

67 CHAPTER 67

Eros Pov 1

"I've found her" Aella's Voice came through the mind link.

"Great, I'm on my way" I responded quickly, turning and heading to her father's mansion.

"Something feels off," Eden muttered in my head.

I hastened my steps, not liking the discomfort clawing at my chest, even my heart has tightened from it and that was anything but a good sign.

Suddenly I froze in my tracks, the sky had darkened, wind howled loudly, lifting my gaze I observed the sky, it felt anything but natural.

The discomfort gnawing at my chest intensified, "Aella" I mumbled and continued my journey, this time quickening my pace.

"Baby girl" I tried reaching out but all that met me was silence, an unnerving silence.

"Aella" I reached out again, "The link was cut off, I can't reach them" Eden snarled

"Alpha, did Luna reach out to you too?"

Kay's voice came through the mind link

"Meet at her father's mansion" I replied hurriedly, the mansion was in view now

"We're on our way" he replied before cutting off the link

Arriving at the Beta's Mansion, everything looked normal, but still I couldn't shake off the feeling of dread that washed over me.

Ignoring the oppressive feeling weighing on my chest, I rushed to the door, pushing with all my strength, but somehow it seemed reinforced and wouldn't budge.

"Impossible" I muttered,

"Something is holding it," Eden noted.

"Magic" I scoffed, of course it had to be, it was the only thing that could rival a wolf's strength

"Magic or not we're breaking that door," I stated, now certain Aella was definitely inside here, possibly trapped.

Eden said nothing, I could feel his approval through the link, gathering my strength I charged again, this time channeling my energy to the door.

It didn't budge, but soon a little crack began forming on it, I increased my energy, the door shifted, then with a loud boom it divided into two.

Not waiting to check the aftermath, I followed my instincts and rushed up the stairs, an eerie feeling lingered in the air.

My feet took me to a particular room, I could hear sounds from the room, then I heard a familiar snarl followed by a chilling high pitched laughter.

Instantly I barged into the room, rushing quickly to catch a falling Aella, "who did this?" Eden growled

I could tell he was already seeing red, not paying any attention to him, I wrapped my arms around her, lifted her up and rushed out with her

"You'll be fine" i whispered

"Shit, what happened?" Kaden bumped into us at the door.

"Go get the other one, she's inside" my mind flashed back to the figure of her sister I had seen crumpled by the side, lying motionless.

He nodded and rushed in, "where's your Pack hospital?" I asked the first figure I sighted, almost immediately I stepped out.

His eyes fell to my arms, before lifting to meet mine questioningly, his lips moved

"I'd think carefully before I utter a word if I were you" I growled releasing my aura, Eden flashing through my eyes

His eyes widened, he took a forced step back, "th..th.at.. way" he said with difficulty and practically ran off.

"Simp," I scoffed and rushed in the direction he pointed, my heart tugged at how light Aella felt in my arms, almost like she had lost so much weight overnight

The hospital came in view soon, "where's the pack doctor" my voice boomed immediately I stepped in, I reigned in my Aura, not wanting to affect the patients

"Follow me" a short, stubby man replied, leading me to a more secluded area.

He led me to a corner that had "VIP" written on the wall, "lay her on the bed" he ordered as a female nurse helped him wear gloves.

Gently, I lay her down, entwining our hands together, placing a kiss on the back of hands

A soft painful moan slipped through her lips,

"Do something," I snarled at the doctor,

"We'll have to ask you to leave" the female nurse said shakily,

"I'll stay right here, I'll have your heads if anything happens to her," I growled, my aura sipping out and pressing down heavily, the doctor's face pale visibly now.

"Alpha, you're scaring them." I heard Kay's voice from behind, "I wouldn't need to, if they had started something"

"Your aura has them impaled, come on let's wait outside"

"Better pray she comes out safe, or I promise to raze this pack to the ground alongside her" then I turned and left with Kaden.

"She'll be fine" Kaden tried consoling

"And the sister?" I asked

"She's fine, just malnourished and dehydrated, she just needs rest now"

"Okay" I nodded, pacing around, my mind wandered

"Fuck" my fist collided with the wall, leaving a dent there, "I should never have let enter that poisonous house alone"

"It's not your fault"

"I could have done something, I should have known, the moment Lillith went missing I should have fucking known and now she's lying in there" I cursed.

"She'll be fine, if anyone will come out of this I know it's Aels" Celeste's voice came from behind

"She better be, else every single miserable being in this pack will follow her"

"I can't reach Ava" Eden finally spoke up, his voice sober with a hint of vulnerability.

"Fuck" I punched the wall again, trying to vent out my anger.

"Andrea better pray I don't lay my hands on her" I snapped

"She did this?" Celeste sounded surprised

"Very likely, but she's the closest and only suspect"

"Do you think she'll harm a kid she's raised for 19 years?"

"You'll be surprised what people are capable of," Kaden muttered.

Time blurred by as I kept pacing round the passage way, my heart pounding with each passing second,

"Why is it taking so damn long?" I grumbled, my feet moving closer to the room and backwards.

Celeste and Karen stood silently by the side, a solemn expression on their face.

The door creaked open, the doctor stepped out

"How's she?" I rushed to him