

Chapter 296 He Wakes Up

ONE MONTH LATER,

Rose was getting ready. She looked in the mirror and saw herself. She wore a royal gown. It was a simply designed gown but anyone could say who she was.

She went out of the room. Maids were bowing to her when she was passing.

She went to the meeting room where everyone was waiting for her. When she entered the room, everyone stood up and bowed to her. She nodded at them and went to a head seat and sat there. She looked beside her seat. It was another head seat that was empty.

She looked away sadly and looked in front of her.

Many Alphas from different packs came to the Crismon Red pack today. They wanted an alignment between the Crismon Red pack and their pack.

"Start the meeting."

One by one, everyone started to explain about their terms and needs. How could they help the pack members if they got the alliance?

After hearing all the things, Rose nodded and said, "I will tell you about the result next week till then, please keep patience and believe in yourself."

The meeting was over. Everyone nodded and left the room.

Rose felt a gaze. She turned her head and saw Blaze was looking at her. "You are not the same Rose anymore."

"Why did you say that?" She asked. Blaze came here after one month.

When they won the war, Blaze helped them a lot. After she fainted, he helped her that time. When she woke up she called him and explained to him that she could not leave. She didn't want to. Blaze, just like a good friend, respected her decision and left the pack with his beta and gamma.

Today Blaze came here for an alliance like other Alphas.

"Because you are not just an Omega now, but also the Crismon pack's Luna. Where is my friend? I want to talk to her." Blaze said.

Everyone laughed at his words. "You are right Blaze, she has changed a lot. She is now managing the whole pack alone. The power she held is unbelievable."

"Stop pestering me. And Blaze, your friend, is always here. She was just having a meeting. She can't behave childishly in front of the other Alphas, right?"

Blaze nodded at her. "I know that. I was just teasing you, Darling." He said and winked at her.

Rose rolled her eyes and stood up. "If my mate gets to know that you winked at me, he will pull out your eyes, dear."

"No worries. I will wait for that day. For you, I can be blind too."

Then he laughed at his own words. Everyone laughed, including Rose. They were good friends. Alpha Arvan's officials knew that Blaze was a good man, so they were friendly with him.

In the evening,

Rose went to the living room and saw Rita and Alice talking with Rivana.

"Mom, what do you think about this dress?" Rita asked Rivana while showing her some pictures.

"It's good dear," Ravana replied.

Alice laughed. "She is telling you this because she doesn't want to break your heart. But it is not a good dress. You should buy this." Alice said and showed her another dress.

Rivana saw Rose and asked, "You are done with your work?"

"Yes, mom." Rose said and sat on the couch. She sighed and leaned back on the couch.

"You are really working hard. I am sorry that you have to run the whole pack alone." Alpha Micheal said to her. He came from outside and saw the tired Rose.

"No dad, it's okay. He is my mate. So what if he hasn't marked me yet? I accepted him and the Moon Goddess witnessed it. So it's my duty to take his responsibilities."

Rivana stroked her hair. "You are a good child."

"What about us?" Rita and Alice said in unison.

"You two are my naughty kids." Rivana replied and they fakely pouted. Rose chuckled at them.

In that one month, everything had changed.

Rose, Alice became good friends with Rita. Alice now lived with Vector in the pack house. So they were always together.

About their other friend Delilah, she would be joining them soon. Henry proposed to her to be his chosen mate. She got to know that Henry's mate had died in the war one year ago. So she accepted him as her mate. Because she was a witch and they didn't have any mates. But she also liked Henry, so that was why she accepted him. Rose was happy for them.

After dinner, Rose went back to her room. She entered the room and closed the door. She took a shower and changed her clothes into a night robe. She came out of the bathroom while wiping her hair.

She glanced at the person who was lying down on the bed.

It was his pack house, his room, where she was living.

She put down the towel on the couch beside the bed and went to the bed. She lied down beside him. She looked at his handsome face.

"When will you wake up Arvan?" Tears rolled down to her cheeks.

"It has been one month since you became like this. Why are you sleeping so long? Why are you playing with me?" She caressed his eyebrow, which had a piercing.

"I am trying my best to control all the work. But still, the place is empty. It's because the pack's Alpha is not active. Do you want our pack to fall? It will fall soon without you. So please wake up."

She put her head on his chest and took his tattooed hand and kissed the back of his hand. "I could not even get a chance to say 'I love you' back. When you wake up, I will confess my feelings."

Then she slowly fell asleep. Before sleeping, she murmured, "I love you, Arvan."

When Rose woke up in the morning, she moved slightly from Arvan's chest. She looked up and saw that Arvan was looking at her. She thought she was hallucinating again. She smiled at him.

"I am hallucinating every day that you are looking at me. When will you wake up? Now I am getting bored. Come on, how long do I have to day dreaming like this?" She went to his lips and gave him a quick kiss.

But when she was about to move back, she felt a pull in her waist.

She looked up in horror.

"Y-YOU REALLY WOKE UP?"
