

Paragon 901

Chapter 901 - 901: Spending Time With His Mother-In-Law

"You are back," Miko Hiroshi said, smiling as Klaus entered a large hall in the main mansion where they were received. She was the only one there, suggesting his wives had already left for the mansion they would be staying in.

Klaus nodded with a smile and took a seat.

"Did he make things difficult for you?" Miko asked, but Klaus shook his head.

"We had some interesting conversations. Nothing too serious to the point you should be worried, mother-in-law."

"I guess that is good to hear. Though if he had tried to make life hard for you, I would have stepped in and taught him how to treat his son-in-law."

Klaus laughed, hearing how caring his mother-in-law is. Of course, Klaus is adorable. No mother in this universe wouldn't want him around their daughter.

The brat may be hated by the heavens, but everyone loves him. And this is all Klaus wanted. Having moments like this, although trivial to many, Klaus knew he needed them.

His life is not like everyone else's.

His life was painful, and he knew it.

He witnessed all the moments Fruity, his third incarnation, nearly broke when the pressure became too much.

Sometimes, when everything seemed to be settled and he was about to have a moment of respite, the heavens stepped in just to turn everything upside down.

In moments when his wives would face harrowing dangers just to confront his enemies, which in this context, the heavens always broke his heart.

If anything, Klaus wanted to live a happy life, but the heavens wouldn't allow him.

So moments, regardless of how small they are, were all he could ask for.

If, for now, he gets to live this life, then soon, regardless of the danger he finds himself in, he will know that at least he has lived moments like the one he and his mother-in-law were about to embark on.

"Why don't we take a walk? I would like to see more of this place," Klaus said, and his mother-in-law was more than happy to do that.

They left the mansion and headed westward, where even from afar, Klaus could see the tree line. It appeared to be a self-created mini forest, one they perhaps wanted to keep the air fresh.

"That was a personal project I indulged in. I happened to have awakened the wood element, so being around nature is something I find fascinating," Lady Miko said, walking beside Klaus, who took her arm in his as they moved.

Though he may be a brat, his mother taught him how to treat a woman right.

"That is impressive. One of my wives has the wood element too. I must ask, how does it feel to be so attuned to nature on such a scale?

I mean, what most warriors do is destroy things. However, looking at your forest, I am sure you are someone who seeks to preserve it. So, how do you feel when the natural environment around you is being destroyed?"

"To be honest, it is depressing sometimes.

However, I also understood that this was the apocalypse, and knowing that not everyone was like me, things wouldn't always go the way I wanted them to, so I could only adapt and live as society demanded.

Perhaps, one of these days, I will find a place where life is much more in tune with the way I want to live."

Klaus nodded, already expecting such an answer.

Lucy had already said something similar when he asked her the same question.

Back when he was on the run with them through the universe in his 4th incarnation, whenever they had a moment of peace, Lucy always tried to create a mini forest where everything was perfect.

She liked to live within her element, so whenever she saw someone harming nature, it pained her to watch. Of course, in the end, it was a matter of personal preference.

She couldn't impose her preferences on anyone, just like how others couldn't impose on her. But as life magicians, treating nature with dignity was something they always liked to practice.

"Maybe you need a break. So, I guess when my wife goes to the Amazon rainforest, you should tag along. It would be a refreshing experience for you."

Lady Miko nodded. Though she hadn't said it, she was already planning on taking such a trip herself. She had already reached the Sovereign stage and would soon become a transcendent.

To her, that would be enough to live a couple of thousand years and experience nature as she wanted. But then again, if only she knew her son-in-law already had bigger plans for her.

They soon moved through the small forest and headed to a different section, where dozens of warehouses were scattered throughout the area.

"That is our storage warehouse for storing our weapons and other materials. In case you're not aware, the Hiroshi family deals in weapons such as spears, swords, sabres, and the like.

It is our major source of income even before the apocalypse. Of course, back then, our focus was more on the minerals used for said weapons.

But even then, we had a large collection of swords that we sold to all sword enthusiasts."

"I will come later to see if I can get myself a good sword. I happen to have a thing for weapons, you see," Lady Miko laughed.

Soon, they approached a couple of mansions. Klaus immediately knew they were for Aoi and her siblings.

Each of them had their own mansion and a few guest mansions, such as the one where Klaus would be lodging with his wives for the next three days.

They spent close to 4 hours just moving about, sightseeing all the amazing environments within the Hiroshi family.

Klaus was pleased with the tour, and Lady Miko, who ultimately gained a deeper understanding of Klaus's character, was also glad to have spent time with him.

After a while, they moved back to the main mansion, where Lady Miko quickly prepared tea.

Klaus drank happily, and after a few more hours talking about random things, which mostly revolved around Aoi's childhood, Klaus left to go spend time with his ladies.

On the way, he met Mio and Miki, Aoi's two sisters.

"Finally done flirting with your mother-in-law, I see," Mio started, already planning on making Klaus blush.

"What do you expect, Mio? You already saw the lineup he brought. Perhaps he wanted more, and that was why he set his sights on Mom."

"Are you planning on killing our old man, huh, Klaus? Do you already have a plan in mind?" Mio laughed.

"Maybe he had already done it, considering we haven't seen him after the dinner." The two sisters laughed, but Klaus just smirked and walked closer to them, stopping a few steps away.

"I happen to have values, ladies. Lady Miko is amazing, but she is married, so I wouldn't cross that line.

However, you two are still single, and well, I have a thing for single ladies, so perhaps you should tread carefully... You wouldn't know when my claws sink into you."

Klaus's golden eyes gleamed as he smiled and walked away, leaving the two sisters blushing heavily. They came to make Klaus blush, but he left them with their cheeks as red as a ripe tomato.

Chapter 902 - 902: Pool Time [18+]

When Klaus returned to the mansion where he and his wives were staying, most of his wives were in the pool wearing their seductive swimsuits.

He quickly made his way over and, taking just his shirt off, dived into the pool, immediately surrounded by his wives.

Though not all of them were in the pool, most were there, including some new faces. The last time they had been in a pool was back in Stone Valley when things heated up quickly.

But today, new faces were in the pool, and the number was less than the last time. However, most importantly, his mother wasn't with them, meaning this time he could do anything he wanted, provided it wasn't too much.

Lily jumped into his arms the moment Klaus entered the pool.

They locked in a moment of passion, Klaus kneading her butt for a few seconds before dropping her into the pool.

Lulu, Queenie, Ohema, Anna, Aoi, Lucy, and Nadia were the same. The Paragon ensured they were given the same attention their sister received.

"How was your talk with your father-in-law?" Queenie asked, wrapping her arms around Klaus's neck as he rested in her arms, his head between her breasts.

"We had some interesting talks, and he even gave me a gift for making his daughter happy." Klaus smiled, looking at Aoi, who couldn't hold back her blush.

