

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 226 Can You Fake for a Lifetime?

The Cosmos Group.

Johny sat in his office. Ceres felt very confused. She had not slept the entire night last night. Her mind was filled with thoughts of Johny!

She was about to go crazy!

Ceres threw down her pen and stood in front of the French sash. Looking at the building opposite her, she suddenly felt that someone was looking back.

It was Johny!

She drew the curtains angrily.

"This sinister man!" Ceres cursed and was ready to work, but she suddenly thought of something and pressed the button, "Lara, bring the material of the new product to my office."

Soon, her assistant, Lara, came in with a large stack of documents and piled them on Ceres's desk.

"Miss Ceres, why do you want these materials?" Lara hurriedly pounded her waist. She was exhausted!

"I need to check some data. You can go back to work."

Lara walked out of the office.

Ceres began to check the stacks of information one by one. She only needed to check the date. However, the information showed that the earliest material was within this year. It seemed that they made the new product within a year.

Ceres called Lara to the office again. "Are these all the materials?"

"Yes, I moved all of them here. I didn't miss a single one." Lara hurriedly replied.

"Alright. I understand."

Ceres began to search the company's internal system again but found nothing.

She knew that with the talent of the staff of the Cosmos Group technical department, it was impossible to develop such a high-end robot in just a year. 'Was what Johny said true?'

'The Cosmos Group stole the fruits of the work of the Eagle Group?'

Ceres would never believe this. She had worked for the company for three years. She had known Kirs since she was young. He couldn't do such a thing.

Ceres then went to Kirs's office. Kirs immediately took a cup of yogurt from the refrigerator for her. "Strawberry flavored. Your favorite."

Taking the cup of yogurt, Ceres looked a little embarrassed.

"What is it, Ceres?"

"Mr. Kirs, how is the lawsuit between us and Eagle Group?"

"Both parties are still investigating and collecting evidence. There is no exact date of the court yet. What's wrong?" Kirs answered truthfully, "Are you afraid?"

"No." Ceres shook his head. "If we are right, we are not afraid of those things."

"That's true. Just work hard and don't waste your energy on this."

"I just checked some materials of our new products and found that all of them were within a year. If we can prove that our research started three or four years ago, we can prove that we have not plagiarized anything. Do you have those materials?"

Kirs looked at Ceres's fleeting eyes and suddenly realized something.

"Of course, there is. We are unlucky," Kirs let out a long sigh, "To seize the initiative in this project, we have never announced it to the public. It was all secretly developed. You also know that there are often spies in our industry, so only a few employees and I know about it.

All the data was controlled by me alone, but later I went back and forth and put aside this matter. One time, I took a cruise ship. Something happened to the cruise ship, and the computer fell into the sea. All the historical data was gone."

Kirs shrugged his shoulders.

Ceres did not have any impression of this in her memory.

"But it doesn't matter. We can still defend ourselves in other ways. You don't have to worry about the lawsuit."

Kirs put his hand on Ceres's shoulder. "You have rested enough. You also need to develop new products."

Ceres pursed her lips and smiled. "I haven't thought of a particularly good idea for the new product yet, but I'm also collecting information and preparing it."

Kirs laughed out loud. "I was just teasing you. The new product we just released has exhausted you. I was about to take you out to have fun. It's a holiday. Let's relax."

Ceres looked at Kirs in surprise.

"What? You don't want to go out to play?"

Ceres scratched her head awkwardly. If they went out together, they would be gossiped about.

"Only the two of us?"

Kirs understood Ceres's meaning. "Of course not. There are still employees of the company. Let's go out and relax."

"That's good!"

Ceres walked out of Kirs's office with yogurt.

Kirs punched the desk. The reason why Ceres began to look for materials must be that Johny had told her something!

He had no way to deal with him.

He had to think of a way to fix it.

Eagle Group. President Office.

Johny was standing in front of the window, observing the building with a telescope. Ceres closed the curtains, leaving him with no choice but to throw the telescope aside.

He dialed Bill's number. "I've used all of your methods, and they didn't work at all! Do you know that I've already been slapped twice?"

Bill's unbridled laughter came from the other end.

Johny fell into silence.

Bill suddenly realized something and immediately stopped laughing. "Johny, it doesn't matter. The slaps mean that my method has worked. Don't worry, this set of flirting techniques must work to Ceres!"

"I've used up all those moves. Quickly think of something new." Johny was giving orders.

"Yes. Bro, you are domineering enough now, and she can feel your deep love. Now, you are going to show your charm."

"Put it simply." Johny immediately interrupted Bill.

"Yes! Your Majesty! Just be yourself."

"No!"

He could not show his true self in front of Ceres. Otherwise, he would arouse Ceres's memories of the past.

"We can also continue to fake it, but bro, can you do it for a lifetime?"

"Why not?"

For Ceres, he was willing to continue faking for his entire life.

"What good idea do you have? Send it to my phone."

Johny hung up the phone. As soon as he put down the phone, someone barged in.

He looked up and saw Nyla.

Johny frowned and immediately pressed the button on the table.