

PEERLESS DIVINE DOCTOR

Chapter 7 Will It Come_1

The train arrived at the station.

Liu Shiyun and Liu Xiner, the sisters, had wanted to take Ye Luo to visit the Liu Family, but after getting off the train, they realized that Ye Luo was nowhere to be found.

"Sis." After looking around, Liu Xiner pouted and turned to her sister, "Am I not pretty enough? Why does it seem like he doesn't really like talking to me, and the moment we got off the train, he just ran off. Am I that scary?"

However, after saying this, she suddenly remembered that her sister was even more beautiful than herself, yet that guy didn't seem to care much either.

Liu Shiyun couldn't help but smile wryly and shook her head, "Xin'er ugly? It's just that this sworn brother of mine has such a personality; he loves his freedom, dislikes restraint, and I think, in his heart, there must be someone even more beautiful than us."

It wasn't that Liu Shiyun was vain.

Back when the Liu Family was still in the Capital City, she was ranked among the Four Beauties of the Capital, and even throughout Zhonghai, only Ling Qingya of the Ling Family was her equal, together known as the Two Beauties of Zhonghai!

She did not believe any normal man could ignore her beauty, except for two possibilities.

One was that the man had abnormal psychology and liked men; the other was that there was someone in his heart more beautiful than herself!

Knowing Ye Luo's abilities, Liu Shiyun naturally inclined towards the second possibility!

"Will he really come to find me in three months?" Liu Xiner held the medicine bottle in her hand, not sure whether she wanted the person to come for treatment or she just wanted to see him again.

"Don't worry, I haven't known Ye Luo for long, but I can assure you, he will definitely come!" Liu Shiyun's gaze turned forward, where a red Maserati was slowly approaching, "Here comes the car, let's go."

...

A park not far from the city center.

The sky was nearing dusk, and the park wasn't bustling; on the contrary, it was rather serene, with not many people around, mostly couples strolling together.

Under a parasol tree on a bench...

A woman in a white dress with floral print sat there, at that moment, the whole world seemed to lose some of its luster due to her beauty. She wasn't lively, but she exuded an unusual tranquility, and even a rare elegance that's seldom seen in women.

Underneath her hair that carried the scent of lilacs, she had a pair of deep and expansive eyes like the ocean, reflecting elegance and purity. Her long eyelashes, when unfurled, bloomed like butterflies breaking free from their chrysalis, unleashing their own unique beauty.

Just by sitting there, she gave off an aura that was both real and illusory!

Every Friday afternoon, Luo Jingxuan would sit here for a while.

Because it was only on this day that the square dance aunties would attend a class at the "Health Hall", granting this place an unusual peace.

She could sit down to read or listen to music.

But today, she was here for another reason; according to that old man, his disciple had already arrived...

The park was quiet.

As a result, any discordant scenes and sounds could easily stand out.

On a bench not far from Luo Jingxuan, there were three conspicuously dressed men.

One of them was tall and burly, wearing a leather vest that was open at the collar to reveal all the muscles on his body, and his bronzed skin was covered with tattoos. He looked extremely fierce!

The other two weren't particularly noteworthy; they sported spiky hair and hip-hop-style clothing, one looking rather old while the other had a baby face.

The trio idled, smoking away, and every passing couple made a point to avoid them.

Seeing each couple dodge them, especially the women, the burly man couldn't help but spit out, "Look at them, each one uglier than the next. If they don't get plastic surgery, I can't even be bothered to look at them, and they still dodge like hell!"

Having said that, he viciously ogled the backsides of the women tightly clad in thong panties without stopping.

As soon as the burly man spoke, the man beside him with an older-looking face immediately said, "Li Ge, quick, look! That chick is stunning!"

Li Ge was the burly man.

Upon hearing this, Li Ge and the baby-faced man followed the gaze of the older-looking man, and in just an instant, their eyes lit up as if a bunch of torches had been ignited—brilliantly bright!

What they saw was Luo Jingxuan quietly reading under the Chinese parasol tree!

"Tsk, there are too many cosmetic surgeries and makeup tricks these days, just a profile view has got you all excited!" Li Ge sneered but had already stood up, "Let's go, check out the merchandise."

The older-looking man and the baby-faced man had already stood up, eager to move.

Even if the woman in the white dress had undergone cosmetic procedures, her distinct aura was absolutely hard to resist!

Luo Jingxuan wasn't someone unfamiliar with the ways of the world, and seeing three men with lustful expressions approaching her, she just frowned but didn't panic.

"Beautiful, are you alone?" Just as Luo Jingxuan was lowering her head to read, a thick smell of sweat assailed her nostrils.

Following that.

The robust Li Ge very "conscious" of social norms, sat down next to Luo Jingxuan, and the other two quickly squeezed in as well.

The already short bench immediately became fully occupied.

Luo Jingxuan thought that since it was still daylight, these people wouldn't dare to do much, but it turned out they just sat down next to her, and she finally began to feel a bit of panic.

However, she quickly regained a cold look in her eyes and switched to another long bench.

But the three men also began to change seats.

"Beauty, why don't you talk?" Li Ge threw the cigarette butt from his mouth to the ground and leaned in, asking, "Did you not hear me because I, your brother, spoke too gently?"

Luo Jingxuan dodged to one side immediately, her voice cold and indifferent, "Please have some self-respect, I don't know you!"

"Tsk, you're quite the tough little cheetah!" Li Ge laughed heartily, "But I like that. It's boring when women are too lovesick. It's interesting to conquer a woman like you!"

Under a strand of setting sun.

Luo Jingxuan who stood up was bathed in it, as if dressed in a thin layer of gold, her whole being was holy and undefiled, and her exposed skin was also filled with golden threads, inspiring endless imagination!

All three of them stared at Luo Jingxuan's perfect body, swallowing hard.

But just at that moment, a voice came, "You, in the leather vest, yes, you, what's your special talent?"

...

After Ye Luo left the train station, he caught a taxi and headed to "Li Mountain Park" in Zhonghai City to find a person, according to the address left by his master.

His master said that the person who had arranged for him to do the job was here, and their secret code was "what's your special talent".

The park was very large.

Ye Luo spent almost an hour walking from the west side to the east side, and in the process, he had asked more than 50 people, including 14 couples, only 5 elderly men and women, with the majority being children.

It might have been because school had just let out, which is why there were many children playing in the park.

However, unfortunately, none of them were the person Ye Luo was looking for, as none had the correct response to the secret code.

Looking at the last three people near the eastern exit of the park, Ye Luo prayed in his heart, there had to be one...