

One Night Stand With The Alpha King

14- Mischievous Honeymoon

TREVOR'S POV.

Seeing Therese walk into the aisle took my breath away. My heart overflowed with elation, as I couldn't believe I would be her mate for the rest of our lives.

There were no exact words that could describe the joy I felt in my chest, knowing I had abandoned her in the past. If only I had brought back the time, I would have chosen to be by her side and protect her from my enemies.

Despite it all, I never regret coming back to her life. I promised to love and take care of her and the twins no matter what happened.

I never thought she would get pregnant after that night. But I would deny the fact that it was one of the most unforgettable moments of my life.

I met tons of women, but Therese was different.

Her beauty, charisma, and light caught my attention. My dull life turned into a beautiful fairytale I had never imagined.

Overwhelmed by how things happened. I took a deep breath while watching my wife dance with her friends in the center aisle.

She looked happy, and it was such a dream come true for me.

Seeing Therese happy was one of my priorities, and I am willing to take all the risks for her.

Out of nowhere, Valor stood next to me and crossed his arms.

"Why are you here by yourself? You should have fun with your Luna."

His presence annoyed the hell out of me. Meeting him for the first time wasn't a great idea. But to earn Lord Thomas' trust, I swallowed my pride and faked everything in front of him.

"I'm giving her enough time to enjoy."

I replied.

Valor shrugged off his shoulders and squirmed at the glass of wine he was holding. I wanted to punch him right now, but I controlled myself as much as possible.

"I let you celebrate tonight without making any trouble. But when the right time comes, I'll take back what's supposed to be mine!"

My ears started to ring upon hearing those words. I closed my fists, desperate to throw a punch, when he chuckled, mocking me.

Then he disappeared like a cold breeze touching my skin.

"Goddamn it!"

I should have grabbed his collar and taught him a lesson.

But seeing Lord Thomas and Therese disappointed might break my heart into pieces. Today must be a special and unforgettable moment in our lives.

Instead of ruining everything, I chose to be silent and decided to dance with my wife.

As I walked toward the center aisle, everyone left Therese. She looked confused, trying to know what was going on.

"What's going on? Why did you leave me alone?"

Therese asked the guests.

No one answered until I stood behind her, holding back my breath.

"Can I take this chance to dance with you, my beloved wife?"

Therese turned around, realizing that I was standing right behind her. Her eyes filled with happiness, making me the luckiest alpha in the world.

"Oh, you tricked me!"

"I want to make things with you. From now on, you will never be alone because I'm here."

I lifted my face.

With a smile on her lips, Therese tilted her head as an answer. I couldn't ask for more than to be by her side for eternity.

Embraced with excitement, I placed my hands on her waist. Then we created a perfect harmony, making it easier for us to dance in front of the crowd.

"I love you, my Luna."

"I love you, my alpha."

Finally, I heard the sweetest things. I waited for so long. I worked hard to win her back and earn her trust that I would never abandon her again.

My heart stopped beating as I realized the butterflies in my stomach were true. I thought it was only a metaphor, not until it happened to me right now.

Dancing with her caught Lord Thomas' attention, and it was part of my plans. I made sure he saw how much I loved his daughter. If I had to fetch the moon to prove my love, I would do it no matter what.

"This is the happiest moment of my life."

Therese mumbled, staring deeply into my eyes.

As a response, I leaned closer and kissed her forehead in front of the guests. It doesn't matter as long as I show my love for her.

"Hail the newlyweds!"

"Hail, Alpha Trevor!"

"Hail Luna Therese!"

The crowd mumbled as it echoed around the entire hall.

The clock was ticking too loud upon reaching back home. Therese was drunk, and I didn't know where to start.

"Let's drink more, Trevor!"

"Come on! We should celebrate until dawn."

Therese spoke.

"Shh, you're drunk. You had enough, my lady."

I brought her to the soft mattress and took off her shoes.

"I should have stopped you earlier," I mumbled.

Therese giggled and looked straight into my eyes. She didn't look away, awakening the monster within me.

Then she bit the bottom of her lips, which caught my attention.

She said, "Why does the ceiling keep spinning around?"

I thought she would ask me to come over, but she asked a funny question instead. I laughed, making her confused.

"Why are you laughing? I'm telling you the truth!"

Her cheeks turned red, showing how beautiful she was. Even though there wasn't enough lightning, Therese looked gorgeous and attractive. It was enough for me to feel the warmth and urge to make love with her tonight.

A naughty idea flashed into my head. Instead of responding, I crawled into the bed without looking away from her eyes.

"Therese,"

She lifted her eyebrows, assuming I tried to annoy her.

"What? You laughed at me earlier!"

She pouted her kissable lips, urging me to kiss her.

"Damn it! You're so fucking gorgeous, and I can't wait to make it with you tonight!"

My voice cracked.

Excitement convinced me to grab her closer to me, 'til I sealed her with a passionate kiss.

"Hmm," Therese moaned.

Her moan persuaded me to be wild and naughty. I promised to wait until we got married, and tonight was the perfect moment to make love.

"You are mine tonight! I'll make sure it will be the most unforgettable and mischievous honeymoon for us!"

I whispered, biting the bottom of my lips.
