

When She Stops Playing Nice Chapter 131-135

Chapter 131

An hour later, as Gabriel instructed, David gathered all the workers working in the hospital that day.

Out of the seven people expected, only six showed up.

"One person was fired by the leader that day for not doing a good job," David explained.

"The person who was fired is called Yale. He just came here not long ago as an apprentice, and I heard he's quite old."

"I think this person is the most suspicious, so I've already sent someone to find him. But, after checking his identity and trying to trace him, we found nothing. He must be using a fake identity."

In that case, the remaining six people were basically cleared of suspicion.

"Mr. Jackson, can we let them leave? They said they are in a hurry to start work today."

"Wait."

Gabriel decided to go ask them some questions himself

"Do any of you remember what Yale looks like? Can you roughly describe him?" Gabriel asked.

They looked at each other for a moment.

Suddenly, a worker slapped his head. "I took a photo the other day. I think I just happened to take a photo of him!"

"Let me see."

"Okay, okay."

The worker showed Gabriel the photo which only showed the person's back wearing a worker's uniform and a hard hat, without capturing his face,

Gabriel asked the worker to send him the photo, and then David gave them money for their hard work and allowed them to leave.

With this photo, along with checking the surveillance footage, he would have more clues about the person,

"Mr. Jackson, have a good rest. I'll oversee the work. If there are any new clues, I'll call you immediately," David said.

Gabriel shook his head. "No, I'm going to tell Gina this good news."

He was really thinking about her.

Detention center.

Gina came to the guest room again.

"Gina, I've got some key key clues in hand. The truth will be revealed soon."

Gabriel sounded slightly excited

Gina smiled faintly at Gabriel's excitement and suddenly felt like teasing him. "So you've been busy with these things for the past two days."

Chapter 131

"What's wrong?" Gabriel was stunned.

"No one has come to visit me since I came in."

Olivia had come, but Gina didn't consider her a visitor, and Olivia wasn't there for a visit either.

The smile on Gabriel's face disappeared. I'm sorry, Gina. I was planning to tell you the good news after finding evidence of your innocence. I'm sorry. I should have come to visit you immediately. I was wrong"

Gabriel blamed himself for disappointing Gina,

Gina was somewhat surprised. She was only joking with him and neither accused nor got angry with him. She didn't expect his reaction to be so strong.

"I'm just kidding." Gina felt a bit embarrassed.

"I won't let you down again," Gabriel said firmly.

In fact, Gina didn't care whether anyone came to visit her or not because she knew she would be cut soon.

"Ruby came to see me," Gabriel said.

"What does she want with you?"

"She begged me to save you

"She saw the announcement from the Jackson Group and thought I didn't believe you.

But she had no other choice. She didn't know who else to turn to, so she came to me for help."

Gina knew that Gabriel wasn't helping her investigate because of her godmother's plea.

Hearing that her godmother had begged him made Gina feel inexplicably sad.

"What happened next?" asked Gina.

"Ruby misunderstood the announcement. I told her that I would prove your innocence, so I let her go home to rest

Gabriel chuckled. "Actually, it's not just Ruby who misunderstood. My dad did too. He also thought that by issuing the announcement, I didn't trust you, and he scolded me for being ungrateful."

Gina was somewhat surprised, then jokingly said, "So, it's my fault for making you issue the announcement?"

"No, of course not, Gina. I'm saying all this to tell you that you're not alone. Many people care about you and love you."

Gina was stunned, feeling a rush of happiness in her heart.

She smiled genuinely, with a hint of joy in her clear, bright eyes.

Gabriel also noticed this and felt very pleased.

"I'm sorry for making you worry. I should tell you that even if I'm in prison, there will be people helping me and working on proving my innocence."

Gabriel knew that Gina had so many hidden identities, so her subordinates were definitely not idle. However, Gabriel didn't want to be someone who just benefited from others' efforts. If he liked Gina/he should be willing to contribute to her.

"In the future, you can entrust me with anything" Gabriel said seriously.

Chapter 131

24 May

"Entrust you? Mr. Jackson, are you offering to be my assistant?" Gina asked teasingly.

"My pleasure."

Gabriel's eyes were filled with sincerity.

"Then I'll wait for you to submit evidence and set me free," Gina said.

