

THE REAL PROTEGE

#Chapter 27: KILL THEM ALL - Read THE REAL PROTEGE Chapter 27: KILL THEM ALL

Chapter 27: KILL THEM ALL

Both Four Eyes and Ling Li were perspiring when they finished while catching their breath. Their bed was still swaying like a boat.

Four Eyes remained on top of Ling Li with his face buried in her neck. Ling Li felt so overwhelmed by what had just happened. She closes her eyes and doesn't want to think about anything. They had sex for almost four hours.

Ling Li fell into slumber. Four Eye drifted for a while as well but was able to wake up fast. He realized he was still on top of Ling Li and had fallen asleep.

Four Eyes went to the bathroom to prepare to wash her. Four Eyes carried her, washed her body, and laid her back in bed to let her sleep. Four Eyes adjusted the bed so it wouldn't be too soft and moving a lot. He showered and then packed his things for tomorrow's departure.

Four Eyes looked at Ling Li, who was sleeping with satisfaction. He didn't want to disturb Ling Li, so he went down to find Mushu instead. Four Eyes found him seated by the foyer.

"There you are," Mushu said. "I was wondering where you have been."

"I packed and took a nap." Four Eyes explained.

"What do you like to do today?" Mushu asked.

Four Eyes just shrugged his shoulders.

"Do you like to play chess? Poker? Billiards? Tennis? Table tennis?" Mushu asked, but nothing seemed to pique Four Eyes' interest. He was losing ideas.

"Do you like to learn boxing? MMA?..."

Four Eyes' eyes seem to light up.

'Thank goodness I found one he likes. Phew!' Mushu thought as he rubbed his temple.

"Okay, let's have a light lunch and proceed to the ring." Mushu stood up and invited him to the dining hall.

Ling Li woke up late in the afternoon, found herself alone in bed, and returned to her room to change. She went down to eat. Pharsa informed her of Mushu and Four Eyes' whereabouts.

Four Eyes knew karate, so it was easy for Mushu to coach him into MMA. They sparred for several hours and enjoyed the whole afternoon.

Ling Li didn't join them for dinner, so Four Eyes entered her room. When Ling Li saw him, she immediately said, "Don't worry, I won't let you take responsibility for what happened today. I'm honestly busy right now, and I have a video conference about to start." Ling Li dismissed him instantly.

But that is not what Four Eyes came for and wanted to say; it is actually the other way around. But Ling Li would not give him a chance to say anything. With the Four Eyes personality, who hardly talks, he just turned around and left the room.

Early the next morning, they left the island using several choppers to board their private jet at the airport. Normally, Ling Li prefers to fly commercial flights to look around and interact with people; Ling Li believes that keeping a low profile is best, but she is currently injured. Therefore, she has to stay vigilant. It was still dark when they left the island silently.

It was about a six-hour flight. When Ling Li and her group arrived at their destination, the cars were already waiting for them on the tarmac, and they could leave the airport immediately and swiftly.

They are all in a bulletproof limo provided by El Padre. They must drive for about forty-five minutes to reach his headquarters.

El Padre is the Godfather of the world's mafias, controlling and running nearly all of them. However, this does not prevent the existence of enemies. In this kind of organization, the superior you are, the greater everyone wants to get and take over your throne.

While El Capitan oversees and controls the underground world.

After driving for thirty minutes, "We have a tail." Rockie reported that someone was closely following them. Just seconds after, one of their convoys blew up; a grenade launcher struck it.

"Call El Padre for backup. We are only ten minutes away." Ling Li instructed.

Mushu called and reported to El Padre.

"Are they running into the tiger's den???!!!" El Padre yelled angrily. "We are on our way!"

"Run at full speed!" Ling Li once again instructed.

Two minutes later. "We are locked on their target!" Rockie exclaimed.

"Get down!" Ling Li pulled Four Eyes to the floor and dived atop him. Pharsa and Mushu followed through.

El Padre saw their limo blow up in the air in front of him. His heart stops beating for a second in shock. He fiercely shouted, "Kill them all!!!"

El Padre maneuvered with his bodyguard to Ling Li's car, pulled each of them, and brought them to his headquarters.

Eleven months later, Ling Li woke up in an unfamiliar room. She looked around and realized she had an infusion attached to her hand and oxygen; there was a beeping sound.

'A heart monitor?' Ling Li thought to herself, feeling disoriented and confused. 'What happened?' She struggled to recall the events that led to this moment.

