon scales." Adrian stated as he saw shiny scaly texture on the lower part of the hull.

"The scales are given by the Ryujin to all those that have boats. Illegal boats are a different matter, but official boats of the eastern continent have those protecting the hull. Not only does it provide protection from attacks, but it also intimidates any lower monsters of the sea. It is one of the reasons why ships of the eastern continent cannot be sold to any other continent. The dragon scales also lose power after a year or two which is why it is important for us to monitor the boats as well." Peridot stated.

Chapter 928

The boat sailed without much difficulty as the dragon scales did their purpose. There have been sightings of sea monsters, but those monsters run away upon entering a fifty-meter radius of the boat. The ride is comfortable except for those who have sea sickness.

"Blegh!" Kabrakan exclaimed as he emptied out his stomach upon the sea.

"Let him be. I should warn all of you about the dangers that we will be encountering in the Sea of Monsters." Peridot stated.

"Sea of Monsters?" Levin Cloud exclaimed.

"It is an infamous term used to describe a certain part of the world's waters that are basically crawling with sea monsters. It is also infamous for being the real wall that separates the merfolk kingdom and the Scylla kingdom." Adrian stated.

"So...when are we going to go to the northern continent? This might be a good time." Levin Cloud interjected as even he is not confident of protecting the team in a literal sea of monsters.

"Oh! I actually should inform you guys that the Nymph Queen hates me." Adrian suddenly announced which made the three look at him with disbelief.

"You should have told us that before you accepted the request of looking for the freaking item in the sea!" The three of them simultaneously shouted as nymphs are basically the described as faeries of the sea but they are not from the Fae.

Nymphs are also Master of Water elemental magic so fighting them in water is basically suicide. Adrian is not helping himself by being in water. Although the nymphs generally gather in the west part of the world, they are also spread out in all oceans or seas. There is a high chance that the group might encounter them.

The boat finally reached open sea as no land can be seen. They travelled for about five hours until day became night. A few moments later, mist started to roll out that slightly reduced vision, but the boat could still traverse its intended location. There is currently a pathfinder employed on the boat which is why they will never go off the intended route.

The passengers were told to go into their cabins if the mist turns into fog in order to ensure their safety. Just as the passengers are about to enter below the deck to their cabins, a hymn could be heard being hum by a melodic choir. The hymn soon turned into a beautiful song which suddenly made the captain sound the alarms.

"Sirens!" The captain of the ship shouted as priests that have musical instruments as weapons suddenly played music to counter the singing.

[You have resisted the Siren's Alluring Song due to the Hymn of Disruption from a member of the Church of Music.]

Notifications that reminded them that they are attacked popped up but is countered by the priests with musical instruments. Bards of different Music Gods started playing melodies that countered the singing of the sirens. It seems that they are regularly commissioned just in case Sirens suddenly attack the boat.

"Since the Sirens are here, it means that this will be the spot where we go out of the boat." Peridot stated as the famous saying for the start of the Sea of Monsters is the beautiful song of the Sirens.

The song might be beautiful to listen to, but it will lead those that are enamored to death. Sirens use their beautiful and captivating voices in order to lure sailors to their deaths. Their voice will charm the sailors and will force them to go overboard. The sirens would then catch the overboard sailors in order to feast on their flesh.

The sirens are monsters that are vastly different in Pandemonium or what is presented in popular culture. Sirens in popular culture are often depicted as mermaids but they look different in Pandemonium. Sirens have the head of a beautiful female while having the body of a bird.

They would then be able to transform into human bodies if they have eaten enough human flesh. The beautiful female heads of Sirens are also just a result of their polymorph as their real appearances show when they are feasting. The real visual of the head of a siren would be a monstrous large mouth with rows of teeth as its head opens out like a flower blooming.

"Are you serious? We will get charmed if we leave the vicinity of this boat." Levin Cloud grumbled as he knew what sirens are like from the unfortunate fates of some players.

"Greater Summon: Charon!" Adrian stated as the Lifeless Lord materialized.

"Could you please strangle the infuriating birds, Charon." Adrian commanded.

Charon gave a slight bow as its body dematerialized because it blended with the mist. A few minutes later, the beautiful songs turned into hoarse cries of pain. Since the mist rolled, they are not able to see far which is why Peridot used Tempest to blow away the mist.

