113 CHAPTER 113

Aella 1

A loud celebratory boom went off, followed by cheers. The room lit up;, Pack members were packed in the hall, a large banner that said 'Welcome back home Luna' The hall was decorated with balloons,

I saw Eros approach, he was dressed in fresh clothes, he held a bouquet of roses, behind him were all my friends, Kay, Celeste, Lily, Brianne was hunched over by a pillar trying to catch her breath.

When they finally got to me, Eros handed me the bouquet and before everyone went on her knees, "No" i quickly tried to stop him,

"Let me," he shook his head. "This is me formally apologizing to you, I'm so sorry doll, I failed and broke my promise to protect you forever." His face carried an expression I had never seen, he must have been really scared out of his mind.

"Stand first" I helped him up, I can't let Kneel before his pack, "I don't blame you, there's no way you could have known"

His jaw tightened, "I should have never released her from her confinement or at the very least should have had her expelled the very first time she laid her hands on you." his eyes lowered, weighed by guilt.

I cupped his face, staring at him dead in the eye, "I can look out for myself alpha and like I said, it's not your fault. Don't make me smack the self guilt out of you" a frown made its way to my face.

"You're the best," he smiled widely, placing a brief kiss on my lips "I've missed that" he muttered, smiling and placing his forehead on mine.

"While we hate to interrupt your reunion Luna, we are here to apologize for failing to train one of our own properly and failing in our duty of protecting you" Xavier's voice thundered.

He dropped to his knees followed by the rest of the pack, women and warriors alike, "We implore you punish us for our incompetence" he raise his voice

"Please punish us Luna" they all turned.

I was suddenly rendered speechless, they were about to drive me crazy, I could even see

Kay, kneeling beside Xavier, his eyes stuck to the ground."

I took a deep breath then began, letting my frustration flow through my voice "for the last time, I do not blame anyone for what happened, neither am I going to punish anyone. If you had been able to stop this one, what of the next one? No one saw what happened coming"

I paused letting my words to sink deep into their skulls, I approached Kayden, "look at me" the command rolled out of my tongue smoothly leaving no room for him to object,

He raised his face slowly, his eyes held unshed tears and guilt, pain, anger, disappointment, so many emotions running in one. No wonder he looks so lean.

I pulled him up gently, "No matter how much you love your sister, you can't bear the weight of her sins forever. I dont blame you kayden, you need to stop blaming yourself" i turned to the rest of the crowd. "The same goes for all of you," my voice boomed.

"Stop with the self , and self guilt. I am fine, I do not blame you, if you have so much time to feel guilty, spend it getting stronger for the war to come, countless lives are hoping for us to win. An innocent pack was just overrun and its members displaced, by things that should only exist as tales, tales which have now been brought to life. So instead of wasting your time feeling guilty about something you had no control over, spend it preparing for what is to come. Dark days lay ahead and this is just the tip of the ice berg, this fragile peace may not last for so long. So warriors of the MOON, arise with me, let us rid the land of this scourge that has threatened all we know, our lives, families and the world as we know it. Who is with me?" I roared

"MEEE" the thundered, getting up arms raised high in the air, "we shall rid the realm of its scourge" they roared

"All hail the luna supreme" Xavier thundered

"All hail the luna," they responded, their screams echoing and bouncing off the wall.

"You really don't blame me?" Kay asked

"Not even a bit. Besides i have an elder sister whose first instinct is to protect me even at the risk of her own happiness. So I won't lie by saying I don't understand where you're coming" I shrugged.

He sniffed, "Can I hug you?"

I opened my arms wide, he dived right in, his trembling body coming down slowly. He must have been really worried. I kind of felt for him, he was quite pitiful. "There, there" I patted him gently

"Okay. That's it, get off my mate," Eros dragged Kay away from me, a deep frown etched on his face, his mouth pouty.

"Are you seriously jealous right now?" I asked, barely containing my amusement.

"He should go hug his mate, you are mine, I refuse to share," he pulled me into his arms

Kayden burst into laughter, "Really? After all we've been through Alpha? What happened to us being best friends?" he teased, his face carrying a wronged expression.

