

R Woman 91

Chapter 91: Meeting Gift

Hearing Chu Jin say they were good buddies, the little loli's chubby cheeks immediately flushed red.

She has good buddies now, she's so happy, and her Jin brother is so awesome.

One day, she must pull Jin brother along in front of those kids who don't want to play with her, to show them how formidable Jin brother is!

Then, they will surely be green with envy and longing to be in her shoes.

Just thinking about it is so exciting.

The little loli patted the dog's head, "If you're going home, Jin brother, should I have Mianbao escort you?"

Well, actually, her real purpose was to find out where Jin brother's home was.

That way, in the future, it would be more convenient to implement her plan to kidnap Jin brother home!

Mianbao immediately 'woofed' and lifted his head, raising his fluffy paw to pat Chu Jin's clothing, indicating his willingness to be this escort.

"No need," Chu Jin reached out to pinch the little loli's cheeks, "Peng brother's kindness is well received, Jin brother will be just fine going back alone. You should go home early too, so your Baba doesn't worry."

"Okay then..." the rejected little loli pouted, her face clearly spelling out her unhappiness.

There will be plenty of opportunities in the future, she will definitely find a way to go home with Jin brother.

To avoid any accidents befalling the little loli, Chu Jin especially took out a branch of the Confusing Grain Tree from his Zilei space and handed it to her, "As a gift for our first meeting, take this, Jin brother is giving it to you, keep it safe, okay? This thing will lead you home if you get lost."

The little loli held the branch in her hands, her mouth twitching, and a million mud horses thundered through her heart...

Jin brother really knows how to con kids!

To actually use a branch as a gift for their first meeting...

The ancients have the saying about sending goose feathers for thousands of miles, but with Jin brother, it turns into giving a branch upon meeting.

But naturally, a branch given by Jin brother can't be just any ordinary branch!

The little loli consoled herself in her heart.

Even though it looked really just like a normal branch, it was still the first present from Jin brother!

She must not fail to appreciate Jin brother's thoughtfulness.

The little loli carefully stuffed the branch into her pocket, treating it as if she was guarding a rare treasure, afraid that she might somehow damage it with a careless move.

As long as it was given by Jin brother, even if it were a lump of dog poop, she would find it fragrant!

The little loli lifted her cute little head and thanked Chu Jin, "Thank you, Jin brother! I'll definitely treasure it!"

Once she finished speaking,

The little loli huffed and puffed, using hands and feet to climb onto Mianbao's back, perching on it and swaying back and forth, looking tremendously awe-inspiring, like a little overlord, catching the eye of passersby making everyone turn back for a look.

"Mommy, I want to ride a big horse too!" A little boy nearby, holding his mommy's hand, looked enviously at the little loli.

The little loli glanced at him disdainfully, tsk tsk tsk, what a silly son some family has, not even knowing the difference between a dog and a horse.

"Jin brother, goodbye." The little loli riding on Mianbao, waved her stubby little hands at Chu Jin, saying farewell.

Chu Jin also raised a smile and waved back, "Peng brother, goodbye."

"Shrimpy, away we go!" The little loli kicked her feet and waved her hand, and Mianbao immediately dashed toward the direction of the intersection, with the little loli sitting on its back, steady as Mount Tai.

After bidding farewell to the little loli, Chu Jin hailed a cab and headed directly towards the Chu family headquarters.

**

Inside the Chu Group's meeting room.

Old shareholders of the Chu Group were seated around an elongated oval table.

"Everyone here has been with Chu Group for a long time, and I'm grateful that everyone trusts me, Su. Today, I gathered everyone here mainly to discuss a matter with you all," said Su Qiangda.

Once he finished, the shareholders hunched down and began whispering to each other beneath the table, trying to guess Su Qiangda's true intentions.

Su Qiangda adjusted the microphone and cleared his throat, then continued, "Ever since Miss Zhao left, the stock of our Chu Group has been on a decline, and to date, it has fallen by 5 percentage points. If this trend continues, I believe everyone here is well aware of the consequences."

Since Chu Liyan's mishap, whether it was the old or the young of the Chu Group, Zhao Yiling had become their only pillar.

Although under Zhao Yiling's leadership the Chu Group hadn't reached its previous heights, it was at least operating normally, but since Zhao Yiling took away a core group from the Chu Group, its performance had continually declined.

Bankruptcy was just a matter of time.

"Director Su," a senior shareholder lowered the microphone, serious, "may I ask if you have any good solutions now?"

Su Qiangda smiled and replied, "Forgive my bluntness, but Chu Group is now like a plate of loose sand, lacking a guide like Miss Zhao. Everyone here has been with Chu Group for ages, and I don't think anyone would like to watch Chu Group deteriorate step by step, let alone see the hard work of many years disappear."

Hearing this, shareholders nodded their agreement below the stage.

Su Qiangda was very satisfied with this response and adjusted the microphone before continuing, "Everyone knows about Jun Ao Group, right? Yesterday, the person in charge of Jun Ao Group contacted me, expressing their intention to acquire Chu Group at a high price..."

"Everyone, rest assured, Jun Ao is a credible major group, and I believe that under Jun Ao's leadership, our Chu Group will surely head towards another pinnacle!"

"If you agree with Su's suggestion, please sign your name on this paper."

As he finished speaking, a secretary distributed a stack of documents to each shareholder.

"I agree!"

"I also agree!"

The shareholders each expressed their position, and most of them were in favor of Su Qiangda's proposal.

Since Chu Group no longer had a future, why not join the brighter side sooner?

Jun Ao ranked third in China mainland's corporations, if they could follow Jun Ao, were they worried about not having a brilliant future?

Merchants prioritize profit, as long as there is profit to be made. What's the surname of Chu Group to them?

'Bang!' The door to the meeting room was suddenly pushed open.

"I disagree!" A voice, carrying a hint of chill, rang from outside the door.