'How long have I been unconscious?' The question lingered in Ling Li's mind as she tried to make sense of her situation.

In a short while, Pharsa entered the room.

"Madam, you're finally awake!" Pharsa exclaimed with real excitement, rushing out the door to share the news with everyone.

"Madam is awake!" Pharsa cried out.

Soon, El Padre, Mushu, and Four Eyes hurried into the room, with Four Eyes carefully holding two tiny babies.

"Finally, you're awake! You've been sleeping for so long," exclaimed El Padre with a mix of relief and impatience.

"Look, you're missing much time with these two little darlings." El Padre pointed to the two babies.

Ling Li's brows crisscrossed together, wondering what she had to do with those babies despite them being such adorable twins.

'Did Four Eyes get married?' Ling Li thought. She felt a stab in her heart. "How long have I been out?" She asked.

"More than eleven months." El Padre declared.

Ling Li couldn't believe what she had heard. She looked at Pharsa and Mushu.

"It took me six months and three months for Mushu," Pharsa explained.

"Rockie, Where is Rockie?' Ling Li asked.

Pharsa looked down and pursed her lips.

"Tell me!" Ling Li said sternly.

Chapter 28: THE TWINS

Rockie has been driving for Ling Li since she finished university; he has been with her and has become her trusted bodyguard. They have trained several times together.

"Madam, Rockie has been relying on life machine support since the accident. The doctors have insisted on taking it off since they could not see any chance for him to live independently or recover.

But who are we to decide? We said we would wait for you. His family has even found out about his money and wiped it out." Pharsa helplessly explained.

"No one dares to think about taking his life support. I'll ask The Heaven about it. How could his family finish his money in less than a year? How shameless of them." Ling Li said sharply.

"You have talked and asked about everyone. Are you not going to ask about these adorable darlings?" El Padre interrupted her.

Ling Li looked at him and Four Eyes, then the babies.

El Padre laughed out loud. El Padre closely showed one of the babies from Four Eyes.

"Look, isn't she cute?" El Padre asked Ling Li.

"Little darling, say hi to Mommy. She is now awake, see?" El Padre said it like a baby.

Ling Li was stunned when she heard the word 'Mommy.' Ling Li again looks at El Padre and Four Eyes.

"Yes, Madam, they are your twin daughters," Pharsa confirmed her doubts. "You gave birth to them two months ago by CS," she added.

"I confirmed your pregnancy three weeks after the accident." El Padre told her.

"And this guy admitted that he is the one responsible." El Padre spoke, pointing to Four Eyes.

Ling Li still couldn't absorb everything she was hearing; everything seemed to happen so fast. She slept for eleven months and woke up with twins.

Four Eyes never left Ling Li's side after the accident; Four Eyes vividly remembered how Ling Li had bravely pulled him to safety during the vicious attack, saving his life in the process. He was at the bottom and was the only one who did not end in a coma and only suffered bruises and burns.

Four Eyes was even more determined to stay by Ling Li when El Padre informed them of her pregnancy.

El Padre instantly knew that Four Eyes must be the culprit for Ling Li's pregnancy by still decided to furiously ask and petrify him a little.

"Are you responsible for this?" El Padre fiercely asked Four Eyes.

Four Eyes nodded with his head down; he was ready for a beating, knowing this group of people around him was not simple.

El Padre didn't respond and remained looking at Ling Li with a grim expression.

However, Four Eyes was utterly surprised when El Padre burst into laughter.

"You got some balls, man!" El Padre laughingly exclaimed while tapping Four Eyes' shoulder.

"Mushu, prepare all the nutrients needed for Madam and her babies." El Padre ordered.

"Babies?" Everyone simultaneously asked in surprise.

"Yes! She got at least two babies in there!" El Padre declared, "We can confirm if there are more by the eighth week."

"...."

"Will it affect her?" Four Eyes anxiously asked, his voice filled with concern as he looked at Ling Li, who lay unconscious in the hospital bed.

"Will the babies survive?" Four Eyes' anxiety grew as he realized the gravity of the situation; Ling Li was in a coma while carrying multiple babies.

El Padre is becoming more convinced that Four Eyes is a good man.

"Don't you worry; we have the best medical facility and renowned doctors and medical experts on our team. We won't let anything happen to her or the babies." El Padre assured Four Eyes.