She had already warned her father that if he dared make life hard for Klaus, she would deal with him personally, so this was good news for her.

Though the way Klaus said it was a little exaggerated. If only he knew her father had indeed rewarded Klaus for just being awesome, perhaps she would see her man in a new light.

"By the way, your mom is awesome. And why didn't you tell me she is also a wood cultivator like Lucy?"

"Mother doesn't like violence, so I had no reason to look for opportunities for her. She just wanted to become a transcendent so she could live a couple of thousand years.

To her, she just wants to preserve nature. Even weeding was prohibited since she tended to nurture the plants herself and make them grow the way she wanted.

Sometimes, she even talks to the plants as if they talk back to her," Aoi smiled.

"But they actually talk back," Lucy said, smiling at Aoi. "The plants are the most innocent life you can ever talk with. At the moment, if I want to know something about your family, I can just ask the trees and they will tell me."

Klaus and his ladies looked at the beautiful queen of vines, and they just couldn't understand why someone would want to talk to trees.

But then again, she was connected to them, so it was only natural for her to share this connection. And since she was genuinely happy conversing with plants, there was no reason to question her.

Aoi could only shake her head, now seeing her mother becoming someone like Lucy. Of course, unlike Lucy, her mother would actually move her bed to the forest and start living with the plants.

In the Hiroshi Great family, aside from her mother, every last one of them was a warrior.

She had no intention of becoming this powerful warrior who would claim lives like Lucy does. She just wanted to preserve and nurture it.

"Mother's dream is not that big, so I didn't see the need to bring her up."

"Too bad for her, because I plan on turning her into an immortal, even a god. In fact, all my in-laws are bound to become immortals someday."

Klaus's wife smiled, hearing their man's plan for their parents. This was more than they could ever want.

Of course, they had no idea the main reason Klaus wanted this was for them. He had lived long enough to know that having no parents as one grows strong tends to affect them.

In his life as Fruity, he saw how sometimes Lucy and Anna missed their parents, who died at the weapon of their enemies, so this time, he wanted his in-laws to at least have some form of protection against their enemies, at least long enough for help to arrive.

Klaus turned and looked at Luna and Nuna, who looked at him, each covering their chest with their hands. Klaus just smiled and turned to Amelia, who was also doing the same thing.

"You three beauties do know I don't bite, right?" His question, of course, made them blush. Even Amelia turned around.

However, that was a bad idea. Though she was in the water, Klaus could see her clearly, and looking at those butts smiling at him, little Paragon moved slightly.

Of course, it wasn't his fault Anna was rubbing him. However, this movement caught the attention of his wives, causing them to smile.

'Looks like you want to bite her, my love,' Nadia said using their connection.

[I guess that is only normal considering she has a body like that.]

The ladies smiled, turned, and looked at Amelia. Naturally, they knew Klaus was telling the truth. And knowing their man, they knew this was something he wouldn't let slip.

But they also needed some attention, so they didn't let their eyes wander anymore. They let him know they also needed his attention.

Lucy started kissing him while Queenie and Ohema massaged his body, and Anna finally slipped her hand into Klaus's pants and brought out the Paragon rod.

It wasn't hard yet, but it was gaining strength. Anna wrapped both hands around Klaus's dick and started rubbing him.

Of course, the moment they started, the twins and Amelia knew what was happening, causing them to blush.

They blushed immediately, turned to look at each other, and then ran out of the pool.

Klaus saw this and smiled.

'They are much more fragile than they appear on the battlefield.' Of course, he didn't think too much about it; instead, he focused on his wives.

They were now free to do as they pleased with him. When they saw the three ladies run away, they became bold and immediately stripped off their clothes.

The vacation had officially begun.

Chapter 903 - 903: Pleasure Pool [18+]

"Shouldn't we move this inside?" Klaus asked, sitting at the edge of the pool. His dick was being sucked by Anna, who had both hands wrapped around it, doing both a handjob and head job.

"We are all women here," Queenie replied, causing Klaus to smile.

"What about the newcomers? Don't you think this will alarm them?" Klaus asked, but the ladies just shrugged their shoulders.

"They can come if they want to. There is room for them here, too."

'They are much more shameless than a few months ago,' Klaus just smiled and watched as Anna sucked on the Paragon rod, making him feel good.

Nadia had her slender fingers wrapped around his balls, kneading them. The feeling sank deep into his body, showing the pleasure he was going through.

It wasn't hard to know Klaus was having the best time at the moment, and his ladies could see that.

So they intensified the moment. Lucy was caressing Klaus's chest while Ohema, Aoi, and the rest attended to other parts of his body.

A couple of minutes later, Klaus came, and Anna couldn't control her excitement as she took in the star juice like it was her life force.

Aoi took over when Anna was done and started sucking on the Paragon rod, as if this wasn't her family's house, where her parents could appear at any moment.

Perhaps if they saw their baby girl, who they thought innocent, now actively and intensely sucking on her man's dick, they would change their opinion of her.

But then again, Klaus is her man, so she was having a good time.

Inside the mansion, Amelia, who had made her way back to her room after running from the pool, was looking through the window, watching the naked ladies work on their man.

For a moment, her heart skipped a beat. However, after a few minutes of watching this display, regret flashed across her eyes.

'Why did I even run? If I had been a little bolder, I would still be there and perhaps even finally get closer to him, like Pickle Berry said.'

She regretted running.

Pickle Berry used her superior knowledge of her past with Klaus to help her come to terms with her feelings for her big brother.

In her heart, Amelia knew she had feelings for Klaus. However, the boldness to make her move wasn't there yet.

She had a good chance, but she never had the courage to take the risk and get what she wanted.

'I still have more days ahead of me, so I will make my move and hopefully, it ends well. I am sure Sofia and the others also have the same thought.'

And she was right.

In another room, Luna and Nuna were also watching the events at the pool. At first, they didn't say anything, but after a few minutes of watching, just like Amelia, they also felt a sense of regret.

"We shouldn't have run," Luna said, and her sister nodded.

"Next time, we shouldn't run. He is a man, we are women. It is normal to share moments like this," Nuna said, and her sister couldn't agree more.

In another room, Sofia was also having a similar thought. Lumia was the same.

The triplets, Vida, Kathy, and Hanna, were the same. Of course, in the case of Kathy and Hanna, they were already prepared, so it was only a matter of time.

However, the others were simply experiencing internal struggles.

While they continued to struggle, Klaus and his wives were having the best time at the pool. After Aoi had her share of the star juice, she let the next sister come for her share.

Within the next two hours, they all had their share of the star juice.

That was when they began debating whether to continue.

The ladies stared at each other, looking to see who would make the next move. Klaus, of course, was just there, watching them with a smile on his face. They all seemed to want the next sister to do it first.

