

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 291 Is She Really His Daughter?

He picked up his phone and saw that he had received another email from Ceres!

Johnny, I'm really fine now. I'm in a very safe place, so you don't have to worry about me. Absence makes the heart grow fonder, right?

Without me by your side, you can use this chance to concentrate on managing the company. I don't want others to say that I am your trouble. With me, the company will decline, okay? I miss you very much."

It was just a few sentences that made Johnny feel overwhelmed!

Where was Ceres?

Johnny immediately answered the email. He had just received it, so he thought that Ceres was definitely still online.

"Ceres, where the hell are you?"

But the email he sent went unanswered.

He immediately used his computer to search for the IP address, but he found nothing.

He pounded the table with his fist!

Why?

Why didn't Ceres let him find her?

The next day, he arrived at his office at the Eagle Group. Bob had also rushed over early in the morning. There had indeed been some problems with the Eagle Group these past few days. Bob was also very busy. There was simply too much ground for him to cover.

But seeing Johnny's condition, Bob couldn't put his mind at ease.

"Johnny, now our group..."

As soon as Bob began his words, Johnny immediately interrupted him, "Ceres must be in the Bullock's!"

Bob was stunned. "Why are you so sure?"

"I guessed."

"Guessed?"

"I received an email from her yesterday. She asked me to manage the group well. She mentioned the group is because Eagle Group has been going downhill all this time. She felt guilty about this, so she did not want me to be enemies with Caleb."

Johnny lowered his head and smiled.

Ceres Taylor, his woman, even though she had lost so many memories, was still always thinking of him.

What could he do?

Sometimes, he really didn't want her to be so sensible because sensible girls always had to bear more and suffer more grievances and hardships.

"Are you sure? Then, wouldn't it be very dangerous for Ceres to be in the Bullock's?"

"No, she must be safe for the time being. She is very smart and knows how to protect herself."

"Then, what do you plan to do?"

"Just follow her words."

This was the first time Johnny had decided to listen to Ceres. If as usual, she would be the one to listen to him.

Johnny stepped up and began to deal with the internal affairs of the group.

Country M

Ceres was taking a nap in the spa. It was noon, and she was so sleepy that she could not open her eyes.

"Wake up! Wake up! Wake up!"

The person in charge of the spa hurriedly woke Ceres up. Ceres opened her eyes in a daze.

"What happened?"

"What else? You're slacking off during work time. How dare you? Prepare the hot spring water right now. Miss Jamie and Lady Sally are going to have a spa here today! Be quick! Remember, Miss Jamie likes red wine. Prepare the red wine plus a strawberry cake later."

"Alright."

Ceres finally got the chance. Lady Sally? That was Sally Nadine, right?

Jamie and Sally would definitely talk a lot when they were together. Besides, they would have a glass of red wine. Ceres thought her chance was at the corner.

She quickly prepared the hot spring water with another person, and so were the red wine and cake.

After the lunch break, Jamie and Sally arrived.

Therefore, Ceres found an excuse to go outside.

She hid behind and could also hear them chatting.

"Mary."

"Mom, why do you still call me Mary? You should call me Jamie like dad." Jamie was a little unhappy when she heard Sally calling her Mary.

Sally smiled awkwardly, "I've been calling you like this for more than twenty years, so I still can't get my tongue around it. Alright, alright, alright. Jamie."

"That's more like it." Jamie smiled with satisfaction. She soaked her body in the hot spring, tasting the red wine and the cake. She felt very comfortable.

After that, they talked about some things about beauty and skin care, which were of no value.

Ceres was very anxious.

After finishing the spa, Jamie wanted to receive a massage, so Sally had to accompany her.

There were only two masseuses in this spa, and Ceres was one of them, so she had to show up.

Fortunately, Jamie and Sally were lying on the massage bed and couldn't see anything.

Ceres chose Sally and the other masseuse to massage Jamie.

"Jamie, I wanted to ask you just now. You said that you saw Ceres in the Imperial City. You didn't do anything to her, right?"

"I ruined her face!" Jamie felt extremely proud when she thought of this. "The red spots on her face before were all fake. She could remove them with another potion. I added some materials for her this time, and she would endure the red spots for the rest of her life!"

"You..." Sally had no idea what to say.

"Mom, are you still thinking about her? If it weren't for her, would you and I be so miserable? Besides, if she had obediently given the marriage with Johnny back to me then, nothing would have happened after that! She could only blame herself!"

Ceres was confused.

What did Jamie mean by giving the marriage back to her?

How could it have something to do with her and Johnny?

As she thought about it, the strength in her hand became much lighter.

Sally was a little hungry after having a spa. Seeing that the masseuse's strength was much lighter, she thought that the masseuse wanted to rest. She got up and said, "Go get me something to eat!"

Ceres did not expect Sally to suddenly get up.

They looked at each other in dismay.

"You..."

Sally glanced at Jamie sideways. Jamie was still lying down and enjoying the massage.

"What are you waiting for? Hurry up and go!" Sally berated.

Ceres hurried to get Sally food.

Sally was also frightened.

If Jamie found out that Ceres was here, it would be terrifying.

Ceres brought some snacks for Sally. Sally had no appetite. She was afraid that Jamie would also get up.

"Jamie, I want to finish the massage. I'm a little hungry and want something to eat."

"Oh, Mom, massage is so comfortable. You really don't know how to enjoy yourself."

"You can enjoy yourself. I will experience it some other day." Sally gave Ceres a wink.

Ceres followed Sally out.

Sally pulled Ceres to a corner. "Why are you here? Do you want to die?"

Ceres shook off Sally's hand. "Yes. So what? Will I really die if I stay here?"

Ceres felt that Sally's words had an implication.

Sally turned her face away, "In short, leave this place immediately and leave the Bullock's. The further you go, the better!"

"Why? Tell me, is Mary Morris your daughter or not?" Ceres asked as she approached Sally.