El Padre then added, "I guess you will be staying here; I will have the team who is with Fatty to take over your company and have Fatty look after it for you."

El Padre has seen Four Eyes regularly taking calls from his office, knowing the importance of a person to lead a company; without Four Eyes' presence, it might get out of hand. Thus, El Padre made this decision to assist him.

"Thank you." Four Eyes gratefully replied.

Hearing a thank you from Four Eyes is already a luxury. It was good enough for El Padre. Knowing Four Eyes' character.

Two months ago, Ling Li gave birth to identical twins—two little girls. El Padre had witnessed how Four Eyes dedicatedly took care of the twins and Ling Li, searching and learning everything he could on the internet.

El Padre is now more convinced that Four Eyes is a good man.

Now, Ling Li looked at the baby when El Padre handed her; as she put her under her arms, the baby seemed to have smelled her breast and wanted to suck it.

"Oh, you've been breastfeeding them daily; your husband is helping you," Pharsa informed Ling Li.

"My husband?" Ling Li raised her brows.

"Him." Pharsa pointing to Four Eyes.

"When did he become my husband?" Ling Li nonchalantly asked.

"Shinsei said he is 'The One.'"

"He did not tell me. I don't believe you. Maybe I should ask The Heavens for you and Chatty." Ling Li retorted.

"No way!" Pharsa disputed. "Your baby needs milk!" Pharsa told Ling Li while pointing at her babies, and she went out quickly.

Mushu and El Padre were delighted that their madam was awake and back.

"Go out, all of you! I have to nurse my baby!" Ling Li said.

Ling Li looked at the baby in her arms, and Four Eyes walked beside her and showed Ling Li the other baby. Ling Li looked at them, and she realized they were identical twins.

"How do you tell which one is which?" Ling Li asked.

Four Eyes sat beside Ling Li and said, "She has a little mole here like you, see?" He pointed at the light brown mole on the baby's little chin that Ling Li held, and she giggled. Aside from the tiny mole, there was no other difference between the twins.

"It is time to feed them." Four Eyes said. "You know you can't feed them one at a time. If you feed one only, the other will cry. They want to eat at the same time." Four Eyes explained.

Chapter 29: HOLD TO SLEEP

"Pharsa, please ask the camp to send some of our best physical therapists and also inform my fitness trainer. Arrange all their travels and coordinate with El Padre how they will get in." Ling Li instructed.

"But you can't overdo yourself. You just woke up from an eleven-month coma and gave birth." Pharsa argued.

"I know my body well. I was very well-fit and strong before the accident. I can recover easily." Ling Li waved her hand, dismissing Pharsa. Pharsa has no choice but to carry out her orders.

Ling Li rested and went back to sleep. It was already dark when she woke up. Four Eyes was beside her when she opened her eyes. He stroked her head gently. "Do you feel better?" he asked.

Ling Li nodded.

"Do you want to go to the bathroom?"

Ling Li nodded again.

Four eyes helped Ling Li and carried her back to bed. He told her to wait while he went out of the room.

Four Eyes came back with a bowl of fish soup made with Chinese nourishing herbs.

"This is good for you, especially for a mother nursing babies." Four Eyes said.

"How did you know that?" Ling Li, of course, knew about the fish soup.

"I searched the internet."

Ling Li raised her brows in amusement.

"Here, have some." Four Eyes started feeding Ling Li after blowing it. Ling Li was surprised when she tasted it. It tasted delicious.

"Did you cook it?"

"Um." Four Eyes nodded as he gave her another spoonful.

After Ling Li finished the whole bowl, Four Eye left the room and returned with a thermos and a mug.

"Instead of water, drink this." Four Eyes poured a mugful and gave it to Ling Li.

Ling Li tasted it, and it tasted like tea.

'Not bad.'

"What is it?"

"Just trust me. It's good for you. I won't hurt you or our babies." Four Eyes replied.

"Um."

"Can I see the babies?" Ling Li eagerly asked.

Four Eyes went out to fetch the babies. He came back with one sleeping soundly while the other one was crying.

Ling Li's brows crisscrossed when she saw one of her babies crying, and she reached out her hand to get her from Four Eyes.

"Why is she crying?" Ling Li worriedly asked.

"She certainly loves to cry," Four Eyes told Ling Li. "She doesn't sleep at night; she sleeps during the day."

"Really? She is like Ren Ren." Ling Li chuckled.

