

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 306 Such a Badass

"What?"

Before Caleb could figure out what was going on, Roy opened the door and a group of people ran out of the car.

"Get down!"

All of a sudden, Roy pressed Caleb under his body and heard a loud bang!

The car was exploded into two pieces, and then the flames were burning.

Lying on the ground, Ceres only felt a loud sound followed by a ringing in her ears.

When everyone looked up, they found that the car had been buried in the sea of fire.

"It was really dangerous just now." Caleb's heart was still pounding.

As soon as he finished speaking, he suddenly sensed something, "Hurry up! Protect Mr. Caleb. There are snipers!"

Then there was a gunshot.

Roy also took out his gun and kept Caleb behind him. Seeing that Ceres was still lying on the ground, Caleb pulled her up.

The bodyguards and Roy escorted Caleb back.

The scene was chaotic.

While shooting, Roy took out his phone and called for help.

But these men seemed to have made up their minds to kill Caleb!

Hearing the gunshot, Ceres felt as if she had been hit by an electric shock. Countless scenes and fragments flashed in her mind!

The familiar picture and the familiar voice intertwined in her mind.

She seemed to have forgotten that she was running for her life!

"Ceres, what are you waiting for? Let's go!" Seeing Ceres in a daze, Caleb thought she was frightened and pulled her to the other side of the wall.

Ceres screamed.

The sudden pain in her arm brought Ceres back to reality.

At this moment, Roy suddenly found that his pistol had no bullets.

Caleb seemed to have noticed that. He took out his pistol and handed it to Roy, but it was far from enough.

The enemies had exquisite weapons, and the number of them far exceeded theirs.

"Roy, what do you think?"

Roy turned around and said, "No way! There are too many enemies, and they are wearing bullet-proof vests!"

"Damn it! These people seem to want to kill me! As long as I can escape today, I won't let them go!" Caleb gritted his teeth, but there was nothing he could do.

He was old after all. He could use a pistol well and had good physical strength, but after all, he was not as good as those well-trained young people.

Roy's bullets were fired again, and so were the other bodyguards. Then everyone hid behind the wall.

The enemies seemed to realize that they had run out of bullets, so they stopped and began to press forward.

Everyone's heavy breaths intertwined.

'What should I do?'

'What should I do?'

Suddenly, there were two gunshots.

After a few gunshots, several enemies suddenly fell to the ground.

Roy clearly felt that the gunshot was different from the previous one.

The people on the other side immediately sensed that something was wrong and began to be alert.

After a few more gunshots, several more people fell to the ground.

This time, they were completely panicked. They immediately lay on the ground and contacted the snipers through walkie talkies, "Sniper, sniper, we have enemies here. You immediately find out who they are."

The sniper replied immediately after scanning, "We can't confirm the target."

There were a few more gunshots. Seeing that the enemy was in the dark, he was unable to determine the position, and his own people fell down helplessly.

"Retreat!"

These people had to retreat.

Caleb heaved a sigh of relief and said, "God bless me."

Roy breathed a sigh of relief. But who was helping them in secret?

"Ceres, Ceres, wake up!" Only then did Caleb find that Ceres had fainted and her arm was stained with blood.

"Hurry up! Send her to the hospital!"

Ceres was sent to the hospital in an emergency. She was shot in the arm and didn't get hurt in the vital part. As for fainting, she was probably frightened and bled a lot.

After the bullet was removed and the wound was bandaged, Ceres was sent to the intensive care unit.

After everything was settled, he finally escaped this.

Looking at the pale face of Ceres on the bed, Caleb smiled faintly. "Thanks to this girl today, or we would all be blown up to death."

Roy and Caleb walked out of the ward together.

"Mr. Caleb, I'm afraid that they have made up their mind this time. They not only pressed the bomb but also let a large number of people carry out a gunfight. If it weren't for the help of someone secretly, we would have all died this time."

Roy frowned and said, "But Mr. Caleb has never been hostile to anyone. How could it be this time?"

Hero rarely had enmity with others. Wherever he went, he was welcomed. Although he had bodyguards accompanying him to the company or go out, he seldom used them.

This was the only time.

"I've been working hard in this business world for so many years. I might have offended one or two people. But this time..."

Caleb also felt strange. It seemed that the kidnapper's purpose today was to make sure that he would be dead.

Roy thought, "Who was it?"

"And who on earth saved us? As far as I observe, there should be only one person who can fight against so many people, and the shooting skill is so accurate. It's not easy to do that."

There were countless questions in Roy's mind.

Caleb smiled and said, "Who else can do this except him?"

"Who?" Roy asked in confusion.

"You'll know in two days." Caleb deliberately kept him in suspense.

The gunfight was soon exposed by the media. Johny saw the news in the hotel and immediately went to the hospital. He thought, 'Ceres must be safe!'

But the ward where Ceres stayed was the exclusive ward of the Bullock's in the hospital, and it was guarded by bodyguards, so Johny was stopped at once.

"Let me go! I want to see Ceres!"

Johny came in such a hurry that he drove here alone.

"Cut the crap! Who are you? Do you know where this is? How dare you break in? You are risking your life!" The bodyguards didn't hesitate.

Johny was worried about Ceres, so he had to do something.

Unexpectedly, these bodyguards were no match for him. He rushed into the ward and saw Ceres lying on the bed.

A voice came from behind, "She's fine. She was shot in the arm. Nothing serious."

Johny turned around and saw Caleb. To Caleb's surprise, he knocked down all the bodyguards he had selected carefully with only a few moves.

It seemed that he really needed to change a group of bodyguards.

Caleb took a look at Johny and left.

Johny walked to the bedside and grabbed Ceres's hand.

Ceres woke up in the afternoon. When she opened her eyes, she saw Johny.

At the same time, some fragments flashed through her mind.