Of course, they had acted boldly in the first round, but now, they looked even more flustered than Amelia and the twins when they ran out of the pool.

'They are just too cute when they behave this way,' Klaus thought inwardly, then made the decision for them.

He grabbed and lifted Ohema out of the pool and set her at the edge. He himself jumped back into the water, turned to face Ohema, who smiled.

Even without Klaus doing it himself, she opened her legs, spreading her neatly shaved pink nether cave. Klaus smiled, sniffing the pleasant aroma coming from Ohema's pussy.

He positioned his head between her legs, dug into her nether cave, and started licking her.

Her moans soon filled the pool, reaching her sisters who were watching. They blushed, imagining what Ohema might be feeling at the moment.

To them, this was the best moment they could have, but they weren't confident.

So for three more hours, they could only hear the sweet moans of their sister. When the last of them went to have their turn, the ladies decided to make it special, so Queenie, Lily, Anna, Ohema, Nadia, and Lucy left, leaving only Lulu and Aoi.

"So you all came to an agreement, huh?"

"Yes. Lulu and I will spend today with you. Tomorrow will be Sister Queenie, Ohema, and Lunara. This way, you can get time for all 20-plus women you brought with you," Aoi laughed.

Klaus just smirked. "You make it sound like I would be sleeping with everyone."

"I know you will be sleeping with everyone and then some because we will make sure of it. It's a long vacation, so it's best to be prepared to have some fun and relax. We want you to gain all the relaxation there is in the world before getting back to your work."

Klaus laughed, not wanting to think about anything for now. He indeed had some things to attend to, and at the moment, he wasn't sure if he had the time or not.

But he did know he had time for the two naked beauties before him. It had been a long time since he gave them some attention, so he had to make them feel loved.

'Very well. I must as well see how powerful the Paragon mark has become.'

With his mind made up, Klaus grabbed Aoi by the waist and lifted her onto his lap. Then he directed his dick to her nether cave, thrusting in slowly until it entered.

"MmmhHh," she moaned.

Chapter 904 - 904: Night Of Pleasure [18+]

"MmmhHh."

"AaaahHh."

Aoi's moans filled the space as she bounced up and down on Klaus's dick.

They were still by the pool, having chosen to spend their night of passion there like a bunch of freaks. However, it wasn't like they cared.

The setting they found themselves in wasn't one they had to worry about.

There were no maids in the mansion they were staying in while in Hiroshi City. The only ones around were Klaus and his wives. Of course, there were new faces, but even they didn't seem to care about what was happening.

If anything, they were more than happy to be witnessing something they themselves would be indulging in soon.

So watching Aoi ride the paragon rod like a cowgirl was just the right dose of shamelessness they wanted. And they were getting it.

Eventually, they would come to terms with what was happening on the vacation. After all, it would be an entire month together with the paragon; if anything, they all wanted to feel what it was like to be his woman.

"AaaaahHHH."

Aoi moaned hard as her dam burst, spraying love juice all over Klaus's chest and face. Of course, the paragon licked his lips, tasting the divine juice.

It tasted just right and sweet.

Aoi had already come four times but she kept going, though her body was shuddering like a massage chair as she bounced on Klaus's dick.

Klaus was also feeling the pleasure, so he kept moaning and groaning as he held Aoi's round butt. His finger sank into her soft skin, making the light and slow massage much more enticing and pleasurable than Aoi and Klaus expected.

"Mmmhhh."

Klaus moaned as Aoi moved her waist back and twisted her hips, causing his dick to bend and slide across the walls of her pussy.

"Damn, did your bloodline awakening come with a sex manual?" Klaus asked, but Aoi just smiled and kept doing her thing. This only made the paragon smile and keep moaning with his wife.

Meanwhile, Lulu was beside them, waiting for her turn. Tonight was for both her and Aoi, so she knew soon it would be her turn to moan her heart out.

Looking at Klaus's dick sliding in and out of Aoi's pussy almost made her drool.

'I miss this dick very much,' she said, looking at the thickness glistening under the dim moonlight illuminating the space.

'Looking at how Aoi's shaking, I have no doubt it has gotten bigger and longer. This will be a pleasurable night. I'd better prepare and get all the feelings in before I have to wait for days again for my turn.'

With that mindset activated, she was already licking her lips, waiting for when she would get her turn.

One hour into the bouncing, sweating, and moaning, Klaus was ready to cum, so he held Aoi's butts firm and made sure she took everything in.

After a few more thrusts, his load built up and charged forward.

"AAAaahhhhHHH."

They both moaned as Klaus fired his load into Aoi's body. She shuddered excitedly, feeling the hot liquid wash into her body.

But it wasn't just that. When the star juice entered her body, accompanying the rush was a powerful energy, one that made her feel her strength increase by several degrees.

Klaus, of course, felt it too. A rather potent energy, one he never expected to come from just one release, entered his body.

Immediately, he felt his 6th core forming.

'This is just too—' Before he could finish his thought, the second shot was fired, and more energy entered both their bodies. One minute later, after firing dozens of shots, the last drop entered Aoi's nether cave.

By then, the energy flowing through their bodies was just too much, so he had to pull his dick out and set Aoi down in a lotus posture.

"Absorb the energy into your soul egg," Klaus instructed, and Aoi nodded. Even before Klaus said that, she felt her soul egg already absorbing the energy.

Klaus also felt a part of the energy enter his soul, showing this was all meant to be. Of course, this caused him to wonder,

'Would their soul bodies form through sex?'

This question made him wonder about many things, and Klaus saw no reason to doubt it. The final key to awakening their bodies was his sperm.

His sperm was basically his star qi. This meant that while spiritual qi was what most relied on or produced, his body was producing the most potent form of energy, which is the star qi.

So, while they could awaken their soul bodies using spiritual qi, his star qi seemed to accelerate the process. Klaus wanted to see what happened once Aoi was done absorbing his star juice.

However, even after five minutes, she wasn't done. So Klaus had to turn to Lulu, who, just like Aoi, also felt her strength rise. However, she wasn't required to cultivate, for she didn't have the star juice in her.

She and the rest of her sisters only felt the nourishing effect of the star juice. To feel what Aoi was feeling now, she would have to get her own dose of star juice.

"Let me clean it first."

Lulu said, kneeling before Klaus as she started licking the cum off his dick. Out there, in their various rooms, all the ladies connected to the paragon mark felt their strength rise severalfold.

This brought smiles to their faces, and Lucy, being the nerd, started looking for ways to utilize this newfound strength well.

Her sisters, excluding Aoi and Lulu, were indulging her in her nerd analysis.

Meanwhile, in the other rooms, the other ladies were all watching Lulu with both hungry and jealous looks. In fact, watching the beautiful lady service Klaus's long dick made them gulp and keep gulping.

It was the most sensual thing they had ever seen, and while they weren't even thinking too much about it, their bodies had already gotten excited.

