102 CHAPTER 102

Aella's Pov 1

"What?" Her voice dripped with venom, "Luna supreme — not so Supreme now"

"Jealousy looks good on you, but that's something peculiar to black hearted bitches, so I'm not surprised" I spat.

Her lips stretched widely, then she burst into laughter, wiping off a fake tear, "Oh Luna Supreme, Luna Supreme" she tutted, "you're so pathetic, " she spat

I scoffed, "don't get me mixed up with you darling. You're the pathetic one here, chasing after a man that only sees you as a kid sister, now going after his Luna. If that's not being pathetic then I don't know what is"

A loud crisp sound filled the air before I could blink, my face burned, my head tilted to the side.

"You'd want to watch your mouth, or I can't promise what might happen next" she wiped her hand on her clothes like she had just touched filth.

"Awwwwn. Did I hurt your feelings?" I continued, ignoring the pain spread across my face from the slap, "Poor Little Karen with no one to comfort her fragile feelings" I taunted.

She inhaled sharply, "Don't worry Aella" her face hardened, something evil flashed across her eyes, "Eros may have mistakenly crowned you Luna, but as his rightful Luna, it remains my job to correct it, I'll definitely remedy his mistake, I can do it"

"Wake up Karen, I've already been crowned, forget about being Eros Luna. Wait for your mate."

"Shut up" she shrieked, "Stop talking before I claw your lips shut forever. She can do it, she'll remedy it, she promised" she muttered, biting her lips nervously, "stop trying to lie to me"

"She?" I caught onto the words instantly,

Her pupils dilated like she had just said something she wasn't meant to, "I don't know what you're talking about, sit quietly and wait for your doom" she snapped.

"She got to you didn't she" I ignored her words, "Ursa." It all made better sense now, she had obviously gotten to her, that was the only way.

"What did she promise you?" The words came out quieter,

"I don't know what you're talking about" she mummered, sitting on an old bench.

"How did she get to you?" I wondered, "she can't approach someone in the pack unless something attracted her, my eyes widened. That's it, "Your obsession" I concluded. "It called on her"

She eyed me, "I'm not obsessed with him, I love him. Nothing less,"

"How stupid could you be" I groaned, how the hell did a smart ass like Kaden get such a foolish sister, "you let her lie to you."

"She didn't lie. She's going to help me remedy this accursed bond, and when she does my Eros can finally be free from his pain" she held her chest dreamily

"Is that what she told you?" a hollow sound left my lips, "newsflash, Ursa is a wicked witch that hates wolves to the core, she has had Braz locked up in her cell for as long as I can remember, she hates I and Eros to the core most especially, what makes you think she will help you?"

"Don't say that" her eyes turned hostile, "she only hates you, she doesn't mind Eros as long as he doesn't get in her way, and I'll make sure he doesn't, once we're mated of course. Now shut your mouth before I do it for you."

"You've got to be kidding me, you're willing to believe a witch over your own kind"

A conflicted look shone on her face but it disappeared almost instantly, "fucking shut up already" she stood from the sit, and began searching for some thing.

"If the witch isn't willing to help me, why would she give me the Kastril,"

My mouth went ajar, "the kastril is illegal, and the very last of it was destroyed, how did she get her hand on one."

"The same way she's going to remedy your current situation, there's many more of where this one came, so don't even bother trying to contact anyone, it's no use"

Ursa was getting more dangerous as the day went by, how did she get her hands on so many Kastrils — ancient collars created by witches that served only one purpose — isolate a wolf, it wasn't an ordinary isolation.

It left them completely alone, unable to mindlink or even contact one's own wolf, even all the strengths that came from the wolves would seep away slowly, it was a sinister device, killing wolves if left on them long term too.

She got to me, "don't try anything funny," she untied me, pulled me up to my feet and tied my hands again.

My knees wobbled, numb from sitting for too long, she held on to me tightly, steadying me with her grip.

"Time to get moving" she grinned, "seems you know what the kastril is, Forget anything related to your wolf, you're on your own, Luna" her voice dripped with hostility and smugness.

Seems she didn't know about Aragon, that means Ursa has no idea about him too, we didn't exactly hide him but we didn't announce it too — Good thing.

"Move it" she dragged me, Cold air hit me immediately I stepped out, I was still in my night wear, my teeth chattering.

It was a long shot but I had to try and contact Aragon, talking to Karen was a lost cause, I had to get out of here before I'm delivered on a platter to Ursa.

Channeling the little of what's left of my energy inside me, I traced the connection between I and Aragon.

It's there.

My lips stretched into a smirk, I just had to reach him, this means my powers still work.

I generated heat inside my body, keeping my self warm firstly before trying to reach Aragon, my baby was safe for now.

"Aragon" I called out.

Nothing.

"Shit" I cursed aloud.

"No cursing Luna, your suffering is yet to start"

I didn't know whether to laugh or cry at her stupidness, well I'll get back to her, I needed to identify my location and get a ride out of wherever this was. I couldn't spot any life in the distance, not even birds, the surroundings were a deserted wasteland, with only sand as its only inhabitant.

"Aragon. Antares, which of you can hear me?"

Nothing.

I pressed on, the panic in my chest rising, something told me if Karen took me to her next destination I wouldn't return the same. And I didn't want to test that theory, after all my instincts have undoubtedly proved trustworthy and now it was telling me I needed Aragon.

"Aella" his hoarse voice finally came through the link.

"Yes, it's me. Aragon?" I confirmed.

"Child, where the heck are you?" The connection stabilized instantly.

Comment 0

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift