

Chapter 120

The onlookers who had been following the scandal were once again stunned by this turn of events.

"Today's gossip is dropping one bombshell after another; I can't keep up."

"Tsk tsk, Justin sure knows how to play. He just came out to deny the rumors, and now he's been proven wrong."

"He claimed he was just looking after his childhood friend's sister, but is this how he does it?"

"They seem very close in private. Just look at how Angel leans on Justin; I don't believe nothing is happening between them."

"Angel is really something, getting cozy with Justin in private while hugging and kissing Alex, who is supposedly known as her brother."

"Is Angel's innocent image about to collapse? This is looking more like a player move!"

"Does Angel's concept of a brother differ from ours?"

"I think so too. Her recent Instagram post said Justin is like family, so is this how she treats all her brothers?"

"So, are they all her 'romantic brothers'?"

"Poor Lindsay. Her actual brother and ex-boyfriend have been reduced to Angel's 'romantic brothers.' We can't blame Lindsay for losing both of them to Angel's scheme."

The internet was full of mockery.

Linda and Oliver were shocked when they saw this.

They immediately asked the tech department to verify the photos. The results confirmed that the screenshots and photos were not altered and were indeed genuine.

They were on the verge of losing their minds.

None of them knew that Justin and Olivia had so many private interactions. From the photos, it was clear that not only did they meet privately, but they were also very intimate.

Linda felt an overwhelming urge to rush to Olivia and slap her, maybe even scratch her bewitching face. How could someone as composed and dignified as Justin get entangled with Olivia to this extent?

Now, their attempts to clear Justin and Olivia's names were completely undone by solid evidence. It was similar to the time when Justin had just posted about their relationship, only for Lindsay to immediately announce their breakup afterward.

These consecutive reversals and humiliations would surely damage Justin's credibility, causing a serious trust crisis in the future.

At this point, Linda was sitting in Oliver's office.

"What do we do now? Not only did our previous PR efforts go to waste, but we also ended up making things easier for Lindsay," Linda said, her face stern as she looked at Oliver. "Didn't you say that Lindsay left Harper Entertainment and was blacklisted by you?"

"But it seems clear that she has a team helping her with PR now! Who's behind her? And it looks like everything was premeditated. We had just managed to clear their names, and then those incriminating photos were released as if they were waiting for the perfect moment."

Oliver's expression was equally grim. Since entering the industry, this was the first time he had been so consistently outplayed. And this first defeat came from his own sister.

Through clenched teeth, he admitted, "I underestimated her."

He had only wanted to force Lindsay to bow to him and admit her mistakes, making her regret her resolute actions that day.

As long as Lindsay stopped competing with Olivia and obediently played the role of the Harper family's daughter, listening to him, he would provide her with resources and help rehabilitate her image as her brother.

So, when Lindsay left Harper Entertainment, he hadn't been concerned. He always believed that despite her struggles, she would eventually return home, like a weary bird finding its nest. But now, it felt like she had proven him wrong.

He also wanted to know where Lindsay got this PR team and where those photos came from.

However, now was not the time to investigate that.

After thinking for a moment, he frowned and said, "Instruct the online commentators to suggest that the angles of these photos were deliberately manipulated to create a misleading impression.

"Also, tell them to write that these weren't private meetings between them but rather a dinner I attended with Olivia and Justin. Say I was there the whole time."

dangerously close, eyes half-closed, exuding an intimate and ambiguous vibe.

As soon as these photos were released, they went viral immediately.

The hashtag #JustinSecretAffairWithAngel quickly trended.

Fans who had previously calmed down were now infuriated.

Disappointed in Justin, they were eager to tear Olivia apart.

Comments

Support

Share