

Overwhelmed 15

Chapter 15 The Last Hope

The next day.

The building of the Royal Garden Corporation was the tallest landmark in Ploville. It pierced the sky like a massive javelin thrust upward, showing the company's undeniable power and flowing resources.

The next day.

The building of the Royal Garden Corporation was the tallest landmark in Ploville. It pierced the sky like a massive javelin thrust upward, showing the company's undeniable power and flowing resources.

Milton was walking down the hall, but he suddenly stopped, turned around, and glared at Raul.

"Have you laughed enough?"

Raul didn't make fun of him the whole night last night, but now he couldn't keep his mouth shut.

Milton was walking down the hall, but he suddenly stopped, turned around, and glared at Raul.

"Have you laughed enough?"

Raul didn't make fun of him the whole night last night, but now he couldn't keep his mouth shut.

What happened last night was too hilarious.

Milton and Raul had been friends for more than twenty years.