

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 128 You Bastard!

Bob sat down and pondered for a moment before saying, "This man is not simple."

"How is it not simple?"

Johny originally thought that Ceres's father was an ordinary poor man. He might take the blame for others or he killed people out of impulse. Either way, Johny could clear the injustice for him.

He had taught Ceres very well. It could be concluded that he was not a person who would commit crimes.

"He is a killer."

Johny was shocked!

"Do you remember the person who assassinated you last time? They came from an organization codenamed 9. This organization is very mysterious and powerful internationally. According to my investigation, Ceres's father is an elite of this organization!"

Johny crossed his arms. "Keep going."

"His original code name was Red Phoenix, which implied rebirth and immortality. He completed a lot of difficult assassination missions alone and never failed. He killed many people."

"Was he imprisoned because of this?"

But since he was imprisoned for murder, how could it be said that he had never failed?

Bob shook his head. "No, no one knows that he is Red Phoenix. He retired many years ago, but I don't know why he was suddenly sued for murder and the case was closed smoothly. I also found out that he is Red Phoenix by chance and now the police still don't know. He has many enemies and Interpol are looking for him."

Bob snorted, "This man is very smart. He probably knows that he has too many enemies, so he hid in the prison. After all, the prison in our country is much safer. Nobody would have thought that he would hide in the prison!"

Johny was in a dilemma. For Ceres, her father was probably the best in the world, but he was a murderous devil!

What would Ceres feel if she knew about this?

"Did you find the wrong person?" This was the first time Johny questioned Bob's investigation results.

"Johny, I think you've been blinded by love." Bob looked at Johny and smiled.

Johny believed the things Bob had investigated. Bob's uncle had a military background, and he also had relatives in Interpol. Although his family was operating the hospital, no one was better than him when it came to an investigation.

"I just think this is too strange."

Bob heaved a long sigh of relief. "I found out about this myself for I happened to see some information. Don't worry, I didn't tell anyone."

Johny trusted Bob. If Bob had said it, then Ceres's father would probably have died.

"Continue to investigate. Tell me if there is any progress."

"Alright."

After Bob left, Johny didn't come back to his senses for a long time. How should he explain to Ceres?

Ceres would never believe it.

For some reason, since Ceres's father came from an organization codenamed 9 and the person who assassinated him also came from this organization, he felt they were connected.

He hoped he was thinking too much.

At the hospital.

Henry came on the third day of Mary's stay in the hospital. When he came, he was frustrated for he had a hard time these days.

As soon as he saw Henry coming over, Mike angrily rebuked, "You finally come! Mary has had a miscarriage. As the father of the child, you have not shown up for three days!"

Henry showed no care at all, "The child has already gone, so why should I come? Moreover, even if the kid was born, it would be useless because Johny stood up."

"You..." Mike angrily covered his chest. "No matter what, you and Mary are married. You have to do your duty as a father, right? Henry, that's your baby! Even if he can't get benefits for you, he is still your flesh and blood! Won't your heart hurt?"

Henry sneered at Mike's flustered appearance, "Hurt? Of course, it hurts."

Henry patted his chest as he spoke, "Johny stabbed my heart slowly. I did so much, but I still couldn't stop him! I'm about to die from pain!"

At this moment, Mike finally saw clearly that in Henry's eyes, there would always be benefits.

Henry would never put his darling daughter at heart.

"You bastard!" To seek justice for Mary, Mike rushed forward to beat Henry, but he was pushed back.

"Then what are you? Don't you want to use Mary to take revenge for that finger of yours? In the end, we're the same!"

Henry looked at the pale Mary on the bed. "I haven't gotten even with her yet! She made a big fuss at the wedding like crazy. If she hadn't acted so improperly, she wouldn't lose the kid and the scene wouldn't go out of control. At least we could have saved face, but now..."

Henry shouted angrily, "I have become a laughing stock! A laughing stock! A laughing stock in the entire circle of rich and powerful!"

Mary sat on the bed and looked at Henry, expressionless. After experiencing so much, she was no longer the innocent little girl.

She seemed to have grown up overnight.

"Go away! Leave now!" Mike picked up a chair on the ground and threw it at Henry.

Henry dodged and left the ward with a snort.

Mike walked to the bed, "Mary, when you are discharged from the hospital, divorce him! Dad will support you for a lifetime!"

Mary remained expressionless.

Two days later, the doctor allowed Mary to leave the hospital. Mike went through the discharge procedures. Sally wrapped Mary tightly, afraid that she would be sick in the cold.

After getting into the car, Sally put on another set of clothes for Mary, "You can't get cold. It's easy for a woman to get illness upon getting an abortion."

"Let's go. Drive slowly and steadily." Mike instructed the driver.

"Dad, Mom, send me back to the Winsor's."

Mike and Sally turned to Mary in shock.

"Mary, Daddy is ready to get you a divorce. Why are you still..."

"I'm married to Henry. I'm his wife. Of course, I have to go back." Mary smiled faintly. "Mom, you are right. As long as I don't divorce Henry, I will be the female ruler of the Winsor family."

Mary looked at Mike. "Dad, I'll take revenge for all the grudges."