

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 159 14th Day of the First Lunar Month

It was the New Year again.

This New Year was very cold. It snowed heavily on the first day of the New Year. Last year, it didn't snow much. The snow volume this year was twice as in last year.

Heavy snow covered everything, and the outside was white, clean, and pure.

The only New Year atmosphere in this villa was probably Lilian. The people who were responsible for guarding this place were all men. Many of them probably did not even have family, so they had no concept of New Year.

Lilian was a very polite person. She cut a lot of window flowers and stuck them in the villa. She even made lanterns by herself. On New Year's Eve, she had prepared a lot of noodles and fillings and made dumplings together with Ceres.

Lilian was very popular among guarding men who called her Sister Lilian because she was very good to everyone.

Johnny returned to Evian Town during the New Year.

Thinking back to last year, Johnny was celebrating New Year with Ceres, which seemed to have happened yesterday. Johnny and Jack had quarreled against each other and had not returned to the Winsors this year.

It was said that Jack was seriously ill and had stayed in the hospital for a long time. But he was fine now. He was just weak and needed to pay more attention.

Bob came to Evian Town along with Bill. Ever since Ceres was gone, the two of them never saw Johnny smile.

Although Johnny didn't like to smile in the past, he would occasionally joke with them and make fun of them, but now his heart seemed dead.

The three of them ate the hot pot. The hot pot warmed the entire room, but it could not warm Johnny's heart.

Johnny could not find Ceres even he searched almost all the industries under the Winsors for so long!

"This meatball is not delicious at all. The beef ball made by Ceres last time was even more delicious. God, that is the most delicious beef ball I have ever eaten!"

Bill couldn't help but sigh.

Bob hurriedly stepped on his foot under the table. Bill was really asking for trouble!

Bill immediately realized that he had said the wrong thing, "Brother, I don't mean anything else. Actually, the beef ball made by Ceres is very ordinary and similar."

Bob glared at Bill fiercely, "Was he an idiot?"

Johnny's face turned black.

Bob hurriedly said, "Johnny, don't be too anxious. There are so many industries in your family. Maybe you missed something. I'll check if there are any industries that are not registered."

Johnny kept eating and pretended to be fine. Since Ceres was kidnapped, everything he ate was for survival.

"Maybe I was wrong."

Because Johnny hadn't been able to find Ceres for a long time, he began to doubt himself.

Maybe Jack hid her somewhere else, or maybe she was overseas?

"Johnny, I heard from my dad that Uncle Jack was decisive. There's no need for him to save Ceres, so I think..." Bill interrupted.

It was very possible that Ceres was already dead.

"Shut up!" Bob angrily rebuked. Bill had been originally called here to liven up the atmosphere, but why did he always say the wrong thing!

"Am I wrong? If she is dead, what are you looking for? There are so many women in the world, why are you so persistent? Johnny, let's give up. Ceres must be dead. Is there anything you can't find out? Since you can't find it, she is dead! Do you understand?" Bill replied.

Johnny dropped his chopsticks and punched Bill's face.

Bill took a few steps back, and his blood immediately flowed out of his nose.

"Even though I had known you would hit me, I would still want to say it too! Johnny, you have been decadent for a long time. Don't be stubborn anymore, okay? Forget it! You have done enough for her! What kind of identity is she? It is worth it to be doted on for so long!"

In the past few months, Bill couldn't bear to see Johnny so sad. He finally said what he wanted to say.

Bob stopped Johnny, "Johnny, what Bill said is nonsense! But what he said makes sense! You can't keep looking like this! How long are you going to keep looking? How long are you going to be depressed? Can't you live without her?"

Johnny was pretty different from before.

Johnny was working all the time. He made himself busy to numb himself. When he was not working, he smoked and drank without any entertainment.

He didn't go to the gym, nor did he go to the bar. He was full of decadence.

Neither of his friends wished for him to be like this, they wished for him to truly live.

"I don't want to see all of you!" Johnny finished the glass of wine on the table and strode upstairs.

He used to be in Ceres's bedroom. Looking at everything familiar, his heart ached over and over again.
