

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 186 I Will Definitely Win You

In Villa Amio.

Johnny leaned against the big bed where he had many sweet memories with Ceres, swaying a glass of red wine in his hand.

In the red light, he seemed to see Ceres's playful face again, who was sitting on the ground and acting like a spoiled child.

Thinking so, Johnny couldn't help but smile.

The phone next to him rang several times.

He picked it up and looked.

There were messages from a chatting group. The group members were Johnny, Bob, and Bill.

"Johnny, you deliberately lost the competition! Weren't you determined to win this competition?"

"Johnny, you are so mighty and cool! I didn't expect you to love your girlfriend so much! It seems that I have taught you so well."

"Johnny, so you did it for her? But do you know how much money we're going to lose this time? Several companies abroad have sent letters of intent. One project is more than one billion! You can do the math!"

"Oh my God! Johnny, are you really going to put in so much money?"

"It doesn't matter. Johnny, as long as you can make your girlfriend change her mind, I will support you."

Johnny did not reply and put his phone aside.

Just as Johnny was about to go to sleep, the sound of someone patting on the door heavily came from downstairs!

"Johnny, come out!"

This voice was so familiar.

Johnny immediately went downstairs.

Sofia, who was in the villa, was awakened by the noise. When she got up to open the door, she saw Johnny coming downstairs.

"Sir, it's so late now. Who is it..."

Ever since Johnny and the Winsor family had completely broken off, Johnny had asked the servants at home to call him sir instead of Master Johnny.

He was no longer the eldest young master of the Winsor family, but merely Johnny, who had nothing to do with the Winsor family anymore.

"It doesn't matter, Sofia. You can go back."

Sofia nodded and returned to her room.

Johnny opened the door and saw the angry Ceres. Ceres grabbed Johnny's collar and said, "Give my son back! Give him to me!"

"What happened to Swedum?" Johnny frowned and looked at Ceres.

"Don't play dumb! Johnny, you deliberately lost to me and make me neglectful in taking precautions. You've been trying to take my son away for so long, right? You are too despicable! Give him back to me!"

Ceres roared. She wanted to strangle Johnny. Johnny did not resist and let her push him against the wall.

"I didn't take Swedum away."

"Stop lying! Who else could it be if not you?"

When she got home, Ceres found that Nick and Swedum were not home. She called Nick, but his phone was turned off. Although Nick was an occasional muddle-headed boy, Ceres was sure that Nick's phone was fully charged before the start of the game. It could not be out of battery.

So her first reaction was that Johnny had taken her son away!

"I really didn't take Swedum with me. If you continue making a scene here, it will be a waste of time! I'm not the only one who wants Swedum!" Johnny roared, causing Ceres to let go and slowly calm down.

Yes, Johnny was not the only one who wanted Swedum.

At that time, Jack chose not to kill Ceres because she was pregnant. Besides, Mary was dubious. She knew that Ceres had come back with a son. Mary must be worried that Ceres's son would be superior to her own son.

Therefore, it was possible that it really wasn't Johnny.

Johnny loosened his tie. When did Swedum disappear?

"I called my assistant when the competition is over at ten o'clock. He was still fine at that time. I went home at twelve o'clock, and then I saw nobody," Ceres said slowly.

She was no longer that angry and anxious.

"Where did you guys separate? Did your assistant have a driver? Which road did you take? Tell me all of this. I'll go and investigate immediately! We have to do it as early as possible! Hurry up! They definitely haven't gone far yet."

Ceres answered Johnny's questions one by one.

Johnny changed his shoes at the door and took his coat. "You've been busy all day today. Take a rest here first. I'll go get Swedum back."

Just as Johnny was about to leave the house, Ceres grabbed her wrist. "Is it really not you?"

Although Ceres also began to doubt others, for some reason, she still suspected Johnny very much. Perhaps she had lost the ability to trust him since she had been deceived by Johnny several years ago.

Johnny stared at Ceres in the eyes.

The light in her eyes was like the water in the deep pool, mysterious and cold.

"Ceres, you better remember this. I am sure I can win you. I don't need to waste my time for such a thing."

Ceres slowly loosened her hand.

She clearly heard that he was determined to win her.

Johnny suddenly reached out and touched Ceres's head. Like before, he rubbed her cheeks with his thumb.

"Take a rest and wait for me here. I will bring our son back." Johnny immediately left the room.

Ceres stood still in a daze, as if she had lost her soul.

Johnny was determined to get her, so he still had her in his heart. He still wanted to be with her.

Ceres wondered if her guess was right.

She felt that there were two people fighting in her mind. One person was telling her that for the sake of her child, for the man who once loved her deeply, for herself who once loved Johnny deeply, she should be with him and forget all the hatred.

The other person told her that Johnny had deceived her so many times, and there would be endless deception in the future. If he really loved her, he would not be engaged to that Annie. Maybe in Johnny's eyes, there was only interest. Love was always secondary. Most importantly, Johnny was the one who killed her father.

She shook her head forcefully, and the lights in the room suddenly were turned on.

Ceres turned around and saw Sofia.

Sofia was a little surprised to see Ceres. "Well... Madam, you're back? That's great! I thought I was dreaming!"

Ceres forced out a smile. When she was living in this villa before, Sofia had treated her very well.

Sofia excitedly put on her coat. "Madam, Mr. Johnny really misses you. Look at how strong this rooster has become after being raised by Mr. Johnny!"

As she spoke, Sofia led Ceres to a room where the rooster was sleeping.

That was her rooster!

"Hubby..."

When Ceres was kidnapped that day, her rooster fought with the bad guys, and she saw clearly that the rooster was injured and thrown into the nearby bushes. She had always thought that the rooster must have died.

She didn't expect Johnny to find it and raise it carefully.

"Ever since Madam left, this rooster rarely crows, and Mr. Johnny hardly smiles. Fortunately, Madam, you are back!"

Sofia could not help but burst into tears!
