

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 215 Return

Johnny returned to the hospital.

He had a headache.

Who had kidnapped Ceres?

He couldn't figure it out. It didn't seem like Jack was lying. However, Kirs had proved that something had happened to Ceres after she left Jack. Besides, Henry was a suspect. However, Henry had been confined by Jack during this time.

Jack was very angry with Henry because of the child, so Henry had kept his mind off dealing with Ceres. Even if he wanted to deal with Ceres, he would ask Swedum to.

Then who was it?

Johnny did have no idea this time.

Swedum also came to the hospital. Ceres was kidnapped. He was worried that Swedum would also be in danger, so he just let Swedum be with him.

Swedum looked at Johnny who was frowning and said softly, "Daddy, Mommy will be fine, right?"

"Mommy will be fine," Johnny said and looked up at his son.

It was not only saying to Swedum but also to himself.

"Daddy, if Mommy comes back, you will be together and never leave each other, okay?"

Swedum said and looked at his daddy solemnly.

He was thoughtful. Although Swedum did not say anything, he had thought that Johnny and Ceres would get back together.

"Okay," Johnny nodded with certainty.

"Pinky swear," Swedum said and stretched out his finger. Johnny also stretched out his finger and committed with him.

"If Mommy comes back, we will never be separated again," Swedum said.

"Yes, we will never be separated again."

In the airport.

A plane to Augsta was about to take off, and the passengers boarded one after another.

In the first class, Ceres was sleeping, and Kirs was sitting next to her.

Kirs carried Ceres onto the plane. Many people envied this woman who was being carried onto the plane. Kirs explained that his wife had not fallen asleep for a long time, so he did not disturb her.

Kirs asked for a cup of milk tea when the stewardess came.

Ceres opened her eyes in a daze. She was facing the window and subconsciously looked outside.

She only felt that she got brain fade. She felt like something had happened, but she couldn't remember it. She could not explain it clearly.

It was as if she had dreamt long dreams, but when she woke up, she realized that she could no longer remember that dream.

As soon as she turned her head, she saw Kirs who was smiling at her. "Kirs, we are..." she asked.

Kirs rubbed her hair and said, "What? Are you asleep? We are going to Augsta for a business trip."

"Maybe I didn't have a good rest recently. I was sleepy," Ceres said as she knocked on her head.

How could she not remember that she was going on a business trip to Augsta with Kirs?

She couldn't even remember what she had done before she went to bed.

"You may be too tired. When you get to Augsta, you should have a rest. Anyway, I have left you two days to rest." Kirs handed the cup of milk tea to Ceres as he spoke.

Ceres smiled and took a sip of milk tea before turning on her computer.

"Working on the plane?" Kirs asked.

"Yes, I should get to know the Eagle Group well. I want to know the new features of the latest products of the Eagle Group."

"It seems that you are worth the salary."

They smiled at each other, and Ceres began to work.

Kirs looked at Ceres and drank water in satisfaction.

It seemed that they had succeeded.

A month later.

The Cosmos Group, a bright spot, introduced their new products at the launch, which had been promoting for half a year. It was obvious that the Cosmos Group was looking forward to it.

They live-streamed the launch and it was held in the largest auditorium in Imperial City.

Ceres stood in front of the mirror and looked at herself in the mirror. She looked smart in a white suit.

She also got her hair done to look more mature.

However, when she looked at herself in the mirror, she felt strange.

The assistant beside her was checking the manuscript for her.

"Lara, have I worn this before?"

Lara raised her head. A month ago, Kirs held a meeting and said that Ceres had got in a car accident and hit her head. She may not remember something, so she might ask some strange questions. Therefore, Kirs hoped that everyone could cooperate.

Lara quickly smiled and nodded. "Yes, Ceres, all women wear like that in the working place, right? What's wrong?" Lara said.

"Nothing, I'm just not familiar with it," Ceres said and smiled awkwardly.

She didn't know why she was not used to it. As the director of the technical department of the Cosmos Group, she should have been used to it. But she felt awkward with the suit.

Perhaps she was too nervous.

During this month, she had also felt something strange. She always felt something was wrong with her brain.

She always felt that her mind went blank as if something had been taken away.

Kirs told her that she had a car accident and hit her head. It was normal to have that feeling. She would be fine after a while.

Ceres did not care and just continued to work.

The launch started.

Ceres confidently stood on the stage and began to introduce the new products of the Cosmos Group.

In Mr. Johnny's office in the Eagle Group.

Johnny, who had not fully recovered, had returned to work. He had been looking for Ceres for the past month, but unfortunately, he didn't find her!

He stared at Ceres's WeChat on his phone. He hadn't heard from her for a month, and her WeChat Moments had not been updated for a month.

"Mr. Johnny!" Ben rushed into the office in a hurry.

Johnny frowned.

"Look at this!" Ben immediately gave the tablet to Johnny.

Johnny's eyes suddenly widened!

It was the launch of the new products of the Cosmos Group. Recently, he was busy looking for Ceres and did not care about the new products of the Cosmos Group. He did not expect that Ceres was the main speaker of the new product launch!

She was taken away by Kirs!

But why didn't she look for him during this month? Why didn't she look for Swedum?

She didn't want Swedum anymore?

Johnny always felt that there was something!

"Let's go to the launch!"
