

39 CHAPTER 39

Eros 1

"Where are the others?" Aella asked.

"Inside, trying to kill each other." I shrugged.

"You let them?"

"Let them go at it love. They need it"

"And you don't?" she wiggled her brows

"I have you. I don't need any other thing"

"Cheesy" she grinned.

"Only for you"

"That's it, I'm done. I'm going to go find my mate" Brainne groaned and headed inside.

"Hey, wa..." Aella started but Brianne was gone before she could even finish.

I fixed my gaze on Lily, "I'm gonna go find something else to do" She ran off

I chuckled at their reactions

"You chased them away," Aella frowned.

"I'm innocent baby girl"

"That's not true, I saw the look you gave Lily."

"I didn't chase Brianne though" I shrugged.

"fine then," she stood abruptly, "enjoy your Stay, I'm heading in too"

"Baby girl, but.."

She ignored me, entering with a "hmpf"

"Cute," I muttered.

"Do you really think he's an imposter?"
Eden mumbled

"I don't know what to think. I trust Aella, but if my friend has been switched, don't you think I'd notice?"

"Chase too. But he has been acting strange lately" Eden reasoned.

My jaw ticked, "I know. I just, I just can't believe it"

"Me neither. But if it's true that means Braz and Chase are waiting for us to come save them"

I clenched my jaw, "do you know what that means?"

"Ursa changed someone perfectly and no one noticed." Eden's voice turned grave. "She has infiltrated our pack. No one is safe, not even Aella" He growled.

I inhaled deeply, my fingers digging into my palms, "let's not conclude quickly" I said, heading in after them.

Kaden shot me a look when I entered, even Baxter looked shocked. I sighed, Eden must have told their wolves.

I didn't blame them, his recent behaviors have been really off. So this was a perfect explanation for it.

Brianne was perched on Baxter's lap, Kaden was talking to Lily and Aella, Braz was alone, seemingly oblivious to the strange looks.

"Stop looking at him that way" I mind linked them.

"It just feels so surreal" Kaden said

"Yeah. How could I not notice my own brother being swapped" Baxter said soberly.

"Nothing is certain yet. Stop being so obvious" I shot them out and headed over to Braz

"Hey"

"Eden, What's up" he said cheerfully, just like he normally does, how long has Ursa groomed this imposter to be able to imitate Braz so perfectly.

"Jessy said you haven't been over in a long time. Your room will soon be taken over by dust."

He hesitated for a moment, something strange flickering in his eyes, I would have missed it if I wasn't watching

"Oh, you should have told her that I've been busy. I'll go over to visit her whenever I'm chanced, I've missed her cooking" he grinned

"Weird, Jessy never cooked for you, no matter how much you begged back then" Baxter chirped jokingly

Braz froze, his jaw tightened, "she sneaked in food for me, you wouldn't know cause you were never her favourite" he retorted.

"Low blow man" Baxter held his heart dramatically.

"You started it," He shot back

"Make sure to take your room key from old Solis, and she said you should come with visit sometime with Celeste," I cut in

"Sure. I'll definitely go see her when I have the time" he smiled.

"Gotcha" I smirked.

"It's not him" Kaden opened the mind link

"How did I not notice" disbelief filled Baxter's voice, he was closer to Braz than any of us.

"Ursa really did her homework before sending whoever this is here" I growled.

"Good thing, we were the only ones aware that Jessy was never a huge fan of Celeste or the fact that Jessy would never send Braz to Solis"

"So what do we do now?" Baxter murmured

"We find our brother," I replied.

"Now we are a step ahead of the witch," Kaden said.

"Let's lock him up, we might gather Intel from him" Baxter suggested, his voice laced with anger

"No" I and Kaden said at once

"The witch might be watching, exposing him will alert her. Aella said she kept him alive in a cage" I explained

39 CHAPTER 39

"So we have to play along?"

Comment ⁰

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

Swipe left to continue >