Liquid stains could be seen on their pants, showing what was running through their bodies.

Gulp.

Vida's stronghold gulped when Klaus raised Lulu into his arms and slid his dick from the back, sending it into Lulu's body.

Lulu wrapped her arms around Klaus's neck while Klaus buried his face between her boobs. His hands held her butt and started moving her, sliding her back and forth.

His dick was buried deep in her, so every single thrust was electric.

Klaus chose to take Lulu while standing up. If anything, he wanted the moment to be electric for a reason. He knew the ladies were watching him.

At first, he didn't mind, but now that he saw what his sperm could do, he knew they had to overcome their shyness and get on with it soon.

This was supposed to be a vacation, but Klaus had just found himself a mission. He would ensure that every last one of his wives awakened their soul bodies, as he could already feel Aoi's strength surging.

Of course, Klaus was also feeling a great deal of strength building up in his body. In fact, his 6th core was forming faster than he had expected.

This meant the chances of him breaking through to the Ascendent stage were drawing near.

His strength was about to skyrocket, and while he didn't know if this would be as dangerous as his last tribulation, he was ready for it regardless.

His ladies would help him ascend to the Ascendent stage much faster than he had anticipated.

"Aaaaaahhh."

Lulu moaned hard as her dam burst open, spraying her love juice just like Aoi did. It had already been ten minutes since the start of their marathon, but she had already come, and more was yet to come.

Thirty minutes later, Aoi was finally done absorbing Klaus's star juice. Her body was brimming with energy, and Klaus could see it. However, he was busy with Lulu, so he had to let her relax.

Once he was done with Lulu, he would ask all the questions he wanted to.

Lulu kept moaning, cumming, and panting for an hour and a half before Klaus came, feeling her inside with his star juice.

Just like with Aoi, he set her down to cultivate the energy that entered her body. The moment she sat down in lotus posture, Aoi moved and took the divine rod into her mouth and cleaned it well, even going ahead to suck it even more.

After she had enough, she looked up at Klaus, holding his dick like a microphone.

"That was the best sex we've ever had," Aoi said, smiling like an accomplished and satisfied wife.

"Then I guess you should be prepared for what is to come next. We have the entire night to ourselves, so be prepared to moan some more."

Aoi smiled and blushed, knowing she was going to make some more.

"How do you feel after absorbing the energy into your soul body?" Klaus asked as he picked her up and planted a kiss on her forehead.

"I can feel it. In a few days, my soul body will awaken." Aoi smiled, already feeling that in a few days, she would grow tremendously in strength.

Awakening a soul body was all that every cultivator wanted before reaching the Chaos stage. She and her sisters were all within the Ascendent and Void stages, which meant that soon, they would be growing by leaps and bounds if they awakened their soul bodies.

Chapter 905 - 905: Klaus's Plan For The Vacation

After thirty minutes, Lulu was also done cultivating her share of the Star Juice.

"How do you feel?" Klaus asked, sitting as Aoi sucked his paragon rod.

"Better than fine. I can feel my soul body nearing a threshold. But that isn't all. My level has already reached level 8 Ascendent stage, and there is this hidden energy awakening from deep within my soul."

Lulu smiled, and Klaus couldn't help feeling a sense of pride for her. When he looked at her, it felt like looking at three people in one body. He had only seen this in Anna and her sister Lucy.

But now, he could see it clearly.

He felt the first presence, which was unfathomable. It was like staring at a mountain you couldn't even bring yourself to climb. Klaus had yet to have an idea of where that presence came from.

But he knew it was Lulu, for he knew Lulu's talent as a spirit master came from that incarnation.

He could feel it and knew the moment her soul body awakened, the answer would come for both of them.

As for the second, Klaus could feel only love.

Pure, unfiltered love—one that pulled on his heartstrings. And while this was love, Klaus could feel the pain deep in his heart every time he stared at her.

The same kind of pain he felt from Lunara and Sofia, he could feel it here too. And while he didn't know much yet, Klaus knew all would become clear one day.

"Good for you, then. I already have plans to ensure you all have a good time during this vacation, so be prepared to handle the sessions that will follow."

Lulu blushed.

She turned and looked at Aoi, who was working on the paragon rod, and chose to sit and wait for her turn. Of course, her turn came, and for the rest of the evening until five in the morning, they kept having sex.

Thankfully, they chose to end their session before the others woke up to the same moans. Only if they were none of his wives were able to sleep thanks to their intense marathon that kept them awake all night.

They retired inside and freshened up.

Klaus supplied them with some fruits from his soul sea, so they felt refreshed and ready for breakfast at the main mansion.

The rest of the ladies went there early to help with the cooking, so only Klaus, Lulu, and Aoi walked there. When they walked in, everyone was seated and ready to start eating.

"Took you long enough. I thought you would still be sitting on the cloud by now," Miriam said the moment Klaus and his two wives entered the hall.

Naturally, everyone, including Mio, Miki, and their mother Miko, understood the context. This caused them to look at Aoi and grin. Aoi had to hide her face behind Klaus, clearly embarrassed.

Klaus smiled, turned, and hugged her, rubbing her back. "Don't mind them, my dear Japanese doll. They are just jealous."

Aoi didn't seem to be over her shyness, but hearing Klaus's words made her calm down. They sat down, and in a twist of fate, Aoi was seated between her two sisters.

Klaus knew it was the doing of her two sisters. They made sure it was either her, Lulu, or Klaus's seat between them.

Naturally, Aoi wouldn't want her man or sister to sit between those two troublemakers. So, she chose to sacrifice her calm moment beside her man and sat between her sisters, who already wore grins on their lips.

"Lady Miko, it is good to see you are still as beautiful as ever." Klaus turned to his mother-in-law, who smiled at his words.

"Thanks for the compliment, Klaus. Now, why don't we dig in before it gets cold?"

Klaus nodded and, looking away from everyone, started eating his breakfast. Everyone waited until he started before they did. It was like watching him eat that gave them an appetite.

Of course, the way Klaus eats would make anyone want to eat with him. Regardless of the taste of the food, Klaus would devour it with a pleased expression.

This was why Lady Miko was counting down the hours for the day to break so she could cook for him. And now, she did, and looking at the way he was eating, she knew it was worth it.

Of course, if this were before the apocalypse, Klaus would be destined to grow fat, but this is not the apocalypse, so he was having a good time, and all he was putting in his body contained potent energy.

The breakfast was pleasant, and when everyone finished eating, the maids cleared the table, but Klaus was left with a cup of tea.

"No need to look at me, weird big sisters Mio and Miki. I just love food, and this food is even more delicious than you can think," Klaus smiled.

"Sometimes, I dream, and in those dreams, I find myself devouring food like the sin of gluttony."

Everyone laughed, and Klaus thought of Fruity, who knows only how to eat and nothing else.