"Okay." Gabriel nodded. "By the way, Gina, I've narrowed down the suspect and I'm fairly certain, but his identity isn't entirely clear yet. I have a photo of the suspect now, so I'll soon find out his whereabouts."

Gina was also very curious about who the real culprit was.

Gabriel took out the photo. "Only the back view..."

When Gina saw the photo, she felt it was somewhat familiar. Suddenly, she thought of someone.

"I know who he is,"

Gina blurted out.

Gabriel was surprised. "Who?"

"Lucas.

She would not be mistaken.

Gina had a good memory, and Lucas could be considered an acquaintance. She would never mistake this back.

The Miller family's butler?

Gabriel was surprised. Was the Miller family really behind all this planning? Were they so desperate that they'd let their butler kill Phillip to frame Gina? They must be out of their minds.

His previous suspicion was right. It was indeed a gang or even a crazy family.

"I'll send them all to jail."

Gabriel's expression hardened, and his gaze turned cold.

Gina shook her head. "Other than Olivia, no one else should be involved."

Even though they were all selfish and cg, including Ella, they wouldn't have gone as far as to kill Phillip. Besides, Ella's genuine grief when she saw Phillip's body didn't seem like an act.

"How did Olivia manage to get Lucas to help her do such a thing?"

Gabriel was puzzled, believing that Olivia was the mastermind.

"She doesn't need to use any means; Lucas would willingly help her."

Gina now understood their motives. With Gina's hidden identity exposed, Olivia panicked, fearing that members of the Miller family would try to recognize her again.

She wanted to make Gina an enemy of the Miller family so that Olivia could forever remain the beloved daughter of the Miller family.

"What?" Gabriel was confused.

"Lucas is Olivia's biological father," Gina said nonchalantly,

"They probably did because Olivia had made too many mistakes before, and the Miller family had started to become disappointed in her. They both panicked. Olivia couldn't give up the wealth and glory of the Miller family, and Lucas couldn't bear to see his daughter lose it either."

Gabriel sneered. "Like father, like daughter. They're equally vicious and shameless."

Everything Olivia had now should have belonged to Gina.

Gina was already generous enough to allow her to share, but she wanted Gina's life instead.

Gabriel suppressed the surging anger in his heart and clenched his fists.

Gina smiled indifferently. No matter how vicious and cg they were, they had nowhere to run this time. She said lazily, "I can't go out. Can you help me teach them a lesson?"

"Alright." Gabriel nodded.

The Miller family.

Everyone was discussing Phillip's funeral arrangements.

"We have to make it grand. Dad died too unjustly. He probably didn't expect to die at the hands of his biological daughter! Back then, he was also so angry at Gina that he had a stroke. If it weren't for the long wait for the verdict, we should have waited until the day Gina was sentenced to death to hold the funeral.

James sat in a wheelchair, gritting his teeth as he spoke.

Id another funeral on the day of her sentencing to comfort Dad's soul in heaven!"

"Fine, we'll hold

Everyone nodded in agreement.

Ella said haggardly, "I can only let you arrange these things. I really can't do anything."

"Mom, don't worry, we'll handle everything well," Noah promised

If they did not hold their father's funeral well, it would ruin their reputation as children,

The reputation of being unfilial would not sound good, and they didn't want to be ingrates like Gina.

A maid hurried forward. "Mrs. Miller, Mr. Jackson is here."

Ella was somewhat surprised, then flustered. "Please, please invite him in."

The others were a little confused. They didn't know why Gabriel was here.

Gabriel entered with a cold expression and a dignified aura.

Ella forced a smile. "Mr. Jackson, what brings you here? Could it be... because of the decline in Jackson Group's stock price?"

Upon hearing Ella's words, Noah also realized what was going on and quickly defended himself, "You won't blame us for the drop in Jackson Group's stock price, right? We're also victims. This is all Gina's fault. She even dared to kill her biological father. She did all kinds of bad things and implicated so many people

When Gina and Gabriel were together, the Miller family didn't get any benefit at all. Now that Gina was in jail, Gabriel wouldn't try to involve their entire family and make them clean up the mess for her, would he?

They wouldn't do that.

Besides, wasn't Gina quite wealthy herself? Yet she would rather die than transfer her assets to them. She's truly despicable.