Four Eyes looked at her, wondering who Ren Ren was.

"Oh, you don't know that I have two daughters besides Shi Min, whom you have met. The eldest is Ren Ren, and the younger one is Lily. Shi Min is my middle child." Ling Li explained.

Four Eyes understood and nodded.

Ling Li was still trying to comfort her crying baby. Soon, the baby calmed down and felt her mother's soothing presence.

Four Eyes was taken aback to find the younger baby peacefully sleeping in Ling Li's arms. It had been months since she had cried all night and struggled to sleep.

Sitting beside Ling Li, Four Eyes gestured towards the baby. He informed Ling Li that the one she was cradling was the younger of the two, with a mere one minute and forty-five seconds between their births.

Four Eyes handed one baby to her and took the other into his arms. However, as soon as he took the baby, it started crying again. Four Eyes furrowed his brow and narrowed his gaze, trying to figure out what was wrong.

"Give her back to me." Ling Li said.

Four Eyes tenderly passed the baby back to her mother, and like a spell had been cast, the crying ceased instantly. Four Eyes furrowed his brows in confusion as he attempted to cradle the baby again, only for her cries to resume. It was only when he carefully placed the baby back in her mother's arms that the crying stopped once again, almost as if by magic.

Ling Li chuckled. "Just leave her with me."

Four Eyes looked at his child. 'This brat.' He thought he'd been taking care of her for two months and only knew how to cry in his arms. Four Eyes couldn't help but snort.

"But you need to rest." Four Eyes insisted.

"Just let her sleep for a while." Ling Li looked at her two babies lovingly.

After a while, "Let me take her with me." Four Eyes took the older one with him.

Moments later, Four Eyes returned, moved Ling Li onto the bed, and lay beside her.

"What are you doing?"

"I'll help you hold her to sleep." Four Eyes gently said as he put his arms around his baby and Ling Li.

Ling Li couldn't help but shudder as she realized that their faces were so close, their eyes almost touching. Her eyes blinked rapidly, and her long lashes flapped like delicate butterflies. Four Eyes stood briskly to turn off the lights, returned to bed, and hugged them again.

"Go to sleep." Four Eyes whispered and kissed her on her lips.

The kiss took Ling Li by surprise. For Four Eyes, though, one kiss was insufficient. Ling Li received numerous kisses from Four Eyes.

'Dammit. I must exercise self-control!' Four Eyes told himself. His cock is getting more excited and out of control.

"Sleep." Four Eyes whispered again and tightened his arms around them.

"Who is with the other baby?" Ling Li whispered in Four Eye's ears to ask. She wanted to know who was watching the other baby.

However, instead of hearing the question, all Four Eyes could feel was Ling Li's warm breath that reached his neck. It made Four Eyes crazier.

"Do you know I'm already having difficulty here? And you're making it so much harder by whispering in my ears. Do you want me to die?" Four Eyes complained.

Four Eyes took one of Ling Li's hands and put it in his pants.

Ling Li was startled when she realized her hands were already touching his...

'Eh... What is this?!? Anaconda?!! He is this big?!!!'

"Can you help me, please?" Four Eyes pleadingly whispered.

Four Eyes was looking straight at Ling Li's eyes, and she was also looking at him.

Ling Li could feel Four Eyes cock thrubbing hard in her hand.

Chapter 30: IS HE TRULY THE ONE

"What?" Ling Li was surprised to learn that she had to nurse both babies at the same time. "How do I do that?"

"I will help you; let me hold her first," Four Eyes replied while Ling Li took off her top.

"Put her in this position." Four Eyes put a pillow on her lap and gave her the first baby.

"This is beneficial for you. This position is how you should hold her." Ling Li was now holding the second baby while the heads of the first baby were next to each other, sucking on Mother's milk.

"They've been doing this with me?" Ling Li asked.

"Um." Four Eyes nodded.

"I'll be back." Four Eyes said and went out, coming back quickly with a warm glass of milk.

"Drink this. It will be good for you while nursing the twins." Four Eyes said softly while putting the glass near Ling Li's mouth to feed her since both her hands were occupied.

Ling Li looked at Four Eyes but obeyed and drank the milk anyway. Ling Li realized she had two babies to nurse and needed to be healthy. She'd been relying on infusions.

"Have you given them names?" Ling Li asked.

Four Eyes shook his head while giving her the rest of the milk.

"What names do you have in mind?"