Of course, two of his wives felt like his dream was actually real. If Anna and Lucy recalled their past, they would know he was talking about his fourth incarceration.

They were there. They witnessed it and knew this was just the start of his devouring tendencies.

"So, Klaus, how was your first day here?" Mio asked after everyone was done eating.

Klaus set his cup down and looked at her, knowing full well where this was going. "It was wonderful. I had some of the best times of my life here."

"I bet you did." She grinned, and Miko leaned in.

"I bet you really had the best time, for I can already smell it."

Klaus smirked. "Do you perhaps have an affinity for smelling things? Because I can't smell anything."

Miki just shrugged. Lady Miko, who knew the kind of devils she had raised into two beautiful ladies, decided to step in before things reached the point where having a normal conversation wouldn't be possible.

"So, what do you have planned today?" she asked.

"I plan on exploring the city with the girls. You can come if you want."

"We are coming whether you ask or not," Mio said with a grin, and Miki nodded to her words, wearing the same grin.

A few hours later, they left the Hiroshi Mansion, taking a large, sleek bus like they were going on a field trip.

Chapter 906 - 906: Shopping

Hiroshi City is beautiful.

There are many amazing places one could explore. There are restaurants to begin with. Zoos, parks, markets, malls, arcades, and much more.

Klaus and his wives, along with his in-laws, had an entire day to visit all the places they wanted to see.

And because they were accompanied by the city leaders, it wasn't hard to gain access to the places they wanted to.

They first visited the zoo under the direction of Asha, who said she had never been to the zoo. So, they went to the largest zoo in the area and spent every second of the next two hours exploring the various exotic animals.

Klaus was surprisingly happy when they arrived at a session featuring the animals before the apocalypse.

Some of the animals that hadn't mutated were surprisingly still alive, and while Klaus knew they had spiritual qi running through their bodies, he also recognized they weren't lethal like the beasts and monsters in the wild.

So, they spent some time there, indulging in the mundane activities they found themselves in. By the time they finished at the zoo, everyone had seen something that made them happy.

Even Kathy was in a good mood, knowing and seeing how the animals were being treated; she knew that not all humans were wicked, as she had thought.

If only she had known that it was because of Lady Miko, who made it her life goal to ensure nature is preserved, they would have seen more than what they saw at the zoo.

But they left and went to the arcade, where they continued to have fun.

Klaus bought a more advanced GoPro and hung it on his pocket, recording every moment of this experience. He may have a good memory that allows him to recall every single moment, but remembering and rewatching are two different things.

They each incite different feelings, and Klaus wanted both.

He wanted to remember, but also be able to rewatch whenever he wanted. So as they moved from one place to the next, he made sure every moment was captured.

For hours, they moved through the busy and beautiful city until they arrived at a restaurant where they had lunch. After lunch, they started to wonder where to go next.

It didn't take much longer until Nadia brought up the idea of going shopping. Everyone was happy with the idea, and while Klaus knew he was about to have a hard time deciding which clothes looked beautiful on them, he nodded to her suggestion.

Thus, they left and soon arrived at the 'Mermaid Life Clothing Boutique.'

It was the largest boutique in the Northern Union and one of the reasons Hiroshi City is now the second-richest and second-strongest city in the Northern Union.

They used to be third, but after Klaus wiped out the Duncan Legacy family, the Arcadian city became the new Union City, making them second.

The moment Klaus and his wives alighted, everyone who saw them recognized Klaus and a few others.

Klaus was already well-known to everyone for his exploits and achievements, so when he jumped down from the bus, everyone recognized him.

However, good for him; everyone who saw him was a worker who couldn't use their devices on duty, so it would be a while before news of his whereabouts spread, especially after he was spotted in more than five places already.

They were all giddy to see someone like Klaus Hanson, but they had a job to do.

"Welcome to the Mermaid Life Clothing Boutique, please follow me inside."

Perhaps the one who received them was doing her best to remain professional, but looking at Klaus and his ladies wasn't giving her that calm, professional moment she wanted.

But she moved with purpose, leading Klaus and his women inside.

"Please, this way. You are all VIP customers, so I will take you to the VIP section straight away."

Klaus smiled, "Oh, I never knew I was a VIP customer in this place, seeing I never shopped here before."

The lady faltered in her steps, but she managed to stabilize herself rather calmly, like she had done it a million times.

Klaus saw this, causing him to raise his brow for a second.

The young lady turned and, with a guilty smile, she responded to Klaus, "I meant to say you are all worthy of being VIP customers. I mean, you are Klaus Hanson. The Klaus Hanson."

The youngest to ever dominate the warrior charts."

She then turned to Queenie, "You are Overlord Queenie, the war princess. Then there is the best fashion designer in recent years, and war goddess Miriam. I mean, you all are legends."

The facade of professionalism washed from the lady's eyes as she looked at everyone with admiration. However, as she scanned all the faces, her eyes landed on Lady Miko, causing her to bow slightly.

"My lady. I didn't know you would be visiting today. Let me inform the manager."

"Don't worry about... We are just here to shop, no need to inform the manager about our presence." Lady Miko knew if the manager came, the fun they were there to have would be interrupted.

"But..."

Of course, the young lady knew that if the manager found out she hadn't informed her of the appearance of someone like Lady Miko Hiroshi and Klaus Hanson, she might just lose her high-paying job.

"What is your name?" Klaus said, stepping forward. The young lady hesitated for a moment before answering.

"Rita."

"I knew a Rita once. One of the deadliest shadow assassins one wouldn't dare cross." Klaus smiled. "You wouldn't happen to have a thing for daggers, would you?"

"Huh." Rita was taken aback hearing what Klaus said. It sounded bizarre, and she was unsure how to respond to such a question.

"Klaus, stop messing with her." Nadia walked forward and held Rita's hand. "Just treat our presence as normal customers. We just want to experience the shopping lifestyle and would appreciate a calm atmosphere."

Rita nodded and led them away, where the shopping started right when they reached there. It was bound to be one beautiful moment.

Meanwhile, Rita, who was contemplating whether to save her job by informing her boss, sat quietly in a chair, looking in the direction of the lift that led to the manager's office.

Knowing how lazy her boss is, she knew calling or texting wouldn't be ideal at all. So she was thinking hard about it to the point she didn't know when Klaus moved and appeared beside her.

"Penny for your thoughts?"

Chapter 907 - 907: Past Feelings

Rita was startled when Klaus appeared beside her so suddenly. Had it not been for Klaus speaking, she wouldn't have even realized he was standing beside her.

"Huh..." Rita shifted uncomfortably in her seat.

"No need to be alarmed. I won't bite, though I have to say, do you always think deeply when VIP customers come to your store?" Klaus asked with a smile, sitting beside her.

Rita shook her head. "Please, this is not my store. You probably shouldn't let my boss hear you say that. I don't want to lose my job. And to your question, no, I don't think too much, but today is different.

