

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 326 She Is Your Daughter

It was Caleb!

Jamie widened her eyes in shock.

What the hell!

She had put the drug into Caleb's soup, how could he wake up?

Caleb grabbed Jamie's wrist tightly, his dark eyes terrifying.

In fact, after dinner, he had received a message from Roy when he returned to his room. At that time, Caleb did not believe that his beloved daughter would kill him.

So, he decided to see what will happen. To his surprise, Joy was right.

The two of them were in a stalemate just like that!

Jamie was caught red-handed. She couldn't find any excuses right now.

Caleb looked at her coldly, "You just said that you are not my daughter."

His voice seemed to come from hell.

She swallowed hard, "Yes, I am not your daughter!"

"You are fake?" Caleb stared at Jamie with his dark eyes, making her not dare to lie.

"Yes."

"What about the DNA report?"

"It was..." Jamie stuttered, unable to speak.

"Speak!"

Caleb's malicious gaze frightened Jamie.

She had never seen Caleb like this. In her eyes, Caleb had always been gentle and kind to her.

"It ... It's Ceres! I used Ceres's blood."

Caleb was shocked, "You mean..."

"She is your daughter."

Caleb looked at Jamie in astonishment, his hand loosened slowly.

No wonder he always felt that Ceres was very similar to him. It turned out that she was his daughter by blood.

Ceres and Roy, who were hiding in the wardrobe, were also surprised.

Ceres had guessed correctly. She was Caleb's daughter. The truth was finally be revealed.

Just as Caleb was panicking, Jamie raised her needle again. This time, she did not hesitate at all. She directly inserted the needle into Caleb's chest!

Her movements were too fast!

"Go to hell!"

Roy and Ceres had yet to react.

Roy rushed out of the wardrobe and kicked Jamie away. The needle fell to the ground.

Caleb covered his chest, his eyes suddenly enlarged, and then he slowly fell onto the bed.

"Mr. Caleb! Mr. Caleb!" Roy couldn't care so much. He rushed directly to the bedside, only to see Caleb's eyes slowly closed.

In the meanwhile, Jamie escaped.

Ceres immediately came to the bedside. She looked at his father. Before she could say a word to him, he closed his eyes!

"Quick! Let's see what kind of medicine is in the syringe. Maybe there is a cure!" Roy instructed and then called the doctor.

Ceres picked up the needle from the ground, but the needle was blank and there was no label on it.

"There is nothing on it!"

"Then take the needle and let the doctor do the identification!" Roy said as he prepared to help Caleb up and carry him on his back.

At this time, Dylan rushed in with a group of people, and Jamie was following behind.

Jamie's hair was disheveled, and there were several bloody marks on her face!

"Hurry up and catch them! Don't let them hurt my father!" Jamie pointed at Roy and Ceres.

Dylan rushed in and saw that the needle was in Ceres's hand.

He immediately made a gesture, "Take them down!"

The bodyguards rushed in and directly detained Roy and Ceres.

"What are you all doing? Let me go!" Ceres struggled with all his might.

Roy also looked at Dylan angrily, "Mr. Dylan, are you crazy?"

Dylan had heard the recording Jamie had given him in advance. Now that he had seen it with his own eyes, he was even more convinced that what it said was true.

"You are the one crazy! Roy, Mr. Caleb is so good to you! And what did you do?"

"Are you blind? It was this woman who wanted to kill Mr. Caleb. If it wasn't for us, Mr. Caleb would be dead by now! Mr. Dylan, wake up!" Roy was pressed tightly by several bodyguards. He shouted at Dylan.

Dylan snorted coldly, "I won't listen to your nonsense anymore!"

"Jamie is not Mr. Caleb's daughter at all. Ceres is! Jamie said it herself. Mr. Caleb heard it too! Find a doctor for Mr. Caleb immediately! Quick!"

Roy roared with all his might. His face was already red, and the veins on his neck were exposed.

He never thought that this housekeeper would be so stupid, or perhaps Jamie's methods were too brilliant.

"If Mr. Caleb wakes up and proves that what you said is true, I will apologize." He then said to the guards, "Now lock them up!"

As soon as Dylan gave the order, Ceres and Roy were tied up. Knowing that Roy was very good at martial arts, the bodyguards tied him up very firmly. The two of them were then sent into the basement.

Jamie and Dylan then escorted Caleb to the hospital. Along the way, Jamie wanted to find an opportunity to kill Caleb. However, Dylan was wholeheartedly protected her master. She did not find an opportunity to kill him.

However, she calculated in her heart that although she failed to inject all the medicine but at least half of it is in Caleb's body now. Caleb should not live long.

Caleb was sent to the emergency room.

Dylan looked nervously at the emergency room. Jamie, who decided to make a full set of acting, fell to the ground with a thud. Dylan hurriedly went up.

"Miss Jamie!"

"Dad, my dad, the dad I finally found! It's all my fault! I shouldn't have trusted that woman so easily!"

Dylan looked at Jamie's grief-stricken appearance and sighed, "Miss Jamie, God will bless the good. Your father will be fine."

Jamie shook her head, "If anything happens to my father, I will not forgive myself."

Dylan was sad too, "It is also my fault. I didn't find out Roy's true color earlier. If I did, maybe..."

"Mr. Dylan! I'm too young, I don't understand much. Please, help me if anything happens to Dad!"

"Don't worry, Miss Jamie. I will do my best to help you. And I will not let any of those who hurt Mr. Caleb go!"

Jamie nodded.

In the basement where Roy and Ceres were locked in, Ceres struggled a few times and found that the rope became even tighter.

"It's useless. it was me who taught them how to tie the rope. The more you struggle, the tighter it becomes."

"We're doomed this time," Ceres said.