

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 142 The Problem Was Solved

Sally finally sat opposite Johnny.

Johnny's face was as gloomy as the dark sky before the storm, which made people feel somewhat afraid.

Ceres sent Johnny a message, "When will you be back? The hotpot is ready."

Johnny immediately replied, "You guys eat first, I will go back later."

Then he put his phone on the table and gazed at Sally with a sharp, penetrating look, "If you dare to lie, you know what the consequences will be."

"I don't dare!" Sally hastily shook her head, "I know what your current predicament is. I promise that after I tell you everything, your problem will be readily solved! But I have conditions."

Sally mustered the courage to negotiate with Johnny.

This was something she had only thought of after she had returned from prison. She could not do as George had said. She was not sure what George could give her, so she had to hedge her bets.

"What are you to negotiate with me?" Johnny sneered.

"I... I am Ceres' mother!"

"You've already cut off your relationship."

Sally didn't expect Johnny to even know about this matter. "That was just a joke. It's nothing more than angry words. How could the relationship between mother and daughter be cut off so easily? No matter what I did, I am Ceres' biological mother! It's unarguable!"

Johnny didn't want to do anything to Sally. Although she and Ceres had cut off their relationship, he knew that Ceres couldn't be ruthless to her own mother.

"Alright, then go ahead." Johnny leaned back and crossed his legs.

"If I tell you about this, you must promise me that you will let off the Morris Group. You will no longer get us in trouble in the future."

Sally was really asking for too much.

"You wish," Johnny said without even thinking.

Sally also knew that she was asking for too much. "Or give me money! I want 50 million! I can guarantee that my information is absolutely worth 50 million!"

She reached out a hand.

"Then I have to see if your information is worth 50 million." Johnny raised his eyebrows, "I don't have that much time to waste on you. If you don't say now, I wanna go home and have dinner with Ceres."

Johnny stood up as he spoke.

Sally immediately stood up as well, "Don't do! I'll tell you! Is your biggest headache now about Ceres's father being a murderer?"

Johnny didn't reply. This naturally gave him a headache, but the more troubling thing was that George had killed his mother.

He had now hidden the information because he was worried that Jack would learn about that. Although Jack didn't love Johnny's mother at all, it was his wife that was killed after all. Once Jack found out the fact, George would certainly die and Ceres would not be able to escape!

"Then if George isn't Ceres' father at all, wouldn't this problem be solved?"

Johnny looked at Sally in astonishment, "You mean..."

Sally's looked quite embarrassed. After all, this was not good for her reputation. She lowered her head and stroked her hair, "Yes, I had an affair. I wanted to leave George back then, so I had an affair with another man. George had no fertility and he was absolutely not Ceres' father."

"Is what you are saying true?"

Johnny did not dare to easily believe such news.

"Is there a need for me to lie to you? I have planned to hide this and not to tell anyone. What good would it do me?"

Sally shot Johnny a glance.

Johnny thought that it was right. Which woman would want others to know that she had an affair? If she told others that George was not Ceres' biological father, then it would be confirmed that she had cheated!

"Then who is Ceres' biological father?"

"Well ... I don't know either."

Johnny narrowed his eyes, and his gaze became even deeper.

"I don't know," repeated Sally.

Johnny understood that this woman was a money-grubber. She had most likely been trying to find the next husband before getting rid of George. In the end, she had sex with a stranger, but that man had slipped away.

"Write down what happened at that time in detail."

"Are you going to look for Ceres' biological father?" Sally finally understood Johnny's intention.

"That's right."

Sally thought about it carefully. Perhaps it would not be a bad idea for her. Although she did not know who the man was, she couldn't have chosen an ordinary man.

She remembered that the man drove a very luxurious sports car. He should be a rich man. If he was found, she might get a large sum of money since she had given birth to a daughter for him.

Sally then wrote down all the details and handed them to Johnny.

Johnny finally saw hope. If George was not Ceres' father, then Ceres was not his enemy's daughter. Many problems could really be solved easily.

"Hey, Johnny, I've told you everything and also helped you solve a big problem. It's time to talk about my conditions, isn't it?"

Johnny sneered, "You are Ceres' mother. You don't need to negotiate with me. Let's talk about it later."

After saying that, Johnny asked his subordinates to send Sally out. Sally was thinking as she walked, 'What does Johnny mean? '

She suddenly laughed out loud. 'It seems that he has accepted me as his mother-in-law. That's great. I don't have to worry about money in the future!'

Johnny quickly sent all the information Sally provided to Bob and asked him to investigate.

"Bob, you have to be quick!"

He had to solve all the problems before Jack knew about it!

At Villa Amio

The dining room was filled with the smell of hotpot. One side of the two-flavor hot pot was spicy soup and the other side was mushroom soup. Ceres had prepared two flavors.

The light mushroom soup was for Johnny.

And the spicy soup was for her and Bill.

The two of them chatted happily.

"Ceres, the beef balls are so delicious! And the shrimp puree is tasty! It's so yummy!" Bill mumbled while eating.

"Then have more." Ceres chuckled.

She looked at the clock. It was already past seven and Johnny had yet to return.

He had promised to have the hotpot with her today.

"What has Johnny been busy with recently? Why is he so busy these days?" asked Ceres.

Bill chewed and answered, "He's not busy."

"Damn, aren't you going too far? You can even show off your love alone. He has left for such a short time and you begin to miss him now, don't you?"

Ceres smiled with embarrassment. It turned out that Johnny wasn't busy, but why was he so abnormal recently?

"Ceres, speaking of which, you and Johnny are destined to be together. Do you remember that when you were working as a drummer in our bar before?"

Ceres nodded. The Jazz Bar had opened two and a half years ago. At that time, other bars had fixed bands. Since the Jazz Bar had just opened and the owner was looking for a good band, Ceres wanted to have a try.

"Johnny saw you at that time! You were wearing a mask, so we couldn't see your face clearly. He said in the private room that the band that day was good, and the drummer was nice. Do you think that if you knew each other at that time, you would have been together long ago?"

Ceres thought that something was wrong. At that time, Johnny should have been in a vegetative state!