As soon as Noah finished speaking, the others hurriedly chimed in.

"That's right. Mr. Jackson, you can't blame us for this, right? Besides, we've already signed a severance agreement with Gina. She has nothing to do with us."

James was tired of this matter. If he had known this wretched woman was so malicious that she would kill her father and still not repent until she was imprisoned with irrefutable evidence, they shouldn't have acknowledged her as their own, even if they couldn't get the twenty percent of the Miller Group shares from their grandmother's will However, according to the lawyer, there was still hope of reclaiming the twenty percent of the shares after Gina was sentenced.

Gabriel looked at their faces and said coldly, "I'm looking for Lucas."

Ella was stunned. "Mr. Jackson, why are you looking for our s r v a n t?"

"Where is he?"

"He's not at home. I think he went out," Ella said uncertainly

Gabriel then instructed his two bodyguards, "Search.

"Yes, Sir!"

The bodyguards swiftly began their search.

Ella wanted to stop them but didn't dare. She plucked up the courage and said, "Mr.

Jackson, what do you mean by this? Bringing people to search our house without my consent. We all know your status is prestigious, and we can't afford to offend you. But, no matter what, I'm a few years older than you, right? Mr. Jackson, don't you think this is too rude and disrespectful?"

"Respect you?"

Gabriel smirked sarcastically.

"Do you think you're worthy?"

Ella stiffened, feeling both the cold aura emanating from Gabriel and the fierce gaze in his deep eyes.

She was so scared that she trembled and subconsciously took a step back. "Mr.

Jackson, if you continue like this, I'll call the police!"

"You're t r e s p a s i n g!"

Noah stepped forward. He was angry but didn't dare to say anything harsh. "Mr.

Jackson, our family may be small and insignificant compared to your family, but we still have our dignity. You can't humiliate us like this, right?"

C

Gabriel smirked contemptuously. "You're the ones humiliating yourselves."

Ella and Noah were speechless. Noah could only clench his fists but did not know what to do.

The bodyguards quickly finished the search. "Mr. Jackson, he's not here."

Gabriel's gaze fell on Olivia.

Olivia felt a chill down her spine under his gaze, even wanting to find a place to hide.

She suddenly got up and said, "Mom, I'm not feeling well. I'll go back to my room to rest."

Olivia was about to leave, but Gabriel gestured to his two bodyguards, who immediately understood and blocked Olivia's way.

er brothers.

Olivia felt scared and looked at her!

Noah was the first to speak, "Gabriel, don't go too far!"

"You have no right to speak here."

Gabriel cast a sharp glance at Noah, his gaze so cold and piercing that Noah swallowed back everything he wanted to say. He didn't want to completely offend Gabriel

"Where is Lucas?" Gabriel asked coldly.

Olivia looked like

"I don't care. Whenever he is now, you call him back, Gabriel ordered.

Olivia had a bad feeling in her heart. Could it be that the truth had been revealed?

Didn't Lucas say that he did it flawlessly?

"D am n liar!"

Olivia was very scared that she might get in trouble. Even though she didn't do anything directly, she knew everything and even played a supporting role.

"I don't have his phone number!" Olivia said nervously. She wasn't lying about this. She had never saved Lu c a s's number, feeling that a s r a n t 's number didn't deserve a place in her contacts.

"Give her the number." Gabriel coldly glanced at the Miller family.

Ella hesitated for a moment. She didn't know how Lucas had offended Gabriel. But if Gabriel was only here to cause trouble for Lucas, why would they protect a se r v a n t? It was even better not to involve them at all.

Ella reluctantly said with a lowered face, "Mr. Jackson, I'll call Lucas to come back right away"

"I'll have her make the call," Gabriel emphasized.

Ella gave the number to Olivia.

"Just tell him to come back, understand?" Gabriel looked at Olivia with a cold gaze.

Olivia felt a chill in her heart and stammered, not daring to disobey, "Okay, okay."

The other members of the Miller family were a bit puzzled. Why did Gabriel insist that Olivia call Lucas back? Would it make any difference if someone else made the call?

The call went through quickly.

"Hello, Miss Miller, what's the matter?" asked Lucas.

"Where are you? Go home." Olivia's voice was trembling.

Lucas sensed something was wrong. "Why so sudden? is everything alright?"

