

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 290 Dreadful Longing

Ceres became anxious upon hearing this!

"No! I can not go back!"

Hearing this strong rejection, Caleb's mood was not very good.

"Why?"

"Are you going to put me into a worse situation after you've dragged me down?"

Ceres asked.

"Are you saying that staying with Johnny is in peril?"

"Yes! If it was you, could you accept that your wife had suddenly become ugly like me? What would I face then? It would be abandonment and contempt! Even death."

Ceres naturally had to exaggerate the situation.

Caleb felt a little guilty about the red spots on Ceres' face. It was all because of his daughter that a perfectly fine girl had been turned into such a miserable position.

"You deserve it."

Ceres sneered.

She really envied Jamie. When she was Mike's daughter, Mike saw her as the apple of his eye. Now she is the daughter of Caleb. Caleb even doted on her without limit!

Caleb said unconfidently,

"Then you can stay."

Hearing Caleb's words, Ceres was somewhat surprised. "You agreed to let me stay?"

"In the end, I should take a bit of responsibility for Jamie. If I had found her earlier and prevented her from suffering, she might not have treated you like this. Other than me, no one else could protect you."

Ceres did not want to refute anything. One had to know that a father naturally believed in what his daughter said the most, and what others said was bullshit.

"But you can't live here for nothing. Your massage skills are good. You can stay and work in the spa."

After saying that, Caleb left.

Ceres finally heaved a sigh of relief.

She could stay.

The next day, she went to have a bone to pick with Roy. She pulled Roy to a corner, looking like she was interrogating him.

"You want to kill me, right! Your idea was so stupid! You knew that Caleb was having a spa at that time yesterday, but you still asked me to go there! Don't you know he almost killed me with a gunshot!"

When Ceres thought of that time, she still panicked.

In case, if Caleb was really angry, she couldn't stay alive.

Roy only smiled at Ceres's indignation.

"A stupid idea? Carly, I think you might have misunderstood what I meant. I remember that I reminded you again and again not to go inside. Or else, you would stir up trouble. What does it have to do with me if you insist on going in?"

Looking at the sly smile on Roy's face, Ceres knew that she had been tricked.

Ceres pointed at Roy "Fine, you win! You win!"

The smile on Roy's face was still bright.

"I was transferred to the spa. I wonder if this meets your expectations!" Ceres glared at Roy and then went to work.

Roy looked at Ceres from behind and curled a brighter smile.

It seemed that she was indeed a smart girl who could understand everything easily.

He had indeed done it on purpose yesterday, in order to give her a chance to interact with Caleb. Only in this way, she could really know Caleb.

Ceres came to work in the spa and found that it was no better than dealing with organic fertilizer in the garden.

There were only a few people in this spa. They were in charge of such a large hot spring pool. Every day, they had to clean it up. This was because the host might come here at any time. Even the open-air hot spring pool had to be cleaned.

The spa was humid, but in order to avoid the master falling down, they had to keep the ground clean, so they had to wipe the floor more than ten times a day.

After a day, Ceres was so tired that her waist and back ached. Every time this happened, she would start cursing at Roy.

She didn't have dinner at night, so she was so tired that she couldn't even raise her arms.

The moonlight shone into her dormitory, and she secretly got up. She couldn't sleep anyway, so she decided to go out for a walk.

The moonlight tonight was fair, and some fragmented scenes suddenly flashed in her mind.

She should have walked with Johnny in such a charming moonlight or enjoyed the moon with him.

Ceres sat on the grass, hugging her knees as she looked up at the moon above. Her nose twitched.

She missed Johnny.

Yes, she missed him very much.

It was the first time that she had that feeling of longing.

She had already forgotten the details of the time she had spent with Johnny in the past, but when they met again, she still fell in love with him, even if she knew that he deliberately pretended not to recall her memories.

She began to weep.

However, she did not dare to return.

The more she thought of him and loved him, the more she dared not appear in front of him.

She thought that Johnny must also miss her. When he saw her like this, he must regret it.

As the saying went, if you had expectations, you would be disappointed.

"Actually, you can go back," Roy said from behind.

"It's you again! Do you know how annoying you are?" Ceres hurriedly wiped her tears.

"Is it annoying to give you something to eat? If so, I'll throw it away."

"Hey, hey, hey!" Ceres hurriedly stopped him and grabbed the bag from his hand. "Wow, it's fried chicken!"

She was starving to death, so even in front of Roy, she did not care about anything.

"In fact, you don't have to feel so inferior at all. Just like how you can gamble with me, you can also gamble with Johnny."

Ceres glanced at Roy "You must have never been in love before, right?"

"Huh?"

"Only people who have never been in love would say that. The more you love someone, the more you don't dare to gamble, because you are afraid of losing. As I don't care about you, I dare to gamble with you. If I really lose, I can leave with no hesitation."

Ceres' words made Roy feel very uncomfortable. It turned out that she could gamble with him because there was nothing she cared about here.

He had learned it.

Roy took out a phone from his pocket, "This phone is for you. I have installed the SIM card."

"Really? I can't pay you back. I will only get the salary next month!"

Ceres took the phone. She needed it very much.

It was only after she lost her phone that she realized that she couldn't do anything without it.

"You can pay me back when you have the money." Roy stood up and left.

Ceres sent an email to Johnny while enjoying the fried chicken.

Johnny, who was in Country A, sneezed on the balcony.

He missed Ceres so dreadfully that he could fall asleep.

When he sneezed, he suddenly lowered his head and smiled. She should be thinking about him.

His phone rang.