

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 132 Why Did You Treat Her Like That?

Mary turned to look at Ceres with hatred.

She thought, 'Ceres, this was the first step of my revenge. Get ready to face my anger.'

Ceres checked the time and realized that it was time to get off work. She did not go to the company but went straight home because the next day was her day off. She directly took a car back to Evian Town.

She remembered that she had been staying in Evian Town during her pregnancy and abortion, so it must be here if she had really taken the drug to avoid pregnancy.

She had to find truth here.

As soon as she entered the courtyard, she heard someone shouting loudly.

"You can't even do such an easy job! What else can I expect from you? Hurry up and put away the trash!"

Ceres took a closer look and saw that it was Mia. She was scolded again.

Johnny drove her out of the villa and asked her to do rough work outside. She had been doing that for a few months. But they moved away and left her behind.

The work outside was rough. Mia was the only young girl in the worker group, it was difficult for her to do such a rough work.

Ceres entered the living room and asked someone to call Mia in.

Mia timidly walked in after a few minutes. She knelt on the ground when Ceres was about to speak.

"Ms. Taylor, please spare me. I really can't take it anymore. Look at my hands." Mia said and raised her hands.

Her hands were once fair and delicate, but now they were full of calluses. Her skin was rough and full of wounds. It was really heartbreaking to look at.

"I really know I was wrong. I don't want to do rough work outside any more. Miss Taylor, I beg you, please pity me!" Mia kept kowtowing and crying.

Ceres looked at the people around her. There were many people in the villa. She did not know who she could trust, and who could not trust. She said, "Get up. Come with me to the bedroom."

Then, Ceres went upstairs and Mia followed behind her.

"Master Johnny and I lived here during the vocation. Did you notice anything strange?"

Mia bit her lip and then shook her head.

Ceres said, "Tell me what you know, I will let you go back to the villa to work if you tell me. The salary is the same as before."

"Ms. Taylor, I really want to go back to the villa, but there's really nothing different about it. Everyone was carefully serving you at that time."

Ceres thought about it carefully. If someone really put a medicine into her food, probably only one or two people knew about that.

Ceres continued, "You should know that I was pregnant and had an abortion later, right?"

Mia suddenly raised her head and knelt on the ground with a thud. "Ms. Taylor, spare me! Ms. Taylor, spare me!"

Ceres looked at Mia and said, "Then tell me the truth."

"It's ... it's Master Johnny. Master Johnny told me to do that. I didn't know that thing would cause an abortion. I thought it was a tonic!"

At that moment, Ceres was completely heartbroken!

Just like what she thought, she had eaten something that she should not eat.

"Tell me clearly, what is it?"

"It's some medicines. Master Johnny asked me to put it in your food every day, especially the ones with a big taste. I secretly put them in the food every day after I finished cooking."

Ceres clenched her fists. "Mia, if you dare to lie to me, I will definitely make you suffer more!"

"I don't dare to lie! I really don't dare! I thought that Master Johnny felt that the medicine was bitter, so he didn't dare to tell you. He let me secretly put it into the food. I really didn't know that the medicine could make you have an abortion!"

Mia started to kowtow again and again.

"Maybe you still hate me, so you took the initiative to drug me and slandered the Master Johnny, right?" Ceres looked at Mia fiercely.

"No! I don't dare! Ms. Taylor, those are all precious medicinal herbs. I have been working hard to feed myself during this period of time. How can I have the money to get such precious medicinal herbs? If Ms. Taylor doesn't believe me, I can show you that medicinal herbs."

Mia kowtowed a few more times, making her forehead red.

Ceres closed her eyes in pain when she heard Mia's words. She remembered what Mary had said.

"You may leave." Ceres waved her hand and said to Mia.

"Ms. Taylor, you don't punish me?"

"Go back to the villa and do your work. Just say that it is my order."

"Thank you, Ms. Taylor! Thank you, Ms. Taylor!" Mia kowtowed a few more times before standing up. She glanced at Ceres when she was about to leave. Ceres looked very upset.

Mia's words were all taught by Mary.

She had finally vented her anger. This young mistress would be kicked out soon.

It was not in vain that she had worked so hard during the vocation and made so many medicines to put into Ceres's food.

Ceres sat in bed and thought for a long time.

She began to wonder if it was arranged by Mary, but Mary had only come here once for a very short time. It was impossible for her to make so much relationship with Mia and make so many arrangements.

It would be somewhat hard to explain if it really was Mary.

If it was Johnny, that would make sense. After all, Johnny knew that Mia had a conflict with Ceres before. If one day this matter was exposed, it could be said that Mia had her own hatred and deliberately harmed her. He would be innocent.

But she had said clearly that she didn't want a child. He could have told her directly and avoided pregnancy! Why did he use this method?

It caused her to have an abortion.

The child was a living life!

As Ceres thought about it, tears fell uncontrollably.

Why did Johnny not want to be honest with her? He could focus on his career and not have children for the time, but why did he use this way? Why?

Ceres stayed here for a long time. She took a rooster when she left.

On the way back, all of Johnny's goodness appeared in her mind. Could it be that Johnny wanted her to focus on her job? But he harmed their child accidentally. He actually didn't do it on purpose. This should be the case, right?

Ceres could only think this way.

When she returned home, Ceres settled the rooster and went back to her room.

The sky was already dark when Johnny came back. Because he didn't need to come back with Ceres, he worked overtime for a while.

As soon as he came back, he saw Ceres lying on the bed and shrinking.

He walked over quietly and reached out to touch her forehead. "Are you sick?"

Ceres sat up and said, "No."

"I heard you went to Evian Town."