Olivia glanced at Gabriel's darkened expression, afraid he might order someone to hit her. She suddenly became impatient and angry. "I told you to come back, so just come back. Why so much nonsense?"

There was a moment of silence on the other end of the phone.

"Okay, I'll be right back."

Olivia impatiently hung up the phone, then forced a smile and said, 'Mr. Jackson, I've done as you asked. Now... there's nothing else you need from me, right?"

Gabriel didn't respond to Olivia's words. Instead, he turned to Ella and asked, "Where is u c s 's room?"

Ella pointed to a room next to the stairs, trying to remain composed.

Gabriel gestured to his bodyguards. They went in to search and came out with a few pieces of women's clothes, looking uneasy

Ella's face darkened. The situation at home was already chaotic enough, and she hadn't expected Lucas to be a p e r v e r t who liked wearing women's clothes.

Ella rolled her eyes and suppressed her anger. "Mr. Jackson, although I don't know how Lucas offended you, he is just a s e r v a n t in our house. He has no blood relation to us. Whatever he does, it has nothing to do with us!"

Gabriel looked at the clothes that the bodyguard took out and found them very y familiar.

Memories surfaced in his mind. These clothes were exactly what the woman, suspected of arson, had worn in the surveillance footage from Trowell

University,

It turned out that the woman was Lucas disguised as a woman.

或電:90%由

He dressed as a woman to deceive others so that even if he left some clues behind, he could still mislead people into thinking the arsonist was a woman.

It caused the clues to deviate, and no one might ever be able to find him for the rest of his life.

He was indeed a scheming repeat offender,

Gabriel's expression grew even colder.

"Has nothing to do with you? How can you say he has nothing to do with you?" Gabriel asked coldly.

"He's got a lot to do with the Miller family." Olivia replied.

Gabriel's cold gaze landed on Olivia again. Olivia felt that Gabriel might say something that would shock everyone. She was extremely flustered, her eyes wandering and feeling helpless.

Noah sensed that something was wrong with Olivia and asked with concern, "Olivia, what's wrong? Are you feeling unwell?"

"Yeah, I just said I was going back to my room to rest. Since there's nothing else for me here, I'll go rest, Olivia said with a forced smile.

"Why are you leaving? Did I let you leave?" Gabriel's voice was cold, Olivia's legs went weak. She even wished she could disappear at this moment. With Gabriel's command, she could only freeze in place.

Gabriel said sarcastically, "Miller family have raised his daughter for most of her life. How can you say he has nothing to do with you?"

Ella's face turned pale. "Wh... what?"

"Lucas is Olivia's biological father," Gabriel said coldly.

Everyone was shocked.

Olivia panicked and tried to explain, "No, he's not! He's not my biological father."

She was the daughter of the Miller family, not a s e r v n t's daughter.

Gabriel's words had a huge impact on the Miller family. Ella could not believe it. "How is this possible? When I adopted Olivia, the orphanage records clearly stated that both her parents had deceased.”

Gabriel gestured to the bodyguard. The bodyguard immediately threw the paternity test report that Michael had handed over in front of them.

Ella picked up the paternity test report with trembling hands and had no choice but to accept reality.

For a moment, she did not know how to describe her feelings. When she adopted Olivia, she thought that with both her parents deceased, there would be fewer conflicts in the future. However, it turned out that her biological father had already come looking for her, but why hadn't he revealed himself?

Ella looked at Olivia resentfully. “Did you already know that Lucas was your biological father? Why didn't you tell me?”

“No, I don't know. I don't know anything, Mom! I don't acknowledge him. He's not my father. My father is Phillip Miller. We're family!” Olivia was afraid that Ella would abandon her.

Ella felt a sense of suffocation in her heart. She thought that she had adopted a lonely orphan, but it turned out that her father was still around. She had helped raise someone else's child under the eyes of her biological father.

She felt like she had been played.

Ella was furious. “Get lost. I don't want to see you and your father anymore. I've raised you for more than 20 years, which is more than enough. Take your useless father who doesn't dare to acknowledge his daughter and get out of our house. From now on, you have nothing to do with us.”

“No, Mom, don't you want me anymore? Didn't you say that even if we're not related by blood, I'm still your most beloved daughter?” Olivia cried out, kneeling on the ground and tightly grabbing onto Ella's trousers.

