

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 221 Will She Choose You or Me?

Johnny walked to Ceres and stood still.

That valiant and heroic appearance made the girls on the side scream.

"He is so handsome!"

"Look closer. He looks even more handsome!"

"What a coincidence, and we meet again." Johnny narrowed his eyes and looked at Ceres.

Ceres felt that such a way to strike up a conversation was simply too cheap. She crossed her arms and looked at Johnny, "You seem to be here for me, right? Why are you pretending to be a coincidence?"

"Wrong. I really am not here to look for you. I am here to talk about business with Mr. Kirs." Johnny's left corner of his lips curled up.

Ceres suddenly felt that her face was burning!

She was actually thinking too much!

Ceres didn't know what to say. She turned around and wanted to leave. But Johnny took a few steps and grabbed her wrist!

"What are you trying to do?"

Ceres was wearing high heels and could only allow Johnny to pull her along.

Johnny pulled her to a corner. When Ceres's head was about to hit the wall, he very considerably placed his hand on the back of her head.

Ceres only felt the back of her head pressing against a powerful palm. She immediately raised her head and distanced herself from that palm.

Johnny immediately propped his arms against the wall and confined Ceres within his arms.

"What are you trying to do, Johnny?"

Ceres hated his violent behavior.

"I want to kiss you, may I?" The cynical smile on Johnny's face made Ceres seem to be greatly mocked.

She raised her leg and kicked straight for Johnny. It was a pity that Johnny seemed to be prepared and used his leg to block.

Ceres's legs were also shackled, unable to move.

It was time to get off work. It was the entrance of the building. Many employees looked over.

More and more people gathered at the door.

"Johnny, that's enough." Ceres felt her face becoming increasingly hot.

"I haven't told you anything serious yet."

"What do you want to tell me?"

"How about working at our Eagle Group? It is the best artificial intelligence company in the country and is known all over the world. We have the best artificial intelligence laboratory and the largest laboratory base."

Johnny's serious look made Ceres a little dazed.

"So, the Eagle Group wants Miss Ceres."

"Yeah, isn't this too bold? He directly blocked her at the company's entrance."

The employees began to discuss.

Ceres thought it was funny and asked, "Okay. Then I want to hear what kind of salary treatment you would give me."

Johnny chuckled, and the low and hoarse voice came again.

"Not even a cent."

Ceres was even more furious when she heard this.

"Who has ever got a salary from their own company? What kind of salary do you want as the owner of Eagle Group? Don't you agree?" Johnny winked at Ceres as he spoke.

His handsome and messy facial features were beyond redemption.

"You..."

It turned out that he was still teasing her!

"What Kirs can give you is money, and what I can give you is a person," Johnny added, "I believe a smart girl like you should know how to choose, right?"

The girls on the side were all envious.

"If I were her, I would choose him! He was such a handsome and rich man. Only a fool doesn't choose him!"

"Me too! How romantic!"

"But Mr. Kirs seems to like Miss Ceres too."

"Mr. Kirs is not as handsome as Johnny. Moreover, Johnny is richer than Mr. Kirs."

The employees all heard what Johnny and Ceres said.

Naturally, there was Kirs behind them!

Kirs's face was already darker than ink when he heard what the employee said!

Kirs was actually so much inferior to Johnny in their own employees' eyes!

"Did you hear that? If you don't choose me, you are a fool." Johnny repeated the employee's words.

"Mr. Johnny, isn't it a little rude to come to our company so brazenly?" Kirs walked out from the back of the crowd.

He always had a smile on his face that was full of affinity. His smile was always so easy-going and warm.

The employees hurriedly gave way to Kirs.

Johnny stood up straight. Ceres was finally able to escape from Johnny's hands.

"I have always been open and honest. I am not like some people who always like to play tricks behind their backs." Johnny sneered, "Yes, I admit that I want to draw Ceres in."

Kirs nodded, "Mr. Johnny is indeed powerful. But it depends on whether our Miss Ceres is willing or not."

"Of course, I don't want to!" Ceres walked straight to Kirs and stood beside him.

"Mr. Johnny, Miss Ceres doesn't want to work for Eagle Group, so..." Kirs was very proud to see Ceres standing beside him.

"It doesn't matter. I won't give up." Johnny stared into Ceres's eyes seriously.

That burning gaze made Ceres blush. She immediately turned her gaze elsewhere.

"Alright. Isn't Miss Ceres going shopping with her sisters? We won't delay the girls from shopping." Kirs patted Ceres on the shoulder with great intimacy.

Ceres didn't want to continue pestering Johnny, so she left with the girls.

This farce temporarily came to an end. The employees left one after another as they discussed.

"Mr. Johnny, may I have a word with you?"

The two arrived at Kirs's office together.

They had both removed their disguises here.

The cynical smile on Johnny's face disappeared and changed into his usual indifferent expression. Kirs finally no longer had an easy-going smile.

"What exactly do you want to do? Do you want her to die? Aren't you afraid that she will lose her memory because of you?"

"What's wrong?" Johnny sneered.

"You." There was a hint of fear in Kirs's eyes. Could he have guessed wrong? Johnny did not love Ceres that much.

"Alright. I will tell you the truth. Since you have erased me in her memory, I will reappear in her life."

Kirs looked at Johnny incredulously.

He did not expect Johnny to actually want to use this method!

"Didn't you want to have her? Alright. Then let's compete and see if she will fall in love with you first, or me."

Johnny snorted coldly and left resolutely. He left Kirs with a resolute back.

Kirs clenched his fists.

...

The words "she fell in love with you first or me" hurt Kirs's heart.

It seemed that he should take some measures and get married to Ceres as soon as possible. Otherwise, all of this would be in vain.

Kirs immediately made a call.
