148 CHAPTER 148

Holding her with one arm he began the search for the other rascal, relying on his instincts, "Get back to work, i'll find him" he dismissed the search party. 1

"They nodded and dispersed,"

If Ely could crawl now, it meant Ragnar could too. They had to baby proof the pack house.

"I think i know where Ragnar might be" Aella's voice came through the mind link sounding slightly amused.

"Heading there already"

"Coming too," she replied.

They stopped at a certain person's room, "Of course this is where he would be" they both chuckled

"Hey baby" Aella waved at Ely, she responded with a babble and giggle

"After you" Eros gestured at the door,

Aella opened and walked inside, the first thing they noticed was the freezing temperature.

"Ragnar" Aella called out,

"Here" she heard Lilith's voice, the tiredness in it was loud and clear.

They walked into the inner room to find their little man perched on lilth's head, sitting cross legged, mirroring her with his eyes closed.

"Ragnar" Aella called in a stern voice then quickly got him off her head, "What have I told you about disturbing your aunt when she's training" she scolded

He lowered his eyes looking away guiltily, he always seemed to understand more than Elysia

One look at his pouty face and Aella found herself melting, "Sorry Lil," she apologized cradling the little man.

"I think he just loves his aunt" Eros chirped, amusement laced on his voice

"Be serious" Aella hit his shoulders

"It's fine" Lilith said, "I don't mind the company" she shook her head, at least it helped her to keep Sage at bay even if temporarily.

"You sure?" Aella asked.

"Yeah, he's my nephew after all" she shrugged "Oh and he crawls now, plus he teleports too.

You'll need to keep an extra eye on him" she said

"Sure. Then I guess you don't mind watching your baby boy for a few more hours?" Eros asked

"I have things to do. Goodbye" she teleported out

Aella and Eros both laughed aloud, "You just scared your aunt away" Aella said to Ragnar

"You can't blame the kid, she just can't handle him," Eros chirped, supporting his son.

"What are you, a supportive father?" Aella scoffed.

"Nope. Just a loving one" He said smugly, "besides if she loves him so much watching him for a while shouldn't be an issue" he argued.

"Stop passing your duties away, mister," she scolded.

"Not my fault, I just want some alone time without them" he mumbled.

"Well, welcome to fatherhood" Aella rolled her eyes.

The couple walked out together, each holding a twin, Ragnar fell asleep while Elysia was actively dragging her father's robe, toying with it too.

They walked straight to the general living room, the hall quietened heads snapped towards them before everyone went back to their own what they were doing.

"Alpha, heard the little girl turned Kay pink" Xavier chuckled.

"Yes" Eros said proudly

"Bye love" Aella pecked him and walked towards where Brianne and the rest stood waving her over.

"Hey guys"

"Ragnarr" Brianne gave an ear deafening squeal, totally ignoring her friend and picking up the little darling.

"Hey handsome" Lily began playing with him.

He ignored them both, face scrunched, lips pressed together, "Awwwwn. He's so adorable with all that serious man energy he has going on" Brianne gushed.

"I know right? He's giving Scary mafia vibes with a cute baby face" Lily said both fixated on Ragnar.

Aella rolled her eyes, "Really guys? Forgetting your friend now?"

"Go away woman. Don't disrupt our fun with our baby" They both chorused.

"Wow. Wow. Wow. Betrayed by my friends for my own son, he can't even talk" she mumbled.

"Whatever, doesn't matter," Brianne grumbled.

Aside from their mother, another person the twins rarely misbehaved around was Lilith and Brianne.

Solely because Brianne was way crazier than them, he set her clothes on fire she brought more and gave to him, Elysia cast a spell, she asked for more and literally hanged her upside down till she cast more. Subconsciously they knew not to try this crazy woman. So currently Ragnar was stuck.

Eros was engaged in a conversation of his own with some of his warriors and other Alphas, not failing to show off his little girl too.

They all laughed and gisted, enjoying the peace that existed now. Ever since killing Andrea there has been no mention of an attack or presence of the witch. It seemed like she just went off the radar, so the pack relaxed, using the time to recuperate and welcome the new intake.

The smell of blood and fear suddenly filled the air snapping every head to the direction. A male had just burst in landing at Eros's feet breathing heavily.

He seemed to be saying something to Eros and the other Alpha's and from the way their jaws tightened it was definitely not good news.

Aella walked towards them, "What's wrong?" She asked.

Eros handed Elysia to Xavier, "Hand her over to Lily" he said.

He walked away with her, then Eros to Aella.

"Ursa is marching towards us with an army. Seems like she's going all out" he answered.