

Overwhelmed 92

Chapter 92 You Already Knew

Running as fast as she could, Candice left the court behind.

It wasn't until she hailed a taxi that she slowed down.

Her heart was still racing, and her breath came in quick gasps.

Checking herself in a cosmetic mirror, she noticed her red and swollen lips and wondered how to conceal them.

Excitement still coursed through her veins as she thought about Milton's passionate kiss that had left her powerless and unable to resist for over ten minutes.

Covered in sweat, she finally regained her senses.

The view outside the window blurred past her as the taxi raced on.