

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 316 Caleb Is Not Tricked

"He's very protective of me in the Bullock family."

Ceres blurted out, not realizing the danger.

"Is that so? How did he protect you?"

Johnny's tone sounded cold, causing Ceres to feel dangerous. When she looked at Johnny's face, she was even more shocked.

His face was darkened by jealousy.

Ceres suddenly smiled and hugged Johnny's neck. "He didn't protect me much. We just occasionally said a few words. It's nothing."

In the face of Ceres's flattery, Johnny did not change his expression in the slightest. "Don't go! Go back with me immediately!"

"No. Let me go back and investigate. I will protect myself. I swear." Ceres hugged Johnny even tighter.

"No!" Johnny refused without hesitation.

"Really? Don't you want me to find my biological father?" Ceres gently stroked Johnny's chest.

Johnny felt the anger that had just been suppressed rise up once again.

He took Ceres's hand away and said, "Don't play tricks with me!"

"What trick? Honey, please."

Her words delighted Johnny. He turned over and pressed Ceres under his body, "Definitely not."

"Then I can't do it either! I'm sleepy, I want to sleep!"

"Girl, how dare you do this with me!"

"Then do you agree or not?"

Ceres knew that she would succeed, but the price was high.

The sky was about to light up.

However, Johnny agreed to it. He repeatedly warned Ceres that she was not allowed to have any contact with Roy. Moreover, she had to send him a message every day to ensure her safety. If she encountered any problems, she had to report to him first.

After Ceres nodded countless times, Johnny finally stopped.

Johnny wanted to send Ceres back. Considering that it was a bit dangerous, he could only let Ceres return by herself.

Then Ceres returned to the Bullock family's manor.

When she entered, she saw Roy.

Roy was surprised to see Ceres. "I thought you would just leave."

"I ... I was abandoned. I was homeless and had nowhere to go, so I had to come back." Ceres looked listless.

She didn't have much vigor. She almost didn't sleep that night. It was all because of Johnny. He had unlimited energy and played with her for the whole night. Her legs were still strengthless.

"You went to find Johnny?"

"Yes, Mr. Matt took me to find Johnny and wanted the two of us to make up. As a result, after Johnny knew that my face could no longer recover, he announced that he would divorce me, so I came back."

Roy only smiled faintly and did not make any answer.

Ceres looked at Roy's expression and wondered if her words were dubious.

However, she did not dare ask, "I'll go back and rest first."

Roy coughed and pointed at her neck.

Ceres's eyes widened, and she immediately realized something. She quickly pulled up her collar. "I accidentally bumped that when we quarreled yesterday."

Ceres ran back to her room.

Back in the room, Ceres looked at the mirror and saw that there was a suggestive bruise on her neck.

"Johnny, that bastard! I told him to be careful!"

Ceres wanted to rush to Johnny and scold him, but he should be on the plane by now.

"Roy shouldn't suspect anything, right? After all, he has never been in a relationship before."

Ceres thought about it carefully and she slowly calmed down.

In the afternoon, Ceres went to find Caleb and cried in front of him. She even scolded Johnny.

"Outrageous! He abandoned you! I will seek justice for you!" Caleb slammed his hand on the table and stood up.

Ceres grabbed Caleb's arm. "I have decided to let it go. I just tested him and knew that he only liked my face. It seems that he can't entrust his life to me. So, let's get along."

Caleb sat down again. It was the result he wanted.

Johnny abandoned Ceres, and Caleb returned the antidote to her, then let her marry Roy. It was a matter of time.

However, if Caleb recovered Ceres's appearance right now, then Roy would become a man who only appreciated Ceres's beauty.

So Caleb couldn't give her the antidote yet.

"When I was shot, the bottle of antidote was in my pocket. It disappeared after that. Have your subordinates seen it?"

"The antidote accidentally fell to the ground and shattered when we carried you back."

"What?"

Ceres was thinking of using the antidote to defeat Jamie. How did it break?

"Then hurry up and ask Jamie to find me another bottle. I can't keep going like this."

"Don't worry, I've already asked Jamie to look for it. I believe there will be news soon, but it will take time."

"That's good then," Ceres nodded.

"That's enough. Forget Johnny. Just stay here with me. I will not treat you unfairly. Furthermore, I will find a good husband for you!"

"Who would like me? My face..." Ceres laughed bitterly.

"There will be people who won't despise your face. Besides, when you find the antidote, won't you be fine? But don't tell others that there is an antidote for now, or there will be no way to test people's hearts."

Ceres could only respond with a smile.

She had originally planned to use the antidote to get Caleb to reprimand Jamie. Then Jamie would be so angry to kill her. Then, she would be able to grab Jamie's weakness.

But Caleb didn't do as her expectations.

He was simply an old child.

Ceres had to take her time.

When she came out of Caleb's room, Ceres was thinking about the next countermeasures when she saw Roy. Roy leaned against the wall of the corridor with a lazy look and was looking at her with a smile.

When Ceres passed him, he smiled slightly. "Both of you are good at acting."

"What're you talking about?"

Roy stood up straight, one hand in his pocket, "I'm talking about your acting skills."

"What acting? I wonder what you're talking about."

Ceres passed him, "I'm not in a good mood today. I need to go back and rest."

"You and Johnny have already reconciled. Why do you want to come back?"