“Miss Miller, don't kneel, please get up.” Lucas was back.

He had sensed something was wrong in Olivia's tone during the phone call, so he knew something was amiss. He thought the right thing to do was to leave without looking back and start his life on the run again. However, this time, he couldn't just disappear because he owed his daughter too much. He couldn't abandon her a second time.

When he returned to the Miller's house and saw Gabriel's figure, he knew that he had walked into a trap.

Olivia looked up at Lucas with eyes full of hatred and bitterness. “Get out! You abandoned me in the past, so why are you here now? Do you think I would acknowledge you? My parents are Phillip Miller and Ella Miller, I don't know you, so get out! Get out of here!”

Ella shed all pretense and shook off Olivia. “Enough. I've raised someone else's daughter for more than 20 years. I've been played by your father like a fool. From now on, you are no longer our daughter.”

Chapter 134

"No, don't. Mom, I can't bear to leave you. Don't drive me away!"

"You can't bear to leave me? I think you just can't bear to part with the wealth and glory of our family." Ella was completely disappointed in Olivia, and finally woke up to reality. However, her brothers, especially Noah, seemed to have a biased view of Olivia. He confidently asked, "I really don't know why you're angry. Did Olivia do something wrong?"

Lucas said, "Olivia did nothing wrong. I hid my identity and worked at the Miller family as a s*t for so many years. She also thought that I was just a st. She didn't know she was my daughter, and I never planned to acknowledge her."

Ella was even angrier when she heard that. "If you don't plan to acknowledge him, why do you still want our family to help you raise your daughter for the rest of your life? Do you think we're such fools?"

"Are you done arguing?" Gabriel asked with a stern face. The living room instantly fell silent.

Gabriel's sharp gaze fell on Lucas. "The Miller family has raised your daughter for more than 20 years. Not only did you covet the family's wealth, but you also killed Phillip and framed Gina. Do you think you can escape from this?"

Ella was stunned. "Mr. Jackson, what did you say? He... he killed Phillip? No, not Gina?"

Gabriel glanced at Ella coldly and said sarcastically. "Only a bunch of blind fools like your family would think Gina is the murderer

Lucas did not panic. Instead, he laughed out loud. "Mr. Jackson, how can you say such ridiculous things just to help Gina? You said that I'm a murderer. Do you have any evidence?"

Gabriel sneered. He knew very well that Lucas thought he had done everything flawlessly. He even got Gina's fingerprints on the murder weapon under some unknown circumstances. If the worker had not accidentally taken the photo at that time, Gabriel did not know how long it would take for him to find the real culprit and prove Gina's innocence.

The Miller family members were all stunned, looking at each other in disbelief.

"You indeed didn't leave any evidence, but..." Gabriel lowered his eyes and sneered, "I have your weakness."

The smug smile on Lucas's face gradually disappeared. He suddenly widened his eyes as he shouted at Olivia, "Miss Miller, run!" Olivia, still feeling dazed, had a bad feeling. When she heard Lucas telling her to run, she subconsciously turned and tried to run towards the door. However, Gabriel's bodyguards reacted even faster. They quickly grabbed Olivia and restrained her. The two bodyguards pushed Olivia down and held her face tightly against the floor, keeping her from moving. Olivia cried out, "Let me go! Let me go!" When Lucas saw his daughter being humiliated, he said angrily, "Gabriel, don't think I'm afraid of you!" "If we really fight head-on, I'll kill you!" Lucas gritted his teeth and took out a gun from his pocket. Since he dared to come back, he naturally came prepared. Even if he died today, he would take that bh with him.

The Miller family members were shocked when they

Ella was cvch so startled that she let out a scream,

Gabriel remained expressionless and sneered, "You can shoot, but then your daughter won't survive either."

Olivia, who was pinned to the floor, spoke before Lucas could say anything, "Lucas, you scoundrell If you want to die, why drag others down with you? Do you want to kill me?"

Lucas was stunned. "Miss Miller, I can take you away. Since the Miller family doesn't want you a anymore, I can take you anywhere you want to go. It doesn't matter if you don't acknowledge me. I will always be your st and only take care of you!" Gabriel mocked, "Taking her wherever she wants to go? Not content with being a fugitive yourself, you want your daughter to join you. You truly are a good father."

