

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 196 Let's Start Afresh

For female celebrities, the hospital was a very important place.

Especially when they went to the hospital with men.

Many news headlines said that Mr. Jaden had knocked a female star up, so they went to make an appointment for surgery. Some even said that they might be secretly married.

The news broke out one after another. Bill and Alice were also photographed when they went to the hotel last time. However, the paparazzi thought that the news was common. and it was meaningless to expose the photos.

However, the photos had been exposed when the news that Bill and Alice went to the hospital together came out.

Nancy asked her to go to the company when Alice saw the news.

Nancy dropped the newspapers and magazines in front of Alice.

"Alice, how did I tell you in our first meeting? I repeatedly stressed that you should not take shortcuts, especially not provoke Mr. Jaden! Look at the news!"

Alice flipped through the magazines.

She didn't expect that encountering Mr. Jaden two times was all photographed.

What made her even sadder was that in the news, her name was so insignificant that some pieces of news even directly replaced her name with an unfamous female celebrity.

She had been in the entertainment circle for more than three years, but she didn't deserve to have her name.

It was pathetic.

"I don't have that kind of relationship with Mr. Jaden. We just have a common friend, so I encounter Mr. Jaden at the hospital." Alice's voice was very weak. She knew that her answer was not persuasive.

"Who cares about the truth? Everyone only believes in the gossip! No matter what you did in the hospital, they will say that you have been knocked up and you seek connections with the bigwigs."

Nancy was so angry that she paced back and forth in the room. She had always been very strict with her artists. Nancy did not expect that such a thing would happen under her leadership.

"I can explain." Alice lowered her head.

"Explain? Who are you going to explain it to? Is it useful to explain it to me? Alice, do you know Bill's father, Mr. Harper Jaden? He doesn't like the artists in the company hooking up with Bill? Do you know that you will kill me by doing this?"

Nancy roared at Alice.

Alice didn't know what to say. She just hung her head and didn't speak.

"You are also an artist of Glory Entertainment. You should know that Mr. Jaden has been very restrained these two years. Then you should know the reason, right? It is because Mr. Jaden knocked a female star up and angered Mr. Jaden. Do you know who that female star is?"

Alice raised her head and looked at Nancy.

She had only heard of it, but she did not know who that person was.

"Laurel, you should know, right?"

Alice opened her mouth and could not say a word.

She knew Laurel. Laurel signed a contract with Glory Entertainment almost at the same time as her. However, Laurel had obtained the top resources from the beginning and then became popular because of a TV drama.

However, she suddenly announced that she had withdrawn from the entertainment industry. Laurel said that she did not like the flashy entertainment circle and liked to live a normal life. She had a boyfriend outside the circle and was going to get married.

It caused quite a stir back then. Some people felt sorry for Laurel. After all, her career was moving into top gear. If she worked hard to play roles in a few more dramas, she might be able to be the best actress in a leading role. Some people were happy for her because not everyone dared to exit from this circle. After all, only people in this circle knew how hard and dark this circle was.

Alice was quite happy for Laurel when she saw the news because it was said that Laurel's boyfriend was born with a silver spoon.

"Few people in the company know about this secret. Laurel had to quit. If she hadn't listened to Mr. Harper, she would have been killed."

"She disappears after abortion."

Alice lowered her head again.

"Alice, no matter who you provoke, you mustn't provoke Mr. Jaden. Mr. Harper will not forgive you whether it is true or false."

Nancy threw a contract in front of Alice.

"I will terminate your contract so that my artists and I won't be involved."

Alice looked at Nancy's indifferent face and bit her lips. "Nancy, I have nothing to do with Mr. Jaden. Please help me."

Alice had never been so meek, but this time she had no choice.

If she were fired, she would bear a huge amount of cancellation money. There were a handful of artists like her and a large number of graduates from the art academy would enter into society every year. She didn't know where to go. At least, she could have some small roles here. Once she left here, her career would be finished.

However, Nancy still had a cold face. "I can't help you."

She suddenly thought of something. "Don't you have a common friend with Mr. Jaden? You go to meet Mr. Jaden. Whoever started the trouble should end it, but don't get your hopes up. After all, Mr. Harper is his father. He must be better than his son."

Alice left the company with the letter of cancellation.

In the hospital.

Ceres bent over the bed, asleep when Johny woke up. The gauze on his body had been removed for the past two days. It was easier for him to move.

He reached out and stroked Ceres's long hair. Her hair was still as silky and soft as before.

He could no longer remember the last time he stroked her hair like this.

Ceres woke up and found that Johny was looking at her affectionately.

She subconsciously wiped the corners of her lips.

Johny smiled. "No spittle."

"Would you like some water? I'll get you some water." Ceres smiled awkwardly.

"No, stay here with me." Johny grabbed her wrist.

Ceres sat down obediently, her eyes lowered and her eyelashes trembling slightly like a frightened butterfly.

"You've lost weight."

Johny's voice was very calm. It seemed that they had not chatted with each other calmly since their reunion.

"I'm fine." Ceres pursed her lips and smiled.

"I miss you so much."

Johny's words naturally blurted out, and he did not expect that he would say this bluntly.

Ceres was a little surprised. She remembered that Johny rarely said things like "I miss you" or "I love you" when they were together. Alice had always called Johny a "veteran cadre".

"Let's start afresh."