About ten Sirens are currently bound by chains around their necks. The song of the sirens stopped and the bards that countered their melody also stopped. Charon could be seen to have taken a few hits, but Sirens are naturally not great fighters due to their powerful alluring voice.

Charon is the perfect way to counter them because undead do not get charmed. Charon looked at Adrian's direction and wanted to see the if it did well. The crew got shocked upon seeing an undead strangle ten Sirens. Peridot then summoned Moksha for Levin Cloud and Kabrakan to ride while Adrian and her flew.

With the alluring voice of the Sirens neutralized, the group bid farewell to the captain as this was their stop. They also killed the ten sirens that Charon managed to capture. Only the figure of them leaving the crew stunned could be seen while the players recorded the whole phenomenon.

It would soon cause a buzz as the undead summon by the player is well-known to be that of the demon player. They wanted to know why their group is heading towards the Sea of Monsters.

Chapter 929

"You are brutal." Levin Cloud joked as he saw the heads of the Sirens pop like a balloon after being squeezed tight by Charon's chains.

"You are welcome to be eaten by them. I will surely want to see your expression when you see how monstrous they really look." Adrian replied as he giggled.

"Anyways, is this really the sea of monsters? We have been flying on open sea for quite some time." Kabrakan stated as the name did not live up to its name because they are not being attacked by numerous monsters.

"We are just at the entrance of the Sea of Monsters. The real start would be there." Peridot stated as she pointed out a part of the vast ocean that is filled with dark rumbling clouds and numerous whirlpools.

When Peridot pointed out the real start of the Sea of Monsters, they could feel that the atmosphere has also changed. The air became heavy and harder to breath while it felt as if gravity became greater. In fact, Adrian really did feel that gravity almost doubled, and they are not that affected by it due to their high levels.

It did not take long for the name Sea of Monsters to prove itself to the group. As soon as they entered the zone, black projectiles started flying their way at a fast speed. Kabrakan used his skill that could temporarily create a shield that extends outside to block the attacks.

The shield formed a sphere momentarily, but their vision is blocked by the black substance. It seems that the black projectiles are actually ink shot at them. When Kabrakan dispelled the barrier, the ink dropped down onto the waters below.

The monsters that released the ink projectiles are not really monsters but demihumans known as Krakens and Scylla. The krakens have two forms which are their full octopus and squid hybrid form and their humanoid form that retains some of their octopus and squid looks. They are a male only race due to them being the counterpart of the Scylla since the latter is a female only race.

The Scylla have the upper bodies of females while their lower body has eight tentacles. The tentacles also transform into dragon head tips when they increase their Persona but retain their ink shooting capabilities. They also have a monstrous form, but no one has yet to see what it looks like.

About ten krakens and ten scyllas are looking at them with great hostility as they did trespass into their waters. Although from their point of view, the waters do not belong to no one as it is infested with monsters. The law of territories also applied to the waters and that they can only claim what they can protect.

Since the Scylla and the Kraken only rule part of the Sea of Monsters, they should not have sovereignty over it, but they are also a prideful bunch. The Scylla Queen and the Kraken King proudly announces that they rule the sea of monsters even though they can only control a part of it. They also encroach on some waters of the mermaid folk which is why they are at constant war with each other.

"Gabriel, blow the trumpets! Summon: Great Disaster!" Adrian stated as he activated his disaster summoning skill.

[The skill has failed.]

[Gabriel did not accept the call due to your Angel Killer title.]

"Freaking hell!" Adrian shouted as one of his most powerful skills became useless just like that.

He might have not been able to control the disaster summoning angel to choose what kind of disaster to create but this is the first time that he was ghosted. Adrian wanted to try again but his skill is already grayed out.

[You cannot use the skill for a given duration.]

[Duration: Unknown]

"Fudge!" Adrian shouted once more as he remembered that his parents often looked at his gameplay footage. It seems that they find it more appealing than television dramas, but he needed to watch what he says.

"Uhm? Where is the disaster that we are promised?" Levin Cloud asked as this was part of their plan.

Part of their plan was for Adrian to summon a disaster when they are attacked by multiple enemies. The krakens and scyllas were not their only problem as numerous swordfish looking monsters are also heading towards their location.

