

Origin Powers 431

Chapter 431 - Father and Son Inheritance is a Good Tradition

Under Xiaoya's detection, it was confirmed that the nuclear bomb had thoroughly washed over the entire Siria Planet, and even a master as powerful as a Grandmaster would not be able to escape from such an environment alive.

The Monarch level Battleship Sea King departed from Xuyun Star.

It began to rendezvous with the Watchtower class Battleship lurking in the shadows, bringing Liu Dong and Zhao Yang aboard the Monarch level Battleship.

Watchtower, Conqueror, Fearless, Monarch...

The Battleship directly upgraded by three levels.

The Monarch Level Battleship Sea King, its size was almost ten times that of the Watchtower class Battleship.

Not to mention housing four people, even four thousand could be easily accommodated.

Just because Xu Lingjun had been prudent, bringing Old Gor's corpse, thereby obtaining full access to the Monarch level Battleship.

And Xiaoya could operate the Battleship from within via computer access...

Otherwise, the four of them controlling the Battleship would have been quite problematic.

Especially after Xu Lingjun entered seclusion.

Xu Lingjun left.

Even Han Yun City couldn't help but feel a bit uneasy...

One had to admit that throughout this journey, Xu Lingjun had transformed from a Void Gold Storage and Transport Merchant into the soul figure among the four.

Fortunately, he had planned everything before he left.

Just on a technological level, the Monarch level Battleship Sea King far outstripped any Battleship on Siria Planet, even possessing a unique camouflage system.

The massive Battleship silently re-entered Void Star, and Xiaoya could even quietly take control over all subsidiary Battleship systems through the main system, after scanning that the number of remaining Pirates was less than ten thousand.

"Kill all remaining Pirates!"

Xiaoya began to implement Xu Lingjun's orders.

Under the interference of the electromagnetic pulse disruptor, all the Battleship's energy lost control instantly.

Subsequently, the poison gas stored within these Battleships began to be released, meant as a last-resort weapon to prevent enemy invasion, poisoning any invading enemies and their own people to death.

The neurotoxic gas caused instant death before anyone realized what was happening.

"What a pity."

Han Yun City sat in the main pilot seat, listening to Xiaoya's report from the computer, learning that most of the Pirates had entered the Earth Core World.

He couldn't help but shake his head regretfully, saying, "What a pity it would be great if all the Pirates were in there... but this is pretty good too. These Shilin Race people are not so easy to deal with. They won't survive many. Old Sixth, we shouldn't leave any of these Battleships all of them must be destroyed, just ensure they can't leave this planet, and then destroy Xuyun Star, so these people will be buried for Xuyun Star!"

"Understood!"

The two of them jumped off the Battleship carrying a heavy load of Heavy Radium Bombs.

Even Han Yun City couldn't help but feel regret, knowing that with the assistance of the Infinite Justice Mecha, it wouldn't have been such a hassle...

But unfortunately, with Xu Lingjun in seclusion, the AI Xiaoya needed to pilot the Battleship, forcing them to manually install the bombs themselves.

Fortunately, all the Pirates were already dead, and any remaining Pirates were probably in the Earth Core World engaged in life-and-death battles, leaving them unperturbed here.

Installing bombs on over a hundred Battleships of various sizes took the two of them a full four hours.

By the time the two returned to the Battleship...

Even one as strong as Han Yun City couldn't help but start to breathe raggedly, the continuous jumping around was indeed exhausting.

"Alright, when the Sea King takes off, we can detonate this bomb simultaneously."

After thinking for a moment, Han Yun City said, "By the way, Xiaoya, right?"

"Yes, Mr. Red Dog, do you have any orders?"

Zhao Yang couldn't help but burst into laughter.

Han Yun City replied speechlessly, "Don't call me by the notes in your master's phone, you can call me Your Highness, or if you find that unreasonable, call me the young master..."

"Okay, Red Dog young master, any orders?"

Even Liu Dong couldn't help but smile.

Han Yun City sighed and said, "There are quite a few weapons equipped on the Sea King, I remember you used the Infinite Justice to carry a large number of weapons in, and Old Xu also brought a lot with the Transformation Capsule."

"Yes, Red Dog young master, are you planning to deploy these bombs?"

"Drop some into the Earth Core World, there must be a lot of Pirates and Shilin Race fighting down there, a few dozen Decomposition Shells should cause them heavy casualties, at the very least, destroy their thrusters so they can no longer pose a threat to us!"

"Yes, I understand!"

Xiaoya nodded, "In three minutes, the Sea King will leave the atmosphere, by then, enough bombs will be released to destroy the Earth Core. Xuyun Star will explode and be destroyed within one workday!"

Workday?

Han Yun City's expression turned strange, thinking to himself how indeed it's artificial intelligence, using even the wrong words.

But at least he understood the word destruction... which meant the Monarch Level Battleship was different from the Watchtower Level Battleship, having enough firepower to completely destroy Xuyun Star.

In that case, the Star Annihilator Cannon wasn't even needed.

Perfect!

And so...

Three minutes later.

The Monarch level Battleship began to slowly rise into the sky... as the countdown ended, accompanied by violent explosion sounds, massive explosions began to ripple and spread below, and over a hundred Battleships of various sizes were instantly engulfed in boundless splendid fireworks.

Together with countless missiles emitting fiery tails, they shot downwards towards the Earth Core World below.

Below, the battle between the Pirates and the Shilin Race had already reached its most intense moment.

The Pirates realized that close combat against the Shilin Race was unfavorable, so immediately upon landing in the Earth Core World, they sought a location to establish an artificial defensive structure, and then used long-range weapons to deal with the approaching Shilin Race.

They had ample time to expend and continual supplies, fearing no attrition...

Tactically sound, these Shilin Race dwindled one by one, moreover Sara had already discovered their fatal weakness, leaderless, handling them without much concern, too easy to deal with.

Judging by this, within a month at most, they could completely wipe out all the Shilin Race in the Earth Core World!

She couldn't help but feel smugly satisfied...

She just had a new son.

She couldn't wait to go back and get close to him, having heard that in some minorities on the Blue Star, the wife could inherit in place of the son...

She wondered if Xiaomu had heard of this fine tradition?

If not, well, she would definitely have to teach him.

While thinking...

She suddenly heard an astonished shout from her subordinates.

"What...what is that ghostly thing?"

Sara looked up, only to see dazzling tails of fire descending from the sky, piercing through the anti-gravity membrane, crashing down towards them.

"It's the Decomposition Shells, run!"

Sara screamed, instinctively fleeing to one side...

But the speed of the shells was just too fast.

Amidst the roar, the previously eerie Earth Core World was instantly illuminated like daylight, a raging torrent mixed with heat waves, coalescing into a massive mushroom cloud, spreading in all directions.

In the face of the Decomposition Shells' destruction, Pirates and Shilin Race alike, all living beings, there was no distinction; they didn't even have time to scream before they were directly vaporized into ashes!

The enormous mushroom cloud slowly rose up, filling the entire large entrance to the Earth Core, while the dense smoke almost condensed into a beam of light, steaming upwards to the heavens.

At this time.

Watching the thick smoke rising from the crater, it seemed as if this shell had blasted away the last of Xuyun Star's life...

The entire planet started to tremble violently.

But this had nothing to do with Han Yun City and the others.

By this time, the Monarch level Battleship had already escaped the gravitational pull of Xuyun Star, flying into space.

Shooting towards the direction of the Polar Star Battlefield.