You are Klaus Hanson. If my boss later learns you were at the store but I didn't inform her, she will be pissed. I don't want to lose my job."

Klaus just shook his head, sensing the genuine worry in Rita's tone.

For one, she didn't want to lose her job, as that was all she had. On the other hand, she didn't want to go against what Miko Hiroshi said.

Miko is the wife of the lord of the city, Ryo Hiroshi; her words are supreme, and that is what is making Rita contemplate hard.

If she reports to her boss, she will likely keep her job, but she would ultimately be going against Miko Hiroshi's words. However, if she chooses not to report to her boss, she risks losing her job.

Then again, she can risk that because it was Miko Hiroshi who told her not to call her boss. However, while losing her job would be worth it to be sincere to Miko Hiroshi, the moment she left the store today, the chance of crossing her path again would be less than 1%.

That is not something she can risk.

She struggled to get the job she has now, and as a mother of one, losing her job wasn't an option. That is how much she wanted to preserve her job, and Klaus, who is in tune with reality, could sense her genuine worry.

This caused him to sigh.

"You know, I once knew a Rita. Slim, beautiful, short-dark hair, and a determined look—just like you. She was both fierce and loyal.

She doesn't take no for an answer, and when the situation calls for it, she makes the hard decision without a moment's hesitation.

I used to call her Feisty Panther, for she is both feisty and behaves like a panther. It's been so long that just seeing you now brought back some memories." Klaus smiled, and Rita raised her brow.

Watching Klaus smile strangely made her calm down a bit. It was like watching his smile heal all her internal struggles.

This made her wonder just why she was feeling this way.

"You know, in life, not everything has to be thought hard before making a decision. Sometimes, you just have to pick one path and walk; if the path leads nowhere, you figure something out.

Never try to weigh options when you know what is best for you and not others. To survive in this torturous world, you have to think of yourself and the ones you love over everything; that is how you decide what is best for you, and protect what you love."

Klaus turned and looked at the ladies who were moving from one rack to the next, searching for something good to buy.

"In life, what makes your heart ache is what you should prioritize. Trust me, the world can burn, but if you manage to save what you love, everything else will be worth it."

Rita sat there with a calm expression, though inwardly, she was processing all Klaus had just said. His words resonated with her to the point that, without even thinking, she knew what had to be done.

Klaus saw that and smiled. 'At least, finally, she knew what she wanted '

Then he asked a question that made Rita's body stiffen.

"So tell me, Rita, how long have you worked for the Dark Order?"

Though Klaus held a smile on his face, Rita knew he wasn't giving her an amusing smile. Deep within her heart, she knew if she lied, Klaus would know and kill her.

This was why, like a bird, she sang all her truth without a blemish of a lie.

"I worked for the Dark Order for 12 years. I took 35 contracts, completed 34, and pulled one. The 34 I killed were scum who deserved it, though my last mission before you destroyed the Order, I killed an innocent bystander who was at the wrong place at the wrong time.

I am sorry. Please, if you would kill me, I beg you, don't touch my son. He doesn't even know I was a Dark Order operative."

"Do you regret killing the innocent?" Klaus asked, his expression neutral.

"I do. I regretted it every day, and that is why I am doing this. I found out that the innocent man I killed had a daughter, three years older than my son. I am doing everything I can to give her a good life anonymously.

I promise you, after she awakens her class when she turns 16, I will turn myself in and serve my time for my crime."

Tears flowed from her eyes. Genuine tears that Klaus could tell came from her soul. The regret was evident. She regretted her action, and for that, she was willing to do everything to make it right.

Klaus didn't have to analyze her words to know she intended to make things right. Not many killers like her have the conscience to even consider making things right.

Even keeping her cultivation base at the Sage stage was a sign she intended to never take the dagger ever again. Unfortunately for her, destiny wouldn't allow that to happen.

Sitting before him was one of the finest assassins he had on his side back when he was traversing from one dangerous forest to the next, building his beast army.

Efad, his ninth incarnation, held her in high esteem, and that is why Klaus would never see her stop what she was destined to do.

"You are an assassin, Rita. I don't know you now, but I know within me you are one of the finest, and that is why you cannot stop being an assassin.

I don't hold your past transgressions against you. However, I look forward to what you do with your skills in the future.

Being a mere shopping attendant is a waste." Klaus retrieved a card from his pocket.

"You can choose to make things right in your own way, but two days from today, go to Moonville and show this card to whoever you see.

They will introduce you to someone who will present you with a path you can walk, genuinely making a difference not just for one person, but for the masses."

With that, Klaus turned around and left.

While he would love to sit and chat with the assassin lady who had helped him dearly in the past, he had a mission he had to complete first.

Klaus entered a room where a chair was waiting for him. He sat down and exhaled, folding his hands across his chest.

"I can't believe I went from a warrior to fashion judge." A real smile appeared on his face.

Chapter 908 - 908: Fashion Judge

The whole idea behind this vacation was for Klaus to relax and spend time away from his weapons.

Of course, that was just ironic considering all his weapons were inside his soul sea, and even his brain was a weapon unlike any other.

However, despite his oddity, Klaus was determined to have a good time on this vacation, so when moments like this presented themselves, he wouldn't hesitate to take advantage of them.

Klaus sat in the chair while his ladies were changing into the clothes they would be buying. They would come one at a time, each presenting their choices to Klaus. If he liked it, they would buy it.

Of course, he was given strict instructions not to lie, so he had to focus for the next few minutes, perhaps an hour or two, and give them his honest review.

The first person to enter was Ohema, rocking sexy purple lingerie.

"Wait a minute, aren't we here to buy clothes, like the ones a person can wear outside?" Klaus asked with a raised brow.

Though he wasn't objecting to what he was seeing, the plan, like he said, was to buy clothes, not lingerie.

"The only ones buying clothes here are you, Lady Miko, and her two daughters. The rest of us have other plans in mind, so better prepare to handle your mission well."

Ohema walked seductively today, Klaus.

As she walked forward, her waist continued to bend like a mermaid's, causing Klaus to feel his blood get hotter as she moved closer.

The lingerie featured net-like pants and an exposed bra, the kind that did nothing to hide those nipples. Klaus could virtually see her little sisters through the net covering it.

Perhaps to someone with low perception, they wouldn't see what Klaus saw.

It became clear to Klaus that he had found himself in a situation that demanded his full attention, which at the moment, all 68 minds of his were focused on his poison queen.

"Turn around, I want to get a good view of the whole thing," Klaus said with a smile, looking as Ohema turned, making sure her body bent in ways no man would be able to resist.

Ohema was not as busty as Miriam, but she had the shape that any lady would be proud of. The back and chest zones were well proportioned, making her not only gorgeous but also seductive.