"The damned Angel did not answer my call. I will personally pluck the feathers of that oversized chicken when I see him again." Adrian replied which shocked the rest of the team. They did not know that skills could do that. It only meant that the angel that Adrian summons is an NPC and not something generated by the skill.

"I guess, it is up to me then." Peridot stated as her blue and gray crystal glowed. She also took out two epic tier gemstones in order to negate the cast time of the two spells that she will use.

"Tidal Wave! Curtain of Fog!" Peridot stated as she activated two epic tier spells.

The water below them suddenly became erratic and started to rise up. The Tidal Wave skill created a ten-meter-tall wave that slammed down on the Krakens and Scyllas. This was never meant to kill them as the two demihuman races resist water elemental damage. It is used to deter them from attacking the group since their main objective is to get away from the area that they are currently in.

The Curtain of Fog spell summoned thick fog that impeded the vision of every enemy in the area while letting her allies see inside of it clearly. Sounds of confusion suddenly aroused as the Krakens and the Scyllas that were attacking their group is now being attacked by the numerous sword fish monsters that came rolling towards them.

The group managed to avoid the fight as they just flew a bit higher than their current altitude. The only problem is that they now risk being electrocuted by the lightning coming down towards them. Luckily, they have Peridot that can now absorb lightning using her wind gemstone but only she can come out unscathed.

Fog rolled out in an area and the visibility of others became reduced. The four friends are currently flying higher than they would have as they wanted to avoid the flying attacks and spells from below. The battle between the sea monsters with the Krakens and Scylla could be heard as they ravaged the sea below.

The four friends are not safe as well because lightning could also strike them as the thunderclouds above them crackled. Adrian knew that only Peridot can withstand lightning if it does strike them which is why he summoned Kimat.

"Greater Summon: Kimat." Adrian stated as Kimat has been summoned in his chibi form.

Since Kimat cannot fly in the air or hover, he needed to be situated on top of Moksha. Adrian's thought proved to be correct as two arcs of lightning suddenly rained upon them. Peridot caught one while Kimat caught the other with both absorbing the energy towards their body.

Kimat's body crackled as his lightning gauge became full of power from just one lightning strike. His body glowed with a bright light blue light, and he almost acted as a lighthouse. Peridot channeled the lightning strike with her wind gemstone first and then absorbed it using her body. She then converted it to mana as she used a lot of mana for the two epic tier spells.

The excess energy is then transferred to her wind gemstone as it changed from a gray into a bluish white color. The next lightning strike is then funneled by Moksha as it suddenly became hungry. The Qilin easily ate the lightning and even called it a light snack. Their only problem now is the approaching bird monsters that came down from the thunder clouds.

"Thunderbirds!" Kabrakan pointed.

"Greater Summon: Kanlaon! Greater Summon: Saena!" Adrian casted as he needed to level up Kanlaon while Saena's support would be appreciated.

The thunderbirds in the sea of monsters are different from the ones straggling in the mainland. The thunderbirds in the sea on monsters are twice as large and more colorful than the ones in the mainland. They also seem to be more ferocious as their eyes that normally glowed with yellow lightning is glowing in red lightning.

"Time for revenge!" Adrian stated as he summoned his Bow Primordial Armament.

He still clearly remembers the time when a thunderbird killed him during the time that he first used the bow. He pulled the bowstring with great eagerness while using five shots of Shooting Star. Some of the thunderbirds are not able to dodge as the attack is sudden which made them crash down to the sea.

The poor thunderbirds that crashed into the sea became feeds to the hungry sea monsters below while the remaining one became enraged even more. With a flap of their wings, the thunderbirds suddenly made the rumbling thunderclouds release multiple arcs of red lightning.

The red lightning lit up the sky that even made the messy battle happening on the sea even more menacing. The Scylla and the Kraken versus the numerous sea monsters. The thunderbirds that fell became pools of blood upon being feasted upon the sea monsters. The sight is something to behold as numerous things were happening at once.

The red lightning arcs are then aimed towards the four friends, but the thunderbirds have yet to see that some of them can absorb lightning. Kimat and Moksha ate all the red lightning coming their way while Peridot absorbed it once again into her gemstone.

