

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 261 Give Birth to Four Children

At this moment, they were a bit awkward.

Especially Ceres, she had already got prepared for this, but he stopped.

Johnny stared at Ceres's face, his voice a little hurried.

"Did you get that this month?"

"What do you mean?" Ceres did not react for a moment.

"What do you think?" Johnny seemed to be a little anxious. "Lunaria!"

The word coming out of Johnny's mouth made Ceres want to laugh. She couldn't help but cover her mouth.

Johnny felt ashamed, "Don't laugh!"

Ceres suppressed her laughter and replied, "Yes, I got my period last week."

Johnny seemed to be a little disappointed at that moment. He could not tell what he was feeling. He did not know whether to be happy or not.

He was happy that he could continue to have sex with Ceres, but he was unhappy that Ceres was not pregnant.

"What's wrong?" Ceres hurriedly asked when she saw Johnny, who was stunned.

"Why couldn't you be pregnant?"

Johnny seemed to be talking to himself.

"What do you mean?"

"Pregnancy!" Johnny was not in a good mood. Did he find it so difficult to communicate with Ceres?

"Are you looking forward to my pregnancy so much? You already have a son."

Ceres's knowledge of pregnancy and childbirth was still stuck before he knew Johnny. She had long forgotten about the memory of her pregnancy and delivery.

Johnny lifted Ceres's chin. "Did you forget what I told you that day at sea?"

Ceres remembered that day when Johnny took her away. He had said that if she was pregnant, then she would give birth to the child. He was ten years older than her, and only the child could be left to her.

She still remembered that he had said that he had written his will long ago and that all his assets would be left to her.

Ceres could not help but feel sour in her heart. He was so good to her.

"I haven't forgotten."

"Alright, Ceres, I want you to give birth to four kids," Johnny said as he stroked Ceres's cheeks.

"Four kids?"

Hearing this terrifying number, Ceres cried out suddenly.

"How about six children?" Johnny had calculated precisely before coming up with this plan. Ceres was twenty-four years old this year. When she was pregnant this year, she would deliver one next year. It would take two years for her to recover. When she gave birth to the fourth, she was about thirty-one years old. His original plan was to have five so that Ceres would not have to give birth after she was thirty-five.

But he took into account that it was too hard for her to give birth to kids, and it was not good to give birth to five, so he accepted four.

He could take advantage of the fact that he was still young and take Ceres around to play.

"I'm afraid it will be hard for you to deliver six."

"You still want six? Four kids are enough, okay? Don't I need to do anything else? I just give birth to babies for you? Do you think I'm a sow?" Ceres protested strongly.

The light in Johnny's eyes dimmed. "What will you do if I die?"

When Ceres heard Johnny's words, her heart suddenly felt as if it had been stabbed.

"If I die, what about the kids?"

Johnny added.

Ceres's eyes instantly were filled with tears. Yes, he was almost ten years older than her.

In addition, his family had never lived long. He had been in a car accident two times in a row and had been shot. There were many scars on his body. Ruby had strongly advised him to rest for a longer time and take good care of his health. And he also had to pay more attention to his health. However, he did not have the time and energy.

He was destined to have a short life and was destined to be unable to accompany Ceres for many years.

"Four children. When you get old in the future, they can take turns to accompany you. They must be very busy. They still can spare a day in a week. You can arrange the remaining three days freely, leaving one day to miss me. The four children can help each other in the future. When you are gone, they still can rely on each other."

"Why did you make me cry all of a sudden?" Ceres hugged Johnny all of a sudden.

"Let's not talk about this anymore, okay?" she said as she patted Johnny on the back.

"Alright, I won't say anymore. I'll make the arrangements. You should do as I say in terms of this thing."

After saying that, Johnny kissed Ceres's neck and wiped the tears off her face with his mouth.

This night was long and beautiful.

Johnny woke up in the morning and looked at Ceres beside him. His violent behaviors last night were revealed on her neck. The bruises were very obvious.

He gently touched her forehead, and Ceres snorted and continued sleeping.

Johnny tiptoed onto the bed. He tidied himself up and called Swedum to get up.

Swedum was still brooding over the fact that Mommy wasn't in his bed. He glared at Johnny. It must have been Daddy who stole Mommy at midnight.

"I'll wake Mommy up!" said Swedum after washing up.

"Mommy is resting today, and she won't get up," Johnny said as he picked Swedum up.

She was exhausted yesterday, so she probably couldn't get up.

"Why? Mommy would have gotten up a long time ago as usual." Swedum blinked his big eyes and looked at Johnny with extreme seriousness.

"Because Mommy is tired."

"What does Mommy do make her so tired?" Asked Swedum.

"Why do you have so many questions?" Johnny said helplessly.

"It must be you! It was you who made Mommy tired. What did you punish Mommy for? You made my Mommy so tired!" Swedum shouted at Johnny.

Johnny stared at his son with a helpless expression. He would know when he grew up.

So, he chose to ignore his question.

After breakfast, he took him to the car and sent him to kindergarten.

Johnny went to Eagle Group after sending Swedum to kindergarten. Johnny was very happy. Even the employees felt that Mr. Johnny had changed.

In the afternoon, Ceres still had to go to teach. She slept until noon, when she received a call from Johnny.

"Hello." Ceres was still in bed, her eyes closed.

"It's time to get up. You have to teach in the afternoon. Get up now, take a shower and eat something."

Ceres suddenly opened her eyes. Only then did she remember that she had to teach, and Johnny would attend the class.

"You are annoying." Then Ceres hung up.

Johnny felt as if her entire body was falling apart. Last night, she almost cried. Only then did Johnny stop.

As soon as she walked, she felt a little uncomfortable.

Ceres scolded Johnny many times in her heart. After she ate something, Johnny came back.

"Why are you back?" she glared at him.

"Of course, I'm taking you to class. Let's go."

Ceres had to follow him into the car.

She ignored him all the way angrily.

"You will get used to it." Johnny glanced at her.

"Getting used to it? you want to do it every day?"

"If you agree, it is okay."