

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 178 You Are Not Welcomed

When Sally came, Mary was still anxious like a headless chicken.

Because Ceres's sudden appearance disrupted all her plans.

Now, she could only rely on Sally's advice.

Sally was very calm. She quickly waved her hands, "Mary, we can find a way. So sit down first, you made me dizzy."

"Mom, it's fine if Ceres comes back alone, but she brought her son with her!" Mary couldn't sit still at all.

She lowered her voice, afraid that it would leak out.

"Is... is Johny with her?" Sally asked tentatively.

"I don't know!"

Then Mary suddenly shook her head, "I'm sure he isn't. Because that toy store belongs to the Eagle Group. If Ceres was with Johny, why would she go there? She could just tell Johny."

Thinking of this, Mary finally calmed down.

"Looks like Ceres is still holding a grudge against Johny," she said with a smile.

Mary finally sat down calmly. If it was true, Ceres would be much easier to deal with.

Perhaps she wouldn't need to do it herself.

"What kind of grudge?" Sally asked.

"Ceres's father was murdered by Johny," Mary looked at Sally, "I eavesdropped from Mr. Jack when he was talking to someone. Johny must kill George before he married Ceres. And I told Ceres about this."

It seemed that Mary was correct!

Sally's face was full of confusion.

"By the way, mom, where did you find Brice? He is such an idiot! In the mall, he was defeated by Ceres's son and was teased to be a spoiled young master!"

Mary suddenly mentioned Brice.

"Shut up!" Sally suddenly became serious, and Mary hurriedly stopped talking.

"Don't discuss Brice here!"

"But he's too stupid. Mr. Jack doesn't like him either." Mary pouted.

"Then hurry up and have another one! You are still young! Did you take the medicine that I've brought to you?"

"Yes, it was so bitter and I haven't got its efficacy yet." Mary looked at her flat belly helplessly.

She was only in her early twenties and was one year younger than Ceres. Other girls at her age might have just begun their career and had just fallen in love. However, she felt like a middle-aged woman.

She had to worry about her child, her husband, and money.

"Mom will find you a good doctor and you need to pay more attention to it."

"I see."

"Then I'll go back. Don't be too anxious. I will keep an eye on her, too."

"Okay."

Sally comforted Mary and then left. On the way home, she thought a lot.

'If Mary hadn't suddenly gotten pregnant, the Winsors would have collapsed. At that time, I had been pinning my hope on Ceres and finding myself a way out. Unfortunately, Ceres had too much resentment towards me.'

'Now, although the Morris Group hadn't gone bankrupt and Mary is still one of the Winsors, no one can predict what will happen.'

I have to prepare early. Eggs could not be placed in one basket. I couldn't pin all my hopes on Mary.'

At the Eagle Group.

Johny hadn't dealt with the company affairs in the past few days. The sudden appearance of Ceres and Swedum disturbed his thoughts.

"Johny, since you have a son, don't be so uptight. Hurry up and bring him and Ceres back."

Bob was happy for Johny when he heard that Ceres had given birth to a son. His family would be reunited. And this would be a happy ending.

Johny didn't say anything. He would like to, but he didn't know how to.

Bob added, "You are such a male chauvinist. Ceres is a smart girl. You were always thinking for her before because you were afraid that she would be hurt. But don't forget she is a very sensitive girl. She couldn't bear your concealment and deception."

"So I think you have to confess! Tell her everything. She would probably be sad, and unable to accept it. But I believe that she is strong enough to endure it with your accompany."

Johny suddenly heaved a sigh of relief and nodded solemnly.

"By the way, our new products have sold out and we got fine feedbacks. And it is said that two children had fought for a toy car in one of our flagship stores. I think we can start our next step now."

"They fought for a toy car?" Johny was surprised.

"Yes, it's nothing much for this. But our products suddenly went viral because of it. I heard that one of the two children played with the toy car very well and the audience all cheered. Some videos were uploaded to the Internet, and you can search for it."

"I'll leave now, and you should put the company aside and handle your personal affairs first," Bob said. Then he walked out of the office.

Johny quickly searched the video on the Internet. As soon as he clicked it, he recognized Ceres and Swedum soon!

Swedum wanted that toy car, it's like a piece of cake for him!

Johny immediately called the technical department and asked them to make one as fast as possible.

On that day, Ceres returned home after work and discussed what to eat with Swedum. He wanted to eat fried chicken, but Ceres refused. She said that it was junk food.

Just as they were arguing, the doorbell rang.

"Alright, stop, the cook is here." Ceres put down the tablet.

She guessed that it most likely be Kirs. Recently, as long as he had time, he would come over to cook for her and Swedum. And if not, she would order takeout.

Ceres opened the door, "Kri ...". However, it was not Kirs but was Johny instead.

Johny's face sank when he heard Ceres's voice.

"Why is she so looking forward to seeing Kirs?' He thought.

"Why do you come?" Ceres looked away and said, "As a master of the Winsors, don't you feel it inappropriate to keep following people? You are not welcomed."

Swedum walked to the door and looked outside, "Wow! It's my car!"