"You decide." Four Eyes replied.

"Give me time, and I will ask The Heaven." Ling Li said.

Four Eyes couldn't understand what Ling Li meant by The Heaven; he had heard her saying it several times.

Ling Li noticed Four Eye's silence and knew what he was thinking.

"You'll understand what I mean in time," Ling Li assured Four Eyes.

"Um."

The twins seemed to be gluttons, and Ling Li immediately felt thirsty again.

"Can I have another glass of milk?" Ling Li requested. Four Eyes went out and quickly returned, feeding Ling Li the milk to finish.

"They truly eat a lot," Four Eyes said. "That is enough for now. I'll give them a formula. It's not good for your body to feed them too much. When you recover and get stronger, you can feed them more," Four Eyes declared while taking the babies from Ling Li.

Ling Li didn't argue. She felt weak as well.

Four Eyes went out with the babies and returned with chicken soup and a little porridge.

"Have this first before you go back to rest," Four Eyes said, blowing out the hot soup.

"I'll feed you." Four Eyes insisted.

"Here, it's no longer hot."

"You cannot eat solid food for now. You have not eaten for so long. Eat soft food first," Four Eyes said.

"I understand."

After Ling Li finished the whole bowl, she felt sleepy again, but she wanted to go to the bathroom. She tried to get up.

"Where are you going?" Four Eyes asked.

"I want to go to the bathroom." Ling Li responded.

"I'll help you."

"I can do it myself." But when Ling Li tried to stand, she almost fell. Without Four Eyes' promptness in catching her, she would have fallen flat on the floor.

"You have not moved for almost a year. Of course, your muscles have turned weak." Four Eyes told her and lifted her to the bathroom.

While inside, Four Eyes let Ling Li sit on the toilet and helped her remove her diapers.

"Do what you must, but don't get up without me. I'll be back." Four Eyes said with a warning tone.

Four Eyes returned in a breeze with a set of her favorite kimono instead of pajamas, with fresh towels and undies.

"Do you want to take a bath? Or can we only change your clothes? I always bathe you every day anyway," Four Eyes asked.

Ling Li felt her heart skip when she heard Four Eyes say that he bathed her daily.

"I'll take a bath," Ling Li replied. 'It would feel good,' she thought.

Four Eyes filled the tub for Ling Li, ensured the temperature was right, and helped her take off her clothes. Four eyes had learned how to take the infusion in and out of the sleeves of her shirt—and carried her into the tub.

Ling Li felt so good when she felt the warm water touching her body. She closed her eyes, and Four Eyes could see how she was enjoying it. Then, he let her soak for a while before washing her body. Four Eyes feared Ling Li would catch a cold if she stayed in the water too long.

"Would you like to wash your hair?" Four Eyes asked.

Ling Li nodded.

Four Eyes washed her hair. Ling Li felt so refreshed after the bath.

Four Eyes carried her back to bed and blow-dried her hair. "We should cut your hair a little shorter. It has grown very long." Four Eyes commented.

"Um, Pharsa can do it for me." Ling Li agreed.

"Rest now. Get plenty of sleep, okay?" Four Eyes told her as he dried her hair and positioned her to sleep.

"Thank you."

Four Eyes kissed her on her forehead. Ling Li had shivers down the spine. 'Dang, this man still has this same effect on me!'

"I'll check on our little ones, okay? I'll be back. You rest and be good." Four Eyes said softly, caressing her hair before finally leaving the room.

'Is he truly 'The One'? Ling Li pondered as she remembered what Pharsa had said earlier.

Ling Li felt sleepy after taking a bath and felt comfortable.

When Ling Li woke up, she knocked on her side table. Prompting, Pharsa swiftly entered the room within seconds. It was a call for her to come.

"Please connect me to the Chinese President." Ling Li said.

"Madam, I was thrilled when I heard you're back!" The Chinese President happily said.

"I'm also thrilled to hear your voice. It's been a long time." Ling Li responded.

"Well, what can I do for you, Madam?" The Chinese President politely asked.

"My muscles have greatly deteriorated. Please send some of the best acupuncturists from your country." Ling Li requested.

"Surely, I'll arrange for it at once. I'll coordinate with El Padre how to get them in." The Chinese President instantly agreed.

"Thank you then."

"Madam, every time you thank me, I can't stop my eyes from crying. hahaha." The Chinese President teasingly said.

The two chatted for a while longer before saying goodbye.