82 CHAPTER 82

Karen's Pov 1

(Flashback - Few days before the room incident)

"Rose, is that you" I called out, setting down the keyboard before trying to turn.

"I'd think twice about that if I were you" a cold voice said, pressing something cold against my neck.

I could feel my wolf recoil instantly at the contact, wolfsbane.

"Who are you?"

"Someone that wants to help you" the voice replied, sounding distorted, I could barely distinguish whether it was male or female.

"Help me" I scoffed, "by holding wolfsbane across my neck, even the slightest misstep and I'm dead. If that's your definition of help, I'll gladly have to decline the offer"

The voice snorted, "don't worry, this is just a safety measure, to ensure you don't try anything funny,"

"What do you want?" I asked calmly, I could tell whoever it was wasn't lying, besides I couldn't feel any killing intent from them, better to hear them out.

"It's about dear Aella, I know she's the reason you're locked up here"

I gnashed my teeth at the memory's of that weak bitch who dared to steal My Alpha.

Hold on. Something flashed across my mind, "how do you know about my hatred for her?"

The voice laughed, "it's not exactly a secret, but I'm here to offer some help, after all you want Alpha Eros, he should be yours" it whispered.

"He is mine" I snarled, "he's just temporarily blinded by that bitch,"

"And you're going to help him see that" the voice continued.

"And how will I do that?" I wondered, "she's practically untouchable, not with Eros hovering over her like some sort of guardian angel" I clenched fists, anger coursing through me.

I may be confined, but Rose, my personal maid, made sure to keep me updated on the latest happenings, and the way that bitch was taking everything that's meant to be mine was getting on my nerves.

"I have a way to remedy that, you just need to follow my steps."

"She's still our Luna" Cassy my wolf whispered.

"Unfortunately." I sighed, "I can't betray my Luna, sorry but you have to find someone else to help with whatever it is you're planning"

"She's not Luna yet, you still have chance to turn everything around, in your favour, get back your coronation ceremony, you're more qualified to lead this pack than that chubby nobody,"

"She hasn't been crowned yet?" I muttered. The coronation ceremony, how could I forget that, this was my chance to get back My Alpha and I'd be damned if I let anyone stand in the way of me and my crown.

Resolute and with my plan in mind, I asked the question that brought a smile to both I and my captor's face, "what do I have to do?"

****

(End of Flashback)

How dare that bitch humiliate me, she had better enjoy it while it lasts, I'm going to enjoy pulling her down from those high horses of hers.

I mumbled, gritting my teeth and storming to Erie's office.

"You need to get a grip, we'll find our mate soon" Cassy complained.

"Shut it stupid" I snarled and pulled up the wall between us. She lacked the basic comprehension of what was absolutely necessary now, with Aella out of the I'll be Luna, Eros will finally see the truth and love me for who I am.

Finally I got to the Office, I could hear Kaden's voice coming from inside, "Eriee" I barged into the office, a natural smile resting on my face.

"I've missed you so much" I moved in to hug him, a stern look had me pausing halfway, looking at him awkwardly.

Kaden face palmed himself, "what the hell are you doing?" he mind linked. I ignored him, still facing the only one that mattered, "Erie, you don't want to see me" I muttered sadly.

Sigh.

"I know you're used to call me in such way, but Aella won't like that, you have to stop" he said sternly

I scowled, Aella this... Aella that... no one cares about what she thinks, "whatever" I rolled my eyes.

"Hope you've learned your lesson, I hate punishing you and you know that"

"Not like you didn't anyway" I whined "all for that bitch that doesn't even deserve you"

The air dropped by several degrees, "I won't warn you again Karen" he said coldly

Tears pooled at the corner of my eyes, "you haven't even done the coronation ceremony and you're already taking her side, it won't be long before you toss me aside"

"No one is picking sides, you're just being unreasonable" Kaden pinched his nose, something he mostly did whenever he was frustrated.

"Am I your sister or is she?" I asked, hurt. They were even bothering to hide their blatant favoritism anymore.

"I won't take kindly to any disrespect to my mate. Get that through your skull Karen, don't tempt me" Eros voice left no room for negotiation.

"All for that lying....." Kaden's hand shot out and clamped down on my lips instantly, cutting me halfway.

"I'll take Karen to rest now, Alpha" he bowed and practically dragged me out.

****

Karen's room

He finally let go of me immediately my room came into view, "No matter how insufferable I find you, thank your stars you're my twin Karen, or I wouldn't bat an eye lid while the Alpha tears you limb from limb"

"Eros would never...."

"Keep pushing his bottom line and find out"

I snorted, "he won't be so protective of her, when he knows what I know, "keep whatever you know to yourself Karen, stop testing Alpha. He will ruin you"

He snapped impatiently, and walked away.

Entering I threw all the items and documents on my table to the floor, smashing and hitting them till satisfaction coursed through me.

"Soon, very soon Aella, you'll be the one being trampled like the rag you are.

Comment 0

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

Swipe left to continue