

Chapter 14

Adam was half skeptical.

He smiled at Lindsay and said, "Alright, we'll trouble you then, Ms. Summer."

Because the tractor was already broken, it didn't really matter if this female celebrity tried to fix it. If she actually managed to repair it, they wouldn't need to purchase a new one, which would save them money for other expenses.

Hearing Adam agree, Lindsay walked over to inspect the tractor and quickly found the problem. Since there were some repair tools lying around in the village community office, she started fixing it with the tools.

The audience watching the live broadcast was all curious.

"Can Lindsay really fix a tractor? Seriously?"

"I don't believe she can fix it. She's just trying to attract attention."

"Didn't the village chief say it? They had already called someone to repair it before, and it wasn't fixed. So how could Lindsay possibly fix it?"

"She'll mess around with it for a bit and then fail. She's just trying to look hardworking. I totally get it."

"Now that you mention it, it does seem like that."

"Isn't this just wasting everyone's time?"

"Lindsay is really cunning."

Chapter 14

The fans of Alex, Olivia, and Justin kept criticizing Lindsay in the comments, calling her manipulative. They even claimed to be experts at exposing such tricks and said Lindsay would reveal her true colors soon.

Lindsay's fans had never heard of her being able to fix a tractor, but they still defended her with many comments. Influenced by the fans of the other three, many viewers also believed Lindsay couldn't fix it and was just putting on a show.

Twenty minutes later, Lindsay put the tools back.

She said to Adam, "It's fixed."

Adam was stunned, "So fast?"

Lindsay replied, "You can try it."

Adam nodded, "Alright!"

He took the key to start the tractor, and soon they heard the sound of the engine chugging.

With a face full of surprise, Adam exclaimed, "You really fixed it."

He drove the tractor a short distance, "Ms. Summer, you're amazing. The last person I called spent half a day and couldn't fix it. And you fixed it in less than half an hour."

The three guests were astonished to see Lindsay successfully repair the tractor.

She really could fix a tractor!

Wendy curiously asked Lindsay, "How do you even know how to fix a tractor?"

Lindsay smiled and replied, "I minored in mechanical engineering during college."

Wendy, looking at the delicate and radiant Lindsay, truly couldn't have guessed she minored in such a field.

She asked curiously, "What was your major? Was it a related field too?"

Lindsay didn't hide it. "I majored in Divination."

This wasn't a secret; a little research could reveal it.

In their world, divination was very popular, and many prestigious universities offered specialized courses in it.

She had been learning divination from Moses since childhood and had a genuine interest in it, which was why she chose that major.

Her words left everyone present even more surprised. They hadn't expected Lindsay to major in divination.

Wendy laughed and asked, "So, do you know Face Reading too?"

Many people in the entertainment industry believed in divination and face reading. Her agent liked to consult divination and face-reading experts to predict the future or gain insight.

Lindsay smiled and said, "Of course, I know Face Reading too."

Wendy then asked Lindsay, "Can you analyze my face for me?"

Lindsay replied, "No problem, I'll give you an analysis during the break."

Chapter 14

Wendy didn't expect Lindsay to do it right now, as it's inconvenient to speak during a live broadcast.

Lindsay fixing the tractor, majoring in divination, and minoring in mechanical engineering left the audience astonished.

"She actually fixed it; she wasn't just putting on a show. I almost believed what you guys said earlier."

"Some fans just criticize without knowing the facts, and now they're getting a reality check real quick."
