

66 CHAPTER 66

We shut our eyes, shielding Lilith from the incoming ball. ¹

The necklace on my neck suddenly got warm, then it emitted a soft glow that wrapped around us, shielding us from the attack, the blast hit and bounced off, the shock wave sent Andrea flying back.

This bitch wants us dead, "that much is obvious" Ava said sarcastically

Lacinda really thought of everything I muttered, finally the glow died down, we placed Lilith on the floor and turned back to Andrea

"You're dead bitch" Ava bared her fangs

Andrea wiped off the trail of blood running down the corner of her lips, she staggered backwards still looking at us with that unhinged expression.

"Your mother made a mistake by deciding to keep you two evil spawns but she paid for it with her life. I'm going to help her remedy that mistake" she spat

"At least she achieved something you never could, tell me how did it feel using a spell to keep a man" I snarled

She began chanting again, but this time her veins darkened, black lines began drawing against her skin.

The house shook, the room trembled, I could feel the coppery taste of blood in my mouth, a wave of exhaustion hit us but I waved it off, Andrea was going down and now.

Andrea's chant soon broke into a snarl as she attacked, the air between us thickened the pressure rising. Ava met her head on attacking with her claws but Andrea twisted at the last point, her powers detonating.

I was flung backwards, slamming into the wall, my breath was ripped from my lungs, slight cracks formed on the wall.

Andrea didn't slow, she moved like a person possessed, one who has lost all forms of rationality.

Blood dripped from her nose, her spells were sloppier and heavier now, she flung shards of broken furniture at us followed by a wave of force that slammed into my chest.

"Fuck" I groaned in pain, my vision blurred

as I forced that familiar metallic tang of blood down.

I pushed through it, Ava was already standing upright.

Fangs bared, she collided head first with Andrea, her hand hit Ava's Side, slamming her to the wall.

A pained howl tore from Ava, rage flooded me.

Striking back, I hurled everything I had, the strike caught Andrea square in the chest sending her crashing into the far wall, she hit the floor hard, blood spluttering.

I scoffed, "of course your blood is as black as your soul"

She ignored me, and still coughing she pushed herself up, her eyes darted to Lilith

"Don't even think about it" I spat

She smirked, "you can't protect her forever"

"Watch me," I said,

My necklace became increasingly hot, Andrea's eyes fell on it and they widened, something that looked like hesitation shone in them.

"This isn't over" she rasped slamming her hand into the wall behind her

It split open, shadows tore out through the rift like arms reaching out for her,

Ava lunged, snapping her jaw in empty air, as Andrea stumbled into the darkness, the sound of her laughter being the only thing that could be heard.

We transformed back, my legs wobbled and I fell, not before hearing a panicked voice calling out to me.

I heard hushed voices around me

"You promised she'll be awake by now" A familiar voice growled

"She's supposed to be awake Alpha" A second voice trembled

Shit, my head ached, felt like a million stones were placed on it.

"W...wa..wat..e.r" I croaked out

The room instantly descended into silence, I tried blinking my eyes open but shut them instantly, why are the bulbs so bright?

"Baby girl" Eros called

"Water" I said again, this time firmer, my throat felt parched but I could still speak.

"Thank Goddess, Get water" Eros barked at whoever he was talking to rushing to embrace me

"Eros" I tapped him, "I'm about to suffocate," I said

"Sorry," he shifted instantly helping me adjust myself on the bed

"Here" he handed me a glass of water which I gulped down instantly, I hadn't realised how thirsty I was

"Thank you" I said

"Excuse me Luna, I'm the pack doctor, I will like to check you now" the voice I heard earlier spoke.

"Okay" I nodded, giving him my hand, my eyes took in the room where I lay, bright bulbs shone down on the floor, the walls were painted white, I could smell the antiseptic in the air.

Eros squeezed my hand gently by the side, while the doctor fumbled with my hand, running his checks.

My memory still felt a bit fuzzy, last thing I remember was my knees going weak and feeling my head pounding just before my eyes shut.

"How are you feeling?" The doctor finally asked.

"Like a truck just ran over me"

He chuckled, "well that is understandable considering what you just went through, it's a miracle you woke this early. I'll leave you to it now, your stats all show that you're good, your wolf healed you pretty quickly." He commented and left.

"Fuck, baby girl...I..." Eros stammered, I could see the sweat building up in his face, his eyes were bloodshot, guilt swirling in them

"I'm fine" I smiled, he didn't need to blame himself for something out of his control

"I know.. I just wish I could've helped you, I'm never letting you out of my sight again" he muttered, wrapping his arms around me

"Are you gonna chain me next to you Alpha?" I chuckled, why do I feel like I'm forgetting something?

"If I have to" he replied,

"I'm okay, don't blame yourself" I caressed his face, a slight smile stretched in my lips.

"What happened? You suddenly went silent after informing us that you found your sister"

"Lilith" I gasped, "off course that's what—I mean who I was forgetting"

Eros had a puzzled look on his face, "you forgot about her?"

"Long story, but please tell me she's here..."

Comment ⁰

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

Swipe left to continue >