

Overwhelmed 150

Chapter 150 Cherishing For A Lifetime

The table lamp cast a mild glow, illuminating the room.

Candice's words were beautiful, powerful, and laced with youthful vigor.

Greyson had asked Madilyn that question because he had stumbled upon something in Candice's diary. It was a recording of their school trip to Overshow, an ancient city nestled at the foot of the mountains. The table lamp cast a mild glow, illuminating the room.

Candice's words were beautiful, powerful, and laced with youthful vigor.

Greyson had asked Madilyn that question because he had stumbled upon something in Candice's diary. It was a recording of their school trip to Overshow, an ancient city nestled at the foot of the mountains.

In their second year of junior high, the Art Department had organized the students to go there for a sketching field trip.

That was the very same day when he had been kidnapped.

And Candice was present, too.