And perhaps, after her bloodline awakening, she had gained some weight in all the right places.

PAH

Klaus landed a slap on her ass, making Ohema giggle. The slap was a confirmation that the paragon was okay with her selection.

"I look forward to seeing you wear this, this evening," Klaus said, and Ohema blushed.

She knew what would be happening this evening, for she, alongside her sister and their mother, was on the roster to warm Klaus's bed this evening, just like how Aoi and Lulu did the night before.

Klaus kneaded her exposed butt for a few seconds before letting her go.

"Hoo... At this rate, I will forget how to wield my sword after this vacation," Klaus smiled, looking at Ohema shake her butt as she walked away.

A few seconds after she left, Anna appeared, rocking her own sexy white lingerie. However, unlike Ohema, Anna's wasn't netted.

However, it was thin in the front, making her labia appear in full display, which made Klaus smile. The sight was alluring, and while he would have loved to strip her and get things done at the moment, he held himself back.

Anna stopped before him, so Klaus leaned in and kneaded her butt, just like he did with Ohema. "You ladies are killing me."

Anna smiled at his words and walked away.

"Maybe I should build a walkway in my house one of these days." He smiled and waited for the next wife to enter.

Of course, Lucy followed after her sister, also rocking her seductive pants and bra. Naturally, Lucy was more curvaceous than her sister, so as she moved, her assets drew Klaus's attention.

And he did—his attention was captured in ways he never saw coming. But that wasn't all; when Lucy got close, she sat on his lap and, for a few seconds, gave him a lap dance.

It was seductive. Unexpected. But seductive, and Klaus enjoyed every moment of it. After her came Nia, who also offered her own way of being sexy.

Then came Aoi, who, unlike the innocent lady she appeared to be around her sisters and parents, arrived with a different kind of air, one that made Klaus smile like an accomplished con artist.

After Aoi came Lily, the Red Fury.

Lily was still the sweetest among her sisters; however, now she had some form of danger to her—the kind that would make any man think a million times before approaching her, much less knead her butt and rub her body like Klaus did.

Klaus was that daring.

Klaus knew that regardless of who Lily became, there was no way he would fear her. If anything, he wanted her to become dangerous to the point that Pickle Berry would have to run to the moon to avoid her.

However, being sweet was also good.

Asha came after her, looking like the queen she is. She gave something to look at... On her lower back, touching her butt, was a tattoo of a crown that she could manifest and use whenever she wanted to do battle.

However, while the crown would look good on her, having it as a tattoo was much more alluring. Klaus took his time examining it, even going as far as pulling her panties down to see it in full form.

Not that it was necessary, but Klaus wanted to, so he did. Asha left with red cheeks as Nadia took her place. The Puppeteer queen came rocking a pair of black lingerie.

Klaus had to say if Nadia were one day to become an Immortal, he would make her wear only black net pants in his immortal garden, for that look darn good on her.

The Asura queen came next, rocking red lingerie.

The ladies all went for their favorite colors. Queenie is essentially made of blood, so she came wearing red, just like her mother, Lunara, who also wore a wine-colored lingerie.

Klaus had no issue with what color they wore, for he was only after the body they were presenting. They thought they were presenting lingerie, but to Klaus, they were presenting their bodies.

His focus was on their bodies, and so far, what he saw would make any god give up their divinity to have.

Lulu came next, and just like the rest of her sisters, she made Klaus's dick move in his pants.

But when the goddess herself appeared, Klaus's smile bloomed.

His motivation for going after Miriam was so he could plant his face between her boobs, and now watching her boobs struggle to go inside her pretentious bra, Klaus smiled and pulled her onto his lap, planting his face between her boobs, taking the bra off completely.

Chapter 909 - 909: The Show Continues

Miriam giggled, feeling Klaus untie her relatively small bra and plant his face between her boobs. Miriam knew what she was doing, for she knew their man had that face-plant-between-the-boobs fetish when it came to her.

She had known since the first day she met Klaus. Of course, back then, she wasn't truly looking to strip and let the paragon ravage her world.

But she knew the brat wanted to eat her, and if she were frank with herself, she wanted to be devoured. So when she finally became his woman, she wanted nothing more than to make her man happy.

Klaus is happy now, and that's all she wanted for him.

"You do know the whole plan was for you to sit down and judge our outfits," Miriam said with another giggle as Klaus licked her left boob.

She left Vampire City using the Paragon Mark after her sister entered seclusion. They will continue to bond as sisters when she is out.

"I am yet to see any of you showing an outfit." Klaus licked the left boob. "Lingerie is not an outfit, so the only thing you have shown so far is your bodies.

Not that I am complaining."

Miriam laughed, but it turned into a moan.

"MmmHHh."

Klaus bit gently on her nipple, making the goddess feel her body heat up from the gentle gesture. Of course, Klaus made sure she felt more of that before letting go.

They locked into a few seconds of intense kissing before Klaus let go of her. By then, Miriam was blushing.

"By the way, your outfit is perfect," Klaus laughed, landing a gentle slap on her ass.

Miriam ran with her red cheeks, causing Klaus to laugh even louder.

"I should probably tell her not to run at the beach. Who knew how many bastards would get funny ideas?" Klaus leaned back in his chair, smiling.

The moment the main chicks finished their first round of body showing, the side chicks arrived. Klaus sat in his chair, knowing full well the torture he anticipated had turned into something rather pleasant.

A paragon could only ask for so much, and what he had already received was enough to show his life is much softer in this life.

Fruity never had a good start, nor did Kaden. Of course, Efad had a rather happy childhood, but that went out the window quickly. However, Klaus is living the ideal life.

His mother is alive, and he has many friends, five uncles, and numerous wives. That is more than enough for him to know that after nine lives full of torture and heartbreak, he had finally landed the life he wanted and is living it like he should.

Klaus is happy at the moment. Very happy, as he should be.

"No matter what, I must protect this happiness. I can't let the heavens take this life from me. I must do everything, no matter the price, to protect it," Klaus said, clenching his fist.

His enemies aren't the type who have morals.

They will use any means to achieve their goals. He saw what they could do and the lengths they would go to in order to ensure he lost everything. This time, Klaus wants to ensure they cry real blood.

While Klaus was thinking of all the evil things he would do to the heavens, the curtains opened, and a blushing Hanna entered the room.

The moment Klaus' eyes landed on her, all thoughts about the heavens were wiped from his mind, bringing his full attention to the jade body walking toward him.

Hanna had come a long way.

When Klaus first met her in the Ruin City forbidden zone, she was insecure about her body and beauty.

Back then, when she met Anna and the rest of the girls, she felt left out, and as a lady, that was something she never wanted to feel.

But it was the truth; Hanna never felt like she should be swimming in their pool. She was poor, heartbroken, and vengeful back then, so feeling insecure wasn't something she managed easily.

