

Chapter 125

Justin's expression grew even darker.

He looked up with a grim gaze and said, "I'll say it one last time, I have not betrayed Lindsay. Stop talking nonsense."

But deep down, he couldn't help but feel a bit panicked. If Alex, who had just seen the news online, misunderstood his relationship with Olivia, what would Lindsay think?

Olivia hurriedly grabbed Alex's arm. "Brother, don't talk to Justin like that."

She blamed Lindsay for this entire mess and couldn't understand why Alex was scolding Justin without knowing the full story.

For the first time, Alex shook off Olivia's hand. There was a hint of disappointment in his eyes. "Olivia, you know he's Lindsay's boyfriend. Why did you act so ambiguously with him? You've gone too far."

He had indeed doted on Olivia, treating her like a real sister.

When Lindsay came back and constantly clashed with Olivia, causing Olivia to fall ill several times, he sided with Olivia to protect her from being bullied. But that didn't mean he didn't care about Lindsay, his biological sister.

Especially because deep down, Alex felt guilty about Lindsay.

It was his carelessness as a child that had caused her to go missing. In his mind, Lindsay was his actual sister, and he believed that their sibling bond would withstand any arguments or misunderstandings. They shared the same blood, and no grudge could tear them apart.

Just as he had once fought with his other two brothers and quickly made up, he thought the same would apply to Lindsay.

However, seeing Olivia betray Lindsay now made him very unhappy.

Olivia looked at Alex in disbelief, her eyes instantly reddening. She felt deeply wronged. "Brother, you don't believe me? You're scolding me because of Lindsay?"

Normally, Alex would feel sorry and comfort her immediately.

But the matter with Justin and Olivia had crossed Alex's line.

He pressed his lips together and looked at her sternly. "Olivia, don't forget that Lindsay is also my sister. When she bullies you or takes your things, I'll stand by you unconditionally. But I can't condone you getting involved with her boyfriend behind her back.

"There are plenty of eligible bachelors in high society or famous actors in the entertainment industry. Why did you have to choose Lindsay's boyfriend?"

He was truly furious. No wonder Lindsay had treated Justin and Olivia so coldly during the live stream. She must have known about their betrayal long ago. He realized that he would be just as angry if he were in her shoes.

He couldn't help but think that maybe Lindsay's anger toward him was also partly due to this betrayal.

Hearing Alex's accusations, Olivia was so furious she nearly staggered. This time, she wasn't pretending; the tears she shed were genuine. "You don't believe me? Are you even my brother anymore?"

She grabbed Alex's arm and pounded on him with her fists. "I hate you. I'll never like you again."

Seeing the two of them like this, Justin's expression darkened even more. "Enough, both of you," he snapped, his voice rising. "This is no time for bickering."

Alex and Olivia both turned to look at him.

Alex's anger deepened. "Who's bickering? She's my sister. Watch your mouth."

Justin looked at him mockingly. "What kind of brother and sister frequently hug and kiss each other? The photos of Olivia and me online aren't actually intimate—they were taken from misleading angles. But your interactions with her are undeniably close."

He hadn't known that Alex and Olivia interacted like this until he participated in the live-streamed variety show and noticed how overly affectionate they were with each other.