"Fuck off" Eros snarled possesovely, placing a lingering kiss on mu neck, sucking gently,

"Not here" I whispered, biting down the moan at the tip of my lips.

"You win man, I'm out. Thanks, Luna" kay raised his hand in surrender before backing away.

"Seriously?" I folded my hands beneath my breast,

"I've missed you so fucking much," he bit the tip of my ears, "Besides i don't like it when another male gets too close to you." he spun me around, wrapping his arms on my waist. He inhaled deeply, "Fuck I've missed your scent."

"we're in public," I moaned

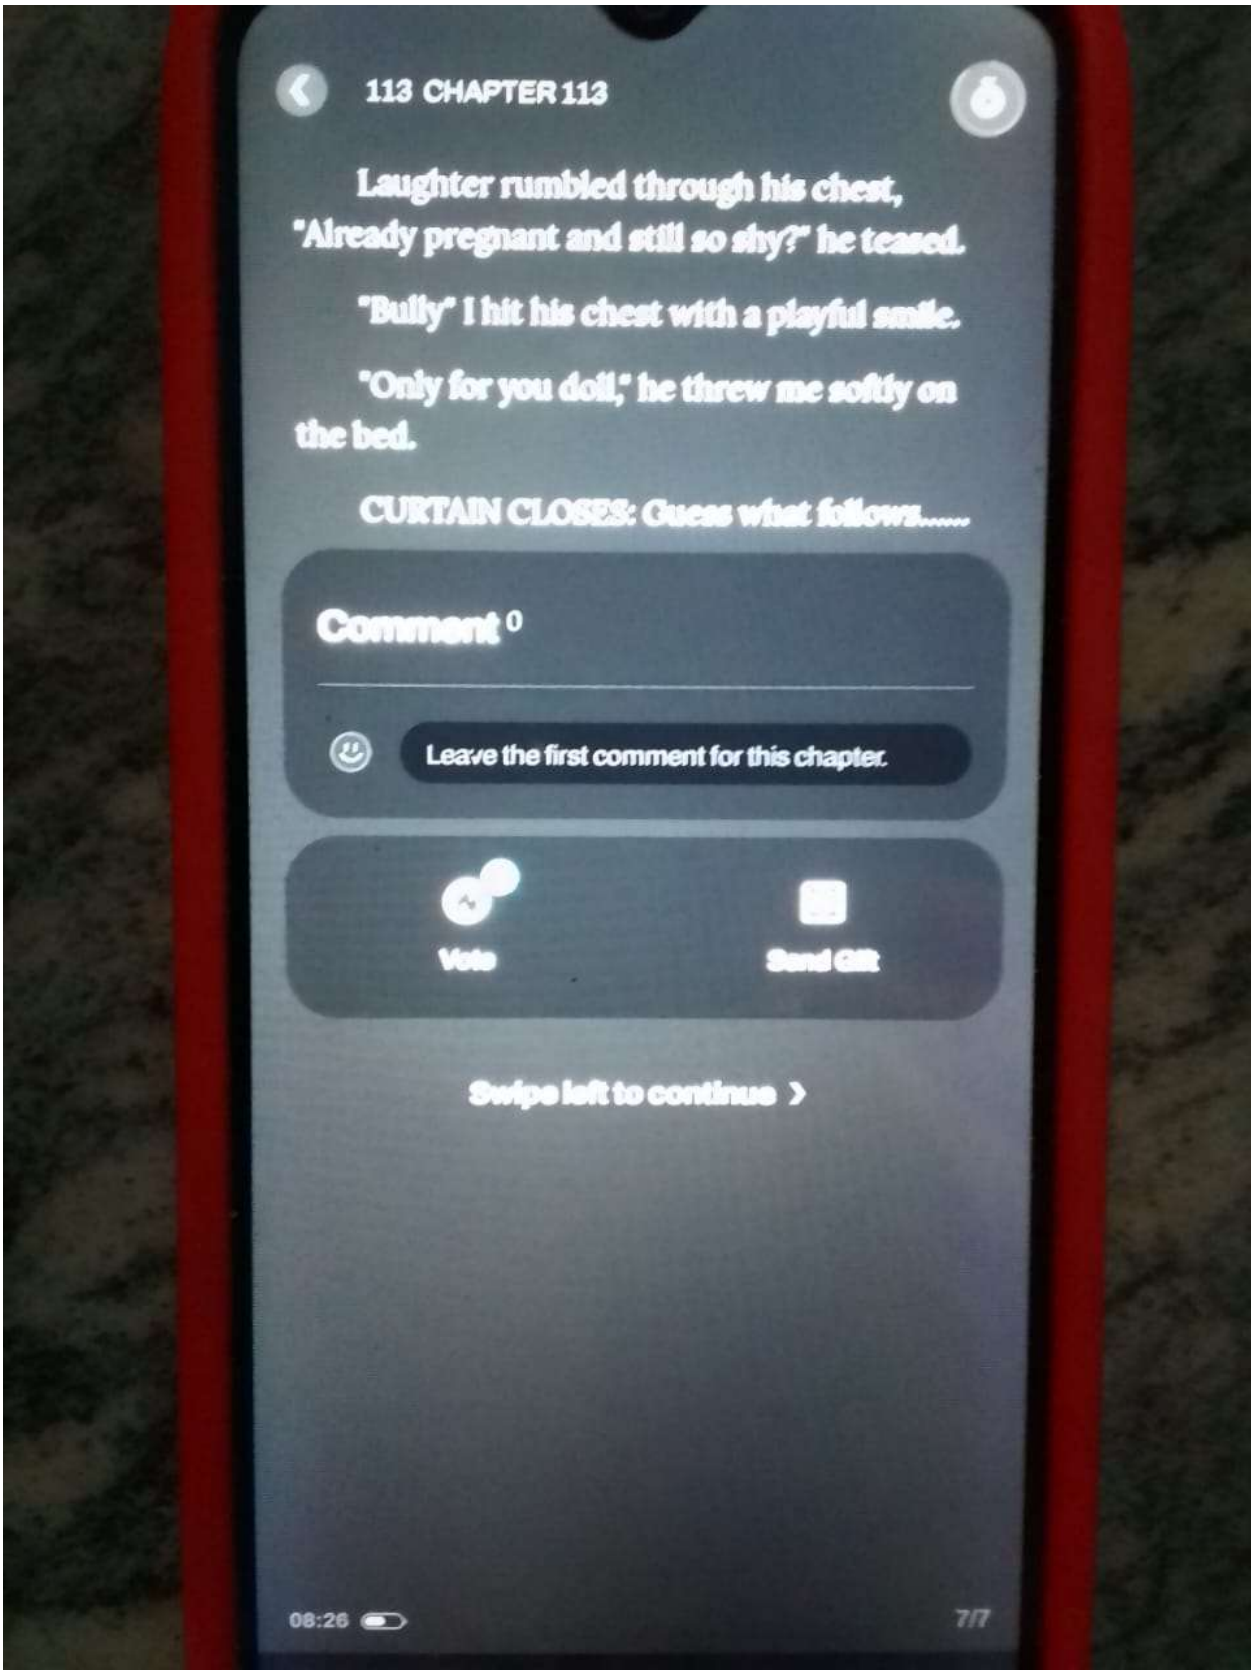

"Let them see," he muttered, "can you feel what you do to me? Feel how much I've missed you"

I could feel his crotch poke my back, his musk was getting thicker and in a room full of wolves, no doubt they could smell it too. I didn't need to be told that my face was turning into a deep shade of pink. "Eros." I could barely recognize my own voice, need was burning within me, I could smell my own arousal.

From the corner of my eyes, I spotted Celeste and Lily heading towards us, Eros directly scooped me into his arms,

"Shes mine" he said loudly enough for them to hear

I buried my face in his chest, as he walked us back to the room, with the wolves clearing a pathway for us.

113 CHAPTER 113
Laughter rumbled through his chest, "Already pregnant and still so shy?" he teased.
"Bully" I hit his chest with a playful smile.
"Only for you doll," he threw me softly on the bed.
CURTAIN CLOSES: Guess what follows.....
Comment 0
Leave the first comment for this chapter.
Vote
Send Gift
Swipe left to continue ›
08:26
7/7