

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 324The Scheme Succeeds

Ceres and Joy both fell to the ground.

Jamie came in wearing a mask and looked at the two people on the ground. She was so proud.

"Ceres, you are not as smart as me!"

She had long known that Ceres would be on guard, so she had made up her mind that they would attack as soon as they entered the door.

Sure enough!

Before Ceres could defend herself, she had fainted on the ground.

"Miss Jamie, what should we do with these two?"

"Tie them up and lock them here. Keep an eye on this room."

"Yes!" The guy immediately tied Ceres and Roy up.

"Have you found the people I want?"

"Yes. They have similar shapes as Joy and Ceres. The voice changer that you wanted is ready too." The subordinate handed two voice changers to Jamie.

Jamie pursed her lips and smiled, "Very good."

"Ceres, you are dead this time."

Caleb was busy at work the whole day. He went home on time for dinner. But only Jamie and Sally were at the table today.

"Where are Roy and Ceres?"

Sally lowered her head, eating, not daring to make a sound.

Ever since Jamie threatened Sally, Sally had been silent. She went out shopping every day. She did not dare to interfere with family issues anymore. She was really afraid that Jamie would kill her too.

"They went to the hot spring. When they came back at night, they were tired. So, they went to sleep. Dad, I think the two of them look in a good mood."

Jamie winked at Caleb as she spoke.

"Looks like there's a chance," Caleb immediately understood.

"Yes, yes!"

Caleb happily sat down to eat, "If this matter is done, Jamie, you will be the first to earn merit. And I will reward you well!"

"Okay, Dad, I have to think about what reward I want!"

"Think about it carefully. There's no rush."

They had a good time at the dinner table.

Jamie looked at the soup on the table and quickly filled a bowl. "Dad, this soup is delicious. Try it."

"Alright, I'll try it." Caleb was in a good mood. He ate two bowls of soup.

Sally watched as Caleb eat the soup. She was sweating all over, but she did not dare to make a sound.

However, Caleb still wanted to apologize to Ceres. After dinner, he deliberately dawdled until ten o'clock. By the time everyone was almost asleep.

After all, it was a bit embarrassing for him, an elder, to apologize to a kid.

Caleb came to Ceres's room. He knocked on the door but there was no response. He pushed the door gently and it opened.

There was no one inside.

"Where would she go late at night?"

Caleb muttered. Just as he was about to go back, he heard movement from the balcony.

Ceres was currently living in Jamie's room. There was a balcony beside it, but very few people would come there. It was almost abandoned. Firstly, the place was relatively remote, and secondly, no one wanted to disturb Jamie.

He followed the voice and saw two people standing there. From their figures, they seemed to be Roy and Ceres.

He saw Ceres nestled in Roy's arms, and the two seemed to be whispering.

Caleb was delighted. He did not expect the two of them to develop so quickly.

Caleb didn't like peeping. So, he hurriedly retreated.

"Roy, how many shares can Caleb give you if we get married?"

When he heard this, Caleb, who was about to retreat, stopped. He was surprised to hear that Ceres was actually thinking about the shares.

"You are his goddaughter. He will at least give you some. If we get married, he should at least give us ten percent, but ten percent is too little."

"Ten percent should be a lot, right?"

When Caleb heard Roy's words, he felt his blood rushing up!

He trusted Roy so much! How could he say that?

"I've worked so hard for the Bullock Group for so many years, Do I only worth 10 percent? And, do you think that it's not a small amount? If it wasn't for that damned woman, Jamie, the entire group would be ours!"

Caleb covered his chest. He didn't believe that Roy, whom he trusted, would say such a thing.

"You have done a good job recently. You should continue to sow discord between Jamie and Caleb until Caleb is completely disappointed in Jamie. In this way, he will at most give her some property but not the shares. At that time, the Bullock Group will be in our hands!"

"That's great! But I have miscalculated a little recently. I couldn't hold back when I was riding the horse. I was scared to death. That's why I hit Jamie. Who knew that the old bastard would come back at this time! Really! It was a waste!"

Ceres was a little upset.

"It doesn't matter. He arranged for us to go to the Hot Spring Villa on purpose. It seems that Jamie said something to him. He should not blame you. Just be careful in the future."

"Yes, I will. I won't give up the chance. Jamie is an idiot although she looks smart. We played her like a fiddle!"

"You are right. She is indeed an idiot. But she's still a threat! We have to handle her soon." Roy said very ruthlessly.

...

Caleb stood there trembling all over. That voice was indeed Roy.

He would not have misheard.

Although the lights were not turned on, he was very familiar with Roy. It was indeed him.

"Why?

I've treated him like a son, why would he do this to me?"

Caleb felt a sharp pain in his chest. His heart was beating violently.

"Oh right, Roy. I feel like we're too slow. No matter what, Jamie is Caleb's only daughter."

"Don't be afraid. That old bastard won't live for long. When he dislikes Jamie a little, I will propose to temporarily take charge of the Bullock Group. At that time, I will kill him directly."

Hearing that Roy wanted to kill him, Caleb vomited a mouthful of blood.

...

The commotion attracted the attention of the two people.

"You ... you..." Caleb supported the wall.

"Dad, Dad, what's wrong with you?" Jamie appeared out of nowhere.

Caleb slowly fell along the wall, his hands still trembling as he pointed in the direction of Roy and Ceres.

"Dad, don't scare me!"

Caleb's hand sank, and his eyes closed.

Jamie let out a sigh of relief, "The two of you, go now."