

27 CHAPTER 27

Aella 1

"I thought I lost you" Eros engulfed me in a bone crushing hug.

"I can't breathe" I tapped him, he released me instantly, "I'm so sorry" he apologised.

I ignored him, asshole, does he think he was getting out of calling me weak so easily, he should better think again.

"Is there something on my face?" I asked, noting the weird look Eros was giving me.

"Woahhh" Kaden exclaimed, the door croaking as he shut it. "You look like a real snow fairy, Luna," he said, still looking shocked.

"What's he talking about?" I asked, Eros shut him a sharp glare, he made a gesture of zipping his mouth shut.

"Eros" I called, looking at him, what the hell was going on, there was no mirror else I could have checked it out myself.

A knock sounded on the door before it opened, followed by a familiar voice, "I brought the mirror Alpha, is Luna-Damn, you look like winter ran all over you." Brianne gasped.

"Leave us" Eros ordered, taking the mirror from Brainne.

"But..." a glare from Eros shut her up, before she left, her face down cast, Kaden soon followed suit.

It was remaining just me, Eros and Antares who showed no signs of leaving the room.

"That includes you"

"I'm not leaving you with her," he said bluntly.

"Aragon," I called out, in a bid to confirm what I already knew was real.

"Hello Zorya, I see you found her" his eyes flashed silver.

I grinned, knowing he was referring to Avalyne.

"Can you leave us, maybe have your little meeting later, I would like to talk to my mate. Alone. Eros cut in, was that jealousy I heard in his voice?

Antares or should I say Aragon looked at me, "We have nothing to talk about" I turned to Eros

"You heard the lady," Antares answered.

"Please" he pleaded. Urgghh, "curse my weakness for cuties" I groaned.

"Fine, you have ten minutes. Excuse us please" I nodded at Aragon.

"I'll be right outside, just reach out to me if you need my presence" then he left.

"Speak" the words came out harsher than I had intended, but I didn't care. He deserved it, and more.

Silently, he handed me the mirror he had taken from Brianne.

Taking it, I gasped at my reflection, my hair was white or should I say silver, my eyes were icy blue, just like Avalyne's

"It's meant to be silver, but it'll revert when you fully bond with the dragon" I heard Avalyne's Voice

"Ahhh," I screamed, startled.

"Calm down, I'll take you to the elders. We'll figure out what's wrong" Eros reassured, taking my hand in his, I snatched it back, shooting him a glare.

"You're too jumpy," Avalyne said again.

"Don't fucking do that you creep"

"I'm your wolf stupid, of course I talk in your head" it said like I had said something silly.

"Whatever," I rolled my eyes.

"Mate is hot," it practically purred. "Great. In addition to a mate that called me weak, I also get a horny wolf, how lucky."

"Be grateful you've even got a wolf" Avalyne sneered

"I just reached out to his wolf, it's name is Eden, what a hottie and it's an Alpha wolf too," she practically giggled

Eros's eyes gleamed, "you've gotten your wolf," he smiled.

"Why do you think I look like this?" I fired back at him.

"I'm sor.."

"Sorry's not gonna cut it Eros, you called me weak. When you know well that I was training my ass off to stand beside you as Luna" I growled at him, feeling my anger rise.

"No. It's not.."

"So you didn't call me weak then?" I interrupted

"Yes. But..."

"But nothing. You were never going to mark me. Where you going to keep me till I was of no use any longer and then go ahead to mark your dearest Karen, maybe that's wh...."

He slammed his lips on mine, kissing me ferociously, I shut my teeth refusing to grant him access, he nibbled on my lips. I gasped, granting him access to invade, he practically devoured my lips, consuming and taking everything he could, finally, he broke the kiss.

I inhaled greedily, I hadn't realised when the kiss took my breath away, I frowned, how could he kiss me when I was still mad at me.

He chuckled, "I'm so sorry I called you weak princess but can you hear me out?" He said.

"You should, that kiss was hot" Avalyne cut in

"Shut it Ava" I growled at her.

"I never meant to call you weak," he began.

"Ever since I met you, Eden has gone mad with desire, wanting to complete the mating process, I was not left out either, I wanted you with every fiber of being in me."

"But I was weak" I whispered self-mockingly

"No. I was afraid" he shook his head.

"Afraid?"

"Yes, I was scared that I could lose you"

"How"

"My ancestors were cursed a long time ago"

by the goddess, hence every male wolf from my bloodline would go feral if he doesn't mark his mate before a certain age. Our wolves were cursed with poisonous venom that only the wolf of our true mate could withstand, hence a chosen mate was never an option. The problem was that the age always varies, there was no way to tell when an Alpha could go feral." He paused,

"Eros.." I touched his hand, "you don't have to continue"

"Let me," he said. "I became the first in my family at the risk of going feral at a young age, especially considering I hadn't found you. So Eden was always on edge, wanting his mate. My mother was not my father's true mate, but he had married and gotten her pregnant despite all advice against it. After all, his wolf was stable and wasn't at risk. So he gave up on finding his mate, and settled with my mother, he never marked her. They were in love."

"What happened?"

"Things worked well for them, until my eight birthday, his wolf suddenly went berserk and marked her, despite all her screams, she died before me. When he realised what he had done, he became a shell of his former self, even the park almost fell to ruins, he committed suicide when I turned twenty, possibly to prevent more damage than the ones he had already done. I never understood his decisions back then, but when I found you, the first time you smiled at me, I knew then that I would burn the whole world down and place it at your feet if it meant seeing you happy."

"So I was scared when I saw you didn't have your wolf, what if the venom from Eden kills you, what would I do? I couldn't live without you. I'm so sorry you heard it the way you did. But if I was given a second chance to take the decision again, I will stand by my decision. I can't lose you as well"

Comment ⁰

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

Swipe left to continue >