However, everything changed when she received the 10,000 Divine Lightning Body Constitution and the Divine Jade Body. That turned her from looking insecure to feeling proud of her good looks.

She transformed, and the body she woke up in was just perfect.

She now has blue hair that flows down her back, a sizable chest, and a perfect backside—the kind that would make heads turn and tongues click.

She has the perfect assets, and now that she was clad only in a pair of blue lingerie, Klaus couldn't help but swallow hard.

However, instead of Hanna taking the win for making Klaus gulp like Anna and company did, she covered her face with her palm, feeling very flustered.

"You know, for someone who is shy, why did you agree to put on a pair of lingerie?" Klaus said with a small smile, looking at the flustered Hanna.

"Shut up, bro-Klaus," Hanna replied, smiling through her blush.

"I mean, if you know you can't face me wearing that, then why didn't you put on baggy pants and an oversized bra?" Klaus laughed, causing Hanna to move so she could land a punch, but instead landed in Klaus's arms.

Klaus grabbed her slender arms and pulled her toward himself. Hanna practically flew into his arms, and Klaus made sure she was welcomed.

His hands held her by the ass as she sat, legs open, on his lap. Klaus looked her in the eye and smiled.

"What are you shy about?"

Hanna didn't answer; instead, she pressed her face against Klaus's chest, indicating she wouldn't be answering him anytime soon.

Klaus, of course, had time on his hands, so he gently kneaded her butt.

Hanna stayed in her flustered state for a couple of minutes before raising her head. She looked at Klaus for a few seconds before leaning in for a kiss.

Klaus made sure she felt his love through the kiss that lasted a few seconds but felt like an hour.

"How do I look?" Hanna asked, still blushing.

"You look excellent, but I bet you will look angelic if you take the lingerie off."

"Pervert."

"I wasn't the one who wore lingerie to seduce her brother-ish."

"You—"

Klaus laughed, and Hanna went back to her flustered state as she ran away.

Chapter 910 - 910: Handling the Fans

"She is just too cute when she blushes," Klaus said, watching Hanna run away.

Unlike Kathy and the rest, Hanna had already gone a step further with Klaus. They'd already kissed, and Hanna had even tasted the Star Juice. So she is ahead of them.

However, whenever she was done with that, looking Klaus in the eyes became a problem. Her shyness was just too contagious.

Klaus just thought it made her look cute.

He waited for the next lady to come, but they never did for another ten minutes. Of course, he knew they were all being shy.

But he didn't mind, for they were on vacation with him, and if they wanted to enjoy it, they would have to come to terms with it. They have to overcome their shyness to some degree.

And they did. Twelve minutes after Hanna, Kathy appeared, rocking the body of a seducer.

While Miriam was graceful in the chest zone, Kathy was supreme in her back.

It was as if she had been sculpted to tempt men. Klaus sure was tempted, and while Kathy would kill any man who dared touch her ass, she only blushed when Klaus did.

He pulled her onto his lap and looked into her eyes.

"Beautiful as ever."

Kathy smiled.

She had come a long way, learning all forms of emotions. Of course, calling it learning is a long stretch, for she was never emotionless to begin with.

She may be a beast, but she also has emotion. However, they only manifested when she gained her human form and awakened her bloodline.

Now, she was practically human, and that ingrained the deepest and most rooted form of emotion into her.

One hand held Kathy's waist, while the other gently caressed her ears, bringing her in for a kiss. When their lips touched, Kathy blushed profusely, closing her eyes.

Klaus, on the other hand, started to ensure that the next time she wouldn't feel flustered and unable to do much. So, they began kissing, and while Kathy wasn't doing much at first, she soon started to respond.

Within a few more minutes, Kathy was panting.

Klaus caressed her body, making her feel comfortable in all the right ways. Kathy realized what Klaus was doing, so she also made an effort to get more involved.

Of course, if she had known she would be landing in the weird situation she ended up in, she wouldn't have tried to be more active.

At first, she jerked her body, allowing Klaus to wrap his hands around her ass, and like he did with the rest of her sisters, he did the same to her. He slowly massaged her while Kathy kissed him more intensely.

Then she went further, moving her body up so her boobs would come level with Klaus's lips. Of course, with how thin the bra was, Klaus used his teeth to slide it to the side and took her nipple into his mouth.

"Aaaaahhh."

Kathy moaned, jerking her body even more. However, she didn't stop there; she slowly sat back and started humping gently on Klaus's lap.

At first, it was dry humping; however, when Klaus's paragon rod started to stir, something soft began rubbing against her little sister.

This made the dry humping slowly turn into wet humping. Even at this point, she was still going despite the redness on her face.

However, after about five minutes, one thing led to another, and Kathy touched something she wasn't ready to touch.

When she realized what she had touched, her cheeks turned red like a tomato, and she ran away from the room while Klaus laughed to his heart's content.

"Don't blush, Kathy, you will be doing more than touching soon enough." That was the last thing Kathy heard before she left the room.

"They are all just too funny and, in a way, cute," Klaus leaned back in his seat and awaited the next person.

Meanwhile, outside the store where Klaus and his women were shopping, hundreds of people started gathering. The majority of them were Klaus's fans.

They headed to the store as word spread that Klaus had been spotted entering. So, as the news spread, they came to witness for themselves and perhaps, in their own imagination, get a picture with Klaus.

It was safe to say none of them knew Klaus could pass by them without them knowing he had passed.

In fact, he had already messed with the perspective of many just so he and his ladies could have the best time they wanted.

Klaus didn't want to deal with his fans for the time being. He had something else planned, and so appearing in the media now wasn't one of them.

If he wanted to be seen, he would make sure he was. That said, due to the disturbance outside the store, the manager was alerted, and so in a way, what Rita was told not to do has now come to pass.

But Klaus took care of it. He has 68 minds, so messing with someone as weak as a grandmaster's mind was an easy thing for him.

Klaus manipulated the manager's mind to the point where she didn't even consider looking for him and his women, but instead chose to go outside and do exactly as she was told.

"Calm down, everyone," the manager said, standing at the entrance of the store. The moment her voice rang out, the entire place fell silent.

"Thank you." She sighed and then repeated what Klaus planted in her mind, "I know all of you are here to see Klaus Hanson and perhaps take a couple of pictures with him."

While that is admirable, Klaus Hanson had long left this store. However, he said something along the lines that he will be making an announcement in Paradise City 27 days from today.

Perhaps you should all go there early. Perhaps you'll have the chance to meet him; until then, you're welcome to shop in my humble store."

Many sighed, having failed to meet Klaus, while the majority were happy to hear that their idol would be appearing in Paradise City. They immediately started heading there.

As word has already started spreading, Paradise City will be choked soon, so they'd better get there quickly.

"That takes care of it. Now, I can have some peace of mind and focus on my mermaids," Klaus sighed.