

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 149 Every Problem Could Be Readily Solved

The Winsors

After what happened last time, Jack was extremely disappointed in Johny. He did not expect that Johny loved Ceres so much that Johny was indifferent to beautiful Annie.

Jack was drinking coffee in the coffee house. The busy work recently made him exhausted, so he looked much older than usual.

Colin and the secretary walked into the coffee house together. Jack opened his eyes slowly at the sound of footsteps and sat up straight.

"What is going on? How's the investigation going?"

Since he knew that Ceres's father was a murderer, Jack had been investigating him and wanted to find some clues.

The secretary nodded slightly, "I've found some important clues. Master Johny has been working on it lately, and he's been trying to keep the information from getting out. Therefore, I busted my ass trying to get these clues. Mr. Jack, George is a professional killer. Moreover, he's the one who killed Mrs. Winsor."

"Mrs. Winsor?" Jack thought for a while but didn't know who the secretary was talking about.

"The biological mother of Master Johny."

Jack was shocked. His wife, his first wife!

Jack's first wife was a one-in-a-million woman. She was of Augsta blood. Not only was she beautiful, but she was also talented. Johny was born because of the combination of her perfect genes and Jack.

Jack had no love for any woman, and if there was, he loved the genes they had.

His first wife was assassinated for no apparent reason. At that time, he was very sad and asked someone to investigate. Unfortunately, nothing could be found. Later, he let it go because of a lack of energy.

He never thought that after so many years, he could find out the truth!

Mary saw Colin and the secretary come to the coffee house, thinking that they must have something important to report, so she cautiously stood outside.

Hardly had she put her ear to the door when she heard a sound coming from inside.

"Mr. Jack, shall we kill George?" Colin asked.

Colin knew that although Jack did not love his wife, he would avenge her death.

At that moment, Jack suddenly smiled. Every problem could be readily solved.

"Keep it a secret."

Mary was confused. What's the secret?

"Call all the people back and let Johny settle it down himself." With his eyes narrowed, Jack saw the dawn of victory.

"Mr. Jack..." The secretary had worked so hard to find out the truth, now he's gonna stop?

"Johny is going to kill George." Jack was sure about that.

Mary was shocked. George?

She remembered that Ceres's father's name was George.

Johny was going to kill George?

Wasn't Johny going to save George?

She put her ear to the door again and listened carefully.

"Regardless of the reason, he must kill George. I know my son well." Jack exhaled with relief, "Didn't he want to marry Ceres? If he wanted to marry her, he had to kill George."

Only then did Mary realize that Johny wanted to kill George to marry Ceres.

"What if Master Johny won't kill him? It has been so long, maybe Master Johny has other ideas." The secretary reminded Jack hurriedly.

Jack suddenly realized that what the secretary said made sense. His son has changed a lot. Just in case, he must have a backup plan.

"Arrange some people to keep an eye on the prison. Once Johny doesn't kill George, we will do it for him. George must die." Jack showed a ruthless expression.

"Okay!"

Mary felt excited to hear this, and she immediately left the coffee house cautiously.

Because Johny knew that the father of the young mistress of the Winsors could not be a murderer, he must kill George. Only in this way could he successfully marry Ceres into the Windsor.

Even if Johny didn't kill George, Jack would kill George. At that time, Johny would be the scapegoat.

In this way, Johny would become Ceres's enemy for killing her father, and Ceres would hate Johny forever!

How could Mary not tell Ceres such exciting news?

Ceres sat alone on the bed until dawn. She finally made up her mind to break up with Johny. Now she decided to leave the man full of lies.

So she opened the wardrobe to pack her clothes.

However, she found that none of the clothes in the wardrobe had been bought by herself, but by Johny.

At this time, Sofia came upstairs and knocked on the door, "Mrs. Winsor, there is a young lady with the surname of Morris looking for you outside."

Morris?

Ceres did not expect that Mary would come to her. It seemed that the Morris Group was about to go bankrupt. Mary must have had a hard time in the Winsors and had no time to care about others. How could Mary get to her?

Mary was also shocked when she saw Ceres's listless appearance.

In Mary's impression, Ceres used to be full of energy every day like a fighting cock!

"It's a relief to see you're not good." Mary sat on the sofa and laughed.

Ceres didn't want to talk to Mary, "Are you happier than me? The Morris Group is about to go bankrupt. How long can you, the young mistress of the Winsors, be happy? I can't believe you had the leisure time to make fun of me."

Mary immediately became embarrassed.

Certainly, she was worried about that. Once the Morris Group went bankrupt, the day that the Winsors drove her out was approaching, so she has been very uneasy recently.

"If you have something to say, say it quickly. If there's nothing else, I will go."

Mary grabbed Ceres's wrist, "I came here to tell you a big piece of news."

"I'm not interested in your news." Ceres shook off Mary's wrist.

"Did you see the words I sent you on WeChat last time? Johny and Annie are so close that they may soon be engaged. You know that Johny only cares about his career!"

"Are you finished? Sofia, see her out!" Ceres had a headache suddenly.

After saying that, Ceres stood up, and Mary grabbed Ceres's wrist again, "I'm gonna say the news, and you're gonna bear it."

Ceres looked at Mary with disdain and shook her hand off again.

"Johny is going to kill your father," Mary said in a low voice.

Ceres was extremely astonished!
