Chapter 95: Ridiculous (4th Update)

Everyone was shocked once again, as the only person who would dare to casually tell these three business magnates to get lost in Lin City was surely Lin Mo!

Gao Junyi, Wang Jun, Dong Man, and Jia Lei all felt like their hearts were about to stop beating.

The whole scene, whether it was happening, seen, or turned around, was too incredible and too difficult for them to accept.

Those were the three tycoons of Lin City's business world, and they had just knelt down to Lin Mo without regard for their own dignity.

Moreover, they were offering tens of millions to buy some elixir from this young man.

Damn, that was a quick few tens of millions right there.

Recalling how they had been mocking Lin Mo and flaunting their superiority in front of him earlier, they now wished they could find a hole to crawl into.

It was just too embarrassing; the guy could make millions in seconds, while they had just boasted about making tens of thousands a day or a few million a month.

Even Gao Junyi's tens of millions a month were nothing compared to Lin Mo now; it was just dust!

Everyone was astonished, but the three business giants didn't care about the looks from the people around them, and pleaded:

"Divine Doctor Lin, please, we know the elixir you are auctioning is truly a divine medicine among divine medicines!"

"To be honest, us three brothers have been... impotent since our youth!"

"If you could give us the opportunity to experience the Heavenly People's Blessing again, even if we each paid you thirty million, that would be fine!"

The three of them were extremely sincere and respectful, but Lin Mo merely flicked his hand dismissively and said,

"Don't bother me. Get lost!"

Everyone was shocked again; people were willing to pay thirty million. What exactly was this elixir in Lin Mo's hand? It must be something extraordinarily rare, akin to several tons of gold!

"Divine Doctor Lin, please... please forgive our past mistakes. Last time we were really out of line and offended you."

"Yes, Divine Doctor Lin, if we could choose again, we would never dare to be disrespectful to you."

"Divine Doctor Lin, please have pity on us. If you refuse to sell us the divine medicine, no matter how much money we make, it will be of no use. Then, we would be worse off than ordinary people, who at least have the chance to enjoy sexual pleasures. We might never even be able to touch a woman in our lives."

The three men were clinging to Lin Mo's legs, their faces streaming with tears, filled with regret and heartbreak.

Lin Mo's eyes slightly narrowed; he really wanted to kick these three guys away, but after a moment, he said indifferently,

"I can give you one chance. However, if there's any more disrespect next time, forget about ever buying medicine again!"

"Also, I'll give you the chance to continue your family lines, but if you use it to frivolously toy with women, you will definitely end up childless!"

"Huh?"

The three men were stunned, but upon realizing what was going on, they immediately kowtowed to Lin Mo in gratitude:

"Thank you, Divine Doctor Lin!!"

"We will definitely heed Divine Doctor Lin's teachings!!"

The three individuals kowtowed an astonishing ten times each; afterward, each one of them pulled out a bank card and handed it to Lin Mo, "Divine Doctor Lin, each card contains thirty million, no more, no less. Consider this our advance payment. When you have Divine Medicine again, just have someone bring it to us. The PIN is 999..."

"How... how is this possible?"

Even after the three commercial moguls had left, Gao Junyi felt like he had been struck by lightning, his whole body shaken, with a face full of jealousy and reluctance glaring at Lin Mo.

He had never imagined that Lin Mo's ability to make money was so heaven-defying!

Moreover, he did not know what methods had been used to make these three magnates so submissive toward him.

The rest of the crowd's faces turned red to the point of bursting, as if they had been slapped harshly, the pain searing!

The previously scorned cold young man turned out to have an earning capability countless times stronger than Gao Junyi's, and critically, Lin Mo was even a few years younger than Gao Junyi.

Now, when they looked at Lin Mo, their eyes held a mix of shock, reverence, and even fear.

Cheng Mingshan shook his head at Dong Man and said, "Xiao Man, do you see? I told you Lin Mo was no ordinary kid, but you insisted on looking down on him. Now look what's happened..."

Dong Man was indeed a bit shocked, as Lin Mo had yet again defied her expectations.

However, within a few breaths, Dong Man tried to calm herself, and when she looked at the cold young man again, her tone was somewhat more resolute:

"That's impossible, I, Dong Man, am definitely not wrong in judging people. Making tens of millions in an instant is indeed unexpected, but ultimately, this way of making money is just like pies falling from the sky, a fleeting moment."

"Besides, in this society, it's not just about individual earning capabilities that matter, but family background is most important."

"Although Gao Junyi can't make tens of millions instantaneously like Lin Mo can, he can maintain a stable annual income of several hundred million, and importantly, he has the support of the Gao Family and Chengfeng Group, which is something Lin Mo, with his limited personal power, cannot compare to."

Gao Junyi, after his brief shock, sneered and said, "Aunt Man is right, having such a heaven-defying way of making money is indeed astonishing, but ultimately, what one relies on in society are family background and connections."

"Mom, you're too much! Even now, you still look down on Lin Mo. Just wait, Lin Mo will definitely exceed your expectations. When that time comes, I hope you won't regret what you've said today!"

Cheng Miaohan, with a slightly angry expression on her pretty face, knew that although the cold young man in front of her seemed very aloof, the things he did were each more astonishing and unexpected than the last.

As for Lin Mo, his starry eyes slightly lifted, he looked indifferently at Dong Man and Gao Junyi. These two thought too highly of themselves. In fact, they did not realize how laughable their so-called power and background appeared in Lin Mo's eyes.

Even the most formidable, most terrifying background could be annihilated by absolute power with a single punch!

The reception quickly resumed, but this time, Lin Mo had completely become the center of attention, like the moon surrounded by stars.

Previously scornful second-generation rich or official kids were now eagerly trying to ingratiate themselves with Lin Mo, attempting to make friends with him.

Regrettably, Lin Mo couldn't even be bothered to pay them any attention.

Lin Mo didn't like making friends carelessly, especially not the kind who judged people condescendingly!

Within roughly ten minutes, the whole reception was lively again, with many talented young men chatting and laughing.

However, just then, an abrupt and harsh shout broke the tranquility of the scene:

"Kneel down! I want you to bloody kneel down for me! Damn it, I'm giving you ten seconds. If you don't kneel down and break your own arms, don't think of leaving here alive tonight!"

As soon as the fierce, arrogant voice rang out, it instantly captured everyone's attention.