Hearing Gabriel's words, Olivia exploded, "Who said I want to go with you? I have no relationship with you at all! I don't acknowledge you. You must tell Mr.

Jackson that you're framing my sister, and this has nothing to do with me. Don't come to harm me, don't involve me!" Ls's hand trembled as he held the gun.

Gabriel said coldly, "You can choose to shoot and die with all of us, or choose to surrender. Which will it be?"

"Two other arson incidents, the Miller family's old house and the dormitory at Trowell University, were also set by you, right?"

Olivia cried and shouted, "Answer Mr. Jackson! If you did it, admit it. I don't want to die, I don't want to die with you. I want to live!"

At this point, Lucas had nothing to argue about. He sneered. "I did all these things, and my goal was to kill Gina. But, I didn't expect this bh to be so lucky. She dodged both times." After the Miller family's old house was set on fire, Lucas didn't know that Gina had saved her six brothers. Before she fainted, she managed to call the emergency number and was taken to the hospital. After the fire in Miller family's old house was extinguished, Lucas did not see Gina's corpse. He thought that Gina had returned to school, so he decided to go to school and set fire to it a second time. He did not expect that he could not burn Gina to death these two times. "If she had died in the fire, I wouldn't have had to go to so much trouble.

This bh is really tough!" Lucas sneered. "I set the fire and killed Phillip, all hoping that my daughter could live happily. If you want to blame someone, blame Gina for being tough. When she was young, she was lost by the Miller family but didn't die. I tried to get rid of her, but she didn't die either If she had died earlier, there wouldn't have been so much trouble!"

"After she returned to the Miller family, she was disliked by everyone, but she didn't leave immediately. At first, I thought she was afraid of hardship and couldn't bear to part with Miller family's wealth and glory. Now, I realize that she is quite capable. She's already a judge of the competition at such a young age and the director of Prover Hospital."

"Since she has status and doesn't lack money, why should she stay in the Miller family and s n a t h it from my daughter? She deserves to die!"

The more Lucas spoke, the more agitated he became. He gritted his teeth, glaring his eyes with the veins on his neck bulging with intensity.

Ella couldn't believe it. She covered her mouth in shock, realizing she had a huge misunderstanding about Gina. Overwhelmed with emotion, she grabbed the ashtray from the table and threw it at Lucas, shouting, "You b a s t a r d! How dare you!" "After our family raised your daughter for over 20 years, you dare to try to kill my own daughter?" Lucas did not dodge and was hit by the ashtray.

Blood flowed from L u c a s 's forehead. He laughed crazily and retorted, "Your own daughter? Haven't you already cut ties with her?"

"Weren't you very quick and decisive when signing the agreement to sever ties back then? I thought you had finally gotten rid of this burden."

Ella was greatly shocked. The truth was right in front of her, and she realized that she had given up such an outstanding biological daughter for an adopted daughter with a messy private life who had achieved nothing.

"Shut up, you b a s t a r d! I'm going to kill you!" Ella screamed in pain.

Lucas laughed triumphantly, but his laughter was cut short. Gabriel kicked him to the ground and then stepped on his face, pressing him down hard. "Do you have any accomplices? Tell me the truth."

With his vision darkening from being stepped on, Lucas struggled to say, "No, I don't have any accomplices. I did everything alone. I'll take responsibility for my own actions!" Gabriel sneered. "Do you think I'll believe you?"

Gabriel turned to look at Olivia who was also pinned to the ground by the bodyguards. "His accomplice is you, right?"

Olivia cried bitterly. "No, it's not me! I didn't do anything! Mr. Jackson, I didn't frame my sister!"

"Don't call her sister. You don't deserve it." Gabriel looked disgusted, his eyes carrying a deep warning.

Olivia quickly reorganized her words. "I really didn't participate in this matter. No matter what, my dad raised me for over 20 years. I couldn't be so ungrateful. Even if I hate Gina, I couldn't do such a thing."

"If... if I'm lying, I'll be struck by lightning and die a horrible death!" Olivia swore earnestly, trying to increase her credibility.

Gabriel sneered and said in a serious tone, "You don't need to make those empty oaths because you won't be struck by lightning. But, I can make your life worse than death."

