

Chapter 113

As soon as Justin posted on Instagram, his fans erupted in chaos.

Many had been trying to convince themselves that his relationship with Lindsay was just a publicity stunt.

Now that he had personally confirmed it, many of his fans were devastated and some even burst into tears.

Unwilling to direct their anger at Justin, they flooded Lindsay's Instagram with insults.

The hashtag #JustinConfirmsRelationship quickly began trending.

Lindsay saw the trending topic and the barrage of hateful comments.

She logged into her own Instagram and posted, "We have broken up and cut ties. Thank you!"

Along with her post, she uploaded a recording of her phone conversation with Justin from the day they broke up.

She had initiated the breakup, but it wasn't her fault.

Justin and the others wanted to protect Olivia, but Lindsay had no such obligations.

She had recorded the call as a countermeasure, to show Justin's fans exactly who their idol really cared about.

She refused to take the blame for Olivia and be the target of hate from Justin's fans and those who thought she wasn't good enough for him.

Let the truth be known and let those responsible bear the consequences.

Posting this also signified her complete break up with Justin, something she had been waiting for.

In a way, she had to thank them for handing her this opportunity to sever ties completely.

As many were still hurling insults at Lindsay, they noticed her latest post.

Shocked, they saw the message about the breakup and cutting ties.

Was it true?

They then noticed the audio file attached.

Whether they were Justin's fans, Lindsay's supporters, or curious onlookers, everyone clicked to listen.

Not just them, but the three others in the car couldn't resist plugging in their earphones to listen to the recording.

After listening, many felt the urge to curse out loud.

The hashtags #LindsayBreakup and #LindsayAndJustinBreakupRecording quickly started trending.

Comments under the trending topics skyrocketed:

"My God, it's just one bombshell after another!"

"I never thought Justin would be like this. I used to like him, but now

"I think he's such a jerk."

"He actually likes Olivia?"

"Olivia is his true love?"

"Was Lindsay just a cover?"

"No wonder he was always subtly protecting Olivia during the live broadcast. So, that's the real relationship."

"From the recording, Justin even wanted Lindsay to give up her spot on the show for Olivia?"

"Previously, the confirmed list of participants didn't include Alex and Olivia."

At this moment, Elric's team quickly stepped in to manage the comments for Lindsay.

"I happen to know about this. Olivia wanted to participate, but her status and popularity weren't enough. Alex then approached the director, offering to join the show for a lower fee on the condition that Olivia could join too."

"So that's how they became special permanent guests."

"In the beginning, Olivia wanted Lindsay to give up her spot, but Lindsay refused, so Alex had to bring Olivia along."

"Olivia is really something. Not only did she, as an adopted daughter, make Lindsay's biological brother fight with his sister for her, but now she's also become her boyfriend's 'true love'."

"Impressive. This 'angel' is truly a master manipulator."

"Dating Lindsay while protecting and helping his 'true love' Olivia. Justin, you're something else!"

"In the recording, Justin said, 'Take that back and I'll pretend I didn't hear it.' He must think he's some kind of CEO from a drama."

"I have to say, Lindsay handled this beautifully!"

"Exactly, such a jerk deserves to be dumped decisively."

"From Justin's words, he didn't really want to break up with Lindsay!"

"Of course not. Otherwise, why would he post that they were together without mentioning the breakup?"

"Is he trying to force Lindsay to get back together with him?"

big sale: 100 bonus free fou you get it