"Blizzard!" Peridot shouted as the atmosphere became cold and the turbulent weather started to drop in temperature.

The thunderbird's weakness is the cold which is why they tend to avoid the north or regions where there is ice. It can also be said that their mortal enemies, the frost birds, are the reason why they also hate the cold. Fire birds, thunderbirds, and frost birds have a rivalry as one competes for the title of Lord of the Skies.

The cold wind made the wings of the thunderbirds stiff which is why Adrian could launch more attacks to send them crashing down. He specifically targeted the wings of the thunderbirds so that the sea monsters below could do most of the job for them. Although, the team gets fewer experience points since they are not the ones to kill the thunderbirds.

The group is doing well as Kanalon would use his presence to threaten thunderbirds that come near them while Saena assisted with healing the group if they get hit. The thunderbirds knew that they could not kill the group with their lightning attacks which is why they resorted to physical attacks.

Some might think that the thunderbirds are dumb but their body is actually harder than steel. Due to the continuous pulsing of lightning in their body, the thunderbirds have strong physiques that can easily block physical attacks. This is the reason why people that hunt thunderbirds often turned to magic as weapons can be easily broken if it gets in contact with their body.

A good example of this now would be Kabrakan's shield starting to lose durability as soon as he receives an attack from the thunderbirds. It seems that they have become primary targets due to their nature of not counterattacking. Fortunately, Moksha could still use its flame attacks in order to burn some of the thunderbirds.

"Focus on bring them down! We do not have enough stamina to deal with all of them." Peridot stated as she tried conjuring ice shards to cull the numbers of the thunderbirds.

Adrian already used all the skills of the Bow Primordial Armament, but the number of thunderbirds has yet to be reduced to two digits. The sky is still full of them and the only reason that they are not getting close to the group is the fact that they are scared.

"Quantum Cascade!" Adrian casted as he increased the range of the skill to encompass the area that the thunderbirds occupy.

Adrian made a grabbing motion and the space above them suddenly became blurry. The space suddenly contracted as all the thunderbirds in a one-kilometer radius all became grouped up at the epicenter that Adrian has chosen. He then poured all his remaining mana into the next skill that he used.

"Gravity Control: Increase!" Adrian stated as the surrounding suddenly became heavy and the numerous thunderbirds came crashing down to the sea.

The thunderbirds that saw this happen all retreated to a further distance since they feared the demon more. Adrian's appearance became like a grim reaper to the thunderbirds, but his gravity control does not affect the thunderbirds all the way to the sea. The gravity control ended when the thunderbirds are about fifty meters above sea level.

The thunderbirds falling down are infuriated that they were taken out from the clouds. They collectively knew that they must kill that demon no matter what, but they will no longer have the chance to do so. A giant sea monster that is the cross between a whale and a shark suddenly opened its mouth wide.

With a large jump, the whale and shark hybrid sea monster crunched through numerous thunderbirds. The faces of the four friends are in complete shock as they did not expect a monster of that size in their general area. What scared them more is the fact that they saw that it was actually level 340.

Monster Name: King Whalark

Level: 340

HP: Unknown

Mana: Unknown

Description: A large sea monster that could be said to be the second biggest mammal that lives in water. It is said to only surface when it is extremely hungry. The favorite food of the King Whalark are the giant squids, but it tends to swallow prey above sea when it notices numerous numbers of them.

Monsters in the sea tend to go above sea level in order to be safe from the great predators that lurk down below but that does not mean that they are perfectly safe. The King Whalark is one of the monsters that make it so due to its voracious appetite whenever it is hungry. The thunderbirds that saw their own kin be fish food retreated as they feared that they are next.

The thunderbirds scattered as they fled for their life. It was not worth it for them to avenge their fallen comrades as they only gathered there because of the leader of the flock. With the leader of the flock being fish food, the chain of command vanished, and they flew away at lightning speed.

"I think we managed to survive that." Levin Cloud stated as he ran out of mana from healing and protecting the group. He could not even drink a mana potion because of the rocky flight aboard Moksha.

The group thought that they are safe until large tentacles suddenly shot towards the skies. They are shocked that the tentacles came crashing down on their location, but its intended target is not them. They were just caught up in the attack as the huge tentacles wrapped around the King Whalark.
