

42- Blonds

The moment she reached home she wanted to kick something.

Or may be someone! But she kicked away her sandals instead.

She did have idea that Abigail must be sleeping with Ethan or Hunter. But what she did not expect was Hunter appearing as Abigail's boyfriend on mom's door.

No. Wait a minute! Not as a boyfriend. But as a fuc*kin fiancé!

Why a busy man would do it? Usually Kyle used to poke her whenever she was busy in deep thinking. But for some reason, tonight he was unusually quiet and did not bother much.

Thankfully she could think in peace. What was exactly going on?

She had decided to play the tricks smartly. And that worked with mom. But what about this Levisay boy. The way he kept looking at Abigail was enough to make Chloe puke.

There was something fishy going on. With a hair strand twirling around her finger she eyed Kyle who was heading towards bathroom. Making sure that he was out of her voice range she dialed a number.

"Hello. I told you to get the file for me from CEO's office. You got that?" She listened to the person quietly and patiently then started shaking her head.

"No no. We might lose the deal. And that's the purpose of stealing the file. Right? Better place the file in Abigail's office by Monday morning."

Now she sounded furious and spoke between her clenched teeth, "Listen, honey ball! I don't know how you do it. But I want to get it done."

Otherwise you don't know what I can do." With that she disconnected the call.

The image of Hunter kissing Abigail's hand kept playing in her mind. When they both were coming out of the mini bar, everyone knew including her, what they had been doing inside.

Abigail had always been very foolish. First she thought she had Kyle in her hands. But Kyle never belonged to her.

Now the CEO who was just using her for his pleasure and she thought that he might marry her?

Even if Mr. CEO wanted any commitment he would back off. Because he was already too concerned about his company not getting the contract. Now this time Chloe had stolen the file and sent the quotations to Alain groups herself. 2

When Hunter would find out Abigail was involved ... Well... That would be too bad. Chloe would make sure that Hunter kick Abigail out of her office.

It would get more dirty! Right?

Her eyes fell on Kyle who was now snoring in his sleep.

Poor baby!

"So, what are your plans for future?" Geena asked Kyle putting the coffee cup on the table. 1

Kyle just shrugged his shoulders, "Let's see. We need to pay off the loans for the showroom. But it's getting difficult day by day. Either we need to find an investor or search for a better place to shift it."

Right now he was thinking to live in some smaller apartment but with Chloe and a baby on the way that apartment would not be enough. He wanted to rent a house with a small backyard. He seemed to lose all the initial things that he planned with Abi. Thinking of Abi he remembered how she was crazy about coffee.

A long gone memory.

A smile made its way on his lips. 1

"Hello." Chloe came and sat near him.

"Coffee?" Geena asked her daughter but she shook her head. "No way mom. This constant sickness is killing me." It was her first trimester. She was either sick or was taking naps due to her early pregnancy.

"Where were you?" She turned to her husband. "You should not have left me all alone." She nodded towards upstairs where she was sleeping. They had come to visit Geena this morning and Chloe was sent upstairs to take a short nap. 1

"You were sleeping so I just came down to chat." Kyle looked at her beautiful face which lacked the innocence Abi had.

Damn it! 2

"Still! I am becoming the mom of your child!" Chloe was whining as usual but right now she was not on his mind. His mind was still on Abi.

Is Abi sleeping with Levisay? Do they do it daily? Hell Kyle!

"Are you listening Kyle? You should ..."

"Stop it Chloe! Geez! Let me work something out for you and the baby. I can't sit beside you twenty four seven. Hello! I have got a family to feed." 6

Chloe rolled her eyes and looked at Geena whose eyes were warning her not to mess with Kyle. But Chloe ignored.

"Ok I would have Mac n cheese burger!" she told him while inspecting her nails. Taking a deep breath he shook his head.

"So that you can vomit it out?"

But Chloe did not comment rather she looked at Geena dreamily, "Mom what do you think? Hunter as my future brother in law would offer me a better designation if I ask him to? Like a separate office." 7

Geena looked at her in disbelief even Kyle was dumbfounded.

"Last week, you were no more interested in a job or anything. You were deciding to be a stay at home mom because you thought it's my duty to provide for my family. You were planning to resign. Now what about that theory? Vanished in thin air?" Kyle told her in a sarcastic tone.

"But after all, it won't be a bad idea! It can improve our finances. Right mom?" She looked at Geena, "Plus you seem to lose our house and showroom both!" 8

"Listen Chloe. Stay away from Abi and Hunter." Geena almost pleaded. "Hunter is so sweet I don't think he would say no to you. But better stay away from them. You have got Kyle. You two can figure it out all this as a team."

Geena was feeling like shouting. She wanted to remind her daughter that she had already snatched away Abigail's boyfriend. Her all life lines. She should be spared now. But she could not say much because of Kyle's presence.

"I will talk to her when Kyle is not around." She made a mental note. 1

Kyle could not take it anymore, "Your Hunter is not sweet at all. He is a bloody, ruthless man. I know him very well."

"What! You know him?" Chloe frowned at him "But that night at dinner you acted as if you don't know him at all?"

"I know him as much as Go*ogle would allow it. But not personally. Around one year back I attended a conference with a friend of mine. Hunter was also there. He doesn't remember me, but we met for a brief moment. Mr. Kagin and he had some argument. Unlike Kagin he never rose his voice. But it was so scathing and so cold that I bet Kagin must had wet his pants." 1

He smiled a little at the memory and then looked at Geena, "My friend told me ... that man doesn't have a soft bone in him, he even doesn't know how to smile or be polite. On the other hand he does care about his employees a great deal. But even then... they find him quite intimidating."

Chloe and Geena both were looking at him in astonishment then Chloe mumbled. "Are you sure we are talking about the same Hunter?"

Chloe had heard a lot about Hunter but she always shrugged them thinking they were all rumors. Kyle let out a humorless chuckle, "Same? Better search for him on internet. You would know what I am talking about."

"But ..." Chloe paused for a moment and looked at Geena "I don't believe this. The way he was acting around Abigail ... no! No way!" She turned to Kyle, "Give me your phone Ky!"

"Why do you want it?" he gave her a confused look while handing over his phone. She started searching about Hunter Levisay. His achievements, his hobbies and his images. All were there.

Before that she had been putting all her energy in searching Ethan Hanks.

And then she noticed something ... uh Oh!

Giving a vile smirk she thought loudly, "Waoh! He loves blondes!" 2
