Chapter 49 - Making a Breakthrough

After leaving Lu Haotian's villa, Lin Mo took a taxi straight to Yangjing Mountain.

The billion-dollar villa at Yangjing Mountain had been gifted by Jiang Chongguang and now that he was without a place to stay, Lin Mo decided to move directly into this villa complex.

About half an hour later, Lin Mo reached Yangjing Mountain.

It was now around eight or nine o'clock, and the nighttime scenery of the mountain villa seemed especially charming.

Lin Mo glanced at the villa and was quite satisfied.

The estate was enormous, and the architectural design was very luxurious.

It was truly the unrivaled premier mansion of Lin City.

With an upright posture, Lin Mo strode towards the mountain.

When he was still about one or two hundred meters from the villa's entrance, he heard the voices of young men and women up ahead.

"Brother Qi, is this really your villa? It's too extravagant! From the outside, it looks like an Imperial Palace!"

"Yeah, Brother Qi, this villa must have cost several billion, right?"

"Brother Qi, I... I'm actually still single; if Brother Qi you don't have a girlfriend, I... I wouldn't mind considering a relationship with you."

At the entrance of the villa complex, several elegantly dressed young men and women surrounded a tall, handsome young man wearing a gena suit.

Seeing everyone's adoring and worshipful gazes, the handsome man known as Brother Qi slightly nodded his head, looking rather smug as he said, "Of course! This villa cost my dad a whole four or five billion to buy!"

"Brother Qi, do we have the honor to take a look inside your villa tonight?"

"Yes, Brother Qi, a villa like this is something we might only see once in our lifetime."

Seeing the crowd's enthusiasm, Brother Qi touched his trouser pocket and then embarrassingly coughed, putting on a despondent facade, "I'm really sorry! I actually forgot to bring the keys to the villa today. Next time, next time I'll definitely take you all in to thoroughly check out this villa inside and out!"

Not far off, Lin Mo slightly raised his brow, thinking it was fine to show off, but using his own villa to do so, heh.

Soon, Lin Mo had already arrived in front of the villa complex.

That Brother Qi was still bragging.

Lin Mo glanced at him indifferently and coldly said, "Move aside."

Brother Qi, including the group of young men and women, were all stunned.

Brother Qi, feeling his face couldn't hang on, immediately frowned and snapped, "Kid, there's so many paths you could take, who are you telling to move?"

"Get lost!" Lin Mo said lightly.

Suddenly, the faces of the handsome men and beautiful women present turned wonderful.

Then came various jeers and disdain.

"Kid, are you joking around?"

"This is Brother Qi's family-bought villa!"

Brother Qi's expression grew even uglier. He stared at Lin Mo and shouted angrily, "Kid, who the hell are you telling to get lost?"

"Last time I'm saying it, get lost!" Lin Mo's expression had already turned cold.

"You motherfu—"

Brother Qi suddenly flew into a rage, his expression fierce as he clenched his fists, aiming to teach Lin Mo a lesson.

Bang!

Before he could finish his word, Lin Mo slightly lifted his foot, and Brother Qi was sent flying seven or eight meters away, nearly shattering his internal organs, groaning as he lay on the ground spitting out blood.

"You kid, how dare you hit someone?"

"You're dead meat!"

Lin Mo, however, stood with one hand in his pocket, unconcerned, calmly pulling out a golden key with his other hand.

The villa door swung open at once, and Lin Mo stepped inside.

Immediately, those handsome men and beautiful women all widened their eyes.

Brother Qi felt a burning sensation on his face.

Then, several people swallowed hard, frightened, their legs turned weak, and they scrambled away from the area.

Who else but a highly distinguished person could live in such a villa?

Once inside the villa, Lin Mo found that there was a housekeeper.

"Are you Mr. Lin?" the housekeeper asked, bowing slightly towards Lin Mo with great respect.

Lin Mo nodded slightly but then asked, "Is there no security here?"

"Responding to Mr. Lin, there is, but they were negligent today, so they were all dismissed. New security should be coming soon..." the housekeeper replied.

"Oh," Lin Mo muttered flatly then turned to walk upstairs, "By the way, unless I call you, don't come up!"

"Understood, Mr. Lin," the housekeeper nodded earnestly.

Reaching the second floor, Lin Mo found the largest room.

Then, he entered, sat cross-legged on the bed.

Soon, Lin Mo started to practice the Vast Universe Technique.

Within five minutes, Lin Mo's brow rose slightly, his face brightening with joy.

In just a short tenure since his admission, the barrier within his body had begun to loosen slightly.

"It seems integrating into mundane life truly aids my breakthroughs!"

"Murong Family! The vow of three years is too long, I can't wait! At most half a year! I will personally come and shatter all your pride!"

Lin Mo's eyes blazed as he spoke each word deliberately.

While practicing his cultivation technique, Lin Mo realized the Spiritual Energy here was not bad, though still very pure, it was denser compared to other urban areas.

Lin Mo pondered, murmuring to himself, "It seems necessary to establish an array to accelerate the absorption of the essence from heaven and earth, forming better quality spiritual energy. And, this villa being frequented by many, an array is needed not just to attract Spiritual Energy but also to prevent those people from bothering me."

However, to set up a large-scale array, quite a few items were needed!

It appeared he might need to ask Lu Haotian for help to find these items.

After all, Lu Haotian's life wasn't saved for nothing!