Olivia cried, "Mr. Jackson, no, let me go. Please, I'm really not involved in this. I did do a lot of wrong things before and framed Gina. I'm willing to do anything for her to make up for my mistakes. I'll do whatever she asks!"

"Gabriel, this has nothing to do with Olivia. If you call the police, I will confess and clear Gina's name!" Lucas said.

Gabriel had his bodyguard bring a rope and tie Lucas up. He then turned to Olivia who was trembling with fear, and asked, "Do you want to live?"

Olivia nodded vigorously. With no one to protect her now, she could only follow Gabriel's instructions.

Gabriel threw the fruit knife on the table to Olivia. "Don't stab him in the vitals, just let him bleed a little."

Olivia was terrified and dared not do it.

"What are you waiting for?" Gabriel urged. His tone was light but commanding

Olivia stepped forward, her hand trembling as she held the knife, Lucas was tied to a chair, unable to move. She hesitated, afraid of accidentally killing him and becoming a murderer. After all, it was her first time attempting to harm someone. She didn't want to become a murderer and face the consequences. But with Gabriel's methods, she would definitely be prosecuted and end up on death row.

Gabriel was definitely taking revenge on her,

24 May

Olivia shed tears of pain.

Seeing her unwilling to make a move, Lucas said, "Do it. I'm fine. As long as you're safe, I don't care if I'm injured."

Olivia was stunned as she stared at Lucas.

Lucas thought she was touched by his fatherly love and smiled. "Daughter..."

Suddenly, Olivia slapped L u c a s' s face. She flew into a rage and stabbed L u c a s' s arm. "Get lost. You don't deserve to call me that. Do you even think you're a great father? I don't need a father like you. You ruin everything for me. You ruin my life!"

"Why did you come back to find me? Why did you persuade me to frame Gina? It's all your fault! You told me that when she came home, Mom and Dad would definitely favor their biological daughter."

"I was so afraid of being abandoned that I acted so irrationally, I framed Gina and caused Dad, Mom, and my brothers to misunderstand and hate her! It's you, it's all because of you!"

The more Olivia spoke, the more agitated she grew, and her actions became more decisive. L u c a s' s blood splattered all over her body as she continued to stab his thigh with the fruit knife.

Ella was frightened by Olivia's crazy behavior. No matter what, Lucas was her biological father. How could she be so ruthless?

Was she pretending to be gentle and obedient all these years?

How did she end up with such a ferocious beast by her side?

Olivia came back to her senses. She saw the pool of blood on the floor and L c a s' s injured thigh. Her face turned pale, and she became scared. She turned around and knelt down in front of Gabriel. "Mr. Jackson, is that enough? I still want to continue stabbing, but if I do, he might die. I don't want to go to jail. I don't want to be a murderer. Mr. Jackson, please!"

Olivia kowtowed to Gabriel.

Gabriel looked at L u c a s' s half-dead appearance and knew that there would be trouble if Olivia continued to stab him. Therefore, he did not allow her to continue.

He just felt that sending Lucas to jail in this condition would be letting him off too easily.

Gabriel looked down at Lucas. "If you play any tricks after going to jail, I'll send your daughter in too."

He glanced at the knife thrown aside by Olivia. "This is the evidence, her fingerprints are already on it.”

“There are also so many witnesses here.”

Gabriel glanced at the Miller family members. “Don’t you think so?”

At this moment,

everyone knew that Lucas was the real murderer of Phillip, so naturally, they all nodded in agreement.

“We all saw it. It was Olivia who stabbed Lucas!” James said.

Olivia felt heartbroken. She had known she had been completely abandoned. She was forced into this by Gabriel, but no one dared to speak up for her.

Lucas was furious. “Gabriel, you’re ruthless.”

Gabriel ignored Lucas and instructed the bodyguards, “Send him to the police station.”

Before leaving. Gabriel cast a cold glance at the Miller family members and then turned away.

The Miller’s house was in chaos, with blood stains on the ground. Olivia, covered in blood, was still kneeling. She was too weak to stand up.

Olivia sobbed, “Mom...”

Ella’s face turned pale. “Don’t call me Mom! I don’t have such a vicious daughter! Didn’t I tell you to get lost? From now on, you have nothing to do with the Miller family!”

Olivia was in despair and helplessness. She looked at her